

Arthur Godfrey Says No Comment On Port Feud

NEW YORK — A stiller, sun-tanned Arthur Godfrey returned to the field of controversy Sunday night when he landed his private (DC-3) transport at the Teterboro, N. J. Airport.

It was the first time the radio and television star had used the airport since he was accused of zooming low over the flight control tower in the same plane 11 days ago.

"I have absolutely no comment on the buzzing incident, he told reporters who met his plane. "I will file my report with the Civil Aeronautics Authority when they ask for it."

ON CRUTCHES
Walking with the aid of crutches, Godfrey was whisked from the airport to his hotel here in a chauffeured limousine immediately after landing.

When told that the official in the tower was the same man who reported his alleged buzzing when Godfrey took off from Teterboro for Miami, Fla. Jan. 7 the entertainer said "I don't care; it makes no difference."

Meantime, a veteran pilot who saw Godfrey's plane zoom low over the tower said Godfrey was right in protesting safety conditions as the field but took the wrong way to express his displeasure. Neville Watson, Ridgewood, N. J., who pilots planes for executives, said the CAA had put potentially hazardous limitation on the use of one runway at the airfield.

VERY LUCKY
"I and many of my well-qualified friends feel we have been very lucky many times since this runway was closed," Watson said in a statement sent to the New York Port Authority for transmission to the CAA. "There is no doubt it is prompt the incident that is now being investigated. How far you push us against our better flying judgment."

Godfrey complained about the runway limitation but said it was a strong cross-wind and not his indignation which caused his plane to swerve close to the control tower. The port authority, which operates the field, complained to the CAA that Godfrey "recklessly" buzzed the tower.

Godfrey's plane was "fully under control" when it swerved over the tower, Watson said. He said he did not want to get involved in the controversy but added that "I would have been on the carpet if I had done that."

Supreme Court Rules On Movie Censoring Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled unanimously today that state censorship boards may not ban a movie on grounds it is "immoral" or tends to promote crime.

The ruling was in the form of a brief order. There was no written opinion.

The court merely cited its decision in "The Miracle" case in 1952 when it held that films may not be banned on grounds of sacrilege.

A separate concurrence was written by Justice William O. Douglas. Justice Hugo L. Black agreed with Douglas' opinion.

REASONING
The basic reasoning of the 1952 opinion was that films should enjoy the "free speech" guarantee in the Constitution just as do newspapers and other means of communications.

Today's ruling constitutes an important enlargement of this "free speech" area, although the court did not sweep aside all censorship as the industry wanted it to do.

The producers contended that objectionable movies should be controlled, only by punishment after an offense occurred, never by censorship beforehand.

DECISION
The decision resulted from New York's ban of "La Ronde" (the

W.M.S. To Observe Focus Week, 17-22

The Woman's Missionary Society of the First Baptist Church will observe Focus Week from Sunday, January 17 through Friday, January 22. The purpose of Focus Week is for the attention of the entire church to be drawn to the Society, its purpose, its work, and the influence it can have on a community. This week is set aside each year for that purpose, with a definite project to be taken on by the women of the society. This year an extensive visitation program has been planned with all active members taking a definite part in carrying it out.

Below is an outline of the work outlined by the president of the W.M.S., Mrs. D. C. Woodall, and she is asking every member to make it their very personal task of carrying out as much of it as possible.

Sunday, January 17, members will sit in a group at the morning service. On Sunday, Monday and Tuesday members are urged at this time to visit the person whose name has been handed to her in preparing themselves beforehand by asking for divine guidance and planning their approach so they will be at their best.

Wednesday prayer service is to be attended in the event one is scheduled and also on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday the inactive members of their particular circle is to be visited.

On Friday Mrs. Woodall will hold Open House for all members, and the ones they have visited from 4 to 5:30 p. m.

At the end of the week, each member is urged to ask themselves what they have put into Focus Week; what they have gotten out of Focus Week; what they think Focus Week has meant to the W.M.S. and should it be observed next year. Also they are urged to go just a little further in their regular community missions work and do just a little more this particular week.

Friends of Mr. Gilbert Woodworth Sr. will be glad to know that he is doing very well and is expecting to come home from McPherson Hospital in Durham on Wednesday.

have movie censorship laws. The states are New York, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, Ohio and Kansas.

"M" is the story of a psychopath who lures small girls to their deaths by buying them balloons and sweets. The local crime syndicate finally tracks down the demented killer in order to forestall police raids demanded by the frightened public.
