Committee Approves Tax Bill

Tax Cut Would Go Into Effect On July First

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee overrode President Eisenhower's go slow request and voted 21 to 4 today to cut individual income taxes on July 1.

The cut, if it becomes law, would amount to about five percent for most taxpayers in this calendar year. An additional cut of about five per cent would go into effect on Jan. 1, 1954, making the total reduction about 10 percent.

Legislation providing for the tax cut was approved by the Ways and Means Committee despite Mr. Eisenhower's statement to Congress two weeks ago that "until we can determine the extent to which expenditures can be reduced, it would not be wise to reduce our revenues."

In line with that, Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr. said the tax cutting bill would not be called up for action on the floor until a balanced budget is in sight.

Even if the bill passes the House in April or May, as Martin believes is likely, the measure still may never get through the Senate, which it would have to do before it could become law.

Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-O.) and other Senate Republican leaders are doubtful that Congress will know before fall whether a balanced budget—their first goal—can be achieved.

REED SPONSOR The measure approved by the House committee was sponsored by the Chairman, Rep. Daniel A. Reed (R-NY). Reed insisted that his bill be acted on immediately and without any expression of views from treasury or other administration officials.

Yesterday, Taft plainly indicated he believed tax reductions may have to be postponed until July 1, 1954. Emphasizing that the government "cannot afford" to turn up with an unbalanced budget next year, Taft said in a radio interview that he "hopes" taxes can be cut earlier.

More Witnesses Heard In Trial NEW YORK (AP) — Two handwriting experts, a blond T.V. actress and a pair of shapely models were scheduled to take the stand today when the vice trial of Minot F. (Mickey) Jekle resumes in general sessions court.

Assistant District Attorney Anthony J. Liebler said the handwriting experts would authenticate signatures on checks given party girl Pat Ward by her vice customers and allegedly double-endorsed by Miss Ward and the 23-year-old also heir. He said their testimony would virtually complete that portion of the state's case built around the 19-year-old Miss Ward's story that Jekle forced her into the life of a $500-a-week prostitute.

The heir to $2,000,000 of a marriage fortune faced possible sentences of up to 149 years, if found guilty on seven counts of a grand jury indictment charging him with compulsory prostitution and two counts involving him in a conspiracy to peddle the love favors of 11 nightclub glamour girls and live off their earnings.

The trial, which began a week ago, has been closed to the press. (Continued on page two)

Record Beginning Service Feature

The Daily Record today is beginning a new feature, "Service Men's Round-up," devoted directly to men and women in the Daily Record area who are in the service.

This newspaper receives many reports from our service men from various public relations offices of the Army, Air Force, Marine and Coast Guard.

In addition to these reports, we'd like to have some news about them from their families. If you have someone in the service, we'd like to have their photograph with some information about them and what they're doing in the service.

Just mail us any postcard photograph and the facts and we'll publish them in the Round-up. And when you write to them in the service, urge them to let their public relations office send us news from their families.

The Daily Record Round-up charge for sending them news items.

Leaders Confer With President On Yalta Pact

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower and his congressional leaders today made "some progress" on a resolution encouraging people fighting for freedom in Soviet satellite countries or elsewhere.

Senate majority leader Robert A. Taft, leaving the weekly White House legislative conference, said the resolution will repudiate parts of the Yalta and other international agreements which "might be construed to limit the freedom of people for self-determination."

However, Taft said, the Yalta agreement is not the principal target.

"The idea is not a repudiation of any particular agreement, but rather of any construction that would lead to acquiescence on our part of suppression of freedom in satellite countries or elsewhere," Taft said.

He said the language of the resolution was one of the major subjects taken up at the White House session.

"It was discussed at some length and we made some progress," Taft said.

NO DATE SET No date was agreed on for introduction of the resolution. There is no thought that such a world-wide declaration by this government can do more than to encourage suppressed peoples behind the Iron Curtain.

Four Accidents Reported Here A series of minor accidents kept State Highway Patrolman David Matthews busy Saturday night and early Sunday morning.

Every time Patrolman Matthews went to bed, a new wreck would hit him out of bed.

The first accident occurred Saturday night about 8 o'clock, three miles south of Dunn on the Pope Road, when a 1941 Pontiac driven by Freddie McBryde, Dunn Negro, backed out of a private driveway into a 1937 Ford driven by Festus Jackson Carroll, 24, of Dunn, Route 1.

McBryde was charged with failing to yield the right-of-way. Damages of $75 was done to the Pontiac, and about $30 to the Ford. Neither driver was injured.

Second accident took place about 10 o'clock that night one mile north of Dunn on Highway 301 when Thomas E. Royal, 17, of Dunn Star Route ran into the rear of a 1947 Plymouth driven by Alonzo Faison Coats, 24, of Hillsboro Street, Raleigh. Damage to the Ford was $75, damage to the Plymouth was $30. Settlement was left to the parties involved.

At 1 a. m. Sunday morning, Albert Henry Lee, 35, of Clinton, Route 3 lost control of the 1946 Ford he was driving, 1 mile north of Dunn on Highway 301. The car left the right side of the road and ran into a field.

Mrs. Lee received severe bruises, lacerations and a possible fractured leg. The car was damaged about $300. No charges were preferred.

A new 1953 Lincoln, owned and driven by Dr. J. E. Knoduch of Dundalk, Maryland, was rammed in the back by a Negro motorist identified as Fletcher P. McCullum. The accident occurred a half mile north of Dunn on Highway 301 Sunday morning at 2 a. m.

Survey Showed Help Plentiful

The results of the survey made by the Industrial Committee of the Chamber of Commerce were most gratifying, Chairman C. E. McLamb said today.

In the two days that applications from women interested in employment in a proposed new industry were received, a total of 1,100 women applied.

Although the survey was conducted for only one plant, the number of available employees is so much larger than expected, Chairman McLamb said, that there was a possibility that more than one industry could be supplied with workers.

Weekend Rain Sends Rivers Over Banks

RALEIGH (AP) — Heavy rains Saturday night and Sunday are sending the Cape Fear and Neuse rivers over their banks, the weather bureau advised today, but they pose a threat only to livestock and equipment in farm lowlands.

"There will be some disruption of river traffic on the Cape Fear," the weather bureau added.

"Waters won't be high enough to get into any towns," the report said, but it forecast a crest of near 40 feet at Fayetteville tonight, about five feet over the banks.

The Cape Fear measured 33.4 feet at Fayetteville early today. The stage was 20.1 feet at Elizabethton early today "which is slightly over the banks," the report said in forecasting a crest at that point of "between 29 and 30 feet tomorrow night."

The Cape Fear crested last night at 21.3 feet, about a foot and a half over the banks, at Moncure.

On the Neuse, the stage at Neuse early today was 15.3 feet, about one and a half feet over the banks, a crest of near 18 feet was expected by early tomorrow at Neuse and about the same height was forecast at Smithfield tomorrow night.

"It will be several days before the crest travels as far down the river as Goldsboro," the weather bureau said.

"Other major rivers in eastern North Carolina are rising but no flooding of any consequence is expected on those streams," the report said.

Man Is Bound Over On Forgery Charge

An alleged forger was bound over to Superior Court and five drunk drivers convicted in an unusual heavy Monday morning session in Dunn Recorder's Court this morning.

Probable cause was found against Isaac Jones for forgery and fraud and Judge H. Paul Strickland set bond at $300.

Jones was charged with forging a note and a chattel mortgage made payable to the Johnson Cotton Company in the name of Martha Jones and passing the same and receiving the money.

Drunk drivers who each draw 90 days, suspended 13 months on payment of $100 and costs each were Graham Frank Pines Jr., Carl Holder, Charlie Hall and Grady Dudley.

In addition to the drunken driving charge, James Feltor McLamb was charged with having no operator's license and he drew 4 months, suspended 12 months, on payment of $125 and costs.

Donald Roy Lee was taxed costs with prayer for judgment continued for speeding 75 mph. He appealed and bond was set at $100.

Charges of assault with a deadly weapon against Malcolm Geddie and non-support against Henry Barnes, were not dropped.

Edward Caldwell drew 60 days, suspended 12 months on payment of $10 and costs for possession. Oscar Herring was found not guilty.

Riverside Men's Club Elects New Officers

The men of Riverside Presbyterian Church, Dunn Route 2, elected officers for their newly formed club at a dinner meeting Friday night at the church.

New officers elected Friday night are: Mr. Wm. Wade, president; Mr. Wm. Blake, vice-president; Mr. Belvin Strickland, secretary-treasurer.

The men discovered their wives call really cook Friday evening this fact was established as the women of the Church served the men a delicious dinner.

After the dinner, Mrs. Frank Core, retiring president of the Women of Riverside, spoke of their anticipation in reaching the cost of new pews for the church's auditorium, and a generous offering was made toward that goal.

Rev. Glenn Fishbeck, the pastor, introduced Mr. Frank Belote of Dunn, who spoke to the assembly. (Continued on page two)

Civil Defense Heads Say U.S. Vulnerable

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Defense Administration said today that Russia right now could hit all 89 major U. S. cities with atomic bombs in a 400-plane assault capable of inflicting up to 11,000,000 casualties in a single day.

And, it added, Soviet striking power "is growing."

The CDA said it based its "assumptions" concerning Russia's offensive might on official "security information and military intelligence." In a somber annual report to President Eisenhower and Congress it added:

"Make no mistake, about it, America's civil defense is not developing fast enough to meet the threat that now faces us."

The agency called for vastly stepped up civil defense efforts by everybody concerned, and in one passage declared:

"The vulnerability of our target cities must be reduced through a practical, step-by-step, dispersal (Continued on page two)

Baptist Mission Has Birthday

The Branch Sunday School, a mission of Dunn's First Baptist Church, celebrated its first anniversary Sunday and ended a year that exceeded all expectations.

There was no formal ceremony marking the event, but leaders and members of the mission alike looked back on a busy year during which it has shown remarkable growth and progress.

Chief credit for the mission, which has reached a group of people not previously reached by any other church, goes to W. E. (Bill) Cobb and L. L. (Leck) Coats, two prominent Dunn businessmen who founded the mission and have nursed it through its first year of infancy.

Mr. Cobb, local agent for the Durham and Southern Railroad, and Mr. Coats, local wholesale distributor and a member of Dunn's city council, conceived the idea for the mission about a year and a half ago when a religious census showed a large number of people in the area not attending any church.

BUILDING TRANSFORMED Both are leaders in the First Baptist Church and they sold the idea of sponsorship to other members. The church designated Mr. Cobb and Mr. Coats as associate superintendents and later they enlisted the services of Joe Norris, another Dunn businessman who has played a major part in the establishment and operation of the mission. Mr. Norris owns the building, which previously served as a juke box shop.

It was just a year ago that the old juke box was turned into a church. There were only 29 people present when the mission opened (Continued on page five)

Drinking Top Cause Of Arrests

Fifteen arrests, nine of which were for public drunkenness, were reported over the weekend by the Dunn Police Department.

Other charges included one arrest for assault on a female; one for drunkenness and possession; two for engaging in an affray; one for assault; and one for speeding.

THERE'S SUMMER RELIEF IN THOSE CRATES — An unloading party was made here today when McLamb Supply Company of Dunn received an order of 100 crates of ice cream. It is the first order ever received in this section and possibly the first ever received in the state of Dunn. Employees of the local plumbing, heating and air conditioning firm are shown here at a Durham and Southern siding unloading three of the big units. They are Crude units, manufactured by Curtis Refrigeration Co. of St. Louis, Mo. They range in size from 12 to 18 tons. P. N. and W. O. McLamb, lead of the company, reported today that most of the units have been sold. (Daily Record Photo.)
