Custody Fight

while Neil McKay Bellman and Glenn Hooper, Jr. are the attorneys for the wife. Around 60 witnesses have been summoned in the case. Under direct examination by Dupree, young from his stammer, "became a slave to a woman's whims." At her insistence he said, he left the family farm, went to work as an electrician in Wilmington, N. C., Baltimore, Md., Norfolk, and back to Sussex. No home provided, he said, suited her. He said that often he returned from a hard day's work to find that his wife refused to cook for him, or for the children and that he had to care for them. After their separation in January 1951, he said, he did not know where his wife went and later learned she was in New York City. At that time he took the children to the home of his parents. He quoted his wife as saying he had ruined her life and that she was in love with another man.

However, on cross examination by Samuel Young admitted he rented a trailer for his family to live in Wilmington, that once in Angier before the first child was born they had an apartment over a store.

DAMAGE SUIT
A $50,000 personal damage suit arising out of the death of four-year-old William Gilbert, Brown, who drowned in a gravel pit at Baersville, is set for Thursday morning.

Judge Frizzelle declined yesterday to postpone the case until next week on request of E. L. Dorrermyre counsel for the plaintiff, who argued he had 17 witnesses and he wanted to start a trial late in the week. Melvin Brown, father of the dead boy, is seeking to recover compensation from the Superior Stone Co. of Raleigh, owners of the gravel pit. Salmon and Hooper, attorneys for the stone company, reported they had only one witness, and estimated that only a day and half would be needed for the trial.

The other suit involving large damages is that brought by Mamie Ray, administrator of the late Herbert Smith against Mrs. Billie Sorrell and her father-in-law, H. L. Sorrell, to recover $40,000. Smith, of Dunn, street employee and father of eight children, was killed while working in a man hole on the Dunn city streets. As he lifted his head from a pit on Feb. 7, 1952 he was struck by a car driven by Mrs. Sorrell.

The court is not expected to reach this case this week. Meantime, the often-postponed land suit started by Glen Johnson against Fory Matthews was continued until April, but was set for the first case to be heard. An action started by two grandchildren to declare W. L. Senter, Kipling business man, incompetent to direct his business affairs was also continued.

Attorneys announced a settlement in the suit brought by Glenn E. Pleasant against William Edward Lucas. The plaintiff was awarded $2,500 and the defendant's cross action was dismissed and Lucas must pay costs. The court was also told a settlement would be reached in the suit brought by the Record Publishing Company against J. Eldridge Lee.

Assembly

a study commission to survey the need of the enlargement move. The governor's program moved into high gear with the introduction yesterday by Rep. R. Lee Whitmire of Henderson of a bill providing for an additional regular resident superior court judge in six judicial districts which have heavy court dockets. It would put another judge in the 4th, 9th, 10th, 12th, 14th, and 19th districts.

COURT RULING
A recent Supreme Court ruling resulted in the introduction of a bill by Raleigh Sen. James H. Pou Bailey to allow municipalities to use parking meter receipts to develop and operate off-street parking facilities.

The high court had ruled in a Wilmington case that such use of parking meter funds is not spelled out by law. The money at present must go to street and highway use.

The Joint Appropriations Committee, meeting this afternoon, braced itself for pleas from the consolidated University of North Carolina for a whopping increase in money recommended by the Advisory Budget Commission for the University of North Carolina, N. C. State College and Woman's College.

Even higher requests may come tomorrow from the state's mental institutions. Rep. John W. Umstead of Orange County has said he will support the entire requests for mental institutions even if new taxes are required.

Some of the same political considerations will make passage of this bill difficult, because other districts will want the prestige of an extra judge. Sponsors of the measure are relying upon the force of simple mathematics to justify the allocations suggested. What effect enactment of this bill will have upon the special judge set-up is problematic. Chances are there will still have to be a few special judges, but the number may be reduced from the present maximum of eight to a smaller number.

Another bill introduced this morning would raise the salary of legislators from $1,000 to $2,400 a year. The measure, offered by Reps. W. N. Chickles of Anderson and J.

Bargain Days

ers will be found in today's issue, with still others tomorrow. Store are adding extra sales clerks in order to handle the crowds expected. Shoppers have been assured that there'll be plenty of merchandise all three days. Merchants have all agreed not to place on sale any item which they do not have enough of to last through Saturday night.

New bargains and new merchandise will be placed on sale Thursday morning, Friday morning and Saturday morning. The merchants pointed out it would be unfair not to have plenty of goods for the late comers on Saturday.

Many merchants have been wiring manufacturers for additional merchandise. The merchants also pointed out today that this isn't a sales event designed to get rid of old leftover merchandise. Goods will be new stock which has just arrived. So sensational are the prices offered here during Bargain Days that a person could afford to drive 100 miles to get here and then realize a neat savings.

Try to be on hand for the opening tomorrow morning, and if you can't get here the first day there'll be plenty of bargains awaiting you Friday and Saturday.

E. Hughes and A. Otto Williams of Union, would make the salary payable at $200 cash month. It could not take effect until 1955.

New Storm

a 100-foot beach was torn Tuesday night in one of the last dikes guarding the village. He called for immediate help.

HARDEST HIT
One of the worst hit spots in Southern Holland, where 450,000 acres were inundated by the floods was Stavisse on Tholen where at least 200 of the 1,700 population died.

The newspaper Het Parool said a survivor from Goeree-Overflakkee saw about 200 bodies in a barn in the town of Oude Tonge.

The island of Zeeland also was hard hit by the flood—the worst in 500 years in the Netherlands. Survivors told of fighting cold and exposure for more than 40 hours while perched in trees or houses and barn tops. They said there still were many persons stranded and feared they might not live till aid arrived.

Ten nations, led by the United States, promised aid or rushed men and supplies to the flooded lowlands. One of the first tasks of the huge rescue army and its flotillas of small boats was to remove hundreds of drowned cattle, sheep and pigs, which it was feared might cause an epidemic.

The official dutch radio said that at least 600,000 persons had been affected. At least 285,000 of these suffered serious property loss—the floods wiping out farms and ruining lands that had been in the same families for centuries.

In Belgium, which also was hit by the flood, seven villages in the southeast were isolated Tuesday night by heavy snow storms. Troops were pulled off flood rescue work along the Belgian coast to break through to the isolated villages. It was the heaviest snowfall this winter. In some places 10-foot drifts stopped the soldiers.

Volunteers

project was aided by many volunteer workers, some of whom are still on the job doing "post-program" tasks.

The thanks of the whole community are due to the hundreds of volunteers who generously gave their time and hard work to making an outstanding success of Harnett County's campaign to find the unknown cases of tuberculosis in this area. The chest X-ray program is one of the finest examples of public spirited cooperation this area has ever seen," he stated.

Dr. Hunter said that there is still work to be done although the program is officially over. "The X-ray survey was the first step in the search for unknown cases of TB. Every one of the small films taken which shows any suspicious signs must be thoroughly investigated. Since a diagnosis of tuberculosis is never made on evidence of a small film, X-ray alone, unsatisfactory films mean additional X-rays, tests, and examinations."

"Where a definite diagnosis of tuberculosis is made, the patient may need help in making arrangements for hospitalization, since a tuberculosis hospital is the best place for him to go for treatment. These are just a few of the things on which we must follow through if the X-ray program is to result in helping us stamp out tuberculosis in Harnett County."

Board Will

along with erection of television antennas in the town. The board feels that a policy should be set before the new Raleigh station goes into operation.

Superintendent of the Water Department, Fannie Harley, is to make his report on houses not connected to water and sewer lines where these lines are available, as a prelude to prosecution of the property owners who have failed to comply with the ordinance.

The bill for repairing a water line outside the city limits, damaged by a private tractor, remains unpaid, and this will be discussed and a policy set for similar incidents.

Another ordinance scheduled for enactment is that setting up the policy on subdivisions in and out of the city limits and on the issuing of building permits.

Further discussion will be held on the subject of the closing of some of the railroad crossings as requested by the ACL railroad.
