Flexible Farm Supports Get Senate Approval

By UNITED PRESS The Senate was expected to complete action on the farm bill today following a major administration victory on the controversial legislation. Administration forces beat down the Senate farm bloc in two key tests Monday night to win flexible price supports on basic crops and keep dairy price supports at their present level. With the major issues disposed of, the Senate planned to act on other provisions of the House-passed legislation and pass the overall measure before it quits today. Sen. Milton R. Young R-ND charged that the administration's legislative sweep on agriculture law will result in a Republican defeat in the November elections. But Chairman George D. Aiken, R-Vt. of the Senate Agriculture Committee countered that "not one" congressional seat will turn on the farm issue. In succession Monday the Senate: 1. Adopted by a 49 to 44 vote flexible price supports of 82 1/2 to 90 per cent of parity next year for five basic crops, cotton, wheat, corn, rice and peanuts. Administration opponents sought to retain the present law which gives the basic crops rigid support at 90 per cent of parity. 2. Refused by a 49 to 43 vote to raise price supports on butter and other dairy products, now 75 per cent of parity. The House voted to raise dairy supports to 80 per cent of parity. OTHER CONGRESSIONAL NEWS ATOMIC: Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson, Tex. warned Republicans that the Senate should not take quick action on the compromise atomic energy bill passed by the House Monday. POSTAL: Chairman Frank Carlson R-Kans. of the Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee predicted the Senate will act on a pay raise for federal employees at the present session.

He said American diplomats of (Continued On Page Two)

BY ROOVER ADAMS STAG BALLENTINE WAS A SODA-JERKER HERE It's supposed to be bad luck to break a chain letter, but the newest one is taking things just a little too far. It merely asks that you bundle up your wife and send her to the man whose name is at the top of the list. Following is the text of this new-fangled chain letter, sent to us by a friend in Fayetteville: "Dear Sir: This chain letter was started by a man like myself, in the hope that it might bring relief and happiness to tired business men. Unlike most chain letters, this does not cost anything. Simply send a copy of this letter to five of your business friends who are equally tired. Then bundle up your wife and send her to the man whose name is at the top of the list, and add your name to the bottom of it. "When your name comes to the top of the list, you will receive $3,478 women—and some of them will be dandies. "Have faith—do not break the chain. One man broke the chain and got his old lady back. "Sincerely yours, "A Tired Business Man "P. S.: During the past week a friend of mine received 183 women. They buried him yesterday, and everyone said he had a smile on his face—the first in years." Dunn Police Beat Up Negro; 30 Stitches To Close Wound

A Dunn Negro, identified as Winnie Maloy, Jr., today charged two local Negro police with beating him up Sunday night while attempting to arrest him for public drunkenness. However, Chief of Police Alton Cobb stated this morning that the arrest was "no different" from any other arrest except the man was a shirt off Policeman John Beckington and kicked Raymond Thomas while they were attempting to put him in a car. Maloy was released from jail Monday morning under bond after being charged with drunkenness and resisting arrest. Later he went to Dr. Bill Lilly's office where he was treated for wounds which he charged the two Negro police with inflicting. Dr. Lilly stated today that the man came to his office around 3:30 for treatment of two lacerations just below the hair line on the forehead. One cut was approximately three inches long and another was around two inches long, the Doctor estimated. Both lacerations were to the bone, he stated. "I could not tell just how old the lacerations were," Dr. Lilly said today, "but they were not fresh." WOUNDS INFLECTED Approximately 30 stitches were taken to close the wounds, the doctor reported. By the time the defendant went to the office, infection had begun, Dr. Lilly said. Chief Cobb said he was not on duty, but that he was told by Cpl. Aaron Johnson, who was on the night desk, that the man did not ask for medical attention. "They (police) looked at the man's head and didn't think he needed a doctor," Chief Cobb stated.
