Jennie Smith Visits United Nations Seminar

Miss Jennie Smith of Dunn was one of the nine students who represented Guilford College at a three-day United Nations Seminar held in New York City last week. The seminar was sponsored by the National Student Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. under the direction of Miss Jimmie Woodard.

The group arrived Thursday night. Friday was spent visiting United Nations sessions in action, interviewing delegates, and becoming familiar with the physical plant of the United Nations.

Besides attending regular meetings of U. N. councils where the group could see the parliamentary procedure and simultaneous translation system in operation, the members had the opportunity to interview delegates from Iran, Egypt, and Yugoslavia and a representative of U.N.E.S.C.O., which has its main office in Paris.

On Saturday the students visited the United States Mission to the United Nations, the home office of the United States delegates. Ben Brown, assistant secretary-general of the United States Mission, discussed the position of the United States in the United Nations, and the United States attempt at a consistent policy which, he said, is not run on the assumption that a conflict with the Soviet Union is inevitable.

Saturday afternoon and evening was free for sight-seeing, plays, concerts, etc. On Sunday, Rev. James Robinson of the Church of the Master, Morningside Avenue, New York, helped the group sum up the implications of discussions held during the seminar.

Those attending in addition to Miss Smith were Chris Gidynski, Josh Crane, John Wright, James Cox, George Hale, Willard Payne, John Church and Karl Heinhart. Chaperones were Professor Edward Burrows of the college and Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Smith of Dunn. Miss Smith is a sophomore at Guilford College and is active in all school activities.
