MOLOTOV RAPS UNITED NATIONS

Declares UN Unfit To Act On Korea Peace

GENEVA (AP) — Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov told the Geneva conference today that the United Nations is unfit to play a role in settling the future of Korea.

In a two-hour speech to the Geneva conference, Molotov charged that the United Nations has "deprived itself of the capacity to act as an impartial international body."

He said it "can no longer carry out objective functions in the settlement of the Korean problem." Molotov's unusually severe attack on the United Nations threw a new chill over the faint hopes remaining that a formula for Korean unification might be worked out here.

DASHED HOPES

A glimmer of hope had been raised earlier by South Korea's acceptance of the Soviet proposal for nation-wide elections. Previously South Korea had insisted that free and democratic elections already had been held in South Korea and were needed now only in the Communist north.

South Korea's Foreign Minister Pyun Yung Tai, in a speech to the conference, challenged the Red regime of North Korea to join in balloting May 20, under United Nations supervision.

Bandit Is Shot In Angier Try

Willie Fowler, about 26, was in fair condition at Central Prison Hospital in Raleigh today after he was shot during a holdup at Norton's Service Station near Angier last night.

Fowler was reported to have held at bay some 15 persons as he entered the station with a gun and announced that he wanted plenty of money. Chief of Police Ray Ferrell of Angier stated today that Fowler was shot last night by Jim Powell, a former local policeman as the man attempted to leave the station.

The Chief said witnesses told him Fowler walked into the station and held a crowd of about 15 persons at gun point as he told operator J. A. Norton he wanted "a lot of money" because he probably would get "12 or 15 years" for the holdup. Fowler, who was unmasked, took his time, and a passerby hurried to report the stick-up to officers. Powell, who resigned from the Angier Police Force May 1 to take a job in Raleigh, went to the station.

As the ex-policeman entered the store, he was ordered to surrender his wallet. Powell said he turned it over to Fowler and the would-be robber started to leave. When he did, Powell shot him, officers said. Fowler reportedly has been unemployed for a number of weeks. Officers stated that he had been living with different relatives in Raleigh, Fayetteville, Varina, and Duncan in Harnett County recently. Officers called the action of the 135 pound Fowler "amateurish" and unplanned.

Dirksen Offers New Proposal To Curtail McCarthy Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.) offered a revised formula today for bob-tailing the Army-McCarthy hearings.

Hearing Chairman Karl E. Mundt (R-SD) ruled that the subcommittee would vote on the new proposal at 1:30 p.m. EST, but the discussion continued.

The major revision would permit the taking of rebuttal testimony in closed sessions and bar Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) from undertaking any military investigations until the current inquiry ends.

Dirksen offered his new motion in public at the 26th session of the hearings which were delayed for an hour by a dispute over various counsel and members of the Senate investigating subcommittee what promised to be lengthy discussion. Stennis Favors Reexamination Of Defense Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Democratic member of the Senate Armed Services Committee today called for a re-examination of the administration's cutback in Army strength because of the Indochina crisis.

Sen. John C. Stennis (D-Miss.), said since the "massive retaliation" strategy had failed to halt the Communist advance in Indochina it might be dangerous to slash the Army's manpower by three divisions as ordered by the administration.

There were new warnings in the Senate, meanwhile, against U. S. intervention in the Indochina war. Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) warned that Russia is trying to trap this country into "sideline wars" and said the United States "should not become a fighting participant in the Indochina war." Sens. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) and Wayne Morse (Ind-Ore.) joined in demanding closer bipartisan cooperation in meeting the world crisis. Both sharply attacked the administration's handling of foreign affairs.

SHEP WANTS TO KNOW: WHO WERE THE HULAS?

LITTLE NOTES: One of Dunn's prettiest girls will announce her engagement in a few days, maybe this week. And another will make the announcement a week from Friday. It'll be a busy social season hereabouts. If the number who turned out for the precinct meetings Saturday is any indication, there is practically no interest in politics in Aversboro Township. There were only nine people and only about a dozen at the big Aversboro IV. Only four turned out in Aversboro II. Kerr Scott, we understand, is scheduled to visit Linden next Monday night. Alex Bethune, his campaign manager, is arranging a supper for him. Lenoan supporters in Harnett may not bother to announce a message, but that doesn't mean plenty of work isn't being done. The county has been well organized for nearly three weeks. When he was here, Senator Lenoan confided that one of the best places he has found for campaigning is at the gas register in the big super markets, such as Piggly Wiggly. You can meet a lot of people there, declared the handsome Senator. Senator Lenoan is sure to get the women's votes (Continued On Page Two)

Truck Destroyed By Blaze Here

Fire from a wire shortage destroyed a 1950 Dodge, 10 wheel truck loaded with fertilizers this morning around 6:25 on Highway 421, near Mingo Swamp. Howard M. Lee, secretary-treasurer of the Fire Department of Dunn, reported considerable loss.

Lee stated that the truck was the property of R. A. Chestnut of Dunn and was driven by Leroy Joyner.

Fire began under the truck from a wire shortage, Lee reported. The truck was almost completely enveloped by fire when the Dunn firemen arrived.

On the truck when it caught fire were 20 bags of nitrate of soda, 20 bags of fertilizer, and 10 bags of potash. All of the fertilizer was destroyed by the fire.

After the fire began, the gas tank on the large truck exploded, spreading flames to the rest of the truck, Lee said. Twenty-three men were out for the early morning fire.
