Man Hit On Head By Ike's Golf Ball

BY MERRIMAN SMITH

United Press White House Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — Backstairs at the White House:

A man was driving by a Palm Springs golf course and a high-riding, hooked ball came zooming through the window of his car, conking him squarely on his head.

White House officials checked up and deny flatly that the stricken motorist muttered "thank you

While Mr. Eisenhower was in Mr. President."

Hildy Crawford, the society columnist in the Palm Springs paper, the Desert Sun, reported that a dress shop proprietor sent Mrs. Eisenhower a pink and white striped, strapless sun dress as a gift, and Mrs. Ike liked it so much she sent for six more.

SEN. McCARTHY BLASTS STEVENSON

SEN. JOSEPH R. McCARTHY (R-Wis.) hurls a Communist pamphlet to the crowd after reading from it during his address before the Young Republican Club in Milwaukee. He accused Adlai E. Stevenson and the Democratic Party of "criminal stupidity or, at worst, treason." The Wisconsin Senator listed a 20-count "indictment" against the 1952 Presidential nominee and his party. ## State College Student Wins National Award

Mrs. Ann Price Smith, a pretty brunette in the School of Textiles at North Carolina State College, today was named the national winner of an essay contest sponsored by America's Textile Reporter.

Mrs. Smith's essay, chosen as the best from hundreds of entries submitted by students from all of the nation's 10 college-level textile schools, was entitled "Why Textile Management and Operating Personnel Should Attend the American Textile Machinery Exhibition at Atlantic City April 28-30."

The winning essay brought Mrs. Smith cash awards totaling $600, including $100 as the first-place winner at N. C. State and $500 as the nation's top winner, plus an expense-paid trip to the American Textile Machinery Exhibition at Atlantic City.

By winning top spot in the nation-wide contest, the N. C. State coed is considered to have made an outstanding achievement in view of the fact that only about one per cent of the nation's textile students is made up of women.

Mrs. Smith, who is working her way through North Carolina State College, estimated that she devoted two or three weeks to the preparation of her essay—a task which required considerable library research, an interview with James L. McIntyre, general manager of the Wake Finish Plant of the Burlington Mill Corporation, and hard work in writing the 1,000-word document.

Commenting on Mrs. Smith's award from America's Textile Reporter, Dean Malcolm E. (Sandy) Campbell of the School of Textiles at North Carolina State College said, "Naturally, we are proud that one of our students won the national prize. Mrs. Smith is a splendid student, an unusually hard worker, and a most attractive young lady."

A native of Greensboro, Mrs. Smith has spent most of her life in Harnett and Wake Counties. She attended high school at the LaFayette High School, near Chalybeate Springs, and was graduated from Pineland High School at Salem.

She is the daughter of Mrs. Estie J. Price of Route 1, Raleigh, and the granddaughter of Mrs. A. A. Johnson and the late Mr. Johnson of Chalybeate Springs.

DETROIT (AP) — Stockholders of Hudson Motor Car Co. and Nash-Kelvinator Corp. voted to merge their auto firms in the biggest automotive transaction in almost 30 years. The vote was overwhelmingly in favor of the merger. Nash stockholders voted 3,277,754 to 238,115 for the plan. The Hudson margin was smaller—1,418,288 to 246,876.
