

Teachers At Erwin Given Mills Tour

Wednesday afternoon the teachers of the Erwin Schools momentarily put away their textbooks and ungraded papers and, after brushing away the chalk dust, began an interesting tour, via colored slides of the Erwin Mills Inc. Miss Olive McKown, head of the Employment Department and D. A. Woods, assistant training director, conducted the tour which was presented through special arrangement with Robert Barrett, Training Director and the mills.

As Miss McKown flashed each picture on the screen, Mr. Woods explained how the raw cotton was processed, and traced the cotton through each department of the mill.

At the end of an interesting hour, Mr. Woods exhibited samples of cotton as it appeared at each stage of its manufacture. The teacher saw raw cotton, silver, roving, yarn filling, and the finished product blue denim cloth.

Speaking on behalf of the teachers, Principal D. T. Stuts thanked Miss McKown and Mr. Woods for coming and added that it must, indeed, require a very intelligent person to operate the complicated machinery seen in the pictures.

Miss Bessie Masonnell of the County Board of Education was instrumental in making arrangements with the mills for the presentation of the lecture in the projection room of the school library.

Chinese Take Hill For The 14th Time

SEOUL, Korea, Friday — More than 1,000 Chinese Communists surged out of underground bunkers last night and in a reckless charge through bursting shells and streams of bullets recaptured the crest of Sniper Ridge for the 14th time.

The Chinese charged up from

Ave., $3,500; W and S Motors Co., North Wilson Ave., $2,500. Additions and repairs: County Board of Education, North Orange Ave., $4,000; Lelia Aycock, South Wilson Ave., $900; Joe Norris, North Clinton Ave., $350; Sadie Hinton, East Bay Street, $600.

"The Yoke," their maze of underground caves and tunnels, and ripped into South Korean positions at 11:10 p. m. with deadly fire from hundreds of "burp guns"—light, hand-carried submachine guns.

HAND-TO-HAND

The first wave of two companies—about 350 Reds—was followed by hundreds more who trotted up Pinpoint Hill, the crest of Sniper, and closed in bloody hand-to-hand fighting with South Korean defenders.

United Press correspondent Victor Kendrick reported from the central front that South Koreans, using knives and fists as Chinese swarmed over their trenches, fought gallantly to stem the charge but finally were overcome.

Republic of Korea troops had recaptured the vital height north of Kumhwa on Wednesday night. The hills has changed hands 28 times in a month of attack and counterattacks.
