IKE ASKS POWER TO DEFEND FORMOSA

ONE OF THE REASONS WHY AVA HAS A WAY WITH MEN — Beautiful Ava Gardner is shown here doing a sensuous Spanish dance in a scene from her newest hit, "The Barefoot Countessa," which has been acclaimed as one of the ten best pictures of 1954. She has come a long way from her barefoot days in Johnston County. Photos copyrighted by United Artists Studios.

AVA KNOWS SHE HAS A WAY WITH MEN

The Truth About Ava Gardner

This is the second in a series of articles on Ava Gardner, the Goddess of Love from Johnston County. Copyright 1955 by The New York Daily News.

BY JESS STEARN

It is hard to say where the siren of the screen leaves off and the actual femme fatale carries on. Ava is fully conscious of her power over the male animal, despite all the blather about her naivete and her being a "crazy-mixed-up hillbilly."

By virtue of an impish sense of humor, which has been known to appreciate a joke at the owner's expense. Ava sometimes turns her animal magnetism off and on for practice—and laughs.

"One evening," a friend recalls, "we were sitting together in a cafe when Ava looked up and spotted these two young men watching her and giggling to themselves. Ava glanced over at their table and I could see her lips droop in the suggestion of a smile as she gave them that downer look with those green eyes of hers.

"The boys just flipped. They got flustered, looked at each other helplessly and gulped. I thought they were going to fly. They were so up in the air.

"One look from Ava and they weren't sure what they were any more."

DUNN OUGHT NOT TO NEGLECT YOUNG WOMEN

Libby Raynor's papa, R. R. (Railroad) Raynor, gave her a new Plymouth convertible as a going-away present. . . The pretty Dunn girl is going to Chicago to manage the horse stables of a rich Chicago matron. . . We had a fatherly talk with Lib and suggested that she latch on to one of those rich guys out there, and she should have no trouble doing it. She liked the idea. . . Dunn furniture men who have already attended the High Point show (others are going this week) report the new styles are dazzling. . . Dunn Girl To Run Famous Stables

Miss Libby Raynor of Dunn has accepted a position as manager of Mrs. John Kern Ott's famous Arabian Horse Stables in Chicago, and will leave this week to begin her new duties.

The Dunn girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Raynor, has been studying horsemanship for several years and she and her horses have won numerous awards in shows.

In addition to managing Mrs. Ott's stables, she will teach horsemanship at Idleton Hunt Club at Hensdale, one of the exclusive suburbs of Chicago.

Mrs. Ott is the wife of John Kern Ott, president of Acme Steel Co. Last year, Mrs. Ott's horses were entered in the Olympic races and Miss Raynor will probably ride one of the horses in the Olympics this year. She is the mother of Jane (Continued on Page 8)

Child Bride Has A Baby At Age 13

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Mrs. Helen Anita Schneider, who at 12 probably was one of the nation's youngest brides, now may make that claim to motherhood.

The girl, now just 13, gave birth Friday to a 7-pound, 12-ounce baby daughter. She says, "I feel wonderful."

Mrs. Schneider left the seventh grade at Howard Junior High School here last April to marry Ray Schneider, 21, a construction worker.

But youthful marriages and motherhood is nothing new in her family. Helen's mother, Mrs. Beverly Holley, is only 28.

Mother Of Dunn Woman Is Dead

Mrs. L. E. Gable of Iva, S. C., Route 2, mother of Mrs. J. W. Lineberger of Dunn, died Sunday night at her home. She had been ill for sometime.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Shiloh Church in Anderson, S. C. Burial will be in the Silver Brook Cemetery in Anderson.

Says He Would Use Troops If Necessary

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today asked Congress for specific authority to use United States armed forces "if necessary" to defend Formosa and the nearby Pescadores Islands against the threat of Red Chinese attack.

The President said that as commander-in-chief he has the authority for some of the actions which might be required, but that he wants a congressional resolution to provide clear and public authority for the prompt employment of the armed forces if in his judgement it becomes necessary.

The chief executive did not spell out the precise measures he might take. But he said the United States must be prepared to fight should the Chinese Communist forces obviously undertake a move threatening to overrun Formosa.

He said his request was based on "a series of provocative political and military actions" by Communist China with the announced aim of capturing Formosa.

He said the situation had become sufficiently critical to require planning by this country "without awaiting action by the United Nations."

Therefore, he asked Congress "to participate now, by specific resolution, in measures" which "would contemplate the use of the armed forces of the United States if necessary to assure the security of Formosa and the Pescadores."

He said the United States must be ready to assist the withdrawal (Continued on Page Eight)

Naylor Rites To Be Tuesday

Funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jernigan on West Cumberland Street. The Rev. Ernest P. Russell, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will officiate.

Mrs. Penny Naylor, 79, one of Dunn's oldest and best known citizens, died Sunday morning at 7:30 o'clock at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Mack M. Jernigan, in Dunn.

She had been in ill health for some time but seriously ill for only a few hours. (Continued on Page Two)

Cooke Dies After 380 Transfusions

DURHAM, N. C. (AP) — "Bleeder" William Cooke, who received a record number of blood transfusions in a fight to halt his steady loss of blood, died today.

Cooke, who began bleeding after a tooth extraction Jan. 6, died at 11:10 a. m. at Duke Hospital. He suffered from hemophilia.

Cooke is a brother of Carl Cooke of Coats, Route 1, and his grandmother resides in Erwin.

Cooke, 31, a Four Oaks, N. C., radio repairman, had "taken a very decided turn for the worse" yesterday, doctors said. A hospital spokesman last night said his condition was "very poor."

Boards Hold Joint Meeting

A $2,000,000 school bond election for Harnett County appeared certain today following a joint meeting of the county board of education with members of the county board of commissioners and leaders of the various school districts of the county.

Members of the county board of commissioners assured members of the board of education that they would approve their request for a bond election on the issue and the action will probably be taken at the next meeting of the two boards.

Selling Is Stressed

Stressing the important place of selling in the American economy, and the American way of life, Fred A. Palmer told more than 200 people at Dunn's annual Chamber of Commerce banquet Friday night that the future of Dunn's growth and progress depends almost entirely on how well its citizens sell the town.

Palmer, nationally-known sales consultant of Columbus, Ohio, urged members of the chamber to resell Dunn to themselves and to everyone else in the community.

"Such a community sales job," he said, "would give the Town of Dunn to meet increasing competition between cities. A good selling job will help people to realize the fine opportunities the city has given them. . . and the fine traditions and history of the community."

Mr. Palmer, who travels 25,000 miles a year teaching salesmen how to sell, was the principal speaker at Dunn's banquet. He was introduced by A. Lincoln Faulk, who secured him for the event.

Palmer spoke for more than an hour, but he held his audience all (Continued on Page 8)

REFUSES TO EAT, THROWS FOOD, TEARS UP JAIL

Sanity Hearing Is Being Debated For Linzo Hinson

Harnett officials today considered requesting a sanity hearing for Linzo Hinson, 41-year-old Dunn man held in the county jail on multiple charges, including first degree burglary.

He was captured last week end during a wild spree in which he allegedly broke into the home of a girl friend, fired shotgun blasts into the home of her father, and threatened to kill Sheriff Claude R. Moore and two of his deputies.

County Jailor Lee Upchurch said today that Hinson, a Dunn restaurant employee, was trying to prove himself to be "a tough customer" in the county jail.

At first, Hinson refused to eat and threw a plate of food back through the bars into the face of a Negro jail aide.

He also succeeded in tearing the plumbing out of one jail cell before being moved into another.

"I'm going to be as hateful and as mean as I can in jail," he was quoted by Jailor Upchurch as boasting.

ACTING CRAZY

He said he overheard Upchurch telling another prisoner, "I'm going to act like I'm crazy because they won't kill a crazy man."

Rural Policeman Clarence Moore, who walked right up on Hinson and took him into custody in the face of a cocked shotgun, said Hinson boasted to him that he had once served 120 days in the State Hospital "because I played off crazy to keep from going to jail."
