

BULLETINS

RALEIGH (AP)—James McLeod, 35, Negro, was on jail here today on manslaughter and hit-and-run driving charges growing out of an accident Aug. 7. McLeod, who had been sought since the accident, was arrested yesterday in Lumberton. Police claimed he was the driver of a truck which crashed a red light here and collided with a car, fatally injuring Gomiak Baker, 27, Raleigh Negro.

RALEIGH (AP)—Director Ben E. Douglas of the State Department of Conservation and Development said today that Gov. William Umstead had set Oct. 25-27 as the dates for the fall meeting in Charlotte of the Conservation and Development Board. Umstead, who is chairman of the board, is expected to attend these sessions.

CHARLOTTE (AP)—State Utilities Commissioner Fred C. Hunter remained in critical condition at Presbyterian Memorial Hospital here today. Hospital authorities last night refused to discuss Hunter's condition but indicated he was on the critical list. He was admitted to the hospital Tuesday after suffering a paralytic stroke.

RALEIGH (AP)—The State Board of Elections will appear in Wake County Superior Court here Sept. 7 to show cause why an injunction against a recount of ballots in the Johnston County primary should be continued until the courts rule on an appeal from the board's order for the recount. The appeal was filed by Sheriff B. A. Henry who won renomination over former Sheriff C. L. Denning by a 52 vote margin in the May 29 Democratic primary. Henry contends that Denning's request for a recount was filed too late and that the board should not have ordered the recount.

RALEIGH (AP)—The appointment of a state advisory committee for the Farmers Home Administration was announced here today by State Director Horace J. Isenhower. The committee will assist Isenhower in adapting national policies to local conditions and suggest ways to make the program more effective.

WASHINGTON—The Navy said today that plans for cutting the size of the U.S. 7th Fleet have been scrapped because of Red China's threat to invade Formosa. Adm. Robert B. Carney, Chief of Naval Operations, Wednesday stirred speculation that naval forces in the Pacific might be cut sharply because there no longer are any shooting wars in the area.

PARIS (AP)—French opposition to German rearmament in any form grew today and it appeared the National Assembly would delay the granting of sovereignty to the West German government. French Premier Pierre Mendes-France pledged Wednesday night to a group of deputies that he would not take action to restore sovereignty to the Bonn Republic until he had the Chamber's permission.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks announced today that the government is increasing the number of goods which may be exported by Americans to buyers in Russia or in her European satellite countries. Weeks said "A considerable number of items having little or no security significance" will be dropped from the banned list, and "some" new items have been added. The policy of banning exports of strategic goods will continue under stricter enforcement, he said.

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Department officials today hailed Adlai Stevenson's appeal for French ratification of the European Defense Community EDC as a move to strengthen bipartisan foreign policy. The 1952 Democratic presidential candidate announced Wednesday that he had sent a letter to French Premier Pierre Mendes-France because he had become "alarmed by developments in France." Stevenson said he was in favor of the EDC treaty and assured the French Premier that the issue was not a partisan one in the United States.

DANVILLE, Va. (AP)—The Old Belt Warehouse Assn. will meet here tonight to decide whether the opening date for Old Belt tobacco markets will be moved back. The opening is scheduled for Sept. 2. Association President George A. Myers, of Danville, called the meeting Tuesday when only two of seven major tobacco companies were represented at opening sales of the Virginia and North Carolina Middle Belt. Yesterday sales on 10 markets of the North Carolina Middle Belt and Sandhills section were suspended for lack of buyers until Aug. 31.

filling two important engagements in Miami Fla. this season.... Dunn news stands had a good supply of the pocketbook edition of "Magnificent Obsession" last week but since the movie appeared here they sold like hot cakes.... "These shelves have been searched for a copy 40 times since we sold the last one," moaned Mutt Butt last night.... Mrs. H. D. Strickland, Jr. is one of Dunn's most attractive young women.... Headed for the hit parade is the new song, "Right Or Wrong, It's You I Crave".... Speaking of the Horton murder trial you can already get odds that Horton will never see inside jail for that killing.... Public sentiment is on his side.

MORE NOTES: Edith Baggett of Atlanta was here last week for a visit with her mother, but nobody knew it.... She hardly went out of the house.... Postmaster Ralph Wade and Cleon Wilson of the Dunn Post Office are two Federal employees who aren't sore at Ike for vetoing their five per cent pay raise.... "He did exactly right," declared the popular Dunn postmaster, "and he gave good reasons for doing it too".... Mr. Wade went on to say that, "Most Federal employees are getting all the money they are worth, at least 89.5 per cent of them.... "I tell them here in the Post Office," he added, "that they're making a lot more money than civilian employees outside".... Mr. Wade explained that the proposed raise, as set up in the bill, would not have been fair to all Federal employees anyway.... For example, it discriminated against substitutes in the Post Office.... They say that R. R. (Railroad) Raynor really had a hounding of a birthday supper at White Lake Saturday night.... More than 100 of his friends were there to help him celebrate and to eat his fish.... Sorry we couldn't make it.... There's still great demand here for rooms and for empty houses.... If you have either, it would pay you to advertise them in the classified section....

SEEN ABOUT TOWN: Jim Yearby using his jeep to push one of those big long buses at the Dunn bus station.... Wade Drake of Fayetteville in town for a visit.... He was chatting with Rhode Williams and McCauley Butler at Baldwin and Mattox.... Mary B. Hinton and her children downtown on a shopping spree.... Coach Paul Waggoner talking over the prospects for Dunn High's football team.... Shoppers looking for an ice cold watermelon.... The water-

WASHINGTON (AP)—Preparations for the McCarthy censure hearings moved another step forward today with an official request that the senator's chief accusers supply documents and witnesses to support their charge. Sen. Arthur V. Watkins (R-Utah), chairman of a special committee which will open hearings on the charges Tuesday, made the request in letters to Sens. Ralph E. Flanders (R-Vt.), J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.), and Wayne Morse (Ind-Ore.)

DENVER (AP)—The nation's most renowned trout fishermen—President Eisenhower and former President Herbert Hoover—headed for mountain streams on the western edge of the Rockies together next week on a fishing trip. Press Secretary James C. Hagerty announced today that Mr. Eisenhower and Mr. Hoover will spend several days together fishing on St. Louis Creek which courses through the Byers Peak Ranch of Aksel Nielsen and Carl Norgren.

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—Twenty-three passengers, all Orientals, aboard a Northwest Airlines DC6 were hospitalized late yesterday with an unknown illness. The local northwest station manager said today that Dr. James O'Malley was checking the cases and would make a report later today. The plane will not leave Anchorage until a diagnosis has been made, the manager added.

ing which is located near the A and W railroad on highway 15-A. Work began last week on the building, due to be finished by the end of the year.
At present the company has 50 persons on its payroll. Mrs. E. M. Jackson of Morehead City is the president, and Truman D. Kemp of Morehead City is vice-president and secretary.
The forelady in Lillington is Mrs. Christine Carroll of Newport and Joe Taylor of Lillington is her assistant. Miss Jean Hamilton of Lillington is office secretary to the president.
Mrs. Jackson expressed her appreciation to the community cooperation which has made it possible to provide "space for our pilot plants with no cost to the company."
"Mrs. Carroll, our State-trained instructor is very pleased with the alertness and attitude of the trainees now at work in Lillington," said Mrs. Jackson.
The president said it was not possible to predict exactly the number of employees the company would hire after the building is finished, but probably 250 women and 50 men.

The Sandhills group yesterday adopted a resolution endorsing a plan proposed by W. P. Hedrick of the State Department of Agriculture.
Hedrick suggested decreasing the number of flue-cured bells from five to three, a move which he said would make it easier for companies to provide buyers.

Family Trouble

continued again. Judge Strickland said he wanted to see if the couples' domestic relations would improve before passing judgment in the case.
A jury trial was set for O. W. Lucas in a case in which he was charged with beating his wife. Attorney Duncan C. Wilson told the court that he is filing a suit against Lucas for alimony for his wife and that should settle the assault case.
He said he did not expect all hands to see everything his way. We have differences about different things, he continued, and that was what made democracy. He was perfectly willing, the president said to help re-elect Republican congressional candidates who had differed with him somewhat so long as they supported the principles by which he was guiding his administration.
So far as he knows, no Republican candidate who has sought a kind word or a campaign picture from the White House has been turned down. Staff Members may have rejected some, but the President would help. Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) is not in question. The senator does not run again until 1958.

Ike Is Proving

of a soldier. Yet, President Eisenhower has not been overly demanding of discipline among Republicans. He was asked about that at a recent news conference.
He said he did not expect all hands to see everything his way. We have differences about different things, he continued, and that was what made democracy. He was perfectly willing, the president said to help re-elect Republican congressional candidates who had differed with him somewhat so long as they supported the principles by which he was guiding his administration.

4 Thrill Killers

Many From Section Presented Diplomas

J. O. Tully, Jr., former Mayor of Fayetteville and a former District Governor of Carolinas Kiwanis as well as an alumnus of Campbell College advised the student body at summer school commencement at Campbell this afternoon that "There can be no doubt that we are very near in this hour to the physical ability to employ the spilt atom and allied scientific advances for the eradication of poverty and serfdom all over the world or the eradication of men all over the world."
Introduced by Leslie H. Campbell, president of the college here, Mr. Tully urged the students to place their faith in God.
"If we place God at the periphery of our personal universe," he said, "we shall see Him only occasionally, but if we place Him at the centers, we shall see through His eyes. The way you know. Shall we not walk in it?" In his address Tully charged that "I have been adversely impressed with the notion seemingly held by so many nowadays that religion may be lived one day a week and busyness or pleasure six days a week. We are all-nearly all-professing religionists and yet it is as if we believed that we could put God at some point at the periphery of our lives instead of at the center."
Those receiving diplomas today in the various branches of Campbell's educational life included: Walter S. Jones, Bule's Creek; Frances Elizabeth Matthews, Bule's Creek; Joseph Eugene Rogers, Bule's Creek; Patricia Spivey Woodworth, Erwin; Kenneth H. Barbour, Four Oaks; Frank W. Chance, Erwin; Fred R. Ennis, Coats; Thomas M. Johnson, Erwin; Gerald Ray Smith, Dunn; Julia Patsy Avery, Coats; Charlotte Jean Ferrell, Coats; Elizabeth Hudson Nordan, Benson; Mary Lou Peed, Angier; Emily Thomas, Erwin; Charles Upchurch, Four Oaks.
