WASHINGTON (P) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon today agreed to give the Senate Foreign Relations Committee a first-hand report on his 46,000-mile round the world tour. Chairman Alexander Wiley R-Wis announced that Nixon would be invited to appear. The announcement followed a closed-door meeting of the group yesterday at which Secretary of State John Foster Dulles briefed members on the general world situation.

WASHINGTON (P) — The Army is going to get a new and snappier uniform, so that GI Joe can compete fashion-wise with his dressy brothers in service, the Marines and airmen. But generals decided they had better first consult the troops about what they would like to wear.

The Army announced a poll will be conducted this month at Army installations throughout the world, with every man from officer to private allowed to state his uniform preference.

WASHINGTON (P) — It's getting so "sitting" members of House and Senate on state occasions have to stand, and some of them were grumbling today about doing something drastic about it. As an aftermath of yesterday's jam-packed joint session to hear President Eisenhower's address, several senators got up on aching feet to complain that ex-senators had grabbed their chairs, leaving them no place to sit.

CHARLOTTE (P) — The hearing on malpractice charges against Charlotte Police Chief Frank N. Littlejohn continued here today with businessman Keith Beatty one of the witnesses expected to testify. Beatty, awaiting sentence in federal court on an income tax evasion conviction, was summoned as a state witness shortly before the opening of the hearing yesterday.

CHICAGO (P) — Wage negotiations between the nation's railroads and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers today revolved around a dispute over whether the engineers are getting extra pay for their key jobs in train cabs. The carriers issued a statement Thursday on the second day of negotiations saying that engineers average $1,253 a year more than railroad firemen.

FORT DIX, N. J. (P) — A young Army recruit owed his life today to a heroic sergeant who was killed while shielding him from an exploding grenade during a training exercise. Sgt. Leonard Moran, 22, of South Boston, Mass., lost his life Thursday as he thrust himself in front of the trainee after a live grenade had failed to clear a parapet and rolled back into their trench.

LONDON (P) — The Communist world's most authoritative political journal indicated today Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov will seek substantial concessions from the West at the Berlin Big Four conference. "Kommunist," organ of the Soviet Communist Central Committee, said in its latest issue, which reached London today, that Molotov will go to the conference determined to maintain the status quo unless he gets these concessions.

FLORENCE, S. C. (P) — Chief Justice D. Gordon Baker of Florence said today he will retire from the State Supreme Court in 1956 if he is reelected by the Legislature this year. Baker will reach the high court retirement age of 72 in February 1956. His 10-year term expires in July, but the General Assembly, which convenes Tuesday, is expected to reelect him.

PROSPERITY, S. C. (P) — Funeral services were held here today for Dr. Young M. Brown, chairman of the State Probation, Pardon and Parole Board. Brown died in a Newberry hospital yesterday of a heart ailment. He was 66 and had been chairman of the board since it was created in 1941.

WASHINGTON (P) — The Army said today it has cancelled a filmed television program on Communist atrocities in Korea at the request of the State Department. The film was to be shown over some television stations today on the program, "The Big Picture," a weekly TV show produced by the Army. Eventually it was to be released over about 240 TV stations across the country.

FAIRFIELD, Calif. (P) — U. S. marshals today will take Chester Lee Davenport, one of the country's 10 "most wanted" criminals, to San Francisco for arraignment on charges of escaping from prison after a robbery conviction. Davenport was arrested by the FBI yesterday as he sat milking a cow on the dairy farm where he had worked since July 45.

RALEIGH (P) — Three Northampton County farms were under quarantine today pending diagnosis of a new suspected outbreak of the highly contagious swine disease, vesicular exanthema. Dr. H. J. Rollins, state veterinarian, quarantined two farms owned by Charles L. Revelle and Sons, of Murfreesboro yesterday. He said VE symptoms were found in nearly half of a lot of 85 hogs purchased from Lancaster's livestock market at Rocky Mount of Dec. 11. The neighboring farm of S. C. Vann also was quarantined as a precaution.

he will be given 60 days to make his building comply with the building code of the State. Warren has already been given several months to make the contribution right, and last night asked an additional time through Building Inspector John E. Norris. Warren said he would like to wait until the spring. However, Council said it would be allowing too much time to let it run until spring.

PAVING — City Manager A. B. Uzzle reported to City Council last night that the paving and curbing project on N. Wilson is nearing completion. As soon as possible, widening of the block on S. Wilson between Divine and Cumberland will be begun, Uzzle reported.

NORTH MCKAY TO BE OPENED — Take-way was opened last night for the opening of N. McKay through the Adley Estate Property. In passing the request for opening of the Avenue, City Council also approved of the extension of S. Wilson Street through the Adley property. However, the opening of the street will be blocked by the property of Mrs. O. T. Wilson, it was pointed out. North McKay now ends at W. Johnson. Two blocks in that area have not been developed, leaving N. McKay extension blocked. The two blocks takes in the area from Johnson to Cole Streets.

LONDON (P) — Premier George M. Milenkov was 52 years old today, and he seemed to be holding his grip. Iron Curtain observers here believe the Cossack now holds a position perhaps more solid than at any time, since Lavrenti P. Beria fell last June.

WASHINGTON (P) — President Eisenhower's surprise proposal to strip convicted Communist conspirators of their U. S. citizenship left Congress pleased but puzzled today over its exact effect. The proposal of arms and leg shackles, plus a gun, money and clothing from any part of Mr. Eisenhower's State of the Union message Thursday. But congressional experts differed on what it would do to Communists when it hit them.

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (P) — A University of Notre Dame atomic scientist predicted today Russia will accept President Eisenhower's proposal for peaceful sharing of atomic knowledge. Dr. Milton Burton, said the proposal will meet stiff opposition in the United States.

WILLISTON, N. D. (P) — Police in two states were on the lookout today for Bencie (Slippery) Reynolds, 31, a convicted murderer who broke out of prison and leg shackles, stole a gun, money and clothing from a sleeping guard and leaped off a speeding train. Reynolds was being returned to the North Carolina penitentiary by T. A. Stafford, a special officer for the North Carolina prison.

NEW YORK (P) — Georgetown University language experts and the International Business Machine Corp. have produced an electronic "brain" which can translate meaningful texts from one language to another. Fifty observers watched a demonstration yesterday of what is believed to be the first mechanical translator ever developed. They saw Russian sentences fed into the machine and their English translation emerge almost simultaneously.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (P) — More defense money will be spent on electronic systems to spot enemy aircraft as the Soviet Union's capacity to strike from the air increases, Assistant Air Secretary Roger Lewis said here.

NEW YORK (P) — More than 500 policemen were assigned to emergency waterfront patrols today as city officials feared two isolated longshore walkouts might touch off a full-scale dock strike.

PARIS, Tenn. (P) — This city has decided to drop a century-old tradition—the annual Mule Day celebration. Fish will replace the mule. Chamber of Commerce officials said yesterday that a new spring event—the "world's biggest fish fry" — will take the place of the Mule Day event. The Mule Day celebration was held annually on April 1 for nearly 100 years.

CHICAGO (P) — About 300 Trans World Airline mechanics stayed away from work today in a dispute over the firing of a single employe. The airline brought supervisors here from Kansas City, Mo., to service flights, which were not affected.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (P) — Phoenix police said today a 30-year-old New Jersey gunman bragging he was the friend of notorious Willie Sutton would be questioned in the slaying of young Arnold Schuster, credited with the top that led to Sutton's arrest two years ago.

EDINBURGH, Scotland (P) — James Goldsmith, with his beautiful bride at his side, announced today they had reached an "amicable" settlement with her multi-millionaire father who angrily opposed their elopement. For the first time since their marriage last night in the small border town of Kelso the radiant newweds met reporters. It was the end of the story of their run-away romance with Bolivian tin baron Antenor Patino in hot suit.

Mr. Ridgeway said today that the New York Life has just completed the best year in its history, with sales totaling over one billion dollars. It is one of America's oldest and largest insurance companies. During 1954, pointed out Ridgeway, the company will pay out more than 75 million dollars in dividends to its mutual policy holders.
New officials to be installed at the New York banquet include: Deverez C. Joseph, chairman of the board; Clarence J. Myers, vice president; Dunsley Dowell, executive vice president; and Richard E. Faynter, Jr., executive vice president.
Before taking a position with the company about two and a half years ago, Smith held a position with the U. S. Department of Internal Revenue.
He is prominent in the civic, social and religious affairs of the Dunn section.

WPTF Asks Support To Get TV Channel

Dunn's City Council heard three representatives of radio station WPTF, Raleigh, outline plans for extensive coverage of the news, progress and civic life of Dunn last night with the promise it would all be possible if they secure television.

Under a requirement of the Federal Communication Commission, the Raleigh radio station has planned programs to show how they would serve the surrounding communities if they are granted TV licenses.

Appearing before Council last night were, Ed Kirk, director of the news at the radio station; Jim Reid, an announcer; and Worth White, production manager in charge of TV planning.

The three radio men presented a sample copy of the type program they plan to produce in which towns such as Dunn would be featured. In a Chamber of Commerce type of presentation, the station proposes to introduce the radio-TV public to the town's mayor, the civic leaders, church leaders and to give scenes from community life in an evening telecast.

TO FEATURE TOWNS

Besides the introduction to area towns to be known as "Forward Carolina," the station proposed to present a North Carolina quiz, and a fifteen minute program on civic affairs of area towns. All three of these programs would be under the direction of North Carolina's well known historian, Carl Goerch.

The entire presentation last night was an attempt by WPTF to show coverage and interest enough in the areas around Raleigh to win a new TV channel to be allotted by FCC soon. Also seeking the TV station is WRAL.

City Council approved the ideas of the radio men with the understanding that it would cost the town nothing. In an informal discussion of the presentation, Councilmen stated they were very well impressed.

Discussing the programs with the Councilmen, Ed Kirk told the Board it would be impossible to put the program on without the assistance of the local officials. He called on the Board to study the program and be ready to assist the station when and if the TV channel is secured.

OAKDALE NEWS

By MRS. ARTHUR CAPPS OAKDALE CLUB MET

The Oakdale home demonstration Club got off to a good start for the New Year last Friday. A large group of club members gathered at the club room thinking there was to be a regular meeting, only to discover it was New Year's Day and that the Home Agent would not be present. New Year's Day is a day of activity in this community, therefore, it being the regular meeting time (first Friday) the faithful members were present.

The meeting was not all in vain though, because the group discussed ways of improving the club in '54. It was decided that a membership contest would be a good way of getting more homemakers to join the club. Plans for adding to the club treasury were also discussed. As soon as funds are available the club plans to purchase a piano, which is a necessity for any club group.

Jurors Begin

Presiding Judge Joseph W. Parker completed his charge to the jurors just before the noon recess and the jury filed into its room to begin deliberation at 2:30 this afternoon.

District Solicitor Jack Hooks is demanding the death penalty for the frail, 90-pound defendant, already under a suspended sentence for making whiskey, and Defense Attorney Everett L. Doffermire is asking acquittal on all counts.

Barefoot, a cocky youngster who sat through most of the trial acting almost unconcerned, allegedly lured the young girl off on a ride the night of November 28th and criminally assaulted her.

Dr. W. W. Stanfield, I-unn physician, swore she was injured and said there was no indication she had ever before had sexual relations.

VIOLATED UNWRITTEN LAW

Prosecutor Hooks, in a fiery speech to the jury in which he said anything but death for Barefoot would be a miscarriage of justice, charged that he took advantage of the two families' friendship and that he committed rape in a cold, deliberate manner and with a "fixed design in his mind."

He said Barefoot had violated the unwritten law of morality. Hooks shook his finger in the face of the youngster and shouted to the jury: "There he sits showing no remorse, no sorrow whatever for his misconduct."

Hooks pictured Barefoot as a hardened youth who had no scruples about attacking virtuous girls. He said the jurors owed it to their fellow citizens, and to society to remove the youth and thus give protection to girls and women in a decent society.

RAFS PARENTS

Hooks also tore into Mr. and Mrs. Thurlio Barefoot, parents of the youngster and quoted them as advising their son to destroy his underwear and other evidence in the case.
