TAIPEI, Formosa (P) — Nationalist warplanes bombed Chinese Communist invasion concentrations in the T'ai-shan Islands incessantly today.

WASHINGTON (P) — The Democratic-controlled Congress signaled the start of an income tax-cutting drive today in the face of administration opposition and angry Republican cries of "politics."

BANGKOK, Thailand (P) — Representatives of the eight SEATO nations converged on Bangkok today for a collective security meeting to halt Communist aggression in Southeast Asia.

LONDON (P) — Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., chief American delegate to the United Nations, arrived here today to align Anglo-American disarmament policy against a new Russian propaganda drive.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (P) — A 15 man team battled subzero weather today in the grim task of removing the bodies of 16 persons from the wreckage of an airliner which plowed into a rocky crag 15 miles east of here Saturday.

LONDON (P) — Moscow radio said today that Soviet scientists plan to harvest several crops a year from farms heated by atomic energy.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (P) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon recommends that the Eisenhower administration junk the Foreign Operations Administration, informed sources said today.

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (P) — H. G. Stearns was arrested for drunken driving Sunday when he stopped for a traffic light. A traffic cop on duty became suspicious when Stearns brought his car to a stop for a green light.

PARIS (P) — Premier-designate Edgar Faure, 46, turned today to the Socialists for support before making a formal decision on whether to try to form a cabinet and end France's 17-day-old government crisis.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (P) — Phil Walters of West Palm Beach, Fla., claimed a new national sports car speed record today after barreling his sleek British Jaguar over the measured mile at an average of 164.136 miles an hour.

FT. BRAGG, N. C. (P) — The Army called more witnesses here today to bolster its charges that M-Sgt. William H. Olson collaborated with the Chinese Communists while a prisoner in Korea. Witnesses already have told the eight-officer court that Olson wrote anti-American, pro-Communist articles for a prison camp newspaper and made propaganda speeches for the Chinese.

SAN FRANCISCO (P) — Two sailors were killed, three others were missing and presumed dead and four were seriously injured when a series of explosions rocked the submarine USS Pomodon at its berth in Hunters Point naval shipyard, the Navy reported today.

LAS VEGAS (P) — The Atomic Energy Commission today prepared a substitute nuclear device in case unsatisfactory weather forces another cancellation of the first big shot of the 1955 A-bomb test series scheduled for Tuesday.

WASHINGTON (P) — A "cobalt bomb" might kill all life on earth, Civil Defense Administrator Val Peterson said last night. Military authorities have said such a bomb would be too deadly for anyone even to consider making.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (P) — Defense attorneys today sought to break the most "vital" testimony given in the murder trial of former Chief Deputy Sheriff Albert Fuller, accused slayer of Atty. Gen. nominee Albert L. Patterson. The explosive testimony of taxi driver James R. Taylor, of Columbus, Ga., set the stage for an all-out contest today between Roderick Beddow, colorful defense attorney, and chief prosecutor Cecil Deason.

WASHINGTON (P) — Sen. Spessard L. Holland (D-Fla.) said today he hopes a Senate Agriculture subcommittee can learn why farm exports have dropped off so much more than industrial exports in recent years.

PITTSBURGH (P) — A high-speed freight train en route from Columbus, Ohio, to New York derailed today in the yards of the Pennsylvania Railroad, sending 39 of the 69 cars hurtling across the right of way. No one was hurt.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (P) — Jonathan Daniels, editor of the Raleigh News and Observer, and John B. Oakes, member of the New York Times editorial board, have accepted appointment to the 1955 committee for selection of Nieman fellows.

ROME (P) — Italian search planes today reported they have found and identified the missing Belgian Sabena airliner which crashed eight days ago with 29 persons, including four Americans, aboard.

Wife Slayer

(Continued From Page One) man had been drinking and had threatened to kill his wife. She said she did not take the threat seriously since he had made similar threats off and on for the past 10 years when he was drinking. DAUGHTER TESTIFIES Blackman's youngest daughter, six-year-old Nellie Rose Blackman, sat in her grandmother's lap as she told of witnessing the slaying. The child wept on the stand and replied "yes" to almost every question asked her by lawyers on both sides.

When District Solicitor Hooks asked the child to tell what she saw, the little girl said, "Daddy shot Mommy." Defense Attorney Levinson asked the little girl if her father wasn't

Little Things

(Continued From Page One) day today are Billy Roberson, Kack Butt, Mrs. J. H. Raynor, Meredith Cromartie, Betsy Johnson and John Williams. Four who celebrated birthdays Friday (they were phoned in too late for publication Friday) were: Mrs. Florence McLamb of Dunn, who was 90 years young; Mrs. T. E. Spence and Margie Lockamy. Mrs. McLamb, a wonderful young woman, is the mother of Clarence, Bill and Mince McLamb.

LITTLE NOTES: Manager Ed Carroll of the Dunn Chamber of Commerce is an honorary Colonel in the Mt. Olive National Guard unit. They honored him with that rank for his efforts in securing the unit for that town. In case you have forgotten, tomorrow is a bank holiday. It's George Washington's birthday. Janet Signor says she'd about as soon not have a holiday because she'll have to work harder at home than she would at the bank. Mrs. Beulah Graham reports the Mexican Boys' Choir program at Raleigh last week was wonderful. Thad Pope says he likes New York, had rather spend his vacations there than anywhere else. Nothing is dearer than talk about Dunn's forthcoming city election — in fact, there isn't any talk. Nobody even mentions it. Everybody just takes for granted that Mayor Ralph E. Hanna can have at least one or two more terms merely by tossing his hat into the ring. One of His Honor's old opponents surprised a friend the other day by declaring: "I'm going to be for Ralph this year no matter who might run against him." The friend almost fell off the stool and spilled his Coke. "When did you get that way?" he asked. "It's like this," explained the mayor's good friend but old political opponent: "As the old saying goes, when you can't beat the other crowd you might as well join 'em, so I've joined." In making in her subscription to The Daily Record, Mrs. Harold Godwin of Wade Route 1 writes us: "I am ordering your fine paper for a year. I read my mother-in-law's paper occasionally and like it better than any paper I read." Bless her heart! We always knew that advertising in The Record gets results, but, we think, a new record has just been set. A fellow phoned us Saturday to say that he received a total of 130 replies — that's right 130 replies — to a classified ad he ran just twice in The Record. We'll be happy to give you the advertiser's name on request, if you want to verify it.

THINGAMAJIGS: Howard Lee has been fussing with us for about two months now. He wrote in this column that Mrs. T. H. Sapsom is one of the best cooks in town, which she is. Howard misread the statement and thought it said she was "the best cook in town." "It ain't so, it ain't so," sputtered Howard. "You know better'n that. You ought not to put stuff like that in the paper." We thought for a minute he wanted to start a fist fight because he was in dead earnest. "Well who is the best?" we asked. "My wife — Mrs. Juanita Westbrook Lee — is the best cook in town and there ain't no question about it, and there ain't no doubt about it," Howard almost shouted. "And you tell 'em I said so, too." To prove it, Howard who is skinny everywhere else pulled up his vest and patted a stomach that is beginning to resemble a certain type of old-fashioned stove. We aren't going to be foolish enough to get into any argument as to who's the best cook in town but we recall eating about a dozen of Juanita's hot biscuits a year or so ago and they were so good we've never forgotten them. Jimmy Suggs is getting ready for the grand opening of The Suggs Company, Dunn's newest furniture store. It's located across the street from the Post Office beside Cad's. Jimmy worked for a big furniture store in Baltimore. He'll have Hotpoint and many more famous lines of furniture. Most merchants agree that Bargain Days were very successful. Larry Baird says more people visited Pure Food Store Saturday morning than during any half day since he opened eight years ago. After hearing Major George Pope McKay's address on the situation in the Far East Friday night at the Rotary meeting, Roy Tew turned around to Dennis Strickland and said, "Well we might as well get ready to reenlist." Major McKay delivered a mighty fine address and gave some startling, interesting and enlightening facts about conditions over there. Local restaurants were filled Saturday night after the tourney closed at Campbell. And fans of the winning Camels were plenty happy.

handing her mother the gun when the weapon fired and she replied, "Yes."

A Negro neighbor, Chesloe Dove, testified that he heard the gun fire. He said Blackman ran away from the house shouting for help and saying he had shot his wife accidentally.

Junius Barbour, Mr. and Mrs. Ham Johnson, Jimmy West, Joe Allen and J. M. Roberts all testified that Blackman was a man of good character except for drinking.

Jealous Lover

Mrs. Cone was employed as a secretary for the Branchard-Hamilton Corp., a woodworks plant in Chattanooga.

Mrs. Warren's 19-year old daughter, Marilyn, who lived at another address, told detectives that Treadaway was insanely jealous of her mother and had previously threatened her. Detective W. D. Brownling quoted the girl as saying Treadaway called Mrs. Warren yesterday morning to tell her he was "coming out to the house" and warned her "those other people better not be there."

Police Capt. E. O. Mullen said records showed Treadaway was arrested at Mrs. Warren's home last Nov. 27 on a charge of assaulting an Army officer who was reported visiting at the time. Treadaway was fined $105 and released.

Mrs. Cone, partly incoherent, said she was in bed when Treadaway burst into the room with the pistol in his hand.

"I was standing up and he shot me. He was determined I wasn't going to get away. I started running after he shot me and then he hit me on the head with the pistol," she said.

She said she must have been unconscious for more than an hour before she came to and rushed next door to the home of J. M. Werbin, a retired rabbi, who called police.

Grady Hospital doctors who were among the first to arrive said the bodies of Treadaway, Booth and Mrs. Warren were in one bedroom with twin beds. Unfired 22 bullets and empty shells littered the floor said the doctors.

The body of Lane was found near the door, just inside the adjoining bedroom. Doctors said the body was in a crouched position, "as if praying," and a bullet hole was in the back of his head. He was fully clothed except for his shoes.

The body of Mrs. Warren, clad in a black negligee, was half off and half on the twin bed nearest the bedroom door. Booth, fully clothed and wearing a topcoat, died in a pool of blood at the foot of the bed from a bullet wound in the face.

Treadaway, the pistol near his hand, was sprawled dying nearby, an apparent self-inflicted bullet wound through the mouth. The construction man, who was divorced, died about 20 minutes after he reached the hospital.

16 Die

The motive behind the Hoover, Pa., slaughter appeared to be sex perversion, Fayette County officials said.

The house of death was discovered after Anthony Rivak, 34, staggered into a tavern and said Miller shot him when he refused to go on a "sex date."

The bodies of Miller's wife, Helen, 41, and his daughter, 17, were found in the basement buried in a coal sack. Police said the wife was killed with a hatchet Wednesday or early Thursday and the daughter 12 hours later.

Miller's body, his wrists slashed and a bullet wound in his chest, was found on a first floor bed. An unclothed young man, his head battered in by hatchet blows, lay next to him. Another unclothed young man, killed by the same weapon, was on an upstairs bed.

Allen Facing

ATU Agent Coats said the 125-gallon whiskey still was being moved when he captured the outfit and the two men.

The federal officer also reported that he found a 50-gallon copper still and three barrels of mash in another raid in Meador Town, a ship near Dunn, but this still was not in operation and no arrests were made.

42 Killed

Ten persons, including five children, spent a night in a snow-marrowed car near Ogallala, Neb., and rescue crews reached 10 motorists who sought shelter in an isolated farm home near Cheyenne, Wyo.

John Edmondson, 34, Cement, Okla., who struck out from a stalled car to seek help for three companions, was found in a ditch where he had spent more than seven hours during three-above weather. His shoes were gone and his hands and feet were completely frozen. Edmondson was in critical condition today in a Sidney, Neb., hospital.

BABY IS BORN At Scottsbluff, Neb., a snow plow saved the day as it cut out through drifts to get Mrs. Laverne Keller to a hospital. She gave birth to a baby girl.

He Died At The Hands Of An Underworld Strangler

The handsome 46-year-old international financial wizard was found bound, gagged and murdered in his swanky Fifth Avenue apartment on Jan. 27. His murder spotlighted the fabulous life he led.

This Russian immigrant was kicked out of France, but blamed it on a love affair. He came to America, made millions, was entertained at the White House the night before his marriage, dodged the draft and landed in prison.

Prison life humiliated him, but he bounced back. He loved luxury, lived in it. He was an authority on stocks and bonds the world over. The Wall Street Journal was his Bible.

He gathered pretty girls around him like neckties, kept them in luxury until he tired of them — then got another set.

But he was scorned and despised, wasn't welcome at the Stork Club, so he threatened to buy its rival 21 Club. He made enemies by the droves, ran roughshod over them and died violently.

Florabel Muir, a girl who knew him personally, tells the story of his life, his loves, his wealth, his driving ambitions in this sensational series of articles.
