Ike Is Proving To Be Most Humble Chief

WASHINGTON (UP)—A Statesman long since dead once said American presidents who were shaved of a morning by a well trained valet would be happier than if they did the job themselves with the new fangled safety razor. Behind that homely crack was the idea that a man confronting himself alone and face-to-face before the shaving mirror would be likely to indulge in some very realistic pondering as to his own capacity as chief executive. The job imposes terrifying responsibilities. Under the White House burden, President Eisenhower probably is proving to be the most humble President of the 20th Century. Former President Truman experienced months of publicly-expressed humility after he succeeded FDR. That faded with his 1948 give-em-hell campaign.

Top Designer Says Pants Are Sexiest

ROME (UP)—A top Italian dress designer said today pants are the sexiest things a woman can wear. "What's more, stylish slacks have come to stay as formal dinner attire," the designer, Marchese Emilio Pucci, known as Emilio of Capri in the fashion world said. He will leave for the United States this week-end to receive the fashion "Oscar" of the Neiman-Marcus department store of Dallas, Tex. "CURVE MAGNIFICENT" "The entire history of the female curve, be it in dress or art, shows that the angle is ugly and the curve magnificent, he said. Adding that ladies with curves were more... well, ladies, than those with angles. Therefore, men have nothing to fear in ladies wearing pants in the family, he said. "What makes a man look around angles," the designer said. "That's why style-curved slacks have an advantage over skirts." Pucci, 39-year-old scion of an ancient family of fighting Florentines and a relative of Prince Yusupoff, the man who killed Rasputin, scoffed at the theory that women look best in skirts. "The well-designed slacks are nothing but a bundle of delectable curves, one piled atop the other," he said. "Done with taste they are ideal not only for freedom in lounging but also for formal dinner attire."

Units Leaving Korea; 5th Going To Japan

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Air Force, following the administration's redeployment plans, announced today it will withdraw several of its fighter and light bomber wings from Korea with some of the units returning to the United States. At the same time, Far Eastern Air Force headquarters announced in Tokyo that Fifth Air Force headquarters in Korea will move to Nagoya, Japan, in September. It will be consolidated with the headquarters of the Japan Air Defense Force. Announcement of the Air Force withdrawal plans followed Army disclosure that four of six divisions in Korea will be withdrawn and Navy disclosure that long range plans call for a gradual reduction in strength of the Seventh Fleet. Previous plans for early reduction of the Seventh Fleet have been held up however, because of Red China's threat to invade Formosa. The Air Force now has 18 wings plus other units stationed in the Far East, but the precise number stationed in Korea is secret. An Air Force spokesman said, however, that a "substantial number" of the wings still remaining in Korea will be withdrawn.

Mother Confesses Drowning Her Baby

MERRIFIELD, Minn. (UP)—A young mother handed her shoes to her two little daughters and then, taking her six-week-old baby in her arms, waded into Pelican Lake and dropped the child into the water.

Sheriff Roy Wickland said the mother, Mrs. Archie Sanders, 27, admitted what she had done when the drowned baby's body was found washed onto the shore last night. Bud Norris well-known Dunn resident, can thank Little Linda Bledsoe for the fact that he won a pretty clock-radio at McLamb Truck Company's International Truck Cavalcade program yesterday. ### Gloria Gets A Divorce; Lives Alone

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Actress Gloria DeHaven set up housekeeping as a single woman today after receiving an uncontested divorce in Las Vegas, Nev., from New York real estate broker Martin S. Kimmell. She arrived by plane last night for a night club engagement only a few hours after she won her divorce by testifying she wasn't interested in her husband's business any more than he was in her acting. Miss De Haven did not ask for alimony. The 28-year-old actress and 38-year-old real estate man were married in Pittsburgh, Pa., last year. She had two children by a former marriage to actor John Payne.

FDR NOT HUMBLE

There was nothing humbled about FDR, nor about the other Roosevelt who preceded him. President Eisenhower's predecessors were men of great political ambition. It is fair to say that the President's political ambitions were forced upon him. Measured against presidents of the past 25 years, he is more like Herbert Hoover than any other. They, equally were reeled by party politics, equally dislike the punitive, rough-and-tumble by which presidents must or should attempt to exert leadership through patronage manipulation and the like. And, like ex-President Hoover, he was not much of a politician when he came to the White House.

Dwight D. Eisenhower is the first truly military president since Grant yet his philosophy of living and acting his great office is heavily touched with religion. Perhaps that should be expected of a military commander when the tides suddenly and unexpectedly favored for landings both in Western Europe and North Africa. Repeating often in the President's public and private remarks is an ambition to rise above party politics to become in fact the President of all the people. There was more of that, however, in his first year than recently. But he has not so far taken the line often followed by FDR which conferred an arbitrary 10 per cent of the voters to the bow-words on the theory that they actively and knowingly were opposing the general welfare.

Leaf Sales Stop On Two Belts In State

RALEIGH, N.C. (UP)—Auctioneers were silent today on Middle Belt and Sandhills tobacco markets as warehousemen began a five-day sales holiday.

At a meeting yesterday afternoon in Sanford, the Sandhills Warehouse Assn. voted to follow the example set earlier in the day by Middle Belt warehousemen and suspend sales until Aug. 31. The 10 markets forced to close because of lack of buyers are Durham, Oxford, Henderson, Lenoir and Warren of the Middle Belt and Carthage, Sanford, Aberdeen, Ellerbe and Fuquay-Varina of the Sandhills which began sales Monday. For Farmers Benefit Sandhills warehousemen who had bought most of the tobacco sold in their markets, said they took the action yesterday because they did not want farmers to think that they were not getting the top price for their tobacco. Lack of buyers on the markets was blamed on the early opening date which forced companies to spread buyers over markets ranging from Georgia and Florida to the Carolinas. Warehousemen said they believed buyers would be available when sales resumed next week. (Continued on Page Two)

Man Gets Two Years For Assaulting Cop

Joseph Goodman, local white man, drew a two-year sentence in prison today in Dunn Recorder's Court for the knife assault of Policeman C. H. Pope. He gave notice of appeal and was ordered to post a bond of $300. Officer Pope testified that Goodman approached him on the streets of Dunn and told him, "I've been wanting to get you for a long time. Now you are out of uniform and I'm going to get you." "I'm going to cut your guts out," Goodman was reported as saying. A Cobb Chief of Police Alton A. Cobb told the court that after Goodman was jailed he told him he was going to "get Pope yet." Cobb said he admitted having bought a gun with which to kill the police officer. Goodman has several records against him in Dunn, and is noted for drinking, it was stated. ### Family Trouble Aired In Court

Five domestic cases took most of the time in Dunn Recorder's Court today as Judge H. Paul Strickland sentenced two husbands to prison terms for wife-beating ordered another to support his wife and five children, continued one case in which the husband was charged with assaulting his wife, and set a jury trial for still another.

Jailed were, Raymond Wood, Dunn white man charged with two accounts of beating his wife; and Lexie C. Parrish also white, charged with two accounts of assaulting his wife. Wood drew six months each in the two charged while Parrish drew sentence of 90 days each in his two cases.

Wood was charged with assaulting his wife and daughter, Jean with a gun and threatening to kill them. He has been tried here several times within the past three years for assaulting his wife.

Mrs. Wood testified that she was afraid to live with her husband when he is drinking. Judge Strickland said he thought 12 months in jail would help Wood.

Parrish was charged with one case of assaulting his wife, and beat his wife again with a chair in an attempt to get her to withdraw the first warrant.

Mrs. Parrish told the court that her husband said, "I'm going to kill you if you don't take up the papers." She said this will be the last time—"I don't intend to live with him any more."

In each case Parrish drew 90 days for a total of six months in the State prison. Other cases included charges of non-support brought against Vester Smith, Negro man. Judge Strickland continued prayer for judgment for 12 months on condition that Smith pay the court cost and sufficiently support his wife and five children.
