Johnston County Turns Down Proposal To Relocate 301

Baptists Set Goal; Campbell Re-elected

By LOIS BYRD
Record Staff Writer

Little River Baptists, meeting on Tuesday at Holly Springs Church near Broadway, re-elected the association's general officers and, to spur group efforts toward associational goals, voted to set up an annual church honor roll.

L. H. Campbell of Buie's Creek was re-elected moderator of the association which serves 30 churches. Other officers also re-elected were H. Paul Strickland of Dunn, vice-moderator; W. A. Johnson of Lillington, clerk; and Berles Johnson of Lillington, treasurer.

The meeting, one of the best attended in recent years, attracted over 350 church members from various parts of the county. Rev. C. E. Ruffin of the Holly Springs church was host pastor and luncheon and dinner were served by the Holly Springs church.

A resolution was adopted by the association to put an end to night sessions of the Association and to divide the annual associational meetings into two events. The first will be a spring meeting to be held the Tuesday after the second Sunday in April which in 1954 falls on April 13. Place will be selected later. The Rev. Weldon Johnson of Buie's Creek will be the preacher and the alternate will be the Rev. Forest Maxwell of Erwin.

COATS NEXT YEAR
Coats Baptist Church will be host to the Fall associational meeting to be held on October 26, 1954. The Rev. Lester T. Marsh, pastor of Antioch Church was designated as the preacher for next year's event and Rev. L. C. Pinnix of Lillington was named alternate.

Formerly the spring meeting was devoted entirely to inspirational matters. Plans now call for the business matters of the far flung Baptist churches to be divided between the two meetings with inspirational sessions at both occasions.

The proposal for the establishment of an honor roll was recommended by the association's executive committee headed by Moderator Campbell and including ten other members.

Churches were called on to set up certain associational goals, toward which group effort may be made.

Can't Be Moved Without OK Of County Boards

SMITHFIELD—The County Board of Commissioners Monday afternoon turned a "cold shoulder" to the proposal of officials of the State Highway and Public Works Commission to relocate Highway 301 in Johnston County.

The reception the proposal received here was visibly disappointing to the highway officials who had requested the conference with the county commissioners to discuss the proposed relocation of the busy north-south route.

R. P. Holding, president of the First Citizens Bank and Trust Co. and chairman of the county commissioners, declared 301 was a vital road to the economy of the county and the relocation presented a "rather dark and disappointing picture to the people of our county."

MAPS SHOWN
Maps of the proposed relocation of the highway between the Harnett County line and Selma were shown to the county commissioners by highway officials and were viewed also by approximately 40 citizens who oppose relocation.

The highway officials did not request the approval or endorsement of the relocation proposal by the county commissioners, and the meeting adjourned without the board taking any official action.

Highway officials present at the meeting in addition to A. H. (Sandy) Graham, State Chairman, Robertson and W. H. Rogers were R. Getty Browning, the commission's chief locating engineer; E. P. Koonce, division engineer, and Bob Dawson, district engineer.

"HOT POTATO"
Chairman Holding opened the meeting and turned it over to Division Highway Commissioner Robertson, who explained the 301 relocation project was begun before he took office and he had found it to be a "hot potato."

Graham in a brief talk pointed out that 301 is rapidly becoming one of the most important north-south highways across North Carolina. He said 301 was included in the federal system of interstate highways and such highways needed to be improved to lend themselves to the movement of troops and supplies in case of war.

The minimum standard of engineering requirements of such a highway, he said, requires a wide right of way and limited access.

"We can't keep 301 where it is now and bring it up to the minimum standards to satisfy the Bureau of Roads and get federal support," declared Graham.

FAVORS NEW SITE
Chief Locating Engineer Browning declared it would be too expensive to attempt to salvage part of the present 301 in the plans for the new highway. It would be much better to build a new road on a new site, he said.

Browning listed the federal requirements as a 260-foot right-of-way and a limited access road. He first displayed a blueprint map of the proposed relocation from the Johnston-Harnett line to the intersection of 301 with 701. The road would be approximately 3,000 feet east of the present 301 at Benson, 3,000 feet east of the present 301 at Four Oaks, and 1,500 feet east (Continued on Page Four)

Dunn Homecoming Slated For Friday

By FRANK SPRULL, JR.

Plans for the annual Homecoming event are nearing completion, and it is gradually shaping up to be one of the prettiest in the history of Dunn High School.

Three big events—a parade, a football game, and a dance—are on the schedule for November 6.

The first, the parade, will get underway approximately at four o'clock in the afternoon.

Six bands have been invited to play in the parade, so plenty of good music should be available for the occasion.

Fourteen floats are a certainty for the parade with a possibility of more coming in any time.

Those that have floats in the parade include the majority of the clubs affiliated with Dunn High School—and some that aren't—and the various businesses of Dunn.

Of the clubs that are represented are the Hi Y, The Tri Hi Y, The Junior Tri Hi Y, Varsity Sweethearts, the Cheerleaders, the Delta Theta Delta Sorority, the Beta Club the Library club, Allied Youth, Future Farmers of America, Future Homemakers of America.

THREE ENTER PARADE
Of the businesses of Dunn only three firms have entered anything in the parade and all are automobile dealers—Ford, Studebaker, and Buick.

Members of the parade committee are Peggy Blair, Beanie Strickland, Robert Hodges, Fleming Glover, Faye Godwin, and D. R. Lee. Nancy Jernigan is the chairman of the committee.

The football game, to be played with Grey High School of Winston Salem, will be highlighted by the coronation of the Varsity Sweetheart at half time.

Each of the ten Seniors on the football squad has nominated one girl for this honor. The nominees are Dot Laughinghouse (by J. T. Jackson) Lillian Hartly (E. B. Dixon), Mary Lou Westbrook (Daley) and...

First List Of Entrants In The DAILY RECORD'S Big "Everybody Wins" Prize Subscription Campaign

Now Is The Time To Enter Contest For Car And Cash

Did you ever have a bunch of questions hurled at you so fast that you hardly knew which one to answer first?

Well, that's what happened to Lloyd Flora campaign manager of the Daily Record's big "Everybody Wins" subscription contest, but even so, nothing like that even faces him! Ask him as many questions about the contest as you care to and he will answer them as fast as he can talk.

Monday morning, for example, there came to the contest office a young lady who wanted to enter the contest and compete for that smart new Dodge Royal V-8 four-door Sedan and other prizes to be awarded under the unique "Weekly Payoff" plan.

She wanted to "find out all about it" and if media were ever given to question propounders, this little lady surely deserved one as being the state champion.

It was early in the forenoon. She came to the point right away.

COUNT ME IN
"Well, count me in the race and tell me all about it."
"Yes, indeed," replied the campaign manager, "you see—"

"Can I win the new Dodge automobile during the next 7 1/2 weeks?" she interrupted.

"You most certainly can, providing, of course, you secure more points than anyone else by the closing hour Saturday, Dec. 19th."

"Does it make any difference where I live in this area—Dunn, Benson, Angler, Erwin, Lillington, Coats, etc?"

"No difference whatever, just so you reside within this area."

"Then tell me what I must do to (Continued on page two)

U. S. To Resume Aid To Israel

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Eisenhower said today the United States has decided to resume economic aid to Israel.

Eisenhower also told his news conference he thinks a high level meeting including Russia would be a perfectly hopeless project unless there is evidence of genuinely honest purpose behind Russian motives in such a conference.

The President said he and British Prime Minister Winston Churchill are constantly seeking some chance for a meeting and informal talks, but that no plan for talks with Churchill is now under consideration.
