Mossadegh Puts Price On Head Of Gen. Zahedi

TEHRAN, Iran, (AP) - Premier Mohammed Mossadegh today put a price on the head of Gen. Fazollah Zahedi, who has renewed his defiant claims that the fleeing shah of Iran named him the legal head of the Iranian government.

Mossadegh's military government which put down a weekend attempt by Zahedi and the shah's imperial guards to overthrow the premier, offered 100,000 rials (about $3,000) for information leading to Zahedi's capture.

The long-time foe of the premier was said to have taken refuge in South Iran with the Kgtlar tribe, whose chief is the father-in-law of Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi.

SHAH ARRIVES

Meanwhile, the shah and his beautiful Empress Soroya arrived in Rome by plane today to begin anew in exile along with ousted King Farouk of Egypt. The shah and the empress fled from northern Iran to Baghdad, Iraq, after failure of an attempted coup against Mossadegh.

Zahedi needed Mossadegh by breaking several days' silence to issue a new declaration claiming he is the legal premier by virtue of a royal appointment.

The Iranian people, who had blown off steam in a series of wild demonstrations in which statues of the shah were shattered and demands made for his death on the rallies, were told by Mossadegh to halt their activities. All demonstrations were banned in the capital.

Iranian Foreign Minister Hussein Fatemi said the government would not yield to the "yankee go home" cries of the mobs.

Bank Robbed Of $200,000

FLORAL PARK, N. Y. (AP) - A bank robbery today at an estimated $200,000.

The gunmen seized the bank's cashier and assistant manager, Eric Gronwall, shortly after 8 a. m. as Gronwall was leaving his home at Bellmore, N. Y.

Gronwall was forced into his car and when they arrived at the bank a guard opened the door for Gronwall. The bandit entered with him.

"This is a stick-up and there's going to be no fooling," the gunman told three employees already in the bank.

"It is going to be fast. We are proceeding to the vault and any one who moves is a dead one."

HERDED INTO VAULT - Nassau County Chief of Detectives Stuyvesant Pinnell said that three employees and Gronwall were herded into the vault where the bank's cash was being sorted for use by tellers.

After questioning the employees Pinnell said the loot must have been close to $200,000.

The bandit fled with the cash forcing Gronwall to accompany him. He was met outside the bank by an accomplice, police reported.

Russia's Demand Defeated By Vote Of 34 To 9

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) - The United Nations Political Committee today rejected a Russian demand that Communist China and North Korea be invited here for discussions on setting up the Far Eastern political conference.

The 60-nation committee took two separate votes on the demand made by Soviet Delegate Andrei Vishinsky.

It beat down, 34 to 18 with 1 abstentions, a motion to reconsider a previous decision not to invite North Korea, and then voted 34 to 14 with 9 abstentions against extending an invitation to Red China.

VISHINSKY RAISES ISSUE - Vishinsky raised also the question of ousting Nationalist China from the U. N. in favor of the Chinese Communists, but said he would wait until next September's regular assembly session to demand action on this question.

"The present session," Vishinsky said, "must consider a question in which the Korean people and the Chinese people are vitally interested. Consideration of this question without their participation, we believe, would be inadmissible."

The United States promptly opposed the Russian demand. "We are still convinced," U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. told the committee, "that there is no reason why this committee should hear North Korea nor the other aggressors, the Chinese Communists."

They will be conducted when the time comes to arrange the time and place of the conference. That will be the time to hear them."

Vishinsky said the Chinese and North Korean Reds "must participate in these sittings, since in their absence no success is likely to a solution of this question."

RUSSIA HAS PLAN - It was reported that the Russians had submitted their own proposal for setting up the Far Eastern Conference. The plan was understood to provide for representation of non-belligerent countries, which was not provided for in the resolution sponsored before the assembly by the committee.

The Soviet measure also was said to suggest that the Far Eastern parity should not be limited to discussion of the Korean peace settlement but should include questions of wider scope.
