WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Henry M. Jackson said today the Democrats will demand the right to rule on any man Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy picks to replace Roy M. Cohn, chief counsel of the Senate Investigating subcommittee, who quit under fire Tuesday in a staff shakeup in which one investigator was transferred and another notified of possible dismissal.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John J. Sparkman (D-Ala) warned Congress today against cutting U. S. aid to Southeast Asia just because of the new truce in Indochina. He said the "Munich" settlement opens the way for more Red conquests and "sharpening up the need" for assisting other nations to build the free world's defenses.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate headed for a show-down vote today on President Eisenhower's controversial private power amendment to the atomic energy bill, and Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland threatened to hold an all-night session if necessary to speed action on the overall bill.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House prepared to give its overwhelming approval today to a bill to strip convicted Communist conspirators of their U. S. citizenship. It also is expected to pass two other anti-subversive measures. One would set up a 12-man commission to study subversive problems in industry. The other would provide stiff penalties for bail jumpers.

PARIS (AP) — Signing of a cease-fire in Indochina started a new era today for a France which at last has found a do-something leader in Premier Pierre Mendes-France. The agreement to end the ruinous war 8,000 miles from home was greeted with almost universal satisfaction. The French felt it was done without losing honor or cutting the bonds of friendship with the United States.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government economists said today that business passed the halfway mark this year in good shape generally. They cited the Commerce Department's July issue of "Survey of Current Business" which reported that the nation's economy was "generally stable" at mid-year with construction, personal income and retail sales at high levels.

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — It appeared certain today that North Carolina's two dog tracks would not operate this summer. The last hopes of the track operators for a chance to continue operations were dashed here yesterday when the U. S. Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals denied the appeal of the Carolina-Virginia Racing Association.

MOREHEAD CITY (AP) — The State Board of Conservation and Development was scheduled to end its three-day summer meeting here today with reports and recommendations from its various committees. Most of yesterday's session was devoted to committee meetings with representatives of divisions of the C and D department.

WILMINGTON, N. C. (AP) — A Wilmington policeman had a slightly red face today. The private car of Carolina Beach Police Chief Paul Wolfe was stolen late Saturday night and officers had searched vainly for it for three days. The policeman found the car yesterday, right in front of the police station here, where she had covered its windshield with over-time parking tickets.

RALEIGH (AP) — Nominations for new state 4-H Club Council officers were to be made today at a general assembly of the 1,200 delegates to the 4-H Club Week festival at North Carolina State College. The new officers will be elected tomorrow. Dr. Charles F. Carroll, state superintendent of public instruction, was to address today's assembly.

Yesterday's classes and lectures featured demonstrations emphasizing research. At a meeting in Reynolds Coliseum, girls dressed in "hog lard" paraded corn products across the stage.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Switchboard operator Mrs. Ruth Decatur blinked when she heard someone ask, "Did you page me?" "Paging Archibald Clancy" is code for "coffee break" at the County Registry of Deeds. Yesterday a real Archibald Clancy happened to be in the building.

TORONTO, Ont. (AP) — Mrs. William Bagler, wife of an air force veteran, told a judge her husband made her dress in pajamas and an army raincoat, filled a pack with bricks and strapped it on her back, and then forced her to march up and down their basement for pack drill. Bagler got 21 days in jail for assault.

DETROIT (AP) — Top prizes in the annual Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild model car contest went Tuesday night to James C. Fry of Clinton, Ill., and Gary Graham of Bellingham, Wash. Both received $4,000 scholarships for winning in their divisions in the contest. Fry's model was judged best in the junior division and Graham's in the senior division.

VENTURA, Calif. (AP) — Five wet and bedraggled beer drinkers today lamented giving up their "Poor Man's Kon-Tiki" voyage aboard an inertube raft after drifting to within 20 miles of their goal. The young Ventura men were plucked off their odd raft, the "Rubber Bomb Sneaky," at sea yesterday by the sport boat Hawk and the Coast Guard cutter Morris despite their vigorous protests that "we're doing fine."

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (AP) — A judge said today that the ending of a wildcat strike of 2,000 AFL laborers at two atomic construction projects will not halt action against 30 pickets cited for contempt. Chancellor Charles E. Dawson of Knoxville said laborers had "virtually" challenged the federal government for almost five full days after he issued a no-picketing injunction Thursday night.

ATLANTA (AP) — Representatives of 16 Southern states met under the sponsorship of the Southern Regional Education Board today to enlarge a multi-million dollar regional mental health program. Some 150 professional and state leaders working on mental health hoped to finish planning a supplemental program during the four-day session, to meet the acute shortage of trained personnel in their states.

three desperadoes single-handed. But he's a romantic fellow at heart and—believe it or not—writes poetry. Some of his poems are good. . . . Spell says if customers would just sit down in the barber chair and let the barber alone they'd get a better haircut. . . . "They come in here," said Jack, "and say cut off two inches when they don't have but an inch to begin with. . . . If we did what they said, we'd be scalping some of them." . . . An advance agent for North Carolina's Little Symphony orchestra was in town yesterday trying to arrange a concert here this fall.

BIRTHDAYS: Celebrating birthdays today are E. B. Culbreth, Carolina Lever, W. C. Kanoy, Sr., Mrs. Lovie Young, Shirley R. Smith and Mrs. A. B. Harrell.

SEEN ABOUT TOWN: Sheriff-elect Claude Moore goes down the street with a set of hole-diggers in his hand. . . . Said he's busy repairing fences and building a new tobacco barn. . . . He hasn't got that the A. and P. . . . Locke is really a rest yet. . . . Charles Tew and Locke Muse playing with Locke's baby at proud papa. . . . The maid takes the baby down to see him just about every afternoon. . . . Incidentally, . . . "The Presbyterian Men", a south-wide church magazine, has a good picture and story about Locke this month. . . . Locke is a "wheel" in the church and is featured in the magazine as a "Deacon of Distinction." . . . "We salute Locke," says the magazine, "for his spiritual influence in his church and community." . . . But the piece didn't say a word about Locke's prowess as a politician. . . . Mary Lyde Doffernyre sitting up late looking at television. . . . Everette had been snoring away in bed for two hours. . . . Police Chief Alton Cobb with an armful of groceries. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Wilbourne of Lillington in town for a quick visit and receiving a big welcome. . . . Johnnie is doing well at the county seat and his business is growing. . . . All the soldiers in town, drinking round after round of beer. . . . A local minister was quite embarrassed recently. . . . He had some of his board members over for dinner. . . . All of a sudden his little child broke out singing that tuneful television ditty about Pabst Blue Ribbon beer. . . . The minister, a little flushed, hurriedly explained that, "Children pick up a lot of things on television." . . . Most people regard beer as a food, anyway, not as an alcoholic beverage. . . . Go into any whiskey store up north and ask for beer, and they'll send you to the grocery store. . . . Eloise Thornton hurrying to her new job at the Dunn Clinic. . . . Marvin Raynor surveying the pretty new front at Belk's. . . . Gene Johnson returning home from the furniture show at High Point.

YOU FIGURE IT OUT—All sorts of requests come into a newspaper office. . . . If there's a storm in the Middle West, the phone starts ringing as former residents of the area call for information. . . . If there's a major plane crash, mothers with sons in the Air Force phone worriedly to ask the names of the victims. . . . We are always happy to be of assistance. . . . That's our job. . . . We even dig out the World Almanac and the encyclopedia when somebody calls up to want to know if there's a building in Russia taller than the Empire State Building. . . . (Incidentally, there is.) . . . Some of the requests are amusing. . . . Some are quite impossible and can't be filled. . . . The other night, for example, a young thing with a sweet voice phoned. . . . The conversation went like this: "Will you please put it in the paper that what they're saying about me isn't true." "We'll be glad to, Lady," if you'll give us your name. "There was a long pause. "Oh, I can't do that," she replied. "My husband reads the paper and I don't think he has heard it yet." "Heard what?" we asked. "I can't tell you that, either," she replied, with a little laugh. "If I did, everybody would know who it is." It was getting more complicated all the time. She thought it over a little more. "Tell you what," she said, "if you promise not to print it, I'll tell you my name and also the mean things they're saying. It's just a lot of mean old gossip." "No thanks," we told her. "If it isn't news, we aren't interested. We don't deal in gossip. We don't even want to know who you are." "Well," she said, a little indignantly (and her voice wasn't so sweet now), "you certainly aren't much help." And she hung up. She didn't even bother to say "thank you" or "goodbye." It's all in a day's work.

THINGAMAJIGS: Two ladies from the Dunn Curb Market, sorry but we've misplaced their names, dropped by to tell us that the curb market is still going strong and that you can buy the finest country produce, meats, home-made pies and cakes there. . . . And this Saturday, they said, tomatoes will be on sale.

ty farmers began to lay plans today for the distribution of surplus government foods to storm-stricken families in the county. Some 200 farmers attended a mass meeting here yesterday and scheduled the food distribution for August 3-4.

Condemned Slayer Writing New Book

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP)—Caryl Chessman, the only best-selling author in America who is under a sentence of death, is hoping for just a little more time. He wants to finish his second novel. Chessman, whose book "Cell 2455 Death Row" was widely acclaimed by critics and became a best-seller, said in a death-row interview his new work was about 80 per cent completed. "I absolutely refuse to resign myself to the idea that I must die," he said. "I'm not giving up—not after all this."

LIVES 'IN' CUBICLE Chessman, who was condemned under California's "Little Lindbergh" law after his conviction on 17 counts of kidnaping, robbery and rape, has lived in a tiny death row cubicle equipped only with a cot and toilet stool for the past six years.

The delegation included Maj. Gen. Moshe Dayan, chief of staff of Israeli defense forces, and Brig. Gen. Virohana Inava, deputy chief of staff of Thailand field forces.

ROANOKE RAPIDS (AP) — A search was resumed near here today for the body of Leland Danny Callahan, 31, of South Hill, Va., believed drowned in the Roanoke River. Callahan and James L. Dodgins, 25, of Pickets, S. C., had been missing since Monday night. The body of Dodgins was recovered from the river late yesterday. They were on a hunting trip.

VALDOSTA, Ga. (AP)—Slight price declines have been recorded for some grades at Georgia and Florida live-cured tobacco markets, the U. S. Department of Agriculture reported today. The USDA said the losses occurred in average prices paid during Tuesday's auction sales, involving mainly lower quality primings and non-descript. Other prices held steady and the top practical price for any grade continued to stand at $64 per 100 pounds.

HELENA, Mont. (AP)—Veteran Sen. James E. Murray won a hands-down victory in his bid for the Montana Democratic senatorial nomination, but Indian Chief Robert Yellowtail was scalped in his bid to become the GOP nominee. Murray piled up an early lead in yesterday's primary and kept it through the night to win over two opponents. He is now eligible for a fifth term.

at the special price of five cents a pound. They're going to have a special every weekend. The ladies deserve your support. News of the horrible dresser-drawer slaying in Indianapolis brings back memories for many a Dunn service man who was stationed at Stout Field or Fort Ben-Harrison in Indianapolis. . . . The Claypool is quite a hotel. . . . The GIs affectionately called it the "Casapool" because the hotel bar was always a good hunting ground for chicks. . . . Everybody in Indianapolis meets in the lobby of the Claypool. . . . Dr. Pat O'Brien of Clinton, formerly of Dunn, served as a night clerk at the Claypool while attending chiropractic college there. . . . The hotel is the scene of all big political and civic banquets. . . . Herman Lynch is a good-looking fellow. . . . And he always looks real neat in that white coat. . . . Dunn schools will open September 1.

Old Navy Boss Comes Before Chicago Jurist

CHICAGO (AP) — Judge Harry P. Beam looked hard at the haggard face of the man before him and recognized his commanding officer in the Navy during World War I. The judge listened to the arresting officer testify that he picked up the prisoner, pitifully drunk on Chicago's Skid Row.

The man was William G. Wood, 64, a once-prominent corporation lawyer, law school instructor and respected member of the community. "I think two pints of wine," the prisoner told the judge. "I'll discharge you this time, Bill," the judge replied. "But first tell me, will you ever rehabilitate yourself?" Wood said he would look for a minister friend. He added that he was having difficulty keeping a job because employers complained of his slowness due to old age. He promised he would do the best he could.

Steel Market Ripe For Boom

NEW YORK (AP) — Iron Age said today the steel market is "ripe" for an upturn. Steel orders, largely for September production, are expected to pick up "noticeably" within the next 30 days "and steelmakers expect September to spearhead a steady fall upturn," the metal-
