ployee, had been called to the intersection of Highways 301 and 50 in Benson to repair the tire on the Nu-Car Carrier, operated by Nails. He parked the pick-up service truck right behind the carrier on the proper side of the road.

Barbour, Nails and Rippy, a soldier who apparently had hitchhiked a ride on the carrier, were busy repairing the tire when McLamb came along.

Officers said McLamb left his side of the highway, ran across the highway, hit the rear of the trailer, then struck the three men and then struck the pick-up truck, knocking it on its side.

NO EXPLANATION
The officers said McLamb had little or no comment about the accident and did not attempt to give any explanation or excuse for his actions.

The soldier is stationed in New Mexico and is home on leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Son McLamb, who reside near Benson.

His father received considerable publicity sometime ago when he was arrested for drunken driving with about $8,000 in cash on his person.

Officers said the car was damaged about $500, the carrier about $75 and the pick-up about $250.

Barbour has held a position at Lee's Truck Terminal for sometime and is well known and very popular here.

Dr. Randolph Doffermyre, the attending physician, described the condition of all three of the injured men as "very critical."

are buried the day after death. Premier David Ben-Gurion announced the funeral was postponed to permit mourners to arrive from distant places. The chief rabbi granted special permission for the delay.

The body lay in state on a black-draped catafalque beneath a high blue and white canopy in the open before the home where he has lived for the past 25 years. Mourners filed slowly past to pay their last respects to the man regarded by many as the new Moses who once again led his people to the Promised Land.

Long lines of soldiers formed an honor guard along all roads leading to the residence. Special mourners' trains ran to Rehovot from Haifa, Jerusalem and Tel Aviv.

an acre. Last year yields averaged 27.9 bales an acre. Ten-year average yields were 267.6 pounds.

The report said Census Bureau figures show 19,785,725 bales of cotton ginned from the 1952 crop prior to Nov. 1. This compared with 10,023,029 bales ginned at the same time last year and 6,465,490 for 1950.

The department's new estimates of 1952 cotton production in bales for North Carolina is 550,000.

Included in the total production figure is an estimated 80,880-bale crop of long-staple American-Egyptian cotton.

Bennett told the court that he swerved to the right when he saw the Herring car pull alongside but was unable to avoid the crash. His left front fender was torn off by Herring's rear bumper, he said.

Bennett said Herring kept on going and that he had to cut him off in order to force him to stop. Then, he said he sent for police. The defendant, he said, had been drinking, and a companion in the car was under the influence.

Judge Strickland gave Herring 60 days, suspended 12 months on payment of $50 and costs, plus $153.31 for the damage to Bennett's car.

Louis Dalton Raynor made the mistake of swinging his car, with brakes squealing, around an intersection in front of the patrol car operated by Highway Patrolman Paul Alberrine. He stopped when Alberrine flashed his lights and he recognized the patrol car.

SMELLED WHISKEY

Alberrine testified that the defendant had the odor of liquor on his breath and that he was uncertain on his feet. Raynor, the officer said, admitted that he had been drinking, but a girl companion had not. The defendant insisted that he had only had one drink. Prayer for judgment was continued until November 24.

Wilbert McDougal, Negro, arrested by Negro Policeman John Brockington on charges of drunken driving, drew 90 days, suspended 12 months on payment of $100 and costs, with the recommendation that his license be revoked.

Ellis Richard Coats, charged with passing a school bus while it was stopped and had its stop sign displayed, was fined $5 and costs with prayer for judgment continued six months.

The remaining cases on the docket, prosecuted by Solicitor J. Shephard Bryan, involved public drunkenness and the offenders were given suspended sentences and fines.

Disciples Meeting Will Open Tuesday

Dr. George F. Cuthrell, pastor of the Hood Memorial Christian Church here, will serve on two committees at the 108th session of the North Carolina Disciples of Christ.

Theme of the meeting, to be held at Hillyer Memorial Church in Raleigh will be "Our Christian Witness in a Confused World."

Dr. Cuthrell is on the nominating committee of the convention and the committee on ministry. He plans to attend the entire session which starts Thursday and runs through next Tuesday.

The convention will open at 1:00 p. m. Tuesday with a luncheon at which Dr. Perry Case of Atlantic Christian College will preside. Rev. Norman F. Matthews, president of the convention, will deliver the annual address and Rev. W. A. Welch will preach the sermon Tuesday night.

Dunn Schools Plan For Education Week

This is American Education Week, and the Dunn schools join with schools throughout the nation in reporting to their owners—the people of the United States—on one of their most important investments. This year's theme is "Children in Today's World."

"Open House to Parents and Friends" will be the outstanding feature of the week's observance in Dunn, and all interested persons are cordially invited to visit the schools, and observe the work being carried on. At the Grammar School separate days will be designated for visits to each individual grade, and parents will receive special invitations from their own children.

Wednesday will be visiting day at Mary Stewart with a special party by the first grades. Dunn High School, including elementary grades to the high school building, will have its open house on Thursday, when parents are invited to join their children for lunch in the cafeteria, meet their teachers and gather in the auditorium for a brief program at 1:30.

OTHER OBSERVANCES

Other local observances will include window displays in the business district and a broadcast by the Beta Club, high school scholastic organization, on Thursday morning at nine o'clock over station WCKB, while the program on International Relations at the regular meeting of the Woman's Club on Tuesday will include pupil presentations of topics studied in schools at various grade levels.

American Education Week is observed annually during the week of Armistice Day, pointing up the eternal values of education of youth for democracy and a better world.

Church Session Opens Tuesday

The annual meeting of the general board of the Pentecostal Holiness Church of the United States will convene Tuesday at the Falcon Pentecostal Church. It was announced today by the Rev. Woodrow Thomas, pastor.

Mr. Thomas said the meeting will be attended by ministers and delegates from all sections of America. Committee meetings will be held on Monday to lay the groundwork for the general sessions. One of the items of business will be the examination of new ministers.

DINNER SCHEDULED
On Tuesday night at 7 o'clock, the visiting ministers and board members will be honored at a dinner to be held at the Falcon Orphanage.

Among those who will attend the meeting are Bishop J. A. Synan of Memphis, Tenn., president, and Bishop T. A. Melton, also of Memphis. The Rev. Oscar Moore of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma is secretary to the board.

This is the first time in many years that this meeting has been held in North Carolina. Members of the Falcon church will be host.
