Hall Worried Over GOP's Chance In N.J.

ELIZABETH, N. J. (UP) — National Republican Chairman Leonard W. Hall laid the nine-month administration of President Eisenhower before New Jersey voters today in a bid to elect a GOP governor and congressman in next Tuesday's election.

Hall threw the Eisenhower record into the off-year New Jersey campaign and warned party workers they would have to get out the vote next Tuesday or risk taking a "licking" like the GOP did in a Wisconsin congressional race two weeks ago.

The national party chairman spoke to a meeting of GOP leaders in this industrial center Wednesday night. He said voters who put New Jersey in the Eisenhower column last fall should follow through by electing Republican congressmen and state officials.

New Jersey voters next Tuesday will elect a new governor and fill the 8th district congressional seat vacated earlier this year by Republican Clifford F. Case, who resigned to take a position with the Ford Foundation.

She'd Rather Not Make This Entry

Sometimes a routine task can assume a new twist and a personal one.

One of the jobs Mrs. Edna Kelly Newton, secretary to Sheriff W. E. Salmon performs daily, is to list all stolen goods.

Yesterday she typed the following notice: Stolen from the farm of Mrs. Lizzie Kelly, Oct. 23, 500 pounds of tobacco, taken from packhouse of James McNeill.

The Mrs. Kelly listed as the owner is the mother of the secretary. And unfortunately, there has been no second paragraph to add. The tobacco has not been recovered.

Frank Costello Leaves Prison

MILAN, Mich. (AP) — Gambler Frank Costello drove to freedom from the federal prison here in a new black Cadillac limousine today, but his freedom may be short-lived.

To reporters his only words were "please leave me alone."

He still faces civil and criminal charges of income tax evasion and denaturalization proceedings that may send him back to his native Italy.

The "kingpin of organized gambling in America" was released at 8:06 a. m. after serving 12 months on a contempt of Congress charge.

NO SMILES
Tanned and deeper in a gray pin-striped suit and homburg hat Costello climbed into the rear seat of the Cadillac without a smile. A chauffeur and three other persons, one of whom was identified as his wife, were waiting for him.

The car rolled through the prison gates and stopped when a horde of newsmen and photographers nearly blocked the exit to the main highway. Rolling his window down, Costello stuck his head out and said quietly to reporters: "Please leave me alone."

On a wager, a man recently stood at a street corner offering passersby a crisp $20 bill for only $10. He stood for hours before finding a taker. "It's too good to be true," was the usual hurried comment by everyone.

To an even greater extent, it can be definitely stated here, The Daily Record is now offering wide-

Business Men Asked To Attend UF Meet Friday

Business owners of Dunn have been asked to attend a meeting at the City Hall tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock to get further instructions on the United Fund drive.

Al Wullenwaber, chairman of the Executive Board of the drive, stated today that the meeting has been called to allow business heads to obtain more information on UFD. An opportunity will be given to ask questions and find out how the drive will work, it was stated.

Members of the Executive Board were today calling various businessmen to inform them of the meeting. Besides the business owners, at least one key man from each business has been requested to attend the meeting. Wullenwaber stated. The owner of the business may select one or more persons to come with him, Wullenwaber said.

Dunn Man Escapes From Prison Gang
Dunn's Police Department was on the alert today for James Wilkins, 33, white man of Dunn, Route 2, who escaped from the State Prison Camp at Clinton yesterday.

Sentenced from Superior Court in Lillington in May, 1949, Wilkins received two sentences of 10 and two years for a crime against nature.

At the time of his escape, he had been made an honor grade prisoner and was assigned to work on the maintenance yard. He was washing and greasing cars and trucks at the time he disappeared yesterday, the camp officials reported today.

When last seen at the camp Wilkins was wearing the blue uniform used in the prison, the officials said.

Police here were alerted yesterday afternoon after Wilkins failed to show up for lunch. An alert was sounded for police to be on the watch-out for the man. Chief Alton A. Cobb said yesterday that (Continued On Page Six)

County Chick Chain Is Growing Rapidly
Harnett County's pullet chain is in for expansion.

At an auction conducted on Thursday at the Big Four warehouse in Dunn, the ten grateful 4-H Club boys and girls who last spring received the first 100 chicks to start the first pullet chain each returned 12 pullets for auction.

The sale followed the auction of H. A. Turlington's Red Duroc hog sale of animals recently shown at the State Fair.

The chickens, all of the Farmstead Red breed were sold and money received will be used to buy other chickens, which in turn will be distributed to other 4-H club boys and girls.

Last year the County Board of Agriculture sponsored the first pullet chain in an effort to stimulate the broiler industry in Harnett County and provide farmers with a new source of income.

Capitol Gives Greek Royalty Hearty Welcome

WASHINGTON (UP) — King Paul and Queen Frederika of Greece today began a whirlwind tour of the capitol area which was drenched by a steady October rain.

The royal pair moved out of the White House after an overnight stay with President and Mrs. Eisenhower and went across Pennsylvania Avenue to Blair House, official residence for important visitors.

Standing on the north portico of the White House, the President bade them goodbye and expressed hope the rain would stop falling and they would have a nice day for their visit to Mt. Vernon.

Eisenhower said he looked forward to seeing them again tomorrow night when the King and Queen will give a dinner in honor of the Eisenhower.

DINNER TONIGHT
The schedule called for trips to Mt. Vernon and Arlington Cemetery, a press luncheon, state reception and a dinner tonight given by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

The six-foot-three-inch monarch and his petite consort appeared overwhelmed by the cheering reception they received on their arrival in the capitol late yesterday.

The visit here will last until Saturday noon when they will start out on a month-long tour across the nation.

At last night's banquet, the Queen sat on the President's right at the head of a U-shaped table. Directly across at Mrs. Eisenhower with the King. Among the guests were Dulles, Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson, other Cabinet officers, Greek Ambassador Athanasios Politis, Green-born movie magnate Spyros Skouras and two dozen other celebrities.

IKE PAYS TRIBUTE
Toasting the King and Queen with a goblet of wine, Eisenhower paid tribute to Greece as "a champion on the side of human dignity and freedom." He then formally awarded Paul the Legion of Merit.

King Paul returned the toast with a salute to Eisenhower as "head of the nation which leads the democratic world in the struggle against totalitarian aggression."

PRIZE WINNER GREGORY

Gregory, Sons Find Good Stock Pays Off

Carson Gregory and his two sons, Joe and Carson Jr., of near Coats, are beginning to see that raising good stock pays. Together, they took more than 25 prizes at the State Fair in Raleigh last week.

Mr. Gregory and Carson Jr. entered Spotted Poland China hogs in the contest and took 21 regular prizes and four championships. Carson Jr. took 10 of the 21 regular prizes and his father won 11. Besides the regular prizes, Carson Jr. won the Grand Champion award for a sow and boar, and his father won the Junior Grand Championship for a sow.

A younger son, Joe, who is in the fourth grade at Coats, won a blue ribbon and $18 for a Holstein calf. Carson Jr. also showed two calves.

BIRTH EVENT AT FAIR
The Gregories are well known hog raisers of the Coats area. Together they have 56 hogs. And the family was increased considerable when a gilt taken to the fair for exhibit gave birth to seven pigs just after the judging.

Carson Jr. took away $96 in cash prizes, his father won $89, and Joe won $18 for his calf. The boys have started a saving account and to date Carson Jr. has $278.90 and Joe has $63. For Carson Jr. this represents three years of showings, and for Joe one year's showings.

This year Carson Jr. has shown animals at the Dunn fair, the Eastern Carolina Junior Dairy Show, the Wilmington Southeastern Dairy Show, and the State Fair.

Carson, Jr. is in the eighth grade at the Coats school. His interest in hog raising stems from work with the 4H Club. Raising Spotted Poland China hogs is his project.

NIGHT CLUB PATRONS SEE LOVER SLAIN
BURAS, La. (UP)—An oil field worker shot his dark-eyed sweetheart, estranged wife of a postmaster, to death on a night club barroom floor early today because he could not be near her all the time.

Sad-eyed Joseph Demoinis, 25, then pumped two bullets into his own chest.

"I want to be with her all the time—every night," he said, "but she only wanted to be with me about three times a week."

Mrs. Jane Buras, 23, died from a bullet in the heart and one in the abdomen. She was the mother of two young children.

Night club patrons looked on in horror as Demoinis turned the .32 caliber pistol on his girl friend, then shot himself and fell beside her on the crowded bar room floor.

Buras is about 60 miles downriver from New Orleans. The woman's estranged husband is the town postmaster.

"I loved the girl," Demoinis said. "She was something special."

"She told me she loved me. I thought she did. But the last couple of days she had been hurting me real bad."

"You know what she said to me?" Demoinis, who is in a New Orleans hospital in fair condition, told police. "She said she wasn't sure whether she loved anybody or not. Man, I couldn't stand it."

The former boxing champion of the Pacific Trust has been married and divorced twice and is the father of two daughters.

Horrible Cases Of Torture Are Documented

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States went before the bar of world opinion today with documented charges that the Communists in Korea murdered thousands of Allied and American troops in atrocities rivaling the savagery of D'ac-hau and Buchenwald.

In an 87-page white paper made Public Wednesday night, the Army told how prisoners were hung up by their hands and set afire, how they were stabbed to death with bamboo spears, how they were dismembered, emasculated or bludgeoned.

The report, drawn from the testimony of 216 survivors and buttressed by grisly photographs, listed 29,815 persons as probable atrocity victims, 6,113 Americans, 15,509 Allied Troops, 17,264 Korean civilians and 839 unidentified. Officials said the total may rise as other reports of Red brutality are investigated.

DUNN POW DEAD
Mrs. Vann Saunders of Dunn today was notified by the Department of Defense that her husband, Sgt. Edward Saunders, died in a Communist Prisoner of War camp in August of 1951.

It was the first news the Negro woman had received about her husband since a telegram arrived in February of 1951 informing her that he was missing in action.

"It's terrible news," said the Dunn woman today. "But in a way it's a relief. It's been so long waiting without hearing," she added.

A Regular Army soldier with 12 years service, Sgt. Saunders was serving with the 9th Infantry in the Second Division at the time of his capture.

Mrs. Saunders is the former Vann McNeill, daughter of Mrs. Maggie Washington.

The Voice of America beamed broadcasts around the globe in an effort to burn the atrocity story into the minds of men everywhere. Congressmen urged the administration to lay the charges before the United Nations as it did in the case of Communist germ warfare charges.

The Army report was drawn up in the form of a legal indictment. "But the accused Communists will never be brought to trial as war criminals even though 250 of them fell in Allied hands."

Any remaining hope for 7,800 American servicemen listed as missing was wiped out by the evidence cited in the report. If they were not the victims of atrocities, it was presumed they were among thousands of Allied troops who died in death marches or as a result of disease or starvation.

More graphically than anything else perhaps, the report's cold, almost clinical recital of Communist brutality brought home the ugliness of the "little" war in Korea. It showed the almost unbelievable extent to which one human being is capable of offending another.

Daily Record Is Offering Nearly $6,000 In Prizes

awake energetic men and women of the more ambitious sort residing in this immediate area a much bigger and better proposition in its "Everybody Wins" prize subscription contest—just getting underway for their spare time effort during the next few weeks.

But, like the man referred to above with the $20 bill, this newspaper's extraordinary offer to award over $6,000 in highly desirable prizes to local people apparently seems "too good to be true" as only a few—very few, indeed, considering its magnitude and liberality—have so far seized this unusual opportunity to profit in a big way each and every week during the contest and have an equal opportunity with others to win costly major prizes soon to be awarded.
