Lillington News

Campbell Student Is Heard By Lillington Women

Edward Thomas, native of Baghdad in Iraq and now a student at Campbell College, was the guest speaker on Tuesday night at the meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Lillington Methodist Church.

Throughout the Methodist Church the month of June is designated Student Month. In keeping with this program emphasis, Methodist students were invited to participate on the program, the society's regular June general meeting.

Miss Jane Cranford, a co-student with Thomas at Campbell College, introduced the visiting speaker. The devotion was given by Miss Ann Remm, and Miss Mary George Kelly was the organist. In an informal talk, Thomas described his native land which borders the Euphrates River. He described the school system, the religious customs and other interesting aspects of life in a country "old map list as Mesopotamia." He said he is in this country to study industrial chemistry and plans to enter the U. of N. C. this fall.

Mrs. H. G. Aiken, new society president, presided and the program was arranged by Mrs. J. J. Lanier, vice-president and program co-ordinator. A social hour followed the program and the speaker graciously answered a number of questions from the audience.

Angier Bride Is Honored In Lillington

A recent Angier bride, Mrs. Gerald Denning, was the guest of honor at a coco-cola party given on Thursday morning by Miss Belle Hockaday of Lillington at her home in the county seat.

The honoree is the former Miss Cecelia Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Young of Angier. A corsage of tuberoses was presented to Mrs. Denning by the hostess, and two Lillington brides-elect of the summer also were remembered with nosegays of white pom-pom chrysanthemums and baby's breath. They were Miss Pat O'Quinn and Miss Dorothy Secrest. Mrs. Denning, the guest of honor, also received a brass bowl from the hostess, and Miss O'Quinn was given a grass planter and Miss Secrest a gift of crystal.

White gladioli in a tall crystal vase decorated the entrance hall, and in the living room gardenias, arrangements of magnolias, and a vase of lavender sweet peas made

Delicious refreshments were served to Mrs. Butler, Mrs. Bass, Mrs. Graham, Mrs. Wilbert Tyson, Mrs. Joe Tyndall, Mrs. Emma Strickland, Mrs. Hubert McLamb, and Mrs. William Rochester.

MRS. NORRIS HOSTESS

The Marjorie Spence Circle met at the home of Mrs. Frank Norris on Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Mrs. Hannah Carpenter opened the meeting with the Bible Meditation followed with prayer.
