

Dunn's City Wide GREATER BARGAIN DAYS

Dunn's Greatest Sales Event Opens Thursday

WEATHER

Partly cloudy and warmer with high 47 to 55 today. Tomorrow mostly fair and mild.

The Daily Record

Box Holder
Patron, R.F.D.
Sample Copy

VOLUME 5 TELEPHONES 3117-3118 DUNN, N. C., WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON, FEBRUARY 16, 1955 FIVE CENTS PER COPY NO. 52

LILLINGTON FINER CAROLINA WINNER

WILL BE FREE DURING BARGAIN DAYS — Charles Stainback is shown here getting a hair tonic from M. J. Nordan at Central Barber Shop in Dunn this morning after a haircut. But Charles was one day too early. If he had waited until the opening of Bargain Days tomorrow, the tonic would have been free. Central Barber Shop is offering a free tonic with every haircut Thursday, Friday and Saturday as a feature of Dunn's city-wide bargain day event. So here's your chance to look sharp and smell sweet — all for free! Mr. Stainback is a linotype operator for The Daily Record.

Sandra Taylor Found In Fayetteville; Did Not Want To Return

Sixteen-year-old Sandra Taylor of Dunn, mysteriously missing since Sunday afternoon, was found this afternoon, at 3:15 o'clock roaming the streets of Fayetteville and later today was returned to her home against her wishes.

Police Captain J. E. Melvin said the popular tenth-grade Dunn High student told him emphatically she did not want to return to her home here.

As newsmen talked with Captain Melvin by telephone, the blonde-haired girl sat across from his desk sobbing in a loud voice.

Earlier, she refused to talk with her parents by phone and also refused to talk with a Daily Record reporter.

"I'm not talking to anybody," she told Captain Melvin, who said he had difficulty getting information from her.

Captain Melvin said two city policemen picked up the girl in a matter of minutes after receiving a call from a Fayetteville resident who recognized her from her picture, which appeared in this morning's issue of The News and Observer.

Captain Melvin said the girl was with two waitresses who work in a Fayetteville bar at the time. Their

(Continued on Page Three)

County Seat Made Many Improvements

By LOIS BYRD
Record Staff Writer

Lillington citizens, proud of winning honorable mention in the Finer Carolina Contest of 1954, today set their sights on new honors for 1955.

While many professed disappointment that Lillington failed to win one of the more substantial cash prizes everyone was quick to point out that the contest had left Lillington finer in every way.

Everywhere there were words of praise for J. H. Blackmon, chairman of the Finer Carolina steering committee, who supervised the participation of the county seat in the Carolina Power and Light Company's contest of civic improvement in the two Carolinas. Blackmon is the long time teacher of vocational agriculture in the Lillington school.

Blackmon, in turn cited "wonderful cooperation between all groups" as the most worthwhile thing to come out of the year's hard endeavors. "It just showed us what we can do," said the chairman who started the year with hauling dirt to the school grounds and ended it in bed following a successful lung surgery.

BLACKMON THRILLED

"The thrill of working with many people with whom I had never before worked was something I shall always remember," said Blackmon. The chairman also praised the skillful way in which his vice-chairman Dr. David Huffines, Jr. concluded the year's program and "brought the rough edges together" when Blackmon was ordered to Oteen for a lung operation.

"Oh if the judges had only come and seen," was the comment most frequently heard on the streets as the news of the honorable mention spread. "Seeing is believing" they added, pointing out that the pictorial record on which all towns were judged, failed to give a proper idea of the type of accomplishments Lillington had to its credit. They particularly cited the wooded, and difficult terrain of the Community Center landscaping project, and the unusual terracing necessary at the school grounds where landscaping presented a bigger problem than any picture could show.

Specifically, Lillington had five general projects. They were:

1. Landscaping and beautification of town approaches.
2. Improvement of recreational and cultural facilities;
3. Municipal improvements;
4. Improvement of public buildings and grounds;
5. Recruitment of new industry.

Under the beautification project highlight was the transformation of the school grounds. An eroded

(Continued On Page Two)

HEADED PROGRAM — John H. Blackmon, vocational agriculture teacher in the Lillington school, directed the year-long campaign of civic improvement in the Harnett county seat which won for Lillington honorable mention in the Finer Carolina Contest. Winners are announced today by the Carolina Power and Light Company, sponsors of the contest in North and South Carolina. (Daily Record Photo.)

Rubinstein's Slayers Named To Cops

NEW YORK (AP) — Authorities said today a chauffeur who once planned to kidnap Serge Rubinstein had given them the names of the persons who killed the millionaire draft-dodger in his Fifth Avenue mansion Jan. 27.

The disclosure that police knew the men who choked Rubinstein to death was made by Asst. Dist. Atty. Alexander Herman who appeared in general sessions court to ask that the chauffeur, Herman Scholz, 40, be held in high bail as a material witness.

"We were told by Scholz the names of members of the underworld who committed the murder," Herman told Judge Jonah Goldstein.

FEARS FOR LIFE

Herman said he feared for the life of the short, emaciated car-or-hire driver in whose home police found surgical tape and venetian blind cord similar to that used to gag and bind Rubinstein.

Judge Goldstein set bail at $25,000.

Herman, in charge of the district attorney's homicide squad, gave no further details of Scholz' disclosures and named no names.

KIDNAPING PLANNED

"Have you anything to say," the judge asked.

"I didn't have anything to do with the man's slaying," Scholz replied, "but I do admit I had ideas of kidnaping him."

Herman said Scholz and a confederate had planned to kidnap Rubinstein in 1953 but the plot fell through. Later according to Herman, the chauffeur conveyed his idea to "members of the underworld" who attempted to abduct the millionaire but bungled it when they killed him.

Scholz was picked up at his

(Continued on Page Two)

One Killed, Two Others Hurt

These Little Things

By HOOVER ADAMS

One Ft. Bragg soldier was killed instantly and two others injured Tuesday around 11:40 p.m. when a car travelling South hit "Dead Man's Curve" on highway 87 at a high rate of speed tossing the three occupants out on a lonely road in Western Harnett.

Assistant Harnett Coroner Ed Black, Jr. of Dunn today was conducting an investigation into the fatality, the third this year for Harnett.

Mr. Black expressed belief that it would not be necessary to conduct an inquest, but said a final decision would be reached after the investigation is completed.

Patrolman Paul Lucas identified the dead soldier as Pfc. Douglas R. Curry, 21, of '03 MP Battalion. Cpl. Marvin D. Kendrick, 25, was critically injured and Pfc. Harry W. McCarthy, 21, suffered lesser injuries. Both were attached to the 503 MP Battalion.

The patrolman said that the

(Continued On Page Four)

Bosom Is Not Vanishing; Just Shifts

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — Curvaceous Corrine Gustafson looked down at her "pushed up" bosom and observed "the American woman will like the new look in bathing suits."

A crowd of wide-eyed photographers and male cabana patrons looked up and indicated the American man will like it too. Swimsuit manufacturer Fred Cole of Los Angeles watched the reaction to the latest in beachwear and beamed.

"The bosom is not disappearing from the American scene," Cole explained. "It's just changing its location."

NO PADDING

Cole pointed out that the bust is being molded so that it is one or two inches higher on the body, thus eliminating the need for "falsies" and the possibility that the lady may leave her swimming pool and leave something behind.

"When the bust is pushed into smaller space," said Cole, "it looks as if there is more of it, so

(Continued On Page Two)

Dunn Church Plan Missionary Event

Four widely-known missionaries will be among the speakers at the annual Missionary Convention of the Glad Tidings Assembly of God Church in Dunn Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

The program for the three-day event was announced today by the Rev. Robert Palmer, pastor of the local church, who is in charge of the arrangements.

Principal speakers at the convention will be the Rev. Alfred Cawston, former missionary in India and Ceylon and the Rev. E. L.

Phillips, former missionary to Africa and now Field Secretary for Africa of the Foreign Missions Department of the Assemblies of God.

Services will be held Friday and Saturday nights at 7:30 o'clock, Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, Sunday afternoon at 2:45 o'clock and

(Continued On Page Four)

Religious Rally Set For Tonight

A large crowd is expected at the First Baptist Church here tonight for a Religious Liberty Rally sponsored by the Dunn Ministerial Association.

Principal speaker at the meeting will be Dr. Glenn L. Archer of Washington, D. C., executive director of Protestants and Other Americans United For The Separation of Church and State.

The Rev. Ernest P. Russell, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will preside over the meeting. An organ prelude will be given by Mrs. C. C. Upchurch and Mr. Russell will give the Invocation.

Rev. J. W. Lineberger, president of the ministerial association, will extend the welcome and Rev. E. C. Keller will read the Scripture. Prayer will be offered by Rev. R. D. Palmer.

Mr. Russell will introduce the speaker, who recently returned

(Continued On Page Four)

DR. ARCHER

Farm Bureau Mapping Plans

Harnett County Farm Bureau leaders, holding a dinner meeting last night at Rachel's Diner in Lillington, voted to organize hereafter on a community basis.

Paul Shackelford, field representative for the State Farm Bureau, cited success attained by small groups, rather than one unwieldy county group. Johnsonville Farm Bureau at present is the county's only community unit and by far the most successful. This same pattern organization will be followed in other places.

Shackelford brought the leaders up-to-date on legislation affecting tobacco and cotton farmers now

(Continued on Page Two)

+ Record Roundup +

BOARD TO MEET — Dunn's city council will meet Thursday night at 7 o'clock. One item coming before the board will be the appointment of three members to the city recreation commissions. Terms of three members, Wayne Justesen, Grover Henderson and Mrs. Paul White, have expired.

FFA BANQUET — Dunn Future Farmers of America will hold their annual banquet Thursday night, Feb. 24, at 7:30 o'clock in the Dunn High Cafeteria, Jeff

Denny, vocational agriculture teacher, said today. An outstanding program is being planned and the FFA Sweetheart of '55 will be crowned.

STUDY FARM CREDIT — John W. Spears, Lillington banker, and C. R. Ammons, county agent, attended a state wide conference on farm credit held on Tuesday in Raleigh. The two day meeting was sponsored by the N. C. Bankers Association and the State Extension

(Continued On Page Four)

Investors Name Officers

Emmett C. Aldredge, Dunn business man and president of the Chamber of Commerce, was elected president of Dunn Investors, Inc. last night at an organizational meeting of the non-profit corporation formed for the purpose of erecting a $150,000 building to house the enlarged plant of Benjamin and Johns, Inc.

Thirty-three prominent Dunn business and civic leaders attended the dinner meeting, held at Johnson's Restaurant. As president of the chamber, sponsoring organization, Aldredge opened the meeting and later turned it over to Earl H. Mahone, who presided.

Aldredge said it was the most enthusiastic industrial meeting in the history of the town. All of those present subscribed stock in the new building, although the total amount now subscribed was not disclosed.

(Continued On Page Four)

EMMETT ALDREDGE

JOHNNIE FURDIE

Citizens Honored At Anderson Creek

Anderson Creek Community, choosing its first Man and Woman of the Year, selected for this honor a busy rural Baptist minister and an outstanding homemaker.

The Rev. Herman Moore of Spring Lake, Route 1, pastor of Layton's Chapel, Bethel, Pleasant Plains and Merry Oaks Baptist Churches was the Man of the Year.

Mrs. James M. McArtan, of Linden, Route 1, mother of seven children, and church and club leader, was announced as the Woman of the Year.

These citations, first in the history of the Anderson Creek Community, were announced by Joe Hawley, president of the Anderson Creek Ruritan Club, sponsors of the contest. Nominations for this honor were made by a committee headed by Malcolm Shaw and composed of L. H. Koon, James Flowers, Coyte Saunders and Edmund Bain. Final selection was made by the club, which has 22 members and one on leave.

NAVY VETERAN

The Anderson Creek Man of the Year was born Oct. 22, 1925 at Clayton in Johnston County and attended grade and high school in that town. He served in the U. S. Navy during World War II and was stationed in Maryland, New York and California in addition to two years in the Pacific fleet.

On his discharge from the Navy Moore studied business administration at Campbell College and King's Business College, and ac-

(Continued On Page Four)