prove farming practices and many aspects of farm life. Farmers met with specialists from State College last Wednesday night in Lillington to discuss the farmers' viewpoint of the things that must be done to bring the program to reality. The committee on beef and swine will resume its discussion at a second meeting slated for Wednesday night at 7:30 p. m. at the Lillington School. T. D. O'Quinn, assistant farm agent, is the chairman. Other committees, which met last week, were soil conservation and forestry, small and part-time industries and marketing. Jeff Denny, Dunn ag teacher, was in charge of the industrial talks, and W. E. Boykin of the soil conservation.

Little Things

beside the plate. He'd never seen anybody leave any for his mother at home.

Mrs. Thornton explained to Johnnie that it's customary to leave a tip for the waitress when service has been good.

"Well," replied Johnnie in a voice that everybody in the restaurant and the waitress could hear, "You can throw money around if you want to, but my daddy has to save his money to buy a television set."

LITTLE NOTES. Speaking of waitresses, Elsie Lucas, the pretty blonde at Johnson's, will leave for California next week to visit her sister. Now only 18, her sister will soon give birth to her third child and Elsie is going out to stay with her. She was married at the age of 14. Shep Bryan is almost a vegetarian. "I've never eaten a pork chop in my whole life," he disclosed the other day. He doesn't like pork at all and cares little for any other kind of meat. "I could go the rest of my life without eating another piece of meat," declared the prominent Dunn attorney. Wait until the American Institute of Meat hears about that. And Mrs. Dave Kimmel has never tasted barbecue. Says the stuff doesn't look good to her. Lewis Strickland is planning to study embalming at Garton Jones after he finishes at Campbell College. Tom Hood was back in town for a visit the other day with some more good magic tricks. He's now teaching them to his son, Ruffin. "The only trouble," said Tom, "is that Ruffin sometimes gives my magic secrets away." President John H. Strickland showed Dunn Rotarians some color films on his visit to London and France Friday night at the Rotary meeting. They brought back nostalgic memories to Carl Fitchett, Jr., Harold Fernigan and some of the other fellows who were stationed in London during the war. We never will forget the morning we woke up in a camp outside London and found Harold sleeping in the next bunk. John showed the slides at the Grammar school last week. John Follett, The Daily Record's hustling circulation manager, says the paper should promote its "Letters To The Editor" column more, reports high reader interest in it. Said his Sunday School class spent most of its time Sunday morning talking about a letter written to The Record. So send those letters on in. Get whatever you are thinking of your mind. The column is wide open for your views and opinions and all letters are welcome. There were lots of empty seats at church Sunday morning. The rain no doubt kept many away.

SEEN ABOUT TOWN: Raymond Cromartie catching up on his office work Sunday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Storey and Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Norris, cruising about town Sunday afternoon. Gloria Barnes doing an Eddie Cantor number at Johnson's Sunday. Mrs. Howard Godwin buying herself a gift Saturday. It was their wedding anniversary and the Judge sent her downtown to pick out her own gift. A very thoughtful husband, indeed. Charles. They showing the pretty new Frigidaire models at Dunn Furniture Company. They have the new refrigerators in all colors. Little Doc Corbett home from college for the weekend. Mr. and Mrs. Louis Stephens, Jr., home from Greensboro for the weekend, looking over his mother's pretty shrubbery. Abe Blanchard chatting with Charlie Butaff. Abe is in a mess. He had planned to go to Florida this week, but Mrs. Blanchard had the house next door moved to give her a bigger yard and now he has to stay home to supervise the relocation and rebuilding of the house, and the planting of the new lawn. Mrs. Blanchard has been wanting that house moved for years so she could have a bigger yard. Johnnie Clifton wearing a new pair of heavy-rimmed glasses. Workmen of Ru-Home Builders replacing the glass broken out by thieves who robbed the Big-4 Restaurant Saturday morning. "I had been planning to buy some theft insurance," moaned Leo Chauvin, "but just didn't get around to it." Mr. and Mrs. Vic Anderson, their baby and their dog out for a stroll.

Carlyle

FINE RECORD Congressman Carlyle ranks sixth in seniority among the North Carolina delegation in Congress and is now serving as a member of the important Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, one of the top committees in Congress. He has made an outstanding record in Congress.

"Since I announced my candidacy for Congress the first time I have been running for re-election each day by giving to this high office my best services. I shall return to the District in ample time before the primary to contact the people in every area of the seven counties, first to thank them for their many acts of kindness and friendship, and earnestly solicit their continued support."

Congressman Carlyle said that his campaign, "as always, will be conducted on a high plane."

"Experience has taught me," he said, "that this is the best policy. The injection of personalities will have no place in my campaign because I shall run for re-election upon my record and upon my position on the issues which now confront the people of my district and the county."

"During the course of the campaign I want to discuss personally, through the press, and by means of radio, the great issues that are now claiming the attention of the people in all parts of our district because I am anxious for them always to know my position on the many subjects that are of such great importance to all of us."

EXPRESS THANKS Expressing appreciation for past support, Mr. Carlyle said: "I am sincerely grateful to all of my friends in the Seventh District who have given me the opportunity to represent for three terms the best Congressional District in the United States. I look forward to rendering even greater services in the future and your continued confidence and support will be deeply appreciated in the Democratic Primary in May."

The district is comprised of the counties of Bladen, Brunswick, Columbus, Cumberland, Harnett, New Hanover and Robeson. With a total population of 394,214.

Congressman Carlyle is a native of Lumberton, son of the late William W. and Lillian O. Carlyle. He was educated in the schools of Robeson, Wilson Memorial Academy in Nyack, New York and the University of North Carolina. He served in the Navy in World War I and was licensed to practice law January 31, 1921.

CIVIC LEADER

He is a former chairman of the Robeson County Democratic Executive Committee, past president of the Ninth Judicial District Bar Association, member of the American Legion and past post commander, member of the LeVion's Forty and Eight, is a Baptist, a 32nd Degree Mason, Shriner, B. P. O. Elk, Phi Delta Theta Fraternity and a former president of the Lumberton Rotary Club.

He was elected solicitor of the Ninth Judicial District in November, 1938 and reelected without opposition in 1942 and 1946; he was elected to the 81st Congress on Nov. 2, 1948 and has been re-elected ever since.

Congressman Carlyle married the former Miss Lois Godwin Caldwell of Lumberton. They have one daughter, Mrs. Doran Berry of Chapel Hill.

views on industry developments and discuss mutual problems. Under the system, the more than 7,000 dealers in the company's 43 zones and branches first elect 20 committeemen for each area, or a total of 860. Zone committeemen meet and select representatives to serve on the eight regional committees. These 86 regional committeemen then name 16 dealers from their group—two from each region—to meet with Chevrolet officials in Detroit as the National Dealer Planning Committee.

Ford presents two new deep-block engines

They're the industry's most modern engines with free-turning Overhead Valves and integral valve guides... high-compression, low-friction design... and extra deep-skirted crankcases. Both engines are designed for long life with smooth, economical performance.

Ford's new 115-h.p. I-block SIX Like the new Y-block V-8, this engine has Ford's deep-block design for greater rigidity, longer engine life. Also, like the V-8, you get Ford's modern manifold, low-friction design, high-turbulence combustion chambers, and Ford's Automatic Power Pilot. One advantage of both new engines is an amazingly flat "torque curve" which gives you top pick-up power through the whole range of driving speeds.

Ford's new 130-h.p. Y-block V-8 This brand new Overhead-Valve V-8 has an extra-deep block which resembles a "Y" in cross-section. This new deep-block design means greater rigidity for smoother, quieter performance... longer engine life. Other features which make this engine a long-lived, smooth, sav- ingful performer are: new low-friction (short-stroke) design, Free-Turning Overhead Valves, new 5-bearing crankshaft, and new high-turbulence combustion chambers.

Check the extra dividends in the '54 FORD Your Ford Dealer invites you to inspect and Test Drive Ford's new dividends for '54. You'll find new, smooth-riding, easy-mounting Ball-Joint Front Suspension... a new, smoother transmission... 5 optional power aids... beautiful new styling, inside and out. They're all reasons why Ford's '54 cars are the car in the low-price field. *Available at extra cost.
