Chamber of Commerce Manager, Carroll says both chamber and ty officials are favorable to the idea of conducting a special census in Dunn... Clinton has just completed its recount and picked up 2.587 from the 1950 census... Clinton's population is now 7,001... Dunn will no doubt show a bigger gain than that... Thi 1950 census gives us only 6300... Most people figure Dunn's population how to be at least 8,000... The new census would be in line with Ed's new slogan for Dunn, "Fastest growing town in the State."... M. F. Hodges, the last remaining Dunn merchant who established business here almost half century ago, will celebrate his 45th anniversary of community service tomorrow — Friday 13.

Friday 13.

He now operates M. F. Hodges and Son Grocery and meat market on W. Broad Street.

This week Mr. Hodges began to review his business development over the past 45 years, and also stopped to note that Busin has grown some too during that time. August 13, 1909: M. F. Hodges, a young man of 25 took a few resources and moved into a wood building 18 by 20 feet on W. Broad Street. The first building in which he operated was located where Louis Baer now runs a modern department store, and was owned by John W. Thornton.

After two years in the Thornton building, the modest little meat market moved to the "City Market." And what is now the local police station was then the store stalls, for Hodges located in the same building now owned by the city. Here he remained eight years and saw even more growth.

The next few years were spent in business on Broad Street, again in a wooden building located where E. and W. Restaurant is now From the wooden building, he moved across the street to a location where E. Baer now operates, and from this location he moved to a building located where the Smith Optical Shop is now.

OAK RIDGE, Tenn.— (II)—
President Eisenhower won a lastminute Tart-Hartley injunction that halted 4,500 atomic production workers from going on strike today at plants here and at Paducah, Ky.
U. S. District Judge Robert L. Taylor granted the injunction Wednesday night at nearby Knoxville a few hours after the President and an atomic plant was one place where the government cannot possibly tolerate a strike.

Officials of the CIO Gas, Coke and Chemical union immediately called off the strike that had been set for today.

Justice Department attorneys won the injunction soon after some 3,500 CIO workers here voted to Join about 1,000 fellow union members who agreed earlier to strike today at the Paducah, Ky, plant.
