

BULLETINS

(Continued from page 1)

SAN FRANCISCO — A week-long maritime strike that partially tied up shipping along the West Coast was ended today after the AFL Sailors Union of the Pacific reached an "informal agreement" in a wage dispute with ship owners.

ATLANTA — Sen. Henry C. Dworshak (R-Ida) believes price controls have been "a severe handicap to our national economy" and the "hastily organized" OPS often defeated "its own purpose."

LOS ANGELES — Bancroft Mitchell, 47, son of former U. S. Atty. Gen. William D. Mitchell, was sought today by authorities who charged him with using forged securities to swindle five banks out of $118,500.

WASHINGTON — National Commander Lewis K. Gough of the American Legion said today the United States "must force a decision" in Korea by using "all effective tactics and weapons" if the Communists persist in delaying a truce.

SEOUL, Korea — Mrs. Anna Rosenberg, assistant secretary of defense, said today she is sure that President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower "will profit by his visit" to Korea.

ANCHORAGE, Alaska — Rescue workers today readied for a new attempt to identify wreckage at the 12,000-level of Mt. Silverthorne, believed to be that of a C-119 transport plane missing with 19 men aboard.

SEOUL, Korea — Fifteen-hundred screaming Chinese Communist soldiers captured Pinpoint Hill on Sniper Ridge tonight, storming the crest behind a thundering artillery barrage.

HALLOWEEN KINGS AND QUEENS — Billy Weagen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Weagen, was crowned "king" of the Halloween carnival at the Dunn Grammar school Halloween night. The little queen was Catherine Westbrook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Westbrook. A queen and king were chosen in each room at the school and the two to reign over the carnival were chosen from this group. The queens representing their rooms were Catherine Westbrook, Marilyn Lee, Carolyn Hardee, Vicky Upchurch, Dianne Suttles, Jean Johnson, Louise Smith, Constance Altman, Pamela Henry, Elizabeth Russell, Anne Herring, Jane Andrews, Sylvia Wellons, Kay Alphin and Gloria Barnes. The kings were Billy Wellons, Ben Clifton, Jimmy Surles, Ricky Owea, Stephen Owen, Ronnie Neighbors, Keith Finch, Edward C. Hall, Johnny Tart, Tommy Hawley, Kenneth Kirby, Manly Johnson, Frankie Porter, Chuck Byrd, and Sonny Carroll.

Official Election Winston Tells Club About Dunn Hospital

M. E. Winston, Director of the Dunn Hospital, outlined for the members of the Dunn Rotary Club at their meeting Friday night, the progress, not only of the local hospital, but of hospitals in general.

The speaker outlined the progress of hospitals from the early Hindu and Egyptian hospitals through the Graeco-Roman era and the early Christian era to the present time.

He drew a laugh when he recounted the novel method of anesthesia used by the early Egyptian physicians of hitting the patient abruptly over the head with a wooden mallet with sufficient force to render him unconscious, but not to fracture the skull.

Although the history of medicine and surgery dates from an early age, the speaker related the origin of hospitals was much later. The first American hospital, he said, was incorporated in Philadelphia in 1732. This famous Blockley, later developed into the present Philadelphia General.

In the 20th century, he said, hospital development has been characterized by mushroom growth. Population of the United States has doubled since 1873, but hospitals increased 44 times.

Even since 1945, he said, the Dunn Hospital has felt the impact of this increase and the amount booked in 1951 showed an increase of 121.73 percent over 1945.

The first board meeting of the Dunn Hospital was held on August 28, 1940, with J. B. Ennis, Dr. J. R. Johnson, Marvin Wade, Dr. Fred Flemming, Rev. Thomas W. Fryer, Miss Lily Davis and R. L. Cromartie present.

Ennis was named Chairman, Wade, vice-chairman, E. P. Davis, treasurer and R. L. Cromartie, Jr., Secretary. The hospital had been built but the opening was delayed until the fall of 1940, he said.

Although a large percentage of hospitals throughout the country are operating at a deficit, Mr. Winston said, the Dunn Hospital is unusual in that it has done well during the "Boll Weevil" period in 1948 and 1949 it kept its doors open in spite of the fact that there was an $18,000 deficit. The financial condition is now good.

EVERYBODY ADMITTED
"It has always been the policy of the Dunn Hospital," Mr. Winston said proudly, "to admit anyone who knocks for admission, white or black, rich or poor, high or low."

As an example, patients from the county, and from Sampson and Johnston counties, outnumbered those from Dunn during October. Dunn had 62 patients; Harnett County 110; Sampson County 69 and Johnston County 84.

"When you multiply this number of patients by visitors at a ratio of about 16 to 1, you can readily see that we have a problem when we try to be civil, courteous and agreeable to the host of visitors," he concluded.

Dr. R. L. Doffermyre, a member of the staff, to give the members of the civic club some idea of the visitor problem.

Tommy Harrell, assistant to Mr. Winston, gave some interesting figures about the actual cost of operating the local institution.

Negro Given
(Continued from page one)
zoes who had entered guilty pleas to entering R. M. Turlington building supply house at night and stealing guns, ammunition, axes, flashlights and other articles.

"You are an insolent criminal," said the judge after Blue took the stand to tell how the "gang had gotten together "to get a gun apiece." Blue admitted going in the building from a door at the rear, but was vague as to who first suggested the robbery, where the guns were kept, and about whether or not the guns were used to shoot a car at Lattie Morgan's.

TWO PLEADED GUILTY
Rufus Stokes, who lived at the same house with Blue, LaSalle Canady, 14, and Eddie Phillips, 15, entered guilty pleas, were each given eight months on the roads, placed on probation for five years.

"Now, sit one time, and you are gone," said the judge. "Testimony was that Canady and Phillips were lookouts and that the other two entered the building and brought out the stolen articles. All goods were recovered with exception of one gun allegedly thrown in the Cape Fear River.

Bobby Spencer, young Lillington negro, who had entered a plea of innocent was convicted of hitting Frances Lee McLean, a negro girl. He was given six months on the roads, suspended two years on condition he pay $50 fine and costs. "I'll let you educate some school children," said the judge.

Charges against John Barefoot for careless and reckless driving were not pressed.

Judge Says

(Continued from page one)
duties. Judge Stevens pointed out that of the three branches of government, the legislative and executive by their very nature, are far removed from the average citizen.

"Few persons, except those who live in Raleigh, get an opportunity to be personally acquainted with the governor," he said. "The average citizen usually knows his county representative in the legislature. Maybe he knows his senator. But unless he has occasion to visit the General Assembly he knows few legislators. However, it is not so with the judiciary; the court comes to you.

"The court reaches out and embraces you and makes you a part of the important third branch of government," Judge Stevens told the grand and trial jurors. "You are as important a cog as the judge of solicitor." He pointed out that at least two terms of court are required by law to be held in every county in the state every year.

In giving instructions about bills of indictment, the judge told the grand jurors that a true bill can be found if there is probable cause of guilt. "Go no farther than the first witness, if that satisfies you," the judge said.

However, he cautioned, that if the grand jurors plan to dismiss a bill as not a true bill, they should examine all witnesses on the bill. In any capital offense the bill must be returned in open court, he explained.

ASKS JP REPORT CHECK
Judge Stevenson called on the jurors to see if all magistrates in the county have filed with a clerk a report of all cases heard since the last superior court. All fines and forfeitures from these minor courts, he reminded them, go to the school fund.

The jurist also asked jurors to check and see if executors, administrators and guardians of estates and minor children have filed regular reports with the clerk. He also suggested they visit the jail, the prison camp, and check with the state highway patrol on condition of the school buses.

But, he pointed out, a check on buses is not sufficient for the school check-up. He asked them to investigate water supplies, drinking water, plumbing, heating and furnishings in the schools.

In a resume of cases apt to come before the court, the judge classified them as suits arising out of assault (from simple assault to murder), burglary, arson, theft and highway mishaps.

Judge Stevens contended, "Rarely do you see an unavoidable highway accident. If we are going to put an end to the steadily rising deaths on the highway, somebody has got to get as tough with the violators as they are with the victims they kill or maim daily."

Judge Stevens recessed court for Tuesday in order to return for an Armistice Day celebration in his home town. Court will be resumed on Wednesday, "Thirty-four years ago today," he said, "I was dodging German bullets, and there were a lot of them to dodge."

A former national commander of the American Legion, Stevens long has been active in Legion activities in North Carolina and the nation.

Linden Youth Wins State 4-H Honor

Johnny Tew of Linden, route one senior 4-H club member, has been selected state winner in entomology and is one of eight club members in the nation being considered for national honors in the field, it was announced today.

Active in 4-H Club work for the past six years, Johnny has completed some 47 projects—22 of them this year, including entomology, public speaking, health, tobacco, tractor maintenance, leadership, achievement, home beautification, baby beef, wheat, and farm and home electrification.

According to Lester Laws, assistant county agent, his record is now entered for sectional honors and Johnny will compete for national honors at the 4-H Club Congress in Chicago this fall. He will also attend the Farm and Home Electric Congress in Charlotte, November 17 and 18, which is sponsored by the Carolina Power and Light company.

COTTON WINNER LAST YEAR
Last year's state winner in cotton, Johnny is president of the Linden club and second vice-president of the Cumberland County Council. He also copped honors this year as co-winner in public speaking, tractor maintenance, farm and home electrification, entomology, field crops, leadership and achievement.

The dependable Linden lad was described by Laws as one of the outstanding 4-H club members in the county and state, having achieved a total of state honors the few club members have the privilege of competing for in all their club years.

Johnny, 16, a senior at Linden High School, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Tew. He lives on his parents' 250-acre farm and works with his father on a partnership basis.

Dear Dad,
The sun still rises in the East. The gentle breezes have not ceased. The mountains stand, the seas roll. The working man to work has gone. The banks are open, trains on time. The morning paper's rich with crime. A stream of traffic fills the street. The ground is firm beneath my feet.

No cataclysmic conflagration has yet swept our luckless nation; No sign of doom have I detected. Although my man was not elected. Best regards,
Your son,
Written by a New Yorker to his father-in-law in North Carolina.

Ike Elected, Things Go On Just The Same

Firemen answered an early morning alarm at 2:50 a. m. on Saturday morning, it was reported by secretary-treasurer Howard M. Lee. The fire, at the home of Rosa Allen McNeill, colored, was caused when an oil stove flared up. The house is owned by Luther Matthews.

The flames had subsided by the time the fire trucks arrived and there was little damage. Twenty-one men answered the alarm and they were back at 3:10 a. m.

N. C. Baptists

(Continued from page one)
legates from over the state. The session will close Thursday. Last night, the state Baptist Pastors' Conference met to elect its new officers for the coming year.

The Rev. Harlan Harris of Shelby was chosen president; the Rev. John Lambert of Chadbourn vice president, and the Rev. Rex Campbell of West Jefferson secretary.

Dr. Grover H. Jones of High Point, president of the convention, was scheduled to deliver the keynote address today.

Helped Him Steal For Sake Of Love

PARIS — It was love, Georges Lefevre told the judge at his trial for helping his wife steal $87,000 from her employers.

"If I had not done as she said she would have run off with her lover—and I loved her," Lefevre said.

Lefevre and his wife, Olga, were sentenced to eight years each.

Body Of Murray Lying In State

PITTSBURGH — The body of CIO President Philip Murray lay in state today in a funeral home less than 50 miles from the coal mine where he started his union career as a young immigrant from Scotland.

"Fighting Phil" came back to the city of his triumphs shortly after midnight in a paper-wrapped coffin.

More than 300 persons, from high government and union officials to the rank and file steelworkers crowded the concourse of the Pennsylvania Station to pay tribute to the self-educated man who worked his way up to the presidency of the 9,000,000 member CIO.

GROUCHO says: "I'll give you the best rest of your life. Drive the new DeSoto!"

See the New 1953 DE SOTO COMING NOV. 13

and tell 'em GROUCHO sent you!

St. Stephen's Men Hear Rev. Robinson

Rev. Peter Robinson, rector of St. Thomas' Episcopal Church in Sanford, presented a challenge to the members of the Men's Fellowship Club of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church in Erwin, at their regular meeting last night.

Rev. Mr. Robinson was guest speaker, and he introduced the members by way of a collection of color pictures, to a church project with which the lay members and most of the clergy are unfamiliar, Camp Delany, the summer camp for colored near Wake Forest.

"Camp Delany will not present as happy a picture as Vade Mecum," he warned before showing the pictures. "There is plenty of room for improvement."

He cited the words of Bishop Coadjutor the Rt. Rev. Richard Baker who told the members at a diocesan meeting that their consciences should not rest easy until the facilities at this camp are equal or nearly so to those of the white camp at Vade Mecum.

Even most of the Episcopal clergy had not seen the camp, the speaker said. Comprising a tract of 80 acres, including a lake, it was purchased by the church in 1945 and set up as a summer camp for Negroes.

"Our church," Mr. Robinson pointed out, "is the only church in the entire state of North Carolina that has anything of this kind for Negroes." The camp was named in honor of Bishop Delany, a Negro suffragan Bishop who worked among the Negroes of the state.

Prizes and awards for the annual Achievement Day Program given by the Harnett County Home Demonstration Club Members at Anderson Creek on Friday night were as follows:

Most Outstanding Club
Turlington Club, Mrs. J. C. Hardee president; $25 government bond donated by Frozen Food Locker of Dunn.

Individual Club Member Reading Most Books
Mrs. M. B. Wade Leaflet, with 73 books read, prize given by Mrs. S. R. McKay, county librarian.

Club Reading Award
Mt. Pisgah Club, where 11 certificates were given for books read and reported.

Club Reading Most Books
Leaflet, with 166 books; and Johnsonville, second, with 150 books.

Children's Fashion Show
(Clothes were judged on two points: skill of the maker and grace of the model. Best seamstress is marked S and best model M.)
Toddler summer dress—Frances Gregory, S and M.

Toddler play clothes—Penny Sue Coates, S, and Martha Campbell, M.

Teen age school attire—Gwen Ballard, with shirt best in workshop and best model.
Toddler school attire — Brenda Kendall, S, and M.

Teen age Best Dress—La Rue Denny, S, and Mae Howard, M.
Miss Denny wore a blue tulle and Miss Howard a white blouse and black and white check skirt.

Toddler slumber clothes — Carmie Johnson, S, and Larry Upchurch, M.

Teen age suit—Patricia Eddis S, and M.
Toddler suit—Ernest Gordon Long S, and Judy Readerson, M.

Teen age Suit—Barbara Byrd, S, and Jeanett Eddis, M.
Toddler dress—Barbara Ballard S, and Cathy Penny, M.

Teen Age Party clothes—Jeanne Stevenson S, and Jean Creech, M.
Miss Stevenson wore a lavender net evening dress and Miss Creech a ballerina white pique.

Prizes, Awards Are Given On Achievement Day

Prizes and awards for the annual Achievement Day Program given by the Harnett County Home Demonstration Club Members at Anderson Creek on Friday night were as follows:

Most Outstanding Club
Turlington Club, Mrs. J. C. Hardee president; $25 government bond donated by Frozen Food Locker of Dunn.

Individual Club Member Reading Most Books
Mrs. M. B. Wade Leaflet, with 73 books read, prize given by Mrs. S. R. McKay, county librarian.

Club Reading Award
Mt. Pisgah Club, where 11 certificates were given for books read and reported.

Club Reading Most Books
Leaflet, with 166 books; and Johnsonville, second, with 150 books.

Children's Fashion Show
(Clothes were judged on two points: skill of the maker and grace of the model. Best seamstress is marked S and best model M.)
Toddler summer dress—Frances Gregory, S and M.

Toddler play clothes—Penny Sue Coates, S, and Martha Campbell, M.

Teen age school attire—Gwen Ballard, with shirt best in workshop and best model.
Toddler school attire — Brenda Kendall, S, and M.

Teen age Best Dress—La Rue Denny, S, and Mae Howard, M.
Miss Denny wore a blue tulle and Miss Howard a white blouse and black and white check skirt.

Toddler slumber clothes — Carmie Johnson, S, and Larry Upchurch, M.

Teen age suit—Patricia Eddis S, and M.
Toddler suit—Ernest Gordon Long S, and Judy Readerson, M.

Teen age Suit—Barbara Byrd, S, and Jeanett Eddis, M.
Toddler dress—Barbara Ballard S, and Cathy Penny, M.

Teen Age Party clothes—Jeanne Stevenson S, and Jean Creech, M.
Miss Stevenson wore a lavender net evening dress and Miss Creech a ballerina white pique.

Candidates Draw Lots For Office

DENISON, Ia. — Democrat Robert K. Brannon and Republican Roy E. Franck drew lots to decide who was the duly elected Crawford County attorney, Brannon won.

The Canvassing Board could see no other way out of the problem created when both men voted exactly 4,066 votes each in the election.

Clock Watchers Staff Doubled

LONDON — Buckingham Palace has doubled its staff of clock watchers.

Queen Elizabeth II and the duke of Edinburgh received so many clocks as wedding gifts that two men instead of one now must spend all day winding the palace clocks.

One Killed

(Continued from page one)
wood Creech said at noon today that he had not yet been notified of the fatality. Investigation was still underway, and information was very incomplete.

wood Creech said at noon today that he had not yet been notified of the fatality. Investigation was still underway, and information was very incomplete.