Club Entertains Husbands And Other Guests

Mrs. Casey S. Fowler and Mrs. James Renn were joint hostesses to the Chatter Bridge Club and husbands of members at an attractive outdoor supper given on Saturday night at the Fowler home.

Following a custom of several years standing, the bridge club entertains husbands of members with a supper party once a year, and at the same time awards prizes to members with the best annual bridge scores.

For the occasion, supper was served buffet style on the terraced porch. A dark green linen cloth covered the table where a spaghetti supper was served. An auxiliary table was decorated with a large cookie jar in the shape of an apple filled with yellow pom-pom chrysanthemums and yellow pom-pom granites. Guests were seated at individual tables, each table centered with a pottery jar containing a spray of greenery and yellow pom-pom granites.

Announcement was made that the prize for the best annual bridge score among members went to Mrs. Fowler. The year's low scorer was Mrs. Edna Baggett Crook, who also received a prize.

Bridge was also played in the living room after the supper. Players, including several guests, included: Mr. and Mrs. Bob Baggett, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis McKinney, Mr. and Mrs. Brantley Matthews, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Matthews, Mr. and Mrs. Prentiss Sloan, Mrs. Edna Baggett Crook, Mrs. J. N. Rigby, Mr. Fowler and Mr. Renn. High score prize for the ladies was won by Mrs. Baggett, best scorer among the men was Mr. Fowler.

Mrs. S. P. J. Lee has returned from several days visit with relatives near Chase City, Va. She was accompanied by her niece, Mrs. Jack Mitchell of Fairmont and her sister, Mrs. Maude Smith and the latter's daughter, Mrs. Ruth Barefoot of Angier. They visited the homeplace of their maternal grandparents and attended services at Bethel Church in Mecklenburg County, Va. They also went to Bugs Island Dam while in that vicinity.

Barbara Howell Honored At Bridge, Bridal Shower

A bridge party, combined with a miscellaneous shower, was the fulfillment of Miss Barbara Ann Howell and her mother, Mrs. S. G. Howell gave on Monday night at their home honoring Miss Lynn Lewis, June bride-elect.

Miss Howell will be the maid of honor at the June 28 wedding of Miss Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. F. Lewis of Lillington, and Bob Helms, of New Bern and Charleston, S. C.

In keeping with the bridal color scheme, decorations in the Howell home were arrangements of white gladioli and evergreen foliage. To the bride-elect, the two hostesses presented a gardenia corsage and a dinner plate in her china.

During the bridge games, fruit punch was served and at the conclusion of play, bride and groom, marked in designs of flowers and cupids were served with salted nuts and heart shaped cakes. During the refreshments each table was decorated with a small glass slipper filled with white flowers.

A passal decorated with green and white streamers was presented to the bride-elect. It contained gift parcels for the honoree from the guests who included: Mrs. N. F. Lewis, mother of the honoree, Mrs. Lewis McKinney, sister of the bride, Miss Reba John White, Mrs. Billy Ray Matthews, Mrs. Joe Bordeaux, Mrs. George Carroll, Jr., Mrs. Nell Ray Johnson, Miss Veve Caviness, Miss Ruby Peede, Miss Ann O'Quinn, and Miss Grace Gastineau.

High and low scorers in the bridge games, Mrs. Lewis McKinney and Miss Veve Caviness, also were presented with prizes.
