Fight To Finish Is Promised By Hospital Group

RALEIGH (AP) - Delegates from the State Hospitals Board of Control promised a fight to the finish today to have the General Assembly restore a $5,324,879 cut in the requested biennial appropriations for North Carolina's mental institutions.

"What we're pleading for is a humane cause," said Rep. John W. Umstead of Orange County, head of the House Committee on Mental Institutions. "It's also an economy measure."

H. W. Slim Kendall, editor of the Greensboro Daily News and chairman of the board's planning committee, summed up the case for the board before the assembly's Joint Appropriations Committee yesterday.

"We've asked for only what we believe is absolutely necessary," he said. The board requested an appropriation of $28,296,664 for the biennium for the state hospitals at Raleigh, Morganton, Goldsboro, Eutaw and the Caswell Training School at Kinston.

The Advisory Budget Commission trimmed it to $22,971,785. In addition, the board said it needs at least $25,000,000 for permanent improvements.

Members of the hospitals board and private citizens appeared to plead for more money for the mentally ill.

Kendall said two of the requests which most urgently need to be reinstated in full are for food and for the hiring of more trained staff members.

The advisory commission trimmed our request for food and provisions by about $1,150,000," he said. "This means that we would be spending for food, along with what we can raise on our hospital farms, an average of about 50 cents per patient per day. Every housewife knows that's impossible."

CANT CURE There was a $1,400,000 cut in requests for professional care and treatment, he said. "If we can't get more trained professional help, the patients are going to stay right (Continued on page two)

TWO LITTLE ORPHANS - The mother of the twin calves shown here, survived their birth by only a few days but they quickly learned to feed from the buckets as shown in the picture. Rudolph, at the rear, named by his owner because of his red nose, eats slowly and sister Daisy, front, after finishing her portion, tries to nudge him aside and finish his. Wage Controls And Many Price Controls To Go

WASHINGTON (AP) - All wage controls and many price controls including those on meats, were removed today by order of President Eisenhower after a session with his cabinet.

Controls were taken off prices for meat products, furniture, clothing, restaurant meals and "thousands of items normally sold in department stores."

"These controls have not been effective in protecting the family budget against high prices," said a White House statement accompanying Mr. Eisenhower's action.

The executive order provides that wage adjustments pending before the Wage Stabilization Board may be put into effect immediately.

Mr. Eisenhower, however, provided for continued authority to enforce penalties for past violations of wage controls.

FIRST STEP The President's action was described by the White House as the first in a series of steps to decontrol of prices. A more detailed report on price de-control was scheduled to come from the Office of Price Stabilization later today.

Mr. Eisenhower said in his order that "the earliest possible return to freedom of collective bargaining in the determination of wages will serve to strengthen the national economy and thereby the national security."

He also found that "the production of materials and services and the demand therefor in the national economy are approaching a practicable balance."

Mr. Eisenhower's order decontrolling wages followed disclosure in his State of the Union message to Congress Monday that he favored (Continued on Page Three)

United Press Staff Correspondent NEW YORK - Oleo heir Milton F. Mickey Jelke's enticed young and beautiful Pat Ward from her home and into a life of prostitution and made thousands of dollars on her. Asst. Dist. Atty. Anthony J. Liebler told a trial jury today.

Jelke, on trial on charges of forcing girls into prostitution and living off the proceeds, got between $10,000 and $15,000 from Miss Ward in the 20 weeks she worked for him as a prostitute, Liebler said.

But the defense pictured Jelke, 23, as a boy who has been "enslaved and bewildered" since childhood. Liebler told the all-male jury of 11 married men and one bachelor that he would show as the case unfolded that Jelke "was a man" (Continued on page two)

Spivak's Orchestra To Play At Dance CHARLESTON, S. C. (AP) - Spivak's orchestra is being brought to Charleston by the V. F. W. to raise money for the purpose of erecting a VFW Building here.

Commander Billy Wade and Harry Thompson, chairman of the dance committee, said this morning that an unusual amount of interest has been shown in the appearance of Spivak here and a sell-out crowd is expected.

Spivak has one of the nation's top orchestras and will bring 15 top musicians to the Dunn dance. Featured vocalists are Eileen Rodgers, lovely song stylist, and Joe Tucker, baritone.

IN GREAT DEMAND Spivak is in great demand and Commander Thompson said today that the organization feels unusually fortunate in securing him for their dance.

There'll be plenty of bargains in Dunn stores right up until the time of closing Saturday night.

The town's business district was crowded again today with shoppers, but Bargain Days won't end until Saturday night and there'll be plenty of merchandise for the last-minute bargain-hunter.

Chairman Dave Kimmel of the Retail Merchants Committee today hailed the Bargain Days event as a big success and said that a check showed business is exceeding the expectations of many merchants.

The Daily Record also made a quick, cross-section check today and interviewed merchants in the various types of businesses. All of them said they were well pleased.

"I did far more business yesterday than I usually do on Saturday," one store manager told The Record. Saturday is usually the big business day in the stores here.

EVEN HAPPIER than merchants over the event were the customers. The Daily Record again today interviewed scores of shoppers.

"My only complaint," said a resident of Benson, Route 2, very good-naturedly, "is that I haven't got enough money to buy all the things I want. I've found some wonderful bargains and just wish I had enough money to take advantage" (Continued on Page Five)

RALEIGH (AP) - A measure to reduce the amount tobacco warehousemen may charge farmers selling their leaf was introduced in the General Assembly today. Rep. Carl Venters of Onslow County introduced a bill he had promised earlier to reduce tobacco warehousemen's commissions on sales from 2 1/2 to 2 per cent.

RALEIGH (AP) - North Carolina lawmakers proposed today to see that no child has to trudge more than half a mile to catch a bus to take him to school. Rep. J. Raynor Woodard of Northampton County and others introduced a bill in the House to require that school buses (Continued on Page Three)

Court Adjourns Until Monday

Evidence will be resumed Monday in Harnett Superior Court in the $50,000 personal damage suit growing out of the death a year ago of a four-year-old boy who was drowned in a gravel pit near Beersville, just outside of Dunn.

Testimony of four witnesses was heard before Judge J. Paul Frizzell of Snow Hill recessed court until Monday morning.

Melvin Brown is seeking damages totaling $50,000 in the drowning of his son, William Gilbert Brown on January 18, 1952.

Defendant in the suit is the Superior Stone Company of Raleigh, owners of the gravel pit. Brown claims the company was negligent in the maintenance of a public hazard.

Attorney Everette L. Doffermyre is representing Brown and is appearing alone in the case.

Attorneys on the other side include: Nell McK. Salmon, Glenn L. Hooper, Jr. and the firm of Joyner and Howison and Garland Midgette of Raleigh.

First witness offered by Doffermyre was the Rev. Richard Rhea Gammon, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Snow Hill. (Continued on page two)

Cooking Class Held Last Night At Sears

A large crowd of Dunn housewives along with three men interested in cooking packed the Sears Catalog Sales Office here last night for a cooking class conducted by Mrs. Allene Mintz, home economist for the Carolina Power and Light Company.

Mrs. Mintz prepared a complete meal on the Sears Kenmore Electric Stove and those present were delighted with the new techniques which she demonstrated.

The meal prepared by Mrs. Mintz was given to ladies present who drew the lucky numbers.

They were: Mrs. J. F. Martin, Mrs. Bernice Goss, Mrs. Jack Johnson, Mrs. Neale Pops, Mrs. Jim Wilson, Mrs. M. M. Driver, Mrs. Lester Worley and Mrs. James Tyndall.

Mrs. Beulah Lamm, manager of Sears, said today she was well pleased with the attendance last night and expressed appreciation to all those who attended.

Dunn Jurors Reject Drunk Driving Case

Robbie Thane Massengill, charged with drunken and careless and reckless driving, was found not guilty of drunken but guilty of careless and reckless driving by a jury in Dunn Recorder's Court Wednesday.

The jury, composed of J. A. Weeks, Mrs. Harvey Strickland, Lloyd Jackson, Russell E. Dorman, Oliver Ward and H. A. Smith, returned the lesser verdict after hearing the evidence in the case.

Judge H. Paul Strickland sentenced Massengill to 60 days, suspended 12 months on payment of a fine of $50 and costs.

On Thursday, Joseph Nerice Edwards, charged with drunken driving, drew 90 days, suspended 12 months on payment of $100 and costs.

Another motor vehicle law violator, Carson Young Lee, charged with careless and reckless driving speeding, failing to stop at the sound of a siren and driving after license was suspended, drew 60 days, suspended 12 months on payment of $100 and costs. It was recommended that his license be revoked.

Weldon D. Blue and Carlyle Jones charged with careless and reckless driving, were each taxed costs with prayer for judgment continued 12 months.

Workers Sought For New Industry Here

The Dunn Chamber of Commerce today sent out a call for women employees to determine if 300 can be secured for a new garment company which is considering establishing a plant in Dunn.

Whether or not this industry comes to Dunn depends upon whether or not enough labor can be found to operate the plant here.

All white women between the ages of 18 and 45 who are interested are requested to file their application in the city courtroom next Friday and Saturday, February 13 and 14, between the hours of 8 a. m. and 6 p. m.

Following is the complete text of the announcement made today by Chamber Manager Norman Suttles:

ATTENTION LADIES! White-Age 18 to 45 If you are interested in a good job with a new foundation garment manufacturing company in Dunn, file your application at the Recorder's Court Room, Dunn City Hall, 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. February 13 and 14.

If labor is available the training work will start in temporary quarters during the construction of a modern air-conditioned building. You will be paid during the training period. After you have completed training you will receive an excellent weekly salary.

Lottery King Is Declared Outlaw

GREENSBORO (AP) - Judge J. C. Rudisill signed a proclamation today declaring Greensboro racketeer Francis Duval (George) Smith an outlaw, opening the way for any citizen to attempt his arrest on sight and slay him in the event of resistance.

The rarely-used proclamation was issued today after a statewide police alert for his arrest failed to produce results by 9 a. m. The alarm was spread when Smith jumped $80,000 bond last night.

The statute providing for outlaw proclamations provides that if the person named does not surrender immediately to an officer of the law, any citizen of the state may capture him, kill him, or resist such arrest may slay him.

Smith, sentenced to 10 years imprisonment and a $25,000 fine for bribing police officers and operating a lottery here which took in about $4,000 daily, was scheduled to surrender to being serving the sentence at 2 p. m. yesterday.

He failed to show up, and Superior Judge J. R. Rudisill sent out a state-wide alarm.

Smith had been free under $80,000 bond pending his appeal to the State Supreme Court. However, the high court upheld the conviction of Smith and four former police officers for bribery and conspiracy last Friday.

Judge Rudisill said Smith's bond will be forfeited.

Planning Board Now In Business Adoption of ordinances was the principal business of the meeting of the City Council last night. In addition to the adoption of a Planning Board ordinance, several other policies were made permanent as ordinances.

An ordinance to regulate the installation of television antennas in the interests of public safety was enacted. Policies on subdivisions, both within and outside of the city limits were made permanent by ordinance as were the requirements to qualify for building permits.

As soon as the board passed the ordinance setting up the Planning Board, the members Chairman Earl McD. Westbrook, Myres Tighman Eugene Johnson, C. W. Bannerman and E. B. Oulbreth were installed by Mayor Ralph E. Hanna. The Mayor and City Manager A. B. Uzis Jr., who is secretary, are ex-officio members.

A report from Water Superintendent Fernie Hartley was submitted. (Continued on page two)

BULLETINS

NEW YORK (AP) - New York shipping companies today looked to a court order banning picket lines to provide the first break in a tugboatmen's strike which has crippled this port for six days. The order temporarily restraining tugmen from picketing city piers was issued late Thursday night in state Supreme Court, Brooklyn, on a petition filed by the New York Shipping Association.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) - An escaped convict worried about the taxpayers' pocketbook, called the sheriff here yesterday and told him: "Don't let the county spend any money hunting me - I'll be back soon." The phone call, according to Knox County Sheriff Austin Cate, came from Hugh James Miller, convicted safecracker who fled Monday via a bathroom window at General Hospital.
