Billy Graham, British Row Over Morals

LONDON (AP) — Billy Graham today rode out the second wave of protest to break over his London evangelical crusade in a month.

Graham's comments on British drinking, divorce, and illegitimate births published recently in an American newspaper brought testy rebuttals from several London papers.

It was the British press's most virulent reaction to the American evangelist since he was denounced shortly before his arrival for having said socialism played a part in Britain's postwar troubles. Graham apologized for this, saying he meant secularism, not socialism.

HIGH IMMORALITY

In his new summary of British morals, written after a first-hand look at Britain, Graham reported that immorality is at an all-time high. One in four of 11 first births are conceived out of wedlock.

The Daily Express retorted that the divorce rate has dropped sharply since 1947, while the percentage of illegitimate children has decreased from 69 to 53 per cent in recent years.

Graham's headquarters countered with a mimeographed handout saying "the statistics were taken from reliable British sources. If those statistics are proven to be inaccurate, then I will certainly see that the accurate ones do appear."

Graham added, however, that morally Great Britain is still probably better off than the United States.

New Community Building To Make Old Dreams Come True

By MRS. LLOYD JOHNSON, Record Correspondent

On a beautiful pine crested knoll on the Lillington-Coats road, just a few hundred yards from Bule's Creek and almost mid-way between two community stores, that of Harold T. Bults and Corlie M. Johnson, a dream of a number of public spirited citizens for a community center is beginning to materialize.

In October, 1952 the Friendly Home Demonstration Club of that vicinity won a fifty dollar first prize at the annual Four County Fair in Dunn for their exhibit based on the 4-Freedoms. Later at a club meeting a discussion rose as to how to best use the award.

Citizens had long been aware there was no place in the community for public meetings other than in the churches and in the school building at Bule's Creek. As time passed it was unanimously decided that the prize money would form the "nest egg" for the beginning of a (Continued on Page Eight)

Payoff Vote On Tax Cut Issue Scheduled Today

By UNITED PRESS

The House headed for a payoff vote today on a controversial Democratic plan to cut taxes by boosting income tax exemptions by $100.

Republican leaders conceded the vote would be close but were confident they had the power to defeat the Democratic move. The Democrats are seeking to strike from a sweeping tax reform bill a provision easing stock dividend taxes and substituting their plan to boost income tax exemptions from $600 to $700.

Regardless of the outcome of the Democratic move, the House was expected to approve the overall bill which calls for some tax relief for individuals and corporations.

Today's vote will be a major test for the administration. President Eisenhower has gone all-out in his opposition to the Democratic tax cut. He denounced it as "unsound" in a radio-television speech Monday night.

House speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr., (R-Mass.) predicted no more than a dozen Republicans will support the Democratic move while the Democrats expect at least that number to vote with the GOP. The Republicans hold a 219-215 voting edge over the Democrats.

Harnett Slayer Must Serve Term

Bobby Spencer of Harnett County lost out in an attempt to escape a 25 to 30-year sentence imposed for second degree murder.

Court Rules On Harnett Cases

The North Carolina Supreme Court yesterday upheld a $25,045 verdict awarded R. H. Hamilton against Earl Henry, well-known Dunn business man.

This suit grew out of an automobile accident which occurred about a year ago. Henry was the driver of one of the vehicles. The insurance company appealed the case to the high tribunal.

The State Supreme Court also dismissed the appeal of Mary B. McNeill, Harnett Negro woman who had appealed a liquor conviction on grounds of illegal search and seizure. The court dismissed the appeal because the defendant violated a rule of practice of the court.

Because the case was settled by agreement of counsel, in the appeal the evidence was in question and answer form. The court also upheld the verdict in the case of W. H. Laughinghouse vs. Farm Bureau Insurance Company. Laughinghouse was awarded a verdict of $450.

Janitor Problem Solved By Judge

Judge H. Paul Strickland, solved the town's janitor problem at the City Hall today when he sentenced a 16 year old Negro to 30 days in the local jail to serve as the building's janitor. The new janitor is Charles Freeman Lilly who was charged with driving without a license.

Officer Jack Black told the court that the youth ran into a light pole, breaking it down, and breaking several wires. Estimated damage was set at $50.

Lilly told the court he wasn't driving, but was just sitting under the steering wheel while two other men pushed the car. He was in court some months ago on the same charge, and was once hauled into juvenile court for shooting a man.

Strickland told the boy he felt that the 30 days in jail here would be worth more to him than 30 days on the road.

The Police Department was first to put the youth to work. When court adjourned, he was already busy sweeping the jail.

Meanwhile, City Manager A. B. Umlie was to ask Council to do something about the janitor problem at tonight's meeting. But, the problem is now solved—at least for 30 days.

Lawyer Refuses To Say If He Is A Communist

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Lec Scheiner, a Miami, Fla., attorney, refused today to tell a Senate subcommittee investigating communism in the South whether he was a Communist on grounds he might incriminate himself.

In his refusal to tell Sen. James Eastland (D-Miss.), acting chairman of the Senate internal security subcommittee which opened hearings here today, Scheiner cited the first, fourth, fifth, eighth, ninth and 10th Amendments to the Constitution.

As he attempted to list the legal reasons for his refusal to answer the questions, Eastland shouted: "Keep your mouth shut. I know about your Communist tactics and I don't want you to take over the hearing."

SERVED AS DIRECTOR — Scheiner was listed by the committee as a director of the Southern Welfare Conference Fund which is being investigated by the subcommittee for "alleged Communist influences." He also testified he had been an employee of the Office of Price Administration under the Department of Agriculture.

CROUCH TAGS HIM — After Scheiner refused to give his political affiliation, Eastland called Paul Crouch, a former Communist who has claimed there are about 1,100 active Communists in the South. Crouch testified he knew Scheiner as a member of the Communist Party when he was in it.

"I knew him personally," Crouch said. "He was an important member of the Red Party in Florida. His duty would be or was if the Communist Party went underground to take over its leadership."
