Collapse Of Wage Board May Develop

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new chairman of the Wage Stabilization Board indicated today he feared it will collapse if industry members make good a threat to walk out.

Charles C. Killingsworth, installed as chairman by President Truman when Archibald Cox angrily resigned yesterday, told a news conference that the President's coal wage decision "has undeniably added to our difficulties."

It was Mr. Truman's reversal of the WSB, which approved only $1.50 of a negotiated $1.90 daily pay increase for miners, that caused Cox's departure.

MAY HEAR TODAY
Killingsworth said he expected to hear from the industry representatives on WSB later today.

Their departure, Killingsworth said, would place the problem of the WSB's future functioning up to Mr. Truman and Economic Stabilizer Roger L. Putnam.

Killingsworth said he hopes the board can continue, and if it does the coal case should not be used as a standard for future decisions.

"The President's action in overruling the board's decision has undeniably added to our difficulties," Killingsworth said.

Wilson Avenue To Be Widened

One block of North Wilson Avenue between Edgerton and Harnett Streets will be widened two feet on each side, it was decided at a meeting of Dunn's city council last night.

Action of the board was unanimous after a petition was received from property owners on that block. Widening of the street will allow parallel parking on one side and horizontal parking on the other.

Those who signed the petition were: S. D. Whittenton, Charles Whittenton, Charlie W. Surles, Paul L. Strickland, Sr., Henry D. Hood, C. J. Hanna and Son and E. C. (Continued On Page Two)

ENROUTE HOME WITH EISENHOWER (AP) — President-elect Eisenhower finished a three-day personal inspection of the Korean war tonight with the firm conviction that American aid to Korea should be enlarged.

He also believes the war should not be allowed to spread. Eisenhower arrived in Korea Tuesday under one of the tightest curtains of security of the Korean war. He left for home tonight.

Army censorship which screened all his movements was lifted at 9:01 p. m. after his Air Force constabulary safely had cleared the range of Communist fighter planes on its way to the United States.

Eisenhower left Seoul, Korea's cold and dismal capital, deeply impressed by his closeup of winter fighting in the snow-covered mountains.

"MUCH WILL BE DONE" — He left with the promise—"much can be done to improve our position. Much will be done."

Eisenhower arrived in Korea from Iwo Jima the night of Dec. 2.

As to specific details of the stepped up aid, he said they would have to await a "digesting" of the information he has acquired in the last three days.

However, in a brief speech to reporters covering his trip, he said it was difficult "in a war of this kind to work out a plan that would bring a positive and definite victory without, possibly running the grave risk of enlarging the war."

Eisenhower was accompanied on his Korean trip by Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and Charles E. Wilson, his designate as secretary of defense.

DIGESTING INFORMATION

The president-elect said he would use the time en route home "digesting the information" he had acquired so that his new administration would be better able to "pursue its policies of supporting freedom in the world and conducting American business so it is always in shape to give the support demanded or needed for us."

But she had rallied strongly and (Continued on page two)

New Vote Asked On City Manager Plan

The Town of Dunn, which has had four city managers and one acting city manager in less than four years, may soon get to vote on the controversial issue again.

Petitions were being prepared this morning asking the city council to call another election on the issue.

C. T. Latimer, one of those behind the movement, said today the petitions would be circulated by a number of prominent citizens who want to see the system abolished.

Under the law, all that's necessary to secure a vote is for 15 per cent of the qualified voters to petition the city council. It can also be accomplished by an act of the legislature.

Dunn has about 2,000 registered voters so only 300 names would be needed on the petitions.

WANT IT NOW
Those wanting a vote are reported to favor an immediate vote instead of waiting for the municipal election in April.

"We want action now," one of them said.

Dunn first voted for the city manager system in 1949 and voted for it again last April 18th.

Charles R. Storey took office as the town's first city manager on July 1, 1949 and served for about a year. R. Thomas Hobbs took over and served nearly a year. For 90 days after Hobbs' resignation, Mr. (Continued on page two)
