Humphrey Asks Quick Action On Tax Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey called today for quick Senate action on the administration tax bill to clear the way for "the creation of thousands of jobs and the vital expansion of our economy."

He declared emphatically "we are not now headed for a depression" but that new jobs must be found for workers who lost their employment because of the sharp cutbacks in government spending.

Humphrey's statements were in a major speech prepared for the opening session of the American Society of Newspaper Editors' annual three day convention. More than 400 news executives have gathered to take a firsthand look at everything from taxes to H-bomb developments.

WILL HELP ECONOMY Action on the tax reform bill, said Humphrey, would have a "tremendously helpful effect upon the economy." The measure, passed by the House but still in a Senate committee, provides a number of concessions to stimulate business.

"There are many business projects around the country which are being held up pending final decision on this revision bill," he said. "It is imperative that the earliest possible action should be taken."

"When the bill is enacted, these new or expanding businesses can get ahead with their plans which will result in the creation of thousands of jobs and the vital expansion of our economy."

Democrats have charged that the measure is designed to help the rich. But Humphrey insisted it will provide tax relief for "millions" and stimulate the enterprises needed "to create more and better jobs."

"Jobs are more important than tax cuts," he said. "The entire fiscal policy of the government is designed and operated to promote more and better jobs."

Bashful Peeper Pays $25 Fine

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Frank Schluter, 54, was arrested for peering into a window and watching a woman he had dated several times.

"Why didn't you knock on the door if you wanted to call?" Judge Roy Fretter asked. "Because I'm bashful," Schluter answered. "Fined $25," the judge said.

NOT COMMERCIAL

The division chairman added that "float entry applications state that nothing purely commercial will be accepted for the parade. He also quoted from the entry applications that "no floats advertising alcoholic beverages can be entered."

"We are fortunate in having our neighboring counties of Bladen, Hoke, Moore, Robeson, Scotland and Sampson participating in the celebration and we will be disappointed if our good neighbors in Harnett do not participate," Rose said.

Scott Ignored War; Doesn't Keep Up With Foreign Issues

RALEIGH — Senator Alton Lennon said today he was "shocked" by the apparent indifference of W. Kerr Scott, when he was Governor, to serious international crisis in general and to the Korean War in particular.

"I fail to see how any American could so easily shrug off the tragedies of Korea or, for that matter, any of the critical foreign affairs that are so disturbing to the rank and file of Americans today," Lennon said.

Senator Lennon drew attention to a statement made by Governor Scott shortly after the Communists launched their bloody invasion of Korea, which cost thousands of American lives. He quoted from an article published in The News and Observer of June 28, 1950, which stated:

"Scott keeps a stock reply ready for questions on international affairs. He hailed it out yesterday when asked for comment on the situation in Korea.

"TOO FAR FROM HAW RIVER," "Korea," he said, "is a long way from Haw River." Haw River, most far heels know, is the governor's home community.

"He added that he hadn't been keeping up with foreign matters." "Been busy with other affairs," inquired a newsmen. "Yes," answered the governor, "and I haven't been able to keep up with them."

Senator Lennon said today he (Continued on page two)

Lee told the court that he has sold his interest in the store to Cortez Lee, his brother who has been associated with him in the business.

E. E. Sturgill testified that he and Wade Stewart raided the place of business and found around a half gallon of liquor setting out on the counter.

Blood Test Is Asked In Trial Here

A teenage Negro youth told Judge H. Paul Strickland today that he will not agree to support Helen Lilly, 17 year old Dunn Negro girl, and her infant child until a blood test can be made to determine if the baby is his.

The girl had Thomas Pridden hailed into court for non-support of an illegitimate child born to her October 21, 1953. Helen told the court that the child was Pridden's and that he had failed to support her.

Pridden admitted visiting the home of the Negro girl to see the child "about every week," but denied that it is his.

"Can't we have a blood test made?" the Negro asked Judge Strickland.

The Judge ordered the young mother to take the child to the doctor selected by Pridden, have a blood test for the child, for herself, and for Pridden, and report back next Thursday. (Continued on page two)

Says McCarthy Tried To Help Drafted Aide

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) today made public the Army's formal charges that Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy and his counsel Roy M. Cohn used "improper means" to get favored treatment for a drafted aide.

The report, filed with the Senate Permanent Investigating subcommittee yesterday, charged that McCarthy allowed Cohn to use threats and abusive language in his presence to pressure Army authorities for favors for Pvt. G. Davis Schine. McCarthy has claimed that the Army, tried to "blackmail" him into calling off his investigation of alleged Communists in the Army. The dispute will be investigated by the subcommittee at televised hearings starting next Thursday.

PROMISED "SOFT PEDAL" The Army also charged that Cohn hinted that if Schine were well treated, the subcommittee would call off or soft-pedal an investigation of Ft. Monmouth, N. J.

It accused Cohn of threatening reprisals against three of Schine's superior officers.

It said Cohn and the subcommittee staff sought — and got — special passes for Schine from Ft. Det. N. J., on the pretext, that he was doing essential work for the subcommittee "when in fact he did not work on behalf of this subcommittee."

Symington released the Army's formal charges after they had leaked to newsmen last night. He said he thought they should have been made public in the first place. The subcommittee had decided to keep them secret until similar statements were received from Cohn and McCarthy — and then all would be released at once.

Meantime, however, copies of the Army's charges were given to Cohn and McCarthy so they could prepare their replies.

St. Stephen's Event Tonight

Maunday Thursday will be observed tonight at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, Erwin, according to the Rev. W. Robert Insko, Rector of the Church.

The word "Maunday" comes from the Latin word for mandate or commandment, says Mr. Insko. It was on this day, that our Lord gave His apostles the new commandment that they should love one another and it was also the day when He instituted the Sacrament of His Body and Blood and commanded them to "do this in remembrance of Me."

St. Paul, the Rector said, gives us the account of the institution of the Sacrament of the Holy Communion, in his first letter to the Christians at Corinth, when he wrote: "I have received of the Lord that which also I delivered unto you, that the Lord Jesus the same you, (Continued On Page Two)

WHEN WILL HE SPEND HIS VACATION WITH DENTIST

Little Webster G. (Chubby) Belber, III of Dunn, who had 18 teeth on his first birthday, may be on his way to a good job modeling for toothpaste ads.

A picture of Chubby made by The Daily Record and widely published throughout the country reached the desk of one of the top officials of the Colgate Company.

Yesterday, the mother received a letter from the official noting that Chubby had the looks, the personality and the sort of expression which would look mighty good in Colgate advertising.

He suggested that the mother immediately contact a model agency to offer the services of her year-old son.

Mrs. Belber doesn't know how the Colgate official managed to see the picture of her son and the letter came as quite a surprise. Anyway, she is taking the matter up with a New York model agency.
