LODGE BLAMES ATROCITIES ON RUSSIA

Korean Crimes Laid At Door Of The Soviets

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UP) — American Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., told the United Nations General assembly today Russian civil and military officials headed the command structure in North Korea where nearly 38,000 soldiers and civilians, including more than 6,000 GIs, were murdered or tortured.

Lodge co-sponsored a resolution with Britain, France, Australia and Turkey calling on the U. N. to voice "grave concern" over evidence of the atrocities in Korea. He implicated the Soviet Union in the war crimes by charging that North Korean leaders were mostly Soviet citizens and that Soviet officers headed the command structure of North Korean prison camps.

"These facts," Lodge said, "indicate a sort of common dedication to wholesale brutality which is utterly repulsive to contemplation."

"These terrible acts were taken by an authority having an unhappily close connection with the Soviet Union, and were and are in conformity with actions tragically typical of so many absolutist systems through history."

Charging that the atrocities "inspire horror and revulsion in any civilized mind," Lodge told the assembly it must "speak clearly in defense of the civilized standards of conduct" by voicing its "grave concern."

"We may thus at least help to reverse a deterioration in human standards which, if not checked, will lead the world back to the jungle," he said.

The American diplomat charged that some 27 per cent of "battle atrocities" committed against U. S. troops in Korea were the work of Soviet citizens.

Demos, GOP Trading Blows On Spy Issues

WASHINGTON (UP) — Senate investigators mapped new strategy for unearthing Red spies in past Democratic administrations today as Republicans and Democrats traded blows on the spies-in-government issue.

The Senate Internal Security Subcommittee will meet Wednesday to decide whether to accept the Canadian government's terms for interviewing Igor Gouzenko, former Russian code clerk who exposed a wartime Communist spy ring in Canada.

The Canadian government has ruled that it must have the final decision on what the subcommittee could make public after questioning Gouzenko. Subcommittee Chairman William F. Jenner (R-Ind.) has objected to the stipulation.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles Saturday refused Jenner's request to ask Canada to back down on its latest stand.

Chief counsel Robert Morris said the inquiry will proceed regardless of the subcommittee's decision and the group will question a number of witnesses in secret hearings. He gave no indication of what the group is seeking from the witnesses.

The political hassle continued, meanwhile, over the Harry Dexter White case and the subcommittee's investigations of other alleged spies who held government posts during the Truman administration.

FBI ACCUSED
Clayton Fritchey, deputy chairman of the Democratic National Committee, said there was "great respect in Democratic circles" that FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover had been brought into the controversy over the White case.

Fritchey said the FBI knew under Democratic administrations from a small outfit to a major organization and that most of Hoover's powers were "given on him by Franklin Roosevelt and Harry Truman."

"I would be happy to see the FBI set out of politics and stay there," he said in a television interview Sunday night.

OTHER DEVELOPMENTS:
In other developments: 1. Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell, told a party gathering at St. Albans, Va., the Republicans "are letting the leadership of the free world's struggle against Communism slip from their grasp while they spend their energies chasing dead spies."

He said Republicans are not fostering "bi-partisanship in foreign policy when they ask for help one day and the following day attempt to brand the Democratic Party as the party of traitors, as friends of Communism, of harborers of spies."

2. Sen. Hubert M. Humphrey (D-Minn.) said in a television interview Sunday night.

1 Dead, 2 Hurt In Auto Wreck

One person was killed and two others were badly injured in an automobile accident that occurred Saturday night about 10:15 o'clock near the Buie's Creek Presbyterian Church, located on the old Spence Road between Buie's Creek and Curran's Crossroads.

Robert Lewis Smith, 17, of Chalybeate Springs, died in the Dunn Hospital Sunday morning at 1:15 o'clock of head and chest injuries.

Ted Sanford, 18, of Angier Route 2, driver of the automobile, is in the hospital with chest injuries and bruises.

The third passenger, Ruffie Johnson, 17, also of Chalybeate Springs, received head injuries, bruises and abrasions.

Sanford and Johnson are expected to recover.

SPEED BLAMED
State Patrolman R. B. Leonard, who investigated, said the accident occurred when the 1952 Plymouth, owned by Shelton Smith of Chalybeate Springs and operated by Sanford, went out of control around a curve, left the road and turned over two and a half times. The vehicle was completely demolished.

Leonard said the accident apparently was caused by "high speed." He said a car could round the curve at 50 or 60 miles an hour without any difficulty.

Harnett Coroner Grover C. Henderson, who also conducted an investigation, said an inquest will be held as soon as the two injured boys are able to appear.

Dunn Yule Parade Set For Dec. 11th

Dunn's annual Christmas Parade will be staged on Friday night, December 11, it was announced today by Manager Norman Suttles of the Dunn Chamber of Commerce and Dave Kimmel, chairman of the retail merchants committee.

For the second consecutive year, it will be a religious parade, in cooperation with churches of the area, and each float will depict a different Christmas religious scene.

Santa Claus will also make his appearance. (Continued on page two)

Second Victim Of Wreck Dies

Mrs. Mack Hall, 71, of Dunn, Route 3, died in Rex Hospital at Raleigh Sunday morning as the second victim of a Thanksgiving Eve automobile accident that also critically injured two other members of her family.

A daughter, Mrs. Evelyn Hall Bidleman, 29, of Norfolk, died shortly after the accident and was buried Sunday in Norfolk.

Little or no hope had been held for the recovery of Mrs. Hall.

TWO OTHERS HURT
Also injured in the wreck were Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Mowell of Dunn, Route 3, daughter and son-in-law of Mrs. Hall, whose condition is reported serious. They are expected to recover, however.

The body of Mrs. Hall was brought to Quinn Funeral Home in Dunn Sunday but funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

Mrs. Hall, her two daughters and her son-in-law had been to Memorial Hospital at Chapel Hill to visit her husband, Mack Hall, 71, who underwent an operation there earlier in the week. His condition is reported as satisfactory.

RESTAURANT OPERATOR TELLS HOW HE WAS ROBBED — Leo Chauvin, right, operator of the Big-4 Restaurant on the Benson Highway, is shown here as he related to Police Chief Alton Cobb, left, and Policeman Aaron Johnson how a bold daylight bandit walked into the restaurant Sunday and took about $125 in cash. The confessed robber, Joseph Warren, Jr., was caught after a short chase by Chauvin and Waite Howard of Raleigh, formerly of Dunn, who was having Sunday dinner in the restaurant. Man Who Staged Bold Robbery Here Is Bound Over To Court

A handsome young Dunn store clerk entered a plea of guilty of robbing the Big-4 Restaurant yesterday in Recorder's Court this morning and was bound over to Superior Court under $1,000 bond. It was a bold, daylight robbery.

Joseph Warren, Jr., 25, of N. McKay extension, a well-dressed youth told the court that he "didn't know what he was doing." Chief of Police Alton A. Cobb stated that Warren was not what you would call drunk, but that he was almost drunk.

Re was charged with holding up Leo Chauvin Sunday when he stopped at the cash register to pay for a glass of tomato juice. Chauvin told the court this morning that Warren stuck his hand in his suede coat as if he had a pistol and ordered:

"Let me have it, I'm desperate." Chauvin said at first he did not understand, but after Warren repeated the statement two or three times, he handed over some of the money in the register, around $125.

Warren, who has no other criminal record, backed out of the store as he ordered, "Don't move and (Continued on Page Eight)

Judge Saves Club Real "Hell Hole"

Judge H. Paul Strickland had his own name for a Negro club in Dunn this morning in Recorder's Court.

In trying a case, Chief of Police Alton A. Cobb reported that a store here had been renamed the "Lion's Den."

He remarked that he knew that it had been "a hell hole" for some time. He added that he wasn't sure which was worse, a Lion's Den or the Hell Hole that the business had been.

Three Fined $100 For Whiskey Still

Three white men drew sentences of six months each, suspended on payment of $100 fine and cost, in Dunn Recorder's Court this morning for having in their possession apparatus for manufacturing liquor.

Charged were Willie Beasley, Rt. 2, Benson; William Cephus Strickland, E. Ederton, Dunn; and Donald E. Barbour, Route 3, Dunn.

The three men were arrested on the morning of October 30 by Rufus B. E. Stirell and other officers of the sheriff's office when they brought their equipment to a still on the old fair ground road.

Each of the three entered pleas of nolo contendere through their attorneys Bob Young and Duncan Wilson.

Strickland testified that a 1953 Ford truck was seized at the scene of the still the same morning of the raid. Beasley, who was driving the truck, stated that it belonged to his father, Judge Howard Gowlin of Dunn, appeared on behalf of Beasley's father to request that the truck be returned since it was used without the knowledge of the father, Willie Aaron Beasley.

TRUCK RETURNED
Judge Strickland ordered that the truck be returned to Beasley since it appeared that he was not informed as to its use. "I don't think the law ever intended to injure an innocent person," Strickland stated in turning the truck over to Beasley.

Other cases heard in court this morning included: William Easler Phillips, possession of non taxed liquor and driving drunk, 90 days in jail, suspended for 12 months on payment of $110 and cost of court. R's license was revoked for 12 months.

ENTHUSIASM CONTAGIOUS
The enthusiasm of participants is highly contagious and rapidly spreading among their friends and acquaintances. In many cases throughout this vast trade area an increasing amount of public spirit and interest, as well as neighborhood pride is evident, and hence-

LEONARD HAS NAME FOR SPEEDY DRIVERS

State Patrolman R. B. Leonard of Lillington is an outstanding officer, extremely capable, efficient and very conscientious.

He's a man who believes in doing his duty and is an officer sincerely concerned about the problem of deaths and injuries on the highways.

At the same time, he has a good sense of humor.

BULLETINS

WASHINGTON (UP) — A special House Committee called Secretary of State John Foster Dulles to testify today as the first witness in an investigation of the 1940 Russian seizure of Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia. The committee, headed by Rep. Charles J. Kersten R-Wis., will hold another hearing here tomorrow, then go to New York for sessions on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

COLUMBIA, S. C. (UP) The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People today planned court action to protest the arrest and fining of 48 Negro soldiers in a city bus segregation incident last week. The soldiers, including a Negro second lieutenant, drew fines totaling more than $1,500 as a result of a disturbance which arose after one of them sat down beside a white woman.
