It said the affidavits also contain evidence of other "shocking anti-union" practices.

He congratulated the Carolina Safety League for work it has done in promoting volunteer inspections of motor vehicles, but said not enough cars are checked under this plan.

RALEIGH (P) — An attorney representing eight North Carolina towns said today he will ask the courts for a rehearing on a rate increase granted Virginia Electric and Power Co. WASHINGTON (P) — Assistant Defense Secretary John A. Hannah says present defense manpower plans will require draft calls of 23,000 men per month until next summer. Under the plan, 276,000 men will be drafted during fiscal 1955 which ends next June 30.

WASHINGTON (P) — A presidential emergency board moved swiftly today to halt a strike of 4,500 CIO production workers in atomic energy plants at Oak Ridge, Tenn., and Paducah, Ky. There was a possibility that fast action by the fact-finding board would enable the government to obtain a court order late today or tomorrow to end the walkout for 30 days.

HANOI, Indochina (P) — Red rebel guerrillas stepped up their attacks on the Red River Delta's northern perimeter today, indicating they plan to keep all sides of the shrunken French defenses under fire. Martin, Jr., said today President Eisenhower has laid down a policy which will never permit Red China or any other aggressor nation "to blast its way into the United Nations." (Continued from page one) condition he not violate the state or federal liquor laws and pay a fine of $250 and costs.

Rural policeman J. S. Byrd testified that on May 10 it was an accidental visit of two highway patrolmen to Woodley's yard that touched off the search for the stills. Patrolman W. H. Grady was riding with Patrolman Paul Albergine, on the way to feed Albergine's dog, when Grady saw Woodley trying to smash a jar of whiskey as they rode by the Woodley place.

On stopping to investigate Woodley, when unquestioned, led officers to a tobacco barn shed where 14 jars of whiskey were found. Officers also later found a pair of overalls and a jacket covered with mash. Officer Byrd said he located a still condenser in the boot of Woodley's car, but that Woodley insisted to him and to patrolmen that the Negroes were operating the stills found near by.

A car key, found in the pocket of the mash-covered pants, later was discovered to fit Sion Elliott's automobile, the officers said.

Phillips had taken the stand in his own defense, claiming he had just gone along with Sion to the Woodley house. He claimed Sion was "going for a drink," but denied he got a drink himself. Phillips testified under questioning by Solicitor Nell McKay Ross that he saw Sion pull off the overalls before they got to the Woodley place, a short distance from highway 15-A, three miles south of Lillington. Phillips identified the overalls pants officers seized as belonging to Elliott.

Woodley also testified for himself. He admitted he tried to destroy two half gallons of non-tax-paid whiskey when he saw the patrol car. One jar smashed, he said, but he failed to break the other. However, he insisted the stills belonged to the Negroes and that he did not know the condenser was in his car. Mrs. Woodley testified she saw Phillips and Elliott load the condenser in the car, but that her husband was busy elsewhere at the time.

Hilton Faircloth entered a guilty plea to violation of the prohibition law by possession of whiskey for purpose of sale. He drew 60 days in jail suspended 12 months on payment of $25 and costs.

OTHER CASES
William I. Barbour, first cited for driving drunk, entered a plea of guilty to possession of tax-paid whiskey with seal broken. He was fined $10 and costs, and cleared of the driving drunk charge.

In other liquor cases, James McLean, Negro man of Erwin, Route 1 entered guilty plea to illegal manufacture of whiskey. He was fined $50 and costs. George Davis McNeill, also charged with operating a still, entered guilty plea. He drew six months on the roads, suspended two years on payment of $250 and costs.

Bennie Chance was found guilty of illegal possession of whiskey and taxed costs.

Anna McAllister, guilty of possession for purpose of sale, was fined $25 and costs. James Lester Parker entered guilty plea to illegal possession and transportation of whiskey. He was taxed the costs.

Traffic violations accounted the majority of the majority of other cases that kept Judge Lee and Solicitor Ross busy most of the day Tuesday.

Speeders convicted included the following: George Scott Mercer, 70 miles an hour, five dollars fine and costs; Melvin G. Wooten, guilty of speeding in excess of 35 miles in a 35 mile zone; James Alexander Osburn, 65 miles an hour, costs; William H. Houk, speeding 35 miles an hour, five dollar fine and costs; Donald R. Anderson, speeding 50 miles an hour in 35 miles per hour zone, costs.

Traffic offenders, other than speeders, tried were: Roger L. re-nueing his driver's license, costs; Joseph Glover guilty of not knowing, failure to stop for stop sign, without 500 feet clearance, costs; Charles H. York, passing on curve Ralph Alexander Matthews inter James Massey, Jr., guilty of driving without 1954 registration plates, costs; Vernard E. Pond, improper brakes, costs; Jerry Haire, passing on hill, costs; Elisha Ferguson, insufficient brakes, costs; Garfield Smith, guilty of no operator's license, 30 days in jail suspended on condition he not drive until he secures license and pays $25 fine.

Weldon G. McLean was found guilty of failure to give hand signals of the Ahnapee and Western Railway. It was probably the smallest railroad strike in history. The railroad's only run is between here and Sturgeon Bay, a distance of only 34 miles. It operates as an interchange line, serving a plywood firm, a milk company and a ship building concern.

WASHINGTON (P) — The Agriculture Department's first 1954 farm production estimate was expected to show today increased plantings of feed and other crops offsetting federal curbs on major crop output. The report, due this afternoon, covers prospective production of corn and 20 other farm crops. It follows a report yesterday which showed cotton plantings were down 21 per cent from 1953 and 7 per cent under federal acreage allotments.

WASHINGTON (P) — Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr. charged last night that Sen. Joseph R. McCarty had put himself "above the law" by urging federal employees to bring him secret information in face of a presidential ban. Brownell said the nation would be threatened with anarchy if any such practice became "wide-spread," and would endanger many of the nation's "top secrets."

MEET AFTER 14 YEARS — Four brothers, pictured above, met two weeks ago for the first time in 14 years at the home of a nephew, Falson Barefoot on the Old Fairground Road. ## Patino Files For Divorce

Patino, 25-year-old tin heir also charged that the 23-year-old blonde beauty deserted him, causing a "grave injury to himself."

Filing of the suit ended Patino's month-long chase after Joanne through the capitals of Europe.

Joanne meanwhile arrived in Frankfurt, Germany, to see her lawyer and made it plain she still wanted to be alone. She ran out on her Roman honeymoon six weeks after her Paris marriage to Patino.

The one-time New York glamor girl refused to answer her door or telephone.

Man Is Assaulted; Pushed In Chimney

CHICAGO (P) — A nude man was stuck in the bottom of the chimney at the Swank Chicago Yacht Club for more than three hours today before firemen cut him loose.

The man, Joe Laure, 21, said four men had assaulted him, robbed him of $35, taken his clothes and pushed him down the chimney. All they left him was his shoes and socks.

Laure, a 170-pound dishwasher, fell 14 feet to the ash trap at the bottom of the chimney. He was wedged in so tight that fireman had to cut through a steel wall to drag him out.

Woman Hit By Golf Ball Put Into Hospital

Mrs. Luther J. (Red) Gardner was back home this week after being hospitalized for a "conk" on the head inflicted by City Commissioner J. Vernon Bass with a golf club. But, there was no malice evidenced, it was all an accident.

Mr. Gardner stated today that he and Mrs. Gardner were on the green Saturday afternoon with the Basses and were watching J. Vernon demonstrate the use of the club. But Mrs. Gardner did not know he was about to swing and stepped too close.

The City Commissioner landed a scum lick on Mrs. Gardner's head which resulted in her hospitalization Saturday and Sunday nights. She was released Monday in "fine condition."

"She's okay," Mr. Gardner said today—and added it was all an accident.

THE PARSON'S PARAGRAPHS

BY W. ROBERT INSKO

BIBLE INTERLEAVES IX

The ninth book of the Holy Bible is I Samuel. Originally first and second Samuel were grouped together in one book. Now, of course, they are two separate books.

The reason for dividing them is perhaps found in the fact that the original Book of Samuel was probably difficult to handle in one single roll. Books have not always been done up so neatly as we have them today. During Jesus' time they were written on pages which were put together into one long piece of paper which was then rolled on a stick.

You remember that we wrote, concerning the Book of Judges, that the Judges were military leaders, not Judges in the sense that we use the word today. Samuel was one of the last of the Judges, but he differed from the rest in that he was not a military leader. He was instead a religious leader. He is the chief character in the opening chapters of I Samuel, so the book is named after him.

Samuel does not maintain his prominence because Israel is crying for a king. Samuel selects Saul who becomes the first king of Israel. One of the most interesting parts of the book follows. Saul had to prove himself worthy of this high honor. This he did in real combat with the Ammonites. Read chapter eleven.

Everything seems to go well with Israel until Saul develops a jealous obsession against the youthful David. This jealousy grew and Saul becomes a real mental case. A bitter feud followed. "And Saul spoke to Jonathan his son and to all his servants, that they should kill David. But Jonathan, Saul's son, delighted much in David. And Jonathan told David, 'Saul my father seeks to kill you; therefore take heed to yourself in the morning, stay in a secret place and hide yourself; and I will go out and stand beside my father in the field where you are, and I will speak to my father about you; and if I learn anything I will tell you.'" Jonathan kept his promise and Saul promised that David would not be killed. But David became even more popular and quite a hero with another war with the Philistines. "Then an evil spirit from the Lord came upon Saul, as he sat in his house with his spear in his hand; and David was playing the lyre. And Saul sought to pin David to the wall with the spear; but he eluded Saul, so that he struck the spear into the wall. And David fled, and escaped." David now went into hiding and lived like an outlaw. But Saul was killed in battle with the Philistines and David could once again live without the problem of facing an encounter with the first king of Israel at any given moment.

This is a most interesting book. If you read nothing else read the exciting story in chapter seventeen of David's slaying of Goliath of Gath. There are thirty-one chapters in all.

This book, as all the books of the Old Testament, is a most significant part of the background we must have for the reading of and accepting of the Christian Gospel as found in the New Testament.

God grant that we may read His Holy Word, and having read learn, and having learned that we may graft it inwardly in our lives.
