Here's Reaction To Korea Move

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dismayed and angry administration leaders reacted Thursday that South Korea's defiant release of Communist prisoners would delay a Korean truce on the very eve of its signing.

The White House and State Department declined to comment immediately. But officials made it plain President Syngman Rhee's "clearly unjustified" action could bring grave consequences.

The news came with chilling suddenness Wednesday night, only a few hours after President Eisenhower and his cabinet had been alerted to expect a formal end of the Korean War by Saturday night.

So serious was the new development that it was expected to get top priority at Thursday's regular meeting of the National Security Council, the President's top strategy planning board.

Although it was considered too early to assess the full implications, the revolt against the United Nations command immediately suggested a welter of gloomy possibilities to authorities here.

There was no advance indication of the counter action the U. N. command may be instructed to take. Gen. Mark W. Clark was said, however, to have received his orders.

Officials would not comment on Rhee's latest message to Mr. Eisenhower. But informants did reveal the prospect of a mass release of Red prisoners was not mentioned.

New Chevrolet Home Will Open Saturday

The beautiful new home of Westbrook Chevrolet Company will be formally opened to the public here Saturday and thousands of people are expected to attend the grand opening event.

Earl McD. Westbrook, president of the company which he established here in 1940, said today that everything is in readiness for the grand opening.

The handsome new structure, which tourists have hailed as the most beautiful between New York and Miami and as pretty to be found anywhere in the whole country—is located on South Clinton Highway.

Rapid growth and progress of the local dealership made the new and larger quarters necessary. The building contains more than 20,000 square feet of floor space.

A number of high-ranking Chevrolet officials, along with other leaders of the automotive field in the State, will be present for the grand opening.

Mr. Westbrook is a former State official of the North Carolina Automobile Dealers Association.

Among the Chevrolet officials expected is F. B. Walsh, of Charlotte, Chevrolet zone manager for the two Carolinas, Frank Casper, district parts and accessories representative, and Harold Redfern, district Chevrolet representative.

City and Chamber of Commerce officials will also be on hand for the opening ceremonies.

The doors will be opened Saturday morning at 10 o'clock and will remain open through the day.

Husband Is Accused Of Holding Children

A Durham woman in suing for alimony without divorce, claims that her estranged mate is holding their two children at the residence of his parents in Harnett County.

The action, brought by Mrs. Mary Gladys Holmes Hamilton against Carl Hamilton, states that the couple married in October 1947, and separated in 1951.

Mrs. Hamilton alleges that beginning in December, 1951, the defendant stayed out late at night or all night, cursed and beat her with his fists despite the fact she was pregnant.

The complaint states that the defendant was tried and convicted in Lillington of non-support and after making a few payments as ordered by court, finally had to serve 15 months.

The plaintiff moved to Durham and in 1953 the defendant came there and induced her to let him keep their two children part of the time at the home of his parents in Harnett County, this suit avers. Despite her pleas, he has not returned the children, she claims.

She seeks permanent and exclusive custody of the children and maintenance for them and herself.

Bridge Toll-checker Knows Pocketbooks

SE. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Dennis J. Brady can confirm what every man thinks, he knows—there's nothing like a woman's purse.

Brady has 20 years of experience to back up his judgment. He's spent much of that time watching women fumble through purses to find a dime to pay the toll over MacArthur Bridge on which Brady is toll-checker.

Some of them, Brady said, have three purses; a little one inside a medium-sized one and the medium-sized one inside the big one.

"And after turning all three inside out," he said, "the dime shows up in a jacket pocket."

Ike Contacting Rhee On Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower is communicating with President Syngman Rhee about the South Korean chief's action in releasing anti-Communist war prisoners it was announced today.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles disclosed Mr. Eisenhower's action in a short statement following a two and a half hour meeting of the National Security Council at the White House.

Dulles stayed behind to confer 30 minutes longer with Mr. Eisenhower.

"I have been in conference with the President regarding the unilateral action taken by the Republic of Korea to release prematurely North Korean prisoners of war," Dulles said in a statement.

"This action was in violation of the authority of the United Nations Command to which the Republic of Korea had agreed.

"On behalf of the United Nations, we have conducted our negotiations for an armistice in good faith and we have acted and are acting in good faith. President Eisenhower is communicating with President Rhee in this sense."

Dulles refused to amplify.

Earlier, the President discussed the action with Mr. Rhee.

Arguments Being Heard Today At Special Session

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government lawyers before an extraordinary session of the Supreme Court today urged it to set aside the stay of execution granted to atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg by Justice William O. Douglas.

The high tribunal convened to hear arguments on which it will decide whether to let the Rosenbergs die in Sing Sing's electric chair tonight for betraying atomic secrets to Russia or uphold Douglas' reprieve for the condemned couple.

The government asked the court to overturn the stay of execution, arguing that a further postponement "would not serve the interests of justice."

Defense lawyers stood by to argue in support of Douglas' action yesterday.

Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson and the eight other black-robed justices filed into the courtroom and took their places at the bench 12 minutes after the session was scheduled to begin.

The justices, some of whom returned to town less than an hour before the extraordinary session began, looked serious.

FACED COURTROOM

The courtroom, which seats about 400, was packed. Some spectators stood around the back and at the sides. Several hundred persons waited outside, hoping for a chance to get in.

The high court granted 1 1/2 hours of time for each side. Then the justices will retire to their chambers to ponder a ruling. Justice Department lawyers hoped for a decision by early evening.

BLACK OBJECTS

The court convened with usual formalities, with chief Justice Vinson presiding. "Oyez, oyez, oyez... the court is now sitting."

Chief Justice Vinson said "The court convened with consent of all associate justices except Mr. Justice Black who objects." Black, however, was present.

As the court convened, Mrs. Sophie Rosenberg arrived by plane from New York, hoping to be able to make a plea to President Eisenhower "for the life of my two children." Mrs. Rosenberg had visited her son and daughter-in-law at the death house yesterday.

Acting Solicitor General Robert L. Stern opened the government's argument by saying the Rosenberg case has "been before the court six times already." As he explained the department's position, Douglas interrupted him twice to

Worst Aviation Disaster In All Of History

TOKYO (AP) — A giant, double-decked C-124 Globemaster carrying American troops to Korea exploded and crashed in a field today killing 134 persons in history's worst airplane disaster.

James Bowen, fire chief for the Far East Command, placed the death toll at 134. Earlier Air Forces estimates had set the figure at about 120 passengers and seven crewmen.

Most of the victims were American servicemen returning to Korea after five days leave in Japan.

Bowen told United Press correspondent Frank Jordan that the plane's engine had failed. He said the pilot had radioed he was returning to Tachikawa Air Base, from which he had left a few minutes earlier.

EXPLODED IN AIR

The giant plane was approaching the base when it apparently panicked into a field from a considerable height and exploded.

The plane dropped into a paddy field six miles north of the air base.

There was a heavy overcast, fog and light rain at the time.

Bowen, one of the first on the scene, said the heat from the burning plane was "terrible." The plane was demolished, except for a part of one wing and a 15-foot section of the tail assembly.

Rescue workers had to wade through a sea of mud to reach the plane.

BURNED TO CRISP

One of the men who helped remove the bodies said most of the victims had been burned, some of them "to a crisp."

"I got sick three times," said Airman I-C James Hand of Birmingham, Ala.

Air Force officers said despite the adverse weather, the plane was operating well within its safety limits. There was one mile visibility. The ceiling was 1,000 feet with broken clouds and overcast at 5,000 feet, the Air Force said. The minimum is 250 feet ceiling and half-mile visibility.

NO SURVIVORS

The U. S. Air Force said there were no survivors, after a helicopter search.

Bride's Sparkling Eyes Not Due To Romance

LONDON (AP) — The eyes of a young bride may sparkle, but it is not necessarily a sign of happiness or abundant health, Dr. Andrew de Roeth reports.

It is due to the unromantic reason that the female eye waters more than the male eye, he said.

In both sexes tear production falls rapidly with age, so that by the age of 40 our eyes water only half as much as they did at the age of 10, according to his research.

One eye usually waters more than the other and healthy eyes never water during sleep.
