

BULLETINS

ATLANTA (P) — Georgia's first lady was under subpoena today to serve a "real Southern ham dinner" to a grand jury investigating a Yankee television comedian's "vicious slander" on Dixie cooking. Mrs. Betty Talmadge, wife of Gov. Herman Talmadge, said she will be glad to "show them Yankees" by complying with the subpoena served on her yesterday by Sol. Gen. Jaul Webb of Fulton County.

WASHINGTON (P) — Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr. asked Congress today to give the courts power to impose the death penalty on persons convicted of peacetime spying. In an annual report to Congress, he also proposed that the 30-year limit on prison terms for wartime espionage — now the alternative to a death sentence — be removed. The maximum penalty for peacetime spying now is 20 years imprisonment.

CHICAGO (P) — Two policemen did a friendly thing for Herbert Livermore the night of Feb. 26. With such friends, Livermore doesn't need an enemy. The officers spotted Livermore, 35, driving with his lights off. They stopped him and considered running him in after they learned he had been drinking. Instead, they gave him a break.

NEW YORK (P) — Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy was lauded as "a great American" yesterday before 6,000 wildly cheering New York policemen at the department's annual Holy Society communion breakfast. McCarthy was introduced to his enthusiastic audience by Msgr. Joseph A. McCaffrey who praised the senator as "a great American" who "has fought untruth with truth, disloyalty with loyalty, treason with patriotism and godlessness with godliness."

IRVING, Tex. (P) — A home-made airplane piloted by mechanic R. W. Bacon collided with a plane carrying Bacon's son and another man yesterday, and all three of the fliers were killed. Bacon's wife witnessed the tragedy that took the life of her husband and son. The collision took place about four miles north of here.

DURHAM (P) — Duke University officials have named the speakers for the 1954 commencement exercises which will be held in June. President Hollis Edens announced that Dr. R. G. Gustavson of Washington will deliver the commencement address and the Rev. Dr. James W. Henley of Nashville, Tenn., will preach the sermon.

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (P) — Federal Civil Defense Administrator Val Peterson believes the government should disseminate "all possible information" regarding the H-bomb, because "this is the people's business and the people's lives are at stake." Peterson, here for a conference today with Gov. Goodwin J. Knight and a tour of California, at the same time cautioned against leaking information to the enemy through loose dissemination of news.

WASHINGTON (P) — Supreme Court meets today after a three-week recess and there is a chance the long-awaited school segregation rulings will be handed down. There was some question as to whether Justice Robert H. Jackson's absence reduces this possibility. Jackson is in a hospital suffering with the after-effects of a mild heart attack but is coming along nicely, according to his doctor.

WASHINGTON (P) — Rep. Chet Holifield today urged President Eisenhower to point the way to atomic peace tonight when he speaks to the nation and the world on the fears of our time. Mr. Eisenhower will make an extemporaneous 30-minute talk over major radio and television networks at 8:30 p. m. EST. It will be aimed mainly at what the President call the excessive "hysteria" afflicting Americans and their allies.

WASHINGTON (P) — The U. S. Public Health Service today assured the nation that the new Salk polio vaccine to be used on some one million school children this spring is undergoing the "most exact" scientific testing to make sure it is safe. A spokesman issued the statement after commentator Walter Winchell said the new vaccine "is claimed to be a cure but may be a killer" because the Public Health Service found seven of 10 test batches contained live rather than dead polio virus.

VATICAN CITY (P) — Pope Pius XII appeared in public for the second time since his illness Sunday night when he blessed a crowd of 50,000 persons who had offered their prayers for the millions of Catholics persecuted in Communist-dominated countries. The 78-year-old Pontiff, convalescing from a severe attack of gastritis, went to the window of his private apartment apparently unaided and stood there for about one minute while the thousands in the square sent up a thunderous cheer.

PARIS (P) Premier Joseph Laniel, kicked in the pants by a mob protesting the firing of Marshal Juin, summoned his interior minister Sunday night to find out why the police failed to protect him. Laniel was kicked and Defense Minister Rene Plevin was hit on the head Sunday when they visited the Arch of Triumph to lay a wreath on the tomb of France's unknown soldier.

Col. Williams Buried Sunday

Colonel Alexander Elliott Williams, 70, U. S. Army Retired, died at his home in London Friday night at 7:30 o'clock. He died suddenly of a heart attack.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Sardis Presbyterian Church in London. The Rev. Marvin Arrowood, pastor, officiated. Burial was in the church cemetery.

Colonel Williams was a native of Cumberland County, son of the late W. L. and Mary Elliott Williams of a prominent family. His wife, Mrs. Annie McHardy Williams, died in January of 1953.

WEST POINT GRAD — He went to school at Little River Academy and graduated from Baltimore College and then entered West Point, graduating in 1896.

His first tour of duty was in the Spanish American War. He also served in the Army during World War I as a Brigadier General. He had a long and colorful military career. He retired from the Army about a quarter of a century ago and made Linden his home.

He was active in community affairs. He was a member and deacon and treasurer of the historic old Sardis Presbyterian Church.

Surviving are one son, A. E. Williams Jr. of Chattanooga, Tenn.; one daughter, Mrs. J. J. Lynch of New York; one brother, H. E. Williams of Tampa, Fla.; two sisters, Mrs. J. S. Cobb of Fayetteville and Mrs. Rita Williams of Fayetteville.

Mr. Newsome Died In LaGrange

W. B. Newsome 72, son of the late Olen E. Newsome and Mary Ann Britt Newsome, died at his home in LaGrange early Saturday morning. He had been a member of LaGrange Methodist Church for a number of years and was a charter member of Hardy and Newsome Company, Inc. He was a retired farmer. Funeral services were conducted by the Rev. R. L. Sand, Methodist minister at House funeral home Sunday at 3 p. m. Burial was in Fairview cemetery. Surviving are man Godwin, Jr. of Dunn received lots of praise for the excellent manner in which he presided over the Allied Youth Convention here this weekend. E. T. Quigley sends a reminder that the VFW Circus is coming to town April 20th. Lash LaRue of movie fame will be the star. Robert Matland Barnett, new president of the Durham and Southern Railroad, is due here for a visit this weekend. Della McLamb and Inez Robertson were so proud of their picture in The Daily Record with Tommy Dorsey, reports Mrs. Henrietta Barnes, that they asked for their salary two days in advance so they could buy up all extra copies. Cad couldn't stand it any longer, so he opened up his new store Saturday. "We couldn't let those nickels and dimes get by," laughed Mrs. Upchurch. The grand opening will be held later. Right away, says Cad, customers started asking for The Daily Record. "Sweet music to our ears." One of Dunn's popular young married couples will soon call it quits for good. The papers are now being drawn. Some sensational testimony is scheduled to come out of an alimony case in Harnett Superior Court this week.

SEEN ABOUT TOWN: William Maynard predicting that his girl friend Shirley Gregory of Coats, will win Dunn's beauty pageant. "That might be bad for you," suggested somebody, "because then all the other men will be after her." Hadn't thought about that? sighed William, as he started some serious thinking. Johnny Purdie getting in another shipment of modernistic furniture. Johnnie has a good idea, says Dunn ought to try to land the new Air Force Academy as a memorial to General Bill Lee. "That would mean a lot to the town," pointed out Johnnie, who suggested, "Aim for that and then if we can't get it, maybe we can compromise for something almost as big." The Rotary committee is acting on his suggestion.

Ralph Maxwell and Howard Benne lunching at Minit Grill. Betty Hodges telling them that her diet lasted only three days. "Betty quit smoking and gained two pounds so she went on diet." Finally decided that smoking was better than putting on weight. Dr. J. A. Jernigan getting a shave at Central Barber Shop and walking out and forgetting his detachable collar and tie. "I got too busy talking," explained Doc when he went back for it. Pete Shell and Bill Barfield in a serious conference just before closing time at Automotive Supply Co. "These boys do a big business, have one of the largest stocks to be found anywhere." Policeman Aaron Johnson writing out a ticket for a young lady who didn't seem to like it a bit. "Lady I don't like it a bit better than you do," explained the courteous officer. "That drive on double parking is a good thing. We've already gotten two tickets. Most of us are guilty. Dave Kimmel and Thad Pope talking over the days business Saturday night at Porter's. About that time, an ambulance went screaming through town. "It wasn't a local ambulance. "Somebody apparently pushing somebody to Duke Hospital.

Man Is Drowned In Cape Fear

Junior W. Barefoot, 29, of Wade, was accidentally drowned Friday night while fishing in the Cape Fear river, near Wade.

According to a friend who was fishing with him, his foot slipped and he fell off the bank into the river. Efforts to rescue him were unsuccessful.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Wade Baptist Church. The Rev. W. J. Lynch and the Rev. Sam F. Hudson officiated. Burial was in the Old Bluff Church Cemetery. The body lay in state at the church for one hour prior to the services.

Blaze Leaves

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Annie Tew Barefoot of Wade; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willie M. Barefoot of Wade; one son, Deem-Barefoot, Jr. of the home; and seven brothers, W. C. Barefoot of Baltimore, Md.; Seavy Barefoot of Fayetteville; Hubert Barefoot, Tommy Barefoot, Jack Barefoot, Cecil Ray Barefoot, Hughie A. Barefoot, all of Wade; one sister, Mrs. J. M. Lee of Fayetteville.

R. Lamin Langdon, 66, of Route 1, Angier, died at his home at 8 p. m. Saturday. Funeral services were held Monday at 3 p. m. from Fellowship Primitive Baptist Church. Interment followed in the church cemetery. Sister Shephard Langdon and Elder Wilbur Barber officiated. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Bertha H. Langdon; one son, Haywood Young Langdon; two brothers, Dad David and Paul Langdon; one sister, Mrs. Etta Langdon; one grandson, all of Angier, Route 1.

his widow, Mrs. Helen Hardy Newsome; three sons, William Hardy Newsome of Dunn, Oles S. of Elizabeth City and Norwood Newsome of Sanford; one daughter, Mrs. Myrtle Newsome Moore of the home; three grandchildren.

Allied Youth End Annual Meet In Dunn

Emma Minnick of Newberry, S. C. was elected president of Allied Youth of the two Carolinas at the 8th annual meeting of the two-state organization held this weekend in Dunn and attended by delegates from every section of the two states.

The election of officers took place at the final business session, held in the Dunn High School auditorium.

Miss Minnick succeeds Herman Godwin, Jr. of Dunn, who presided over the sessions. Godwin received high praises from delegates for his year's leadership and for the manner in which he presided.

In addition to the president, other new officers are: Martha Carter of Kingsley, S. C., vice president; Letitia Haltiwanger of Newberry, S. C., treasurer; Ray Hayworth of Asheboro, secretary for North Carolina; Jerry Keese of Anderson, secretary for South Carolina; Andrew Cottingham of Laurinburg, extension chairman for North Carolina; Larry Clayton of Pendleton, extension chairman for South Carolina.

The new officers were installed in ceremonies conducted by Roy Breg of Washington, D. C., executive secretary of the Allied Youth Movement.

DR. STOKES SPEAKS

One of the highlights of the assembly was the address at the annual banquet Friday night by Dr. J. Lem Stokes II, president of Pfeiffer College at Misenheimer.

Dr. Stokes was introduced by Rev. J. W. Lineberger, pastor of the Divine Street Methodist Church. Special music at the banquet was furnished by Mrs. Lloyd Coats, Jr., Mrs. Reta Whittenon and Johnnie Ciccone. Sue Ennis and Vickie Upchurch did a novelty number. Frank Williams, Jr. of Dunn gave the invocation.

Condon, who was denied permission to witness an atomic test on security grounds.

Condon's administrative assistant Paul Ward, said yesterday that the National Committee "doublecrossed" Condon. Ward said in California that the committee promised not to withdraw support of Condon if he agreed not to ask the National Organization for campaign help.

Mitchell, it was disclosed Sunday night, formally denied any committee funds for Roosevelt's campaign for Congress in California and suggested he drop out of the race because of the sensational divorce case in which he was involved.

In a lengthy letter to California Congressman Paul Ziffren, Mitchell also refused national party backing to Condon because of unresolved charges that Condon is a "security risk."

FAVORS PRIVATE SCHOOLS

He suggested a system of private schools with the state providing the money for tuition. He cited the precedent of public welfare where the state provides funds for the recipients to use as they see fit.

Wingfield said, however, that any change in the state's educational system would have to depend upon the U. S. Supreme Court's ruling on racial segregation in the schools.

Holsum Bread

No outside interests are involved in the company, and no changes in the personnel have been made in adopting the Holsum Brand with the Vitamin D fortified formula and the bright red wrapper.

More than 80 salesmen of The Royal Baking Company attended a meeting on April 4, 1954, to see the new Holsum Vitamin D Bread, its bright new wrapper, and the extensive advertising program which accompanies its introduction.

At the meeting, Mr. Raymond B. Streb, Sr., president of The Royal Baking Company presented the Holsum Vitamin D Bread to the organization. The advertising and sales program was outlined by Mr. Dan O'Connell, representative of The W. E. Long Company, Chicago Agency which prepared the program, and handles the promotion of Holsum Bread for The Royal Baking Company.

Holsum white enriched bread with Vitamin D will be available to shoppers in Dunn.

Thornton also released today a copy of a song he has written on Scott's candidacy, and said Scott's headquarters already has had 500 copies of the song recorded for radio stations of the State.

"We're going to do it big," said Thornton. "Scott's got plenty of money behind his campaign and we're going to put it against."

"I predict Scott will be elected by a majority of at least two to one," predicted Thornton, who pointed out, "I come in contact with rural people all the time and they like him."

Palmer Speaks At Dunn Church

The Rev. Robert Palmer, St. Louis, Mo., was guest speaker at the Glad Tidings Assembly of God yesterday. Rev. Palmer will be speaking at the church Tuesday and Wednesday evening, and will be given a vote to determine if he will be called as pastor following services Wednesday evening.

Accompanying Rev. Palmer to Dunn was Mrs. Palmer who served a pianist yesterday. During the morning services, the Palmers presented adieu with Mrs. Palmer as company on the accordion.

Pastorate of the local church was left vacant recently when the Rev. A. A. Amerine resigned to take a larger church in Jeannette, Pa.

During the three day stay in Scott, he's as humble as a cat. "Now I've just come from Wilmington, and I talked with a certain man's wife. "And she was the happiest woman I've seen ever in my life. "She was a running from house to house, and here's what I heard her say. "I'm gonna vote for Mr. Scott the 30th day of May." Thornton wrote both the words and the music to the song.
