Dunn Judge

(Continued From Page One) had received the endorsement of the Harnett County Bar Association and from other bar associations in the State, and from many other citizens.

FORMER COURT CLERK — Before his appointment as judge, Godwin served as Superior Court Clerk in Harnett and was very popular with the citizenship. Action of the governor came as no surprise, however, since Judge Godwin openly aligned himself against Unstead in last year's gubernatorial campaign.

Judge Godwin was originally appointed by Governor Kerr Scott as the county's payoff for giving Scott the second largest majority of any county in the State.

Judge Godwin has explained his opposition to Governor Unstead as mere loyalty to Scott, who demanded that his judges and all his other appointees get out and beat the bushes for Hubert Olive.

Judge Godwin took the position that he should be loyal to Scott and thus accepted his orders to campaign for Olive. Judge Godwin originally was for Mr. Unstead.

Despite Judge Godwin's position in the campaign, many strong Unstead supporters and friends of the governor appealed to him to overlook politics and reappoint the popular Harnett Judge.

SPLENDID RECORD — Judge Godwin has made an excellent record on the bench. Figures were released just a few days ago showing that only one other special judge in the State held more weeks of court last year than he did.

During his four years on the bench, Judge Godwin established a reputation as a conscientious, hard-working judge who upheld the highest traditions of the office.

He is expected to return to Dunn to resume the practice of law.

Reward Is Offered In Fire At Church

A reward of $50 has been offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who set fire to the Evening Star Holiness Church recently, it was learned today. The money has already been deposited with Chief of Police A. A. Cobb.

Any person having any information regarding the fire is urged to get in touch with Chief Cobb or any officer. If the person fears reprisal, his identity will be kept in confidence, at least until the arsonist is placed where he can do the informant no harm.

Fire Chief Ralph Hanna said on the morning of the fire that he suspected that the blaze was deliberately set. On the floor of the church the flames had followed paths along the flooring and some places were not burned. This streaked effect, he said, showed that some inflammable might have been poured along the floor.

To lend added weight to this, a can of kerosene was found in the passageway between the church sanctuary and the newly-erected luncheon room of the church. The church janitor said no kerosene had been left when he locked the church at 4:30 p. m. The fire started about 11:30 p. m.
