A feature of the Friday night Rotary program, which is a program celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of the Rotary movement in the world, will be a reading of the history of the Dunn Rotary Club by J. Shepard Bryan, former president of the local club and past district governor of Rotary International.

The Dunn Rotary Club was started in a meeting here on July 21, 1924, by a group of eighteen community minded citizens of Dunn. Bodies Found Cut Up Into Tiny Pieces

HOUSTON, Tex. (P)—The dismembered bodies of two young boys were found in a shallow grave near here last night and the victims' mother, a five-and-dime store clerk, nonchalantly told police today that she had butchered them.

Slim, quiet-mannered Mrs. Ann Williams, a 28-year-old brunette, made the admission to Sheriff C.V. Kern after officers trailed her through the night and battered down a rooming house door at 4 a.m. to capture her.

Mrs. Williams denied killing the boys, Calvin, 9, and Conrad, 8, but she confessed carving up their small bodies with a razor blade, officers said. She was charged with murder.

Mrs. Williams told police the boys died of an overdose of a narcotic, but officers said an autopsy report showed the boys died of fractured skulls.

The dissected bodies—wrapped in layers of plastic and cotton sheeting—were found at 9:45 p.m. behind an auto repair shop run by Morris Johnson, a friend of Mrs. Williams at nearby Alga, who dug the grave.

KNIFE TOO DULL

"The children were dead when I came home from work last Wednesday," Kerns said. Mrs. Williams told them. "I was scared. I was afraid people would accuse me of not being a good mother."

"I took the children from the bed of the trailer, wrapped them in a quilt and carried them to my car. Then I took them to another apartment I have and put them both in the bathtub. It was late at night and nobody saw me as I carried them up the stairs, one at a time."

"After they had been in the bathtub three days I decided that I had to get rid of them. I tried to cut Calvin's head off with a butcher knife, but it was too dull."

Sampson Man Held For Murder

CLINTON — A Negro man, L. B. (Till) Owens, 39, of near Laurel Lake in Honeycutt township, Sampson County, is being held in the jail here on a charge of murder.

He is alleged to have shot a 21-year-old Negro man, Albert Bennett, of near Roseboro to death with a pistol about midnight Sunday at the juke joint operated by a Negro, Albert (Sergeant) Brown, one mile west of Roseboro on NC Highway 24.

Sampson Sheriff W. D. Hall and Deputy Ira Hatch were called and picked up Owens at the home of a son in the rear of Sergeant Brown's place.

Details of the affray are incomplete but it is known that the alleged murderer has been in difficulties with the law on several occasions.

The man killed Sunday had been employed as a dish washer at the Sampson Memorial hospital here for several years.

An inquest in the shooting will be held in the Sampson courthouse at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday by Coroner Coleman Carter of Garland.

Mr. Palmer said that much of this increase can be attributed to the Annual Missionary Convention which is held in February each year.

The Fifth Annual Missionary Convention was concluded this past Sunday night. During the three day event $5,366.70 was raised for Home and Foreign missionary enterprises of the Assemblies of God. Of this amount $3,667.70 was in cash. This is the largest offering ever received in a Missionary Convention at the 10-

Governor Approves Higher Ed. Board

RALEIGH (P)—Gov. Luther H. Hodges strongly endorsed today the recommendation that the Legislature create a state board of higher education to coordinate programs of the 12 state-supported colleges and universities.

The governor told a joint meeting of Senate and House committees on higher education that "in the face of the fact that college enrollment will double in the next 15 or 16 years, we must plan for the future in a coordinated fashion."

"If we don't," he said, "it is my humble opinion our state will be wasting a lot of money."

The governor assured the legislators his commission on higher education had no intention "to tie the hands of any educational institution or to make subservient the boards of trustees of the several institutions."

Says Democrats Lack Courage To Face Issue

WASHINGTON (P)—President Eisenhower today denounced the proposed Democratic $20-a-person income tax cut as the height of fiscal irresponsibility.

In a stern and sometimes fighting mood, he told his news conference that the Democrats lacked the courage to submit their proposal on its own merits. Instead, he said, they tacked it onto an administration bill to continue for one year the present corporation and sales tax rates which are scheduled to be reduced April 1.

He expressed the fear that the Democratic proposal would throw the government into more serious deficit spending, something he said would amount to the most insidious thing that could happen to a free economy.

He said the United States simply is not a responsible government. He could not have this kind of thing in a responsible government.

NO VETO THREAT

Asked whether he would veto the tax bill in its present form, the President said he would have to wait and see the exact form of the measure as it reaches him.

Repeatedly he challenged the Democrats to test their tax cut as a separate bill without proposing it as a rider on the administration measure.

But House Democratic leaders pushed ahead confidently with their plan for $20 tax cut for every taxpayer and dependent, effective next Jan. 1.

Democrats, in support of this tax-cutting plan, quoted from the President's budget message to Congress last month.

In a majority report to the House, the Ways and Means Committee pointed out that the President expressed "hope" of tax cuts next year, and said such cuts should be spread "fairly among all taxpayers in a way which will be the most effective to relieve individual tax burdens and to increase the productivity of the economy."

$72,000 Reported In Drive

Man Is Bound Over On Burglary Count

President Emmett Aldredge of Dunn Investors, Inc. reported today that $72,000 worth of stock was pledged during yesterday's drive for construction of the new plant for Benjamin and Johnes here.

A group of about 50 business and professional men working on the project fell short of their goal of $150,000, but the drive was still on today and leaders were confident the amount would be raised.

In making the announcement today, President Aldredge pointed out that reports had not yet been received from many of the workers. He also cited the fact that many citizens who have expressed a desire to purchase stock were not available yesterday and could not be contacted.

"I am naturally a little disappointed that we were not able to raise the entire amount in one day as planned," said President Aldredge, "but I still feel sure that the people of Dunn are not going to allow this splendid industry which means so much to all of us

Americans Cut In On The Queen

LONDON (P)—A London newspaper reported today that three Americans cut in on Queen Elizabeth II during a dance she attended last night at the home of American Ambassador Winthrop Aldrich.

The London Evening Standard said word "was passed that that sort of thing 'just isn't done.' Thereafter, it said, the American guests formed an 'unofficial queue' to await their turn to dance with her majesty."

The Queen and her husband the Duke of Edinburgh obviously enjoyed themselves greatly. They arrived for dinner and stayed for bacon and eggs, served at 3 a.m.

The Standard said the Queen "looked surprised, smiled and changed her partner" when one of the American guests cut in on another American who was dancing with her.

The same thing happened later in the same dance, and again in the next quickstep.

It was THE party of the London social season—such a must that prominent Americans invited made special plane trips to London.

Paper Work Costly To U. S. Taxpayers

WASHINGTON (P)—The Hoover Commission reports that it costs as much for federal paperwork today as it did to run the entire government only 24 years ago.

The commission on government reorganization said it costs the average American family of four more than $100 a year in taxes just to pay for such paperwork. Such costs are unnecessary, it said.

The commission is headed by former President Herbert Hoover. It submitted to Congress a program designed to cut down on the number of letters and directives written and filed by government officials.

The commission suggested a lot of paperwork would be eliminated if many government employees would write clearly, briefly, and to the point.

The government creates 25 billion pieces of paper each year, not counting pamphlets and periodicals, it said. This amazing output, it added, requires the employment of 750,000 federal workers and costs 4 billion dollars a year. In 1931,
