Rhee Reported As Now Willing To Compromise

Bargain Days To Continue Here Through Saturday Night

TIRED BUT HAPPY - Mrs. Myrtle Groves of Dunn, Route 4, one of Dunn's thousands of Bargain Days shoppers, is shown here after a tired afternoon of shopping taking a rest on one of the benches provided by the First Citizens Bank. Pointing to the packages beside her, Mrs. Groves says it was worth the effort. "The only trouble," she added, "I just didn't have enough money to buy all I wanted." She says she found plenty of bargains. (Daily Record Photo)

Stores To Stay Open All Day Fourth Of July

Dunn's Bargain Days will continue through Saturday night and stores will remain open all day Saturday even though it's the Fourth of July to enable shoppers to take advantage of the tremendous values being offered here.

Another large crowd was in town today shopping and finding bargains they never dreamed of. Chairman Dave Kimmel of the Retail Merchants Committee of the Dunn Chamber of Commerce said this summer's Bargain Days unquestionably is the most successful ever held here.

Some merchants reported that sales during the first day were 50 per cent ahead of sales the first day last year.

Shoppers have voiced their praise of the event.

Their biggest tribute is found in the big packages they're taking away from the stores - evidence that they're finding the merchandise they want and at the right price.

SHOPPERS PLEASED

One lady interviewed by The Daily Record pointed out: "I spent all the money I had and I was well pleased with the price and the quality. It's just a bad time for the farmers because we don't have much money at this time of the year."

Merchants are preparing for a record-breaking day tomorrow. Extra merchandise has been ordered and extra sales clerks have been added to take care of the heavy business expected.

Stores will be open through Saturday night and shoppers are urged to come to Dunn and take advantage of the outstanding values.

Robertson Wins Concessions By Dealing Firmly

SEOUL, Korea - (AP) - Korean sources said today President Syngman Rhee appears willing to compromise on his two major demands which have blocked an armistice.

A source close to the 78-year-old president said Rhee had changed his position on placing a definite 90-day time limit on a post-armistice political conference's work on unifying Korea.

Other quarters said Rhee had become convinced that President Eisenhower could not guarantee quick Senate ratification of a mutual security pact between the United States and Korea and therefore had dropped his demand for a pre-armistice treaty.

Rhee's previous stand on these two demands had been immovable and had resulted in missions to Korea by Gen. Mark W. Clark, Far Eastern United Nations commander, and Assistant Secretary of State Walter S. Robertson, President Eisenhower's personal trustee envoy.

SWAYED BY TALKS

The source close to Rhee said straight talking by Robertson in meetings Thursday and today had swayed Rhee into a compromise.

Robertson won the concession from Rhee by dealing firmly with the rebellious South Korean leader, the source said.

In these sessions, Robertson was reported to have flatly spurned Rhee's demand for United States agreement to resume the fighting in Korea if the political conference failed to submit a unification plan acceptable to the South Korean government.

Informed sources in Washington said Thursday night the United States might consider breaking off the political conference if the Communists deliberately stalled against reasonable plans for unifying Korea.

But these informants emphasized the United States would not bow to Rhee and start shooting again just because he might happen to dislike the suggestions on the future of Korea.

Scheidt Urges Safe Driving

RALEIGH (AP) - Motor Vehicles Commissioner Ed Scheidt cancelled all leaves for highway patrolmen over the July 4 weekend and appealed to motorists today to drive carefully.

Scheidt said the patrol will stay on the roads over the long weekend "virtually around the clock" in an effort to keep the expected traffic casualties down. All traffic laws, he said, will be rigidly enforced.

19 LAST YEAR

Scheidt reminded motorists that traffic accidents over July 4 holidays for the last two years took over 19 lives.

"The traffic fatality situation in North Carolina is more than serious," Scheidt said. "It has become an emergency."

"We must not let traffic accidents over this July Fourth increase our already deplorable fatality record. With common courtesy and sensible driving we can avoid fatalities altogether."

Tew Claims Pool On His Property

Last Minute News Shorts

NEW YORK (AP) - The Long Island Railroad announced settlement at noon today of a trainmen's "sick" strike which caused cancellation of 136 trains and gave thousands of commuters an extra day of holiday weekend.

CHICAGO (AP) - Women as a group used special types of cigarettes because they are more sensitive to nicotine, Dr. Morris T. Friedell, Chicago, said today. Friedell reported in the Journal of the American Medical Association that women undergo a 33 per cent change in blood volume, as compared to 19 percent for men, while smoking a cigarette.

MILWAUKEE (AP) - The Milwaukee Braves today announced the signing of Mel Bush, 39-year-old infielder from the University of Richmond, for an undrafted league. General Manager John Quinn said (Continued On Page Four)

Bill Tew's request that the town board act favorably on his application for an off-premises beer license received a somewhat cool reception from the group last night, although he had the signatures, he said, of all but two of the residents of the neighborhood stating that they had no objection. "Do you have the paper with you?" asked Mayor Ralph Hanna. When Tew said it was outside in his car he was asked to get it and present it to the board.

GETS CHALLENGE

Bob Bass, a resident of the neighborhood, challenged Tew's statement that he had "all but two." There are three of us here at this meeting," he declared. Tew explained that he thought the opposition to his being granted the license arose from the fact that it was thought he was intending to sell cold beer over the counter and that the customers would drink it on the premises. "I'll be selling it hot," he declared, "and in quantity for the customers to take home and drink there. I was not planning to run a beer drive."

The alignment of the city council for and against the new subdivision ordinance remained unchanged when it was put to a vote last night and once more Mayor Ralph E. Hanna defied the citizens and voted to break the tie and pass the measure. He and two commissioners apparently ignored the wishes of the people as they steam-rolled the measure through.

The only change in procedure from the first passage of the measure was that Commissioner B. A. Bracey instead of Commissioner J. Leon Godwin made the motion for adoption of the ordinance and Godwin seconded the motion. Commissioner Bracey made it very clear that he didn't care what citizens of the town think.

"LET 'EM CUSS"

"Let 'em cuss us," Commissioner Bracey remarked after passage of the measure, "they can't do any worse than they are doing now." The measure provides that the developer of a subdivision be reimbursed at the rate of not more than fifty cents per linear foot for the labor cost on water installations in their development and the same amount on sewer installations.

This provision is written into the ordinance for the benefit of the property owners who are impatient and do not wish to wait for the town to do the work. Otherwise, the work can be done at the convenience of the town, at such time as the town employees are not busy elsewhere.

BASS AND BRYAN OPPOSE

Commissioner Bill Bryan stuck doggedly to his contention that it was not necessary to offer the work as an inducement to developers of subdivisions outside the town to come in. He insisted that the advantages of being in town far outweighed the cost of installations. Commissioner J. V. Bass joined (Continued On Page Five)

Umstead Undecided On Senate Vacancy

RALEIGH (AP) - Informed sources predicted today that Gov. William B. Umstead might announce an appointment to the U. S. Senate within a matter of hours, but the governor himself spiked the report. Umstead told a delegation in his office at noon that "as of this moment I do not know myself who I will name."

Frank S. Spull, chairman of a five-man North Carolina Rocky Mountain Commission calling on Umstead in behalf of Rep. Harold D. Cooley, said Umstead made it clear that he had not picked a successor. "He said with the Lord's help he will pick an able and qualified man suitable to the people of the state," Spull told a reporter.

Sources had indicated that Umstead had narrowed the field to four men who have received a heavy endorsement. Those listed as the men from whom the governor might choose are:

- 1. Jeff D. Johnson of Raleigh, associate justice of the State Supreme Court.
2. State Sen. Fred Royce of Henderson, a tobacco man and president of the Bright Belt Tobacco Association.
3. Rep. Harold D. Cooley of Nashville, a veteran congressman and long-time farm leader.
4. State Sen. John D. Larkin Jr. of Franklin, chairman of the State Senate appropriations committee.
The governor was said to be (Continued On Page Five)

Ford Agency Robbed Here

Dunn police today were investigating a break-in and robbery which occurred last night at Auto Sales and Service Co. local Ford-Mercury dealership.

Worth Yanoy, manager of the company's parts department, reported that the thief entered the building through a window in the rear of the building.

He said about $40 in bills was taken from a cash register in the parts department. Small change was left in the drawer.

A cash register in the company's office was not bothered. Mr. Yanoy pointed out that the front of the building is well lighted and the thief would have exposed himself had he come into the front.

This is the first break-in reported here recently.

Wellons Addresses National Retailers

CHICAGO, Ill. - Speaking in behalf of thousands of small retailers in the appliance industry, William Wellons of Dunn, North Carolina declared that sound business operation with satisfactory net profit as a result will rightly come to those small retailers who employ good business practices plus the principle of the Golden Rule. Mr. Wellons spoke before the Salesmaking session of the Mid-Year Meeting of the National Appliance and Radio-TV Dealers Association at the Conrad Hilton, June 28-30.

"The methods of securing business for the appliance-TV retailer may vary in different localities but the fundamental principles of good business do not change. The basic method of successfully securing this business is the hard-slugging, intelligent planning of the operator."

What the appliance industry needs is not his operators, but great operators with civic pride and interest in their customers. Follow the Golden Rule. Leaving something in every home beside the appliance of TV set; leave something like respect, admiration, genuine friendship that results from a respectable business transaction honorably transacted.

"I welcome any appliance dealer to come into our town and operate a retail business," continued Mr. Wellons, "as long as he sells (Continued on page two) at a retail level and operates on a clean competitive basis. The more appliance dealers we have the more appliances we will sell. Small businesses who operate on a clean competitive basis will increase the profits of the operators already in the community."

290 Expected To Die During Holiday

By UNITED PRESS The National Safety Council said today that 290 persons will probably be killed in traffic accidents during the Fourth of July holidays.

Railroads, airlines and bus lines were also expected to be jammed. Council President Ned H. Dearborn pleaded with holiday motorists not to drive too fast.

SPEED BIG FACTOR

"Speed is the principal factor in serious accidents," he said. "It works two ways-gives you less time and less control in an accident situation, and greatly increases the chance of death or serious injury if an accident does happen."

The U. S. Weather Bureau said Independence Day will be a typical summer day in most of the nation.

Warm weather was forecast for most parts of the North and south central Plains areas, and the Northeast and Middle Atlantic states were promised cooler, less humid weather.

Scattered thunderstorms were predicted in the late afternoon or evening for the southern states and the central and northern Great Plains regions.

300 KILLED LAST YEAR

The Safety Council's 290 highway death prediction fell below the 334 persons who were killed in traffic accidents during last (Continued On Page Two)

Town Board Ignores Plea For Jackson

Another possible controversy was avoided last night when the City Council failed to give any answer to the request of Dallas Hudson that former Chief of Police George Arthur Jackson be considered for a post on the Dunn Police Department.

Hudson told the board that he represented a group of citizens who felt that the former Chief should be placed back on a paid job. (Continued on page two)
