found in his automobile. In court, Zollos told the judge the guns were really for a hunting trip but he told police he was a burglar "just to give the cops a thrill." The thrill cost Zollos a $75 fine.

BOSTON (P) — Vincent Scaramella waited on an old customer Thursday in his cigar store. "What do you want now?" Scaramella asked. "Give me the money," the gunman said. Scaramella handed him $25. "This is the last time," the bandit said as he walked out. Scaramella said the same man robbed him three weeks ago.

BOSTON (P) — A group of state legislators has proposed that women should be banned from wrestling in Massachusetts. "We outlawed cockfights," Rep. W. Arthur Milne said, "but we still allow these jackasses to debase themselves. It's a disgrace to womanhood." There was no opposition to the legislation.

ALAMOSA, Colo. (P) — A local bar owner has devised a novel way of collecting funds for the March of Dimes. Jim McNamee said he nicks his patrons 10 cents each time they use a mild swear word and a quarter "for strong cursing." After one week McNamee reported a total of $101—the largest single contribution in town.

DETROIT (P) — Police removed Algene Choate, 18, to stronger lodgings in the county jail today after he popped out of his cell in the precinct station lockup by twisting the steel bars. A flabbergasted turnkey found the wiry five-foot, nine-inch, 150-pounder sitting on top of the cell block nonchalantly smoking a cigarette. "I wouldn't have done it," Choate said, "but I wanted to borrow a cigaret from one of the other prisoners."

TAUNTON, Mass. (P) — Superior Judge Harry Kalus told a jury it made a "mockery" of justice when it acquitted Austin Conway of drunkenness. Conway admitted drinking 20 brandy highballs but said he was "not drunk, just under the influence." The jury agreed.

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (P) — Charles R. Hughes said today he would sell his house and move before he'd part with his pet lion. "It appears to me that some of my neighbors are making something out of nothing," Hughes said. "There are dogs around here that are a lot more vicious than Rim," he said as he patted the two-year-old cub. "Rim fills a void in my heart."

SANDRINGHAM, England (P) — Queen Elizabeth II knelt alone to pray today at the church of the estate where her father died a year ago today. Only her husband the Duke of Edinburgh, accompanied the Queen to a holy communion service at the Church of St. Mary Magdalene. It was in this chapel on the royal country estate that King George VI's body lay before it was brought to London.

HEANTON SATCHVILLE (P) — Ninety-year-old Lord Clinton apologized last night for living so long and announced he has decided to pay off the beneficiaries of his will without further delay. "I should have popped off long ago," he said. "I am really feeling quite guilty about my surprising longevity."

WEST POINT, Ga. (P) — Police and state revenue agents today reported the confiscation of 410 cases of untaxed whiskey worth $20,000 halted here in transit from New Orleans to South Carolina. Chief Larry Rice of the West Point police said a revenue agent tipped him that a truck would be coming through with the shipment early yesterday and Rice and his men were waiting when the truck arrived.

SAVANNAH, Ga. (P) — Roscoe Suddeth's signature, which authorities said netted $36,000 from stolen government checks in the past year, tripped Suddeth up today. Suddeth, 32, and Virginia Suddeth, 27, were held under $20,000 bonds on charges of stealing and cashing checks with forged endorsements in nine states.

DETROIT (P) — Collins C. George went to work for the Detroit Free Press today, the first Negro reporter to be hired by one of Detroit's three daily newspapers of general circulation.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (P) — The American Federation of Labor's Executive Council today centered work of its series of closed sessions here on the subject of the AFL's foreign relations.

OMAHA, Neb. (P) — Some 1,400 delegates to the annual convention of the National Association of Soil Conservation Districts headed home today after electing Wats S. Davis Jr., of League City, Tex., president of the group.

AMSTERDAM (P) — Danger started to ebb along Holland's death-swept coasts today and the little nation buckled down to the staggering job of reclaiming 450,000 flooded acres from the sea. The official death toll from Europe's worst storm of modern times reached 1,352 in Holland today and 423 in Britain. The toll is expected to keep rising for days.

MOSCOW (P) — The official Communist party newspaper Pravda announced today the arrest of three spies, and said one of them was trained by American intelligence agents. Pravda identified the three men as S. D. Gurevich, K. F. Romanov, and T. A. Sasi. They were arrested by Soviet state security agents and accused of being long-time spies, the newspaper said.

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (P) — A pretty young actress' first break in show business was only a bitter-sweet triumph. Her mother will be sentenced today for embezzling $25,000 to help her become a success. The attractive brunette, Jill Hollingsworth of Detroit, Mich., recently was chosen as one of four "glamour favorites" who will appear on Ken Murray's national television show.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (P) — State police today warned citizens "for God's sake stay away" from a "dangerous" fugitive reported driving through Oklahoma with a bound hostage and an arsenal of small arms. The suspect, 29-year-old Leonard G. Baldwin is wanted in his home state of California for investigation of murder, grand auto kidnapping and burglary.

WASHINGTON (P) — Two top rent stabilization officials faced suspension today in connection with a fire-repair scheme to collect leave payments that allegedly netted $25,000. Acting Rent Stabilizer William G. Gilchrist said that as his first official act after being sworn in he will suspend John J. Madigan and Linda Mat-

PHILADELPHIA (P) — Rear Adm. Richard E. Byrd plans another South Pole expedition to seek natural resources and study weather conditions to help train American soldiers to fight in polar areas.

NEW YORK (P) — Nearly $2,000 worth of mink was filched successfully from a glass show window in a glass house in full view of Park Avenue pedestrians, police revealed today. The thief was caught as he made a return trip for a third bit of mink—a $4,200 coat.

Planning Board

The board showed that 83 houses have not been connected to water and sewer lines as required by the ordinances, although the lines are available. Several of them were connected but are not using the facilities.

The ordinance provides a penalty and further provides that each day after the property owner receives a note will constitute a separate offense.

TO NOTIFY

The property owners are to be officially notified and then steps will be taken to force compliance. City Attorney I. R. Williams and the City Manager are to work together on the details.

The board instructed the City Manager to arrange for widening Wilson Avenue between Edgerly and Harnett, to the same width as the rest of this street and provide parallel parking on one side and diagonal on the other.

On another street problem, the board declined to close the railroad crossings as requested by the ACL Railroad, but decided that instead the crossings should be improved.

The City Manager was instructed to present the bill for $31.55 for the repair of a water line owned by Elmer Williams to him. The bill had been presented to Coy Lucas because the line was broken by a tractor operated by Charles Lucas, who was doing some work for Coy Lucas at the time.

City Attorney Williams told the board that the owner of the line was responsible for any repairs needed by the line and that, unless payment was made the water could be shut off. The city limits were further extended by the admission of property of Bill Woodall and Charles Faircloth, lots 8, 9 and 10 and lots 21, 22 and 23 of the H. C. Turlington subdivision.

the Palladium in Hollywood. Spivak is the leader of an eight-year-old band which rocketed to topflight stature so rapidly that it now ranks among the kings in the entertainment world.

Notches in Spivak's musical belt are the 20th Century Fox's "Pin-Up Girl," starring Betty Grable and "Follow the Boys" for Universal and a flock of box-office records created at the Paramount in New York, the Hotel Statler in New York, the Palladium in Hollywood, and other top spots. Spivak's music-making is so solidly established for its individuality that it can be identified whenever and wherever it is played as "indubitably Charlie's."

NATIVE OF NEW HAVEN

Born in New Haven, Connecticut, Spivak got his first trumpet while still in grade school; a tiny instrument with the first valve practically on top of Charlie's nose. He went to Hill House School in New Haven, studying the trumpet on his own time with George Hyer, who is a member of the New Haven Symphony Orchestra. The fact that Spivak's family had chartered out a medical career for him didn't alter Spivak's decision to take to the brass, and when Paul Specht, then one of the country's outstanding bandleaders, offered him a job, he signed up and remained with the outfit for five years.

He next joined the Benny Pollack Band, another number one outfit, and his next stop was the Dorsey Brothers Orchestra, where he played alongside such musicians as Glenn Miller, Skeets Herfurt and Bob Crosby. When Ray Noble came to America, he asked Glenn to help him organize a band, and the first musician to be signed was Spivak.

BROKE ALL RECORDS

When Spivak left to try his musical wings on his own, he became the highest paid free lance trumpeter in radio, playing on the Ford Symphony Hour, Kate Smith and Fred Allen broadcasts. When he felt ready to organize his own band, a lot of encouragement came from Glenn Miller who told him he had all the ingredients necessary for a winning combination. Spivak got his first big engagement at the Glen Island Casino, jumping off place for more than a dozen of the nation's top flight bandleaders. He was so successful that the Casino, traditionally a summer spot, broke a precedent by keeping the doors open for the winter season to accommodate Spivak's drawing power. Spivak came to the Cafe Rouge of the Hotel Statler shortly thereafter, and broke Glenn Miller's and Jimmy Dorsey's records; then went on to do the same thing at the Commodore. He has been a regular fall attraction at the Statler every season.

A highlight was his award by Downbeat Magazine as the top sweet band. Spivak is mild-mannered and soft-spoken. He is five-feet, eight inches tall, has brown hair, blue eyes and still blushes at a compliment. A baseball fan, Spivak has organized a team within his own band. Charlie plays center field.

This section appears in the general catalogs being distributed by the Atlanta, Dallas, Greensboro and Memphis mail order plants. Mrs. Lamm explained.

As is customary, the spring catalog introduces a number of new merchandise items. Among them are home exercising equipment, electric dehumidifiers, magnet grip can opener and canister vacuum cleaner.

The new book also introduces Sears 1953 line of gas and electric kitchen ranges, automatic clothes washer and dryer, and home freezers, including an 11.1 cubic foot upright model. This is the first upright type unit ever to be offered by Sears.

playing at the swanky Hotel Roosevelt in New Orleans.

The friendship dates back to 1922 when Henry was playing trumpet in Garber's orchestra. He spent a year touring the country with Garber and had a wonderful time.

"Jan's a fine fellow," declared Henry today. "I never saw him angry but once in my life."

Henry recalled that the band had a particularly bad week. The orchestra was playing a percentage basis and had lost money every night for a week. In addition to salary, Garber also paid the expenses of his players.

At one of the one-night stands, relates Henry, Garber gave him and another member of the orchestra $5 and told them to "go out and get a sandwich."

"We didn't stop at a sandwich," related Henry, "we ate four dollars worth. And that was back when you could get a good meal for about 40 cents." The Dunn musician recalled that Garber looked like he'd explode, but then got up, left the hotel lobby, walked around 'till the block to cool off and didn't say a word.

Every time the two meet now, Henry kids Garber about that $4 meal.

He thinks Garber is a wonderful fellow and that he still has a top-notch band.

LITTLE NOTES: Speaking of orchestras, Dunn should have a dancing good time this month, with Russ Olsen here for the Lions Club dance on February 21st and Charlie Spivak here for the VFW dance on February 24th.

Dr. and Mrs. George Cuthrell will be in Wilson next week to attend the Annual Ministers Week program at Atlantic Christian College. Featured speaker of the event will be Dr. Winfred Ernest Garrison, who will deliver The George F. Cuthrell Lecture series. It was established in honor of the Dunn pastor.

George (Jo Jo) Williams is the greatest admirer Governor Bill Umstead has in Dunn, probably in the State. Jo Jo drops by The Daily Record office every afternoon to see if any new bulletins have come in concerning the Governor's health. Many new Dunn people will go to Raleigh Monday night to hear Arthur Fiedler and The Boston Pops Tour Orchestra at the Coliseum.

respiration to the child.

Also giving a description of the scene was Charles D. Hutaff, II, of Dunn.

A fourth witness, Guyton Smith, Jr., told how he dived into the hole in an effort to recover the child's body. He said the water was over his head.

Attorney Doffermyre attempted to show that the hole of water was attractive to children and constituted a public hazard.

Through cross-examination, the defense attorneys attempted to refute this claim and to show that the hole was not a public swimming hole at all, but was located on private property and that the company was not responsible.

Doffermyre said today that he has about 20 other witnesses to offer. Trial of the case is expected to take up most of next week.

Judge Frizzell, over the objections of the state company counsel, admitted photographs of the disaster scene, only so far as they illustrate testimony. He instructed the jurors to disregard the body of the dead child shown in the photo.

GIRL IN COURT

Miss Ward, wearing a prim dark blue dress, was in court and ready to take the witness stand. She was expected to be the first witness.

There were several expensively dressed women in the courtroom after an order banning women had been lifted.

BULLETIN

NEW YORK (P) — The courtroom was cleared of press and spectators today as 19-year-old Pat Ward took the witness stand to testify against Mickey F. Jelke, accused procurer of cafe society call girls.

J. Roland Sala, Attorney for Miss Ward, said "There would be many a home in this city that would be broken up if her testimony was openly reported."

In his opening statement, Liebler said he was sorry that it would be necessary for Miss Ward to name the men who bought her services, but "it would be impossible to present this case to you without using the actual names."

Liebler said the heir to a $3,000,000 oleo fortune met Miss Ward in September, 1951. She was having trouble with her mother, Liebler said, and agreed to leave home and live with Jelke at his urging.

Jelke then arranged dates for the 19-year-old girl, but at first told her the men she went out with would not make improper advances at that they "just wanted to be seen with you," Liebler said.
