with threats that defense cuts would jeopardize national security.

ROME — (AP) — Heavily armed police stood guard at the interior ministry today as tellers counted the crucial votes in Premier Alcide de Gasperi's photo-finish contest for control of parliament. With less than 1,000,000 ballots remaining uncounted in a total of more than 25,000,000 no one knew yet whether De Gasperi's supporters had polled the absolute majority they need to give Italy a stable government during the next five years.

CHICAGO — (AP) — Employees of the Hedco Manufacturing Co. here could look forward today to a full year's vacation with pay for every 10 years they spend on the job. Or they can work at double pay during the year's vacation period, if they prefer.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — (AP) — A 31-year-old tenant farmer, who gave himself up as an escaped convict because "my conscience bothered me," was free today to return to the "honest, upright" life he led for 10 years. Gov. Frank Clement yesterday granted Reavins Clinton Olive a full pardon after reading petitions from Olive's neighbors and officials at Des Arc, Ark., where the former convict operated a 600-acre farm.

ASHEVILLE, N. C. — (AP) — A 28-year-old blonde who pilloved her dying husband's head, whispered to him "honey, you're bleeding to death" and went home to mother, was charged today with murder. Mrs. Earle Reese, mother of two children, admitted to police she "whacked" her 57-year-old husband with a paring knife during a family quarrel but "I didn't stab him."

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson cites TV star Arthur Godfrey as proof that propeller pilots can easily switch to jets. "Jet planes aren't so tough," Wilson told a Senate Appropriations subcommittee yesterday. "An old fellow like my friend Arthur Godfrey, who's 47, qualified as a jet pilot without much trouble."

Godfrey is a naval reserve flier.

COLUMBUS, O. — (AP) — Deputy Sheriff George B. Watt, 58, of Arlington County, Va., died of a heart attack here yesterday while enroute to pick up a prisoner held by Columbus police for extradition to Virginia.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Funeral services for Lewis G. Wood, veteran Washington correspondent for the New York Times, will be held here Thursday at St. Margaret's Episcopal Church.

HAMPTON, S. C. — (AP) — Former Vice President Alben Barkley will be the featured speaker at the 11th annual Hampton County watermelon festival here July 2.

LONDON — (AP) — Mrs. Perle Mesta, famed hostess and former United States minister to Luxembourg, left by plane for a visit to Soviet Russia today, hoping to see Premier Georgi M. Malenkov.

TAMPA, Fla. — (AP) — A surgeon told today how he took the heart of a patient in his hand and massaged it for 24 minutes before completing a delicate operation, thus saving her life. Dr. H. H. Sibley, a heart and chest surgeon said there have been cases where heart massage had been employed for longer periods but that in those instances the patients died.

NEW YORK — (AP) — The AFL Musicians Union prepared today to welcome pianist Oscar Levant back into the fold. Music czar James C. Petrillo announced yesterday he was asking the union's executive board to drop charges against Levant which brought about his suspension from membership last April 18.

MOSCOW — (AP) — The Soviet government has granted permission for the Russian wives of two U. S. citizens and two Russian-born children of an American woman to leave this country. They are the wife of Associated Press Moscow correspondent Eddy Gilmore and to Mrs. Robert Tucker, wife of an embassy attache.

BERLIN — (AP) — The private secretary to Communist East Germany's president fled to the west to seek political asylum, the American German-language newspaper Neu-Zeitung reported today.

SEOUL, Korea — (AP) — America's new 240 millimeter cannon pounded Communist positions for the first time today in support of South Koreans surging toward the crest of Luke the Gook's Castle. The huge howitzer, slightly smaller than the atomic cannon, pinpointed shells on the crest and northern slopes of the vital eastern front landmark.

SIoux CITY, Ia. — (AP) — Small rivers and creeks that went roaring out of their banks and killed at least 10 persons were dropping steadily today. The worst of widespread flooding that hit almost a dozen towns and thousands of acres of farmland in northwest Iowa and southern Minnesota was believed to be over.

LONDON — (AP) — Prince Philip, the dashing Duke of Edinburgh, observed his 32nd birthday today as Queen Elizabeth II lifted a champagne glass and said, "to my husband." As Big Ben chimed the noon hour, the royal couple took time off from a busy round of coronation festivities to celebrate the event with a quiet family lunch at Buckingham Palace.

SEOUL, Korea — (AP) — Maj. James J. Jabara, history's first jet ace, shot down two MIG-15s today to become again the leading jet pilot now in Korea.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The House passed a stripped-down controls bill yesterday that lets all economic curbs on June 30 except President Eisenhower's allocation and priorities authority.

NEW DEVELOPMENTS

The old town board set up a policy with regard to the taking into town of new subdivisions, requiring the owner of the property to be taken in to supply water and sewage facilities, approved by the town, at the owners expense, and at no cost to the town.

The first request of a property owner to come into the town under the new policy was made at the last board meeting. However, this property owner felt that the policy inflicted a hardship, and he asked the town to pay for the labor, incidental to installing the services.

The policy was set up by the old board after the town had dropped a sizeable chunk of money in providing the labor on a similar installation. In that particular case, the contractor, after the job was completed, came before the board and said he had figured too low, and he was awarded an additional $500, over the City Manager's objection.

The board, after this incident, set the policy to prevent any recurrence of such an incident in the future. That board felt, and I agree, that the advantages to the developer and those buying his lots of bringing a subdivision into town, outweighed the cost of his compliance with the policy.

WHY BUILD IN TOWN?

Along these lines, City Manager A. B. Uzzle, Jr., has come up with a table of interesting figures, which show the advantages of building in town over building out of town.

The figures are based on a house that would cost $10,000 to build and which would be assessed at about $4,000, on which towns taxes would be levied. This is what you would get for your taxes.

	Each year	In Town	Outside
Town tax		$ 66.00	$ None
Fire insurance, full coverage		23.00	52.00
Clear, pure, treated water, 5,382 gal. monthly		32.28	52.56
Garbage collection		no cost	26.00
Full police protection		no cost	none
Street maintenance		no cost	only main hwy.
Street light		no cost	none
Street name and traffic signs		no cost	no lights
Location convenient to recreation, library, schools, stores, work and hospital.		yes	???
Sanitary Sewage disposal		8.04	—
City Auto Tag		1.00	—
Total cost		$130.00	$135.56

I think the above answers the question posed by the new policy. The advantages, I believe, outweigh the cost. Incidentally, this was based on the old rate, before the new tapping fee and water rate.

POLITICS

Some of my friends at the Soda Shop lately have accused me of being a politician. I can't agree with them, but, if I were a politician I would try to fulfill the requirements outlined by Adlai Stevenson in the introduction to the recently published book of his speeches.

Stevenson said, "— there are usually two ways to do things, the politically expedient way or the right way. Sometimes they do not coincide, but in the long run, the best way is the best politics. The best government is, in fact, the best politics and will pay off in public confidence and votes, many fold what it loses in patronage, profit and political organization."

Although we profess to resent monarchy and any sort of absolute rule and rule by Divine Right, very few Americans, except the most pronounced Anglophobes, failed

New Yorkers Get Pay-To-Watch TV

NEW YORK (AP) — New Yorkers are getting their first look at pay-to-watch television this week.

The experience is painless this time, for the Skiatron Electronics & Television Corporation is handing out free tickets for its demonstration at the Hotel Belmont-Plaza, but a year or two from now things may be different.

Arthur Levey, president of Skiatron, said its Subscriber-Vision system is not intended to supplant the present system of television programming but hopes to augment it by presenting entertainment of a type that wouldn't be available otherwise.

This might include first-run movies, sports events such as boxing matches—some of which are not kept off free television — opera, Broadway plays, etc.

FIRST RUN MOVIES

Levey said it was figured a first-run movie might be sold to subscribers for $1 per home, although the price could be lower if there were sufficiently subscribers. A weekly bill of $2.50 might cover the entertainment offered by the system in the beginning, he added. Skiatron expects to apply to the Federal Communications Commission this fall for permission to operate in New York.

The demonstrations now underway consist of showing some movie sequences through the facilities of WOR-TV and also on a closed channel.

The system involves an electronic unit called a coder which can be used by any television station. It "scrambles" the video and audio signals so they are unclear except to subscribers who have small decoders to their sets.

There is a slot in the top of each decoder and subscribers insert their subscription program cards in it. Then they manipulate a button on the decoder for whatever program is desired. The holes punched in each week's program card are a record of how much the subscriber is to be charged.

Special television stations will not be required for operations of the system. Subscriber-Vision would simply buy time on regular stations for its programs just as sponsors buy time today.

de Gasperi Forces Returned To Power

ROME (AP) — Premier Alcide de Gasperi's pro-Western coalition government was returned to power today but the margin was so slender there was doubt it could retain control for long.

The final outcome of the parliamentary elections held Sunday and Monday came perilously close to outright defeat for the Christian Democrats and allied parties. They wound up with only a 16-vote majority in the 590-seat Chamber of Deputies over the combined strength of the Communists, Socialists, Monarchists and neo-Fascists.

It was a defeat for de Gasperi in that he failed to win the 50.1 per cent of the total popular vote that would have given him the two-thirds control on which he had staked his hopes for a stable government.

The Monarchists and neo-Fascists on the extreme right brought about the plight of the center parties by drawing a heavy share of the anti-Communist vote.

SLIM MARGIN

Technically, the De Gasperi coalition won control of both chambers. It got 303 of the 590 chamber seats, a majority of 16 over the opposition and eight more than half the chamber. In the senate it won 125 of the 227 seats.

The center parties led by the 72-year-old premier got 15,487,039 votes or 49.79 per cent of the 27,089,184 votes cast in the chamber race. They missed the 50.1 per cent by only some 57,000 votes.

Perhaps the most startling result was the climb of the militant Communist party led by Moscow-trained Palmiro Togliatti. It went from 131 to 143 seats. The fellow-traveling Socialists climbed from 52 to 75, giving the leftist bloc a combined strength of 218.

Ike Says

A. Taft's recent speech that this country should forget the United Nations as far as the Korean war is concerned" and his subsequent proposal for a Far East alliance with Britain to by-pass any United Nations veto. Mr. Eisenhower said:

ASKS TOTAL UNITY

"There is no such thing as partial unity. . . . We cannot select those areas of the globe in which our policies or wishes may differ from our allies—build political fences around these areas—and say to our allies: 'We shall do what we want to here—and where you do what we want, there and only there shall we favor unity.'" to be interested in the recent coronation of the young Queen of England.

Actually, you couldn't very well get away from it. If you switched on the radio or television, went to the movies, or read the papers, you saw the smiling visage of the beautiful Queen. Even the "I like Ike" boys had to admit that she was prettier than Eisenhower or even Mamie.

Where was I on the morning of the coronation? Listening to my radio, along with a lot of the rest of you, and joining in spirit, with the prayers of the Archbishop of Westminster Abbey, of course.

Hope to see you all right here again.

Roundup

perations for fiscal 1954. Mr. Eisenhower said that building a defense against the Communist peril "cannot be a thing of frenzies and alarms. It must be a thing of thought and order and efficiency." "Precisely such a defense is now being built for our country. . . . It soberly promises more efficient military production. . . . And it allocates funds as justly and wisely as possible among the three armed services." "Reasonable defense posture is not won by juggling magic numbers—even with an air of great authority," Mr. Eisenhower said.

The Minneapolis speech was the first of five Mr. Eisenhower will deliver on a tour that will take him to North Dakota and then back to Washington by next Sunday evening.
