

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

BY CARRIER: 30 cents per week; $3.50 per year in advance; $3 for six months; $3 for three months. IN TOWNS NOT SERVED BY CARRIER AND ON RURAL ROUTES INSIDE NORTH CAROLINA: $4.00 per year; $2.50 for six months; $2 for three months. OUT-OF-STATE: $4.50 per year in advance; $3 for six months; $2 for three months Entered as second-class matter in the Post Office in Dunn, N. C., under the laws of Congress, Act of March 3, 1879 Every afternoon, Monday through Friday.

Horrors Old And New

The Town "Watch Committee" of Stockport, Eng., says a REUTERS dispatch, has banned to unaccompanied children a revival showing of the Disney film "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" because of the effect of "horrific" scenes on "tender young minds."

Before anyone laughs, let him ask whether these good British burghers are behind the times or ahead of them. Hardly behind the times, for the proscribed scenes — the forest trees grabbing at Snow White and the wicked queen's instructions to the assassin — are but highly graphic versions of passages commonplace in the folklore and fairy tales of the past 500 years at least.

What did the wolf do to Red Riding Hood's grandma? He ate her up. What was the giant going to do to Jack? "Grind his bones to make my bread." What did Hansel and Gretel do to the old witch? Tipped her head-over-heels into the pot and boiled her. And some 19th-century gruesomeness was added to childhood diet as anyone can attest old enough to have been exposed to the wooden horrors of the illustrated "struwpeter" ("Slovenly Peter" or "Shock-Headed Peter" in the English translations).

These reflections offer no vindication of latter-day "horror comics." In fact, it may have been such comics which made the Stockport censors sensitive to the few lurid scenes in an otherwise beautiful and tender screen drama. At any rate, they have done something to bring in a bit of perspective.

There is sturdy ground, of course, between the saccharinity of "Elsie Dinsmore" and today's drugstore dreadfuls in which art for children finds attractive expression. New ground is being plowed, every day. But there is much good ground lying fallow.

Might not small fry of today take fire at Eugene Field's invitation (cartooned and filmed) to fly

To that land across the sea Where the Dinkey-Bird is singing In the amalfuta tree!

and at Edwin Lear's challenge to sail "to the hills of the Chankly Bore" with the Jumbies even if

Their heads are green, and their hands are blue, And they went to sea in a sieve?

Many of them used to even before movies. — From The Christian Science Monitor.

Ike Is Warned Against Winnie

WARSAW, Ky. — An intense search for the slayer of popular Gallatin County Sheriff Hubbert Ferguson was begun today by state and local police after his body was found in a creek. Ferguson's body was found weighted down with a 22-pound railroad tie plate in eagle creek. He had been missing since Friday.

WASHINGTON — Democratic senators from the Tennessee Valley area admitted today they are at a loss as to how to block the controversial power contract between the Atomic Energy Commission and a private power combine.

In a pamphlet published in 1703, an anonymous writer advanced the idea that migratory birds wintered on the moon. He figured the birds could reach the moon in 60 days by flying 4,000 miles every 24 hours.

GODWIN NEWS

Mrs. Annie Godwin left Tuesday for Montreat, N. C. where she will operate Umaree Cottage for the summer.

Circle No. 2 of the women of the Presbyterian Church met Tuesday night with Mrs. McClellan Wade as hostess. Mrs. D. M. Williams had charge of the Bible lesson. Mrs. J. E. Graham was program leader. At the conclusion of the program the hostess served sandwiches, cookies and tea.

Mrs. Harold Edgerton and children, Quincy and Cathy, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Langston and children, Phillis and Ross spent Wednesday at Laurel Lake.

Misses Julietta and Ossie Butler of Roseboro visited Miss Eloise Connelly Sunday P. M.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wade Lucas spent Sunday with the A. M. Wade family and also visited other relatives in the community.

The G. A.'s of the Baptist Church held their regular meeting on Friday afternoon at the club building. The meeting was opened with the Watchword and Allegiance Song. "Give of Your Best To The Master" Prayer was read by Joyce Holland. Scripture was read by Brenda Godwin. Bobby Smith had charge of the program with others taking part. During the social hour games were played and refreshments were served by Della Washburn.

Those attending the State Convention of the Lions Club in Raleigh this week: Jesse Alphin, J. E. Lucas, Gordon Williams, J. M. McIntyre, Sr. and J. L. Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pope and sons, Bob and Branch of Lumberton were dinner guest of the Mc-

Leliana Wades Wednesday night. The W. S. C. S. of Slack's Chapel Church will meet on Monday night, June 21st, at the home of Mrs. Wallace Warren, with Mrs. W. R. Barnes as co-hostess.

Mrs. Russell Trepow and daughter, Julia of Greensboro are visiting the McClellan Wades this week.

Mrs. Arthur Dunn returned to her home in Huntersville Saturday after spending several days with her daughter, Mrs. J. E. Graham and Mr. Graham. Mrs. Graham and daughter, Frances and Mrs. D. M. Williams accompanied Mrs. Dunn to her home.

The Lions Club held their regular meeting on Wednesday night, June 18th at the club building. Dinner was served by the Home Demonstration Club. Mr. J. D. Peacock of Lumberton was present and gave a report on the State Convention which was held in Raleigh this week. He presented to the President, J. M. McIntyre, Sr. a trophy for having the most members present from small clubs. Mr. Peacock installed the new officers for the coming year, which were as follows: Jesse Alphin, president, 1st vice pres. T. C. Godwin, 2nd vice pres. Willard Smith, Sec. and Treasurer. J. E. Lucas, Lion Tamer, Raymond Godwin, Tall twister, J. L. Jones; Directors re-elected G. R. Washburn, T. O. Braxton, new directors, Willie Tew and McClellan Wade.

These Days By Sokolsky

THE REPUBLICAN SPLIT For the first time since the Eisenhower Administration appeared, Republicans are taking seriously the split in their party. Heretofore such wise men as William Rogers would say, "Where Will they go?" — meaning that the conservative republicans must vote for Republicans by force of habit even if they have lost confidence in their party.

Actually in a state like New Jersey, a stay-at-home movement is in the making which may reach large proportions, and in New York State, as a result of the activities of the Dewey clique in Washington, a third party movement has only failed to develop thus far because of the objection to Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr. as a candidate for governor. If such a figure as James A. Farley or Judge Charles W. Frossell were nominated by the Democrats, many Republicans would vote against Dewey or abstain from voting as a mark of protest.

The really politically-minded leaders of the Republican party realize what has happened to their party. The intersection of Clark Clifford in the effort to destroy Senator Joe McCarthy and the unbelievable attitude of the usually mild and even courtly Senator Stuart Symington, whose father-in-law, James Wadsworth, was a truly great Republican leader, has shocked Republicans, even those who had formerly opposed McCarthy.

The feeling is that if the party is to survive, it must be a partisan party, if such a phrase may be used, not a conveyor belt for New Dealers and Trumanites who like to play both sides of the fence.

It is no secret that conversations along these lines have taken place and are taking place and that the next few weeks will witness a complete change in policy and activities. I prognosticate that Senator McCarthy will take an active part in the 1954 Congressional campaign in many parts of the country during the summer and autumn months.

I prognosticate that Senator Everett Dirksen will emerge as one of the more important leaders of the party. If Senator Karl Mundt is re-elected, as he undoubtedly will be, he will play a much greater role in party affairs than he had before the McCarthy-Stevens hearings started.

Vice President Richard Nixon has had an extraordinarily difficult role to play. In the past it had been assumed that he was part of the conservative wing of the party; yet he has been accepted as a member of the inner circle in the White House. He is expected to be the peace-maker in the party, but he has been a close friend of William Rogers, who is regarded by the conservatives as one of the architects of the effort to destroy McCarthy. Nixon is held in high affection by many of the Republicans who at this moment wonder at some of the things he is reported to have said during the past seven weeks. My estimate is that when the quarrels within the party simmer down, Vice President Nixon will be at peace with the several factions and that it will be recognized that he was in a difficult position and that his potentials remain great.

Three Republican leaders will come out of this with less factional antagonism than most others. They are the chairman of the National Committee, Leonard Hall, the Postmaster General, Arthur Summerfield, and the Attorney General, Herbert Brownell, Jr. Brownell will face the factional quarrel over Williams, who, I am told, is a brilliant personality but who suffers from a tendency to put his fingers into too many pies, some of which are too hot to handle. All three moves involve a lessening of factional quarrels and therefore, there is less talk now than there was a fortnight ago about members of the White House staff, particularly about Sherman Adams.

Certainly the mentioned telephone calls established that Secretary of the Army, Robert T. Stephens, did not participate in the policies of the action against McCarthy. If he stood up for his office, that was his obligation. It was not the duty of outsiders to use a difference of view which could have been settled amicably between Stevens and McCarthy as a political weapon to split the Republican. At any rate, as of the moment, there seems to be no antagonism to Stevens.

This is the situation as I see it at this moment.

Leliana Wades Wednesday night. The W. S. C. S. of Slack's Chapel Church will meet on Monday night, June 21st, at the home of Mrs. Wallace Warren, with Mrs. W. R. Barnes as co-hostess.

Mrs. Arthur Dunn returned to her home in Huntersville Saturday after spending several days with her daughter, Mrs. J. E. Graham and Mr. Graham. Mrs. Graham and daughter, Frances and Mrs. D. M. Williams accompanied Mrs. Dunn to her home.

The Lions Club held their regular meeting on Wednesday night, June 18th at the club building. Dinner was served by the Home Demonstration Club. Mr. J. D. Peacock of Lumberton was present and gave a report on the State Convention which was held in Raleigh this week. He presented to the President, J. M. McIntyre, Sr. a trophy for having the most members present from small clubs. Mr. Peacock installed the new officers for the coming year, which were as follows: Jesse Alphin, president, 1st vice pres. T. C. Godwin, 2nd vice pres. Willard Smith, Sec. and Treasurer. J. E. Lucas, Lion Tamer, Raymond Godwin, Tall twister, J. L. Jones; Directors re-elected G. R. Washburn, T. O. Braxton, new directors, Willie Tew and McClellan Wade.

Those attending the State Convention of the Lions Club in Raleigh this week: Jesse Alphin, J. E. Lucas, Gordon Williams, J. M. McIntyre, Sr. and J. L. Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pope and sons, Bob and Branch of Lumberton were dinner guest of the Mc-

Leliana Wades Wednesday night. The W. S. C. S. of Slack's Chapel Church will meet on Monday night, June 21st, at the home of Mrs. Wallace Warren, with Mrs. W. R. Barnes as co-hostess.

Mrs. Arthur Dunn returned to her home in Huntersville Saturday after spending several days with her daughter, Mrs. J. E. Graham and Mr. Graham. Mrs. Graham and daughter, Frances and Mrs. D. M. Williams accompanied Mrs. Dunn to her home.

The Lions Club held their regular meeting on Wednesday night, June 18th at the club building. Dinner was served by the Home Demonstration Club. Mr. J. D. Peacock of Lumberton was present and gave a report on the State Convention which was held in Raleigh this week. He presented to the President, J. M. McIntyre, Sr. a trophy for having the most members present from small clubs. Mr. Peacock installed the new officers for the coming year, which were as follows: Jesse Alphin, president, 1st vice pres. T. C. Godwin, 2nd vice pres. Willard Smith, Sec. and Treasurer. J. E. Lucas, Lion Tamer, Raymond Godwin, Tall twister, J. L. Jones; Directors re-elected G. R. Washburn, T. O. Braxton, new directors, Willie Tew and McClellan Wade.

Those attending the State Convention of the Lions Club in Raleigh this week: Jesse Alphin, J. E. Lucas, Gordon Williams, J. M. McIntyre, Sr. and J. L. Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pope and sons, Bob and Branch of Lumberton were dinner guest of the Mc-

Leliana Wades Wednesday night. The W. S. C. S. of Slack's Chapel Church will meet on Monday night, June 21st, at the home of Mrs. Wallace Warren, with Mrs. W. R. Barnes as co-hostess.

WASHINGTON — The fact is that the new premier has had experience in Washington as first executive director of the World Bank. There, Americans who came in contact with him, including the first U.S. head of the bank, Eugene Meyer, found him most friendly to the United States and one of the highest type officials on the bank. He was anything but a left wing.

It was Mendes-France's contention in the early years immediately after the war that if France had gone into Indochina promptly and vigorously, the whole matter would have been cleaned up. He advised American friends at that time.

Since then, and as the Indochinese war has dragged on, he has refused to go into various French cabinets which have had no program. He now believes the only course is to wind up the war, after salvaging as much as possible.

Americans who know the new premier, and who conferred with him when he was last here in September, suggest that France may be in for new rejuvenation under his leadership. After all, France has come through with some surprising strength at times when she was considered finished, including the Battle of the Marne when the German army was almost at the doors of Paris.

McCARTHY'S TAX PROBE Senator McCarthy's statement that he will investigate a Democratic senator for wrongdoing has brought a sardonic chuckle from one of McCarthy's Republican colleagues, Senator Williams of Delaware.

During all of this session of Congress, Williams has wanted the right to probe certain income tax irregularities, including those of senators. But he has been stopped by the Republican high command.

Williams was given this right by the Democrats when they controlled congress, and as a result, the public witnessed the strange spectacle of a Republican, Senator Williams, probing the tax irregularities of Democrats and given complete Democratic carte blanche to do so.

But when his own Republicans took over congress, Senator Millikin of Colorado, GOP chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, refused to give Williams the same power. As a result Williams has been largely silent at this session.

Obvious reason why Millikin hobbled Senator Williams' activities was because he was about to look into the tax affairs of several Republican senators, among them Mc-Carthy and Bridges of New Hampshire. The latter figured in the big $7,000,000 tax fix of Hyman Klein, the Baltimore liquor dealer and a friend of mystery man Henry Grunwald.

But while Williams has been stymied, McCarthy has had access to all sorts of privileged tax returns supposed to be under the care of his friend, Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews.

WASHINGTON PIPELINE Some of the big magazines which supported Ike so vigorously in 1952 are not at all happy about Summerfield's mail rate increase. Al Cole of the Reader's Digest and these X-rays of me were so good, I ordered two dozen.

The Worry Clinic By Dr. George W. Crane

Uncle Sam has undermined the authority of all parents of teenagers, as well as their school teachers. That is the chief underlying cause of the rising juvenile delinquency and vandalism nowadays. It is also unfair to the Army and Navy to continue 14 years of the draft.

By Dr. George W. Crane Case L-345: Clark J., aged 31, is a popular clergyman.

"Dr. Crane, why are vandalism and juvenile delinquency so pronounced nowadays?" he inquired at a Ministerial Meeting I recently addressed.

"Actually, statistics show that more people are members of churches today than ever before, and the percentages are rising steadily. So what is the underlying cause? Is it the long drawn out period of war? We clergymen would like to have your opinion as a practical psychologist."

TEEN-AGE UNREST There are several causes underlying delinquency, but Clark has put his finger on a major one when he mentions the war.

If you adult readers are not in close with teen-agers, you may fail to realize the mental turmoil in which the boys find themselves.

F. D. Roosevelt started drafting American youth in October, 1940, and we have had the threat of draft over the heads of all young males ever since.

Please remember, too, that the draft is in its 14th year! Never in our entire previous history have American boys been under such a prolonged Sword of Damocles.

Even the Revolutionary War lasted but 8 years. The Civil War for 4, and World War I, a 2-year affair.

This continual 14-year threat of being jerked out of school or from a good job by an omnipotent Uncle Sam and thrust into a foxhole in some foreign land, is very bad for youth.

UNCLE SAM VS PARENTS For the teen-ager begins to realize, even before he is well launched into high school, that Uncle Sam's power transcends that of Dad and Mother. Thus, the boy begins to disregard his parents' authority prematurely.

For he knows they are powerless over him, or at least soon will be. By the same token, when Uncle Sam's power is flaunted above that of his high school teachers and vocational advisers, then the influence of those same teachers also becomes less.

I am not generalizing, for I've had tens of thousands of letters from young people about this matter. And I have personally counseled with hundreds of high schoolers and college men.

The young men nowadays can't make plans for the future, for they don't know when Washington, D. C. may change their draft status.

Employers will not hire them, either, when they learn they are subject to induction at any moment.

Even those in college begin to fall in their grades, because of their uncertainty over the future.

Others drop out of college, even in their senior year, because they can't take this continual threat which prevents their making any serious plans even six months ahead.

ATTENTION, CONGRESS One of the quickest ways to lower vandalism and juvenile delinquency will be for our Congress to terminate the draft and get our military forces back on a voluntary enlistment basis.

Military training can be made an attractive career if it is "sold" properly, as per our American business methods.

But to let the draft drag on into its 14th year, simply demoralizes youth, promotes delinquency and mental breakdowns (ask any psychiatrist), and creates further distaste for the Army and Navy and Air Corps.

For "compulsion" arouses animosity, and it is really unfair to the military forces for them to be incurring the growing ill will because of "forced labor," even under the guise of military defense.

Compulsion is necessary in time of active war, but it becomes a grave psychological danger in peace time.

Carlyle and Bridges of New Hampshire. The latter figured in the big $7,000,000 tax fix of Hyman Klein, the Baltimore liquor dealer and a friend of mystery man Henry Grunwald.

But while Williams has been stymied, McCarthy has had access to all sorts of privileged tax returns supposed to be under the care of his friend, Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews.

WASHINGTON PIPELINE Some of the big magazines which supported Ike so vigorously in 1952 are not at all happy about Summerfield's mail rate increase. Al Cole of the Reader's Digest and these X-rays of me were so good, I ordered two dozen.

Carlyle and Bridges of New Hampshire. The latter figured in the big $7,000,000 tax fix of Hyman Klein, the Baltimore liquor dealer and a friend of mystery man Henry Grunwald.

But while Williams has been stymied, McCarthy has had access to all sorts of privileged tax returns supposed to be under the care of his friend, Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews.

WASHINGTON PIPELINE Some of the big magazines which supported Ike so vigorously in 1952 are not at all happy about Summerfield's mail rate increase. Al Cole of the Reader's Digest and these X-rays of me were so good, I ordered two dozen.

Carlyle and Bridges of New Hampshire. The latter figured in the big $7,000,000 tax fix of Hyman Klein, the Baltimore liquor dealer and a friend of mystery man Henry Grunwald.

But while Williams has been stymied, McCarthy has had access to all sorts of privileged tax returns supposed to be under the care of his friend, Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews.

WASHINGTON PIPELINE Some of the big magazines which supported Ike so vigorously in 1952 are not at all happy about Summerfield's mail rate increase. Al Cole of the Reader's Digest and these X-rays of me were so good, I ordered two dozen.

Mary Haworth's Mail By America's Foremost Personal Affairs Counselor

MARY HAWORTH'S MAIL Diverce Feels Lost And Guilt-Laden Since Man Who Won Her Heart Dropped Her

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am a divorcee in my thirties and have children. I work for a living, and have struggled to make a home for us, and at this I have been successful.

Three months ago I met Bryan, a man much older than I, highly recommended by friends of mine. We were together almost constantly after the first meeting; and I was in love for the first time in my life. I didn't have to encourage him; he called day and night and seemed perfectly happy in my company.

I felt loved and wanted, and was happy in knowing that at last I had found a man whom I loved and also respected. I put aside family friends and job just to be with him.

Then without warning he told me that we mustn't see each other for a while. He said he had been going with another woman for nearly 20 years, and although each was married in this time they had continued to see each other. He made fun of her and expressed a wish to break off. He asked me to be patient and wait until he could work things out with her.

JUST A FLING COURTIER SAID His attitude changed and he did not come often thereafter. Later he said I had been a wonderful person, but it had been just a fling with him. I have found out that he was in the habit of dating divorcees, then dropping them with the same man's hopes for 20 years.

The sadist always continues to leave his "loves" feeling cast-let and guilt-laden. It's a kind of soul sickness he transmits, and advice is, be glad Bryan's gone, way to forget him, and beat up depression, is via healthy emotional growth. For help, utilize the journal fellowship magazine "Clear Eyes," published quarterly at Grand Avenue, St. Paul, Minn. ($1 per year). Also, talk things over with a psychiatrist, at the affiliated with the university medical school, in the city through whom you write.

Mary Haworth counsels through her column, not by mail or personal interview. Write her in care of the Daily Record.

bill to the House floor this week. This bill would boost the price of stamps from three to four cents for first-class mail and five to six cents for airmail. The Committee is approving a twin printing postal workers' wages.

Prediction — The House will approve the combination postal but I also predict the Senate will increase in stamp prices.

DEAR C. W.: The sobering truth of association is that we attract the sort of persons we are. Obviously Bryan is an acutely neurotic fellow, who is incapable (in his who handled the direct mail political campaign for Ike in 1952, complained to magazine publishers at the Greenbrier Hotel in White Sulphur Springs that the post office is running a smear campaign against magazine publishers. "We are being smeared," he said, "by our own administration." After all the squabbling over raising postal rates, the House Rules Committee should send the postal-increase bill to the House floor this week. This bill would boost the price of stamps from three to four cents for first-class mail and five to six cents for airmail. The Committee is approving a twin printing postal workers' wages.

Prediction — The House will approve the combination postal but I also predict the Senate will increase in stamp prices.

DEAR C. W.: The sobering truth of association is that we attract the sort of persons we are. Obviously Bryan is an acutely neurotic fellow, who is incapable (in his

who handled the direct mail political campaign for Ike in 1952, complained to magazine publishers at the Greenbrier Hotel in White Sulphur Springs that the post office is running a smear campaign against magazine publishers. "We are being smeared," he said, "by our own administration." After all the squabbling over raising postal rates, the House Rules Committee should send the postal-increase bill to the House floor this week. This bill would boost the price of stamps from three to four cents for first-class mail and five to six cents for airmail. The Committee is approving a twin printing postal workers' wages.

Prediction — The House will approve the combination postal but I also predict the Senate will increase in stamp prices.

DEAR C. W.: The sobering truth of association is that we attract the sort of persons we are. Obviously Bryan is an acutely neurotic fellow, who is incapable (in his

who handled the direct mail political campaign for Ike in 1952, complained to magazine publishers at the Greenbrier Hotel in White Sulphur Springs that the post office is running a smear campaign against magazine publishers. "We are being smeared," he said, "by our own administration." After all the squabbling over raising postal rates, the House Rules Committee should send the postal-increase bill to the House floor this week. This bill would boost the price of stamps from three to four cents for first-class mail and five to six cents for airmail. The Committee is approving a twin printing postal workers' wages.