LITTLE NOTES ABOUT PEOPLE AND THINGS

A group of Dunn citizens has an appointment with Senator Robert Morgan and Representative Carson Gregory to discuss a change in Dunn's municipal election law...

A pace-setter in the grocery retailing business of America completed plans today for a spectacular opening of a $125,000 "model store" in West Cumberland Avenue, it was announced today by P. M. Bealer, Jr., Vice-President in charge of A & P's Operations in the Carolinas.

The ultra-modern, 100 percent self-service supermarket will be opened on Thursday morning at 9:30. Wednesday afternoon from 5 to 9 p. m. open house will be held, giving the public an opportunity to get a preview of the last word in modern supermarkets.

As one enters the store, the eye is quick to catch the beauty of the surroundings. On the right hand side are approximately 44 feet of produce and frozen food cases, with a beautiful blue wall above the attractive produce arrangement.

SELF-SERVICE FEATURES The store manager pointed out at the rear of the store is a 100-percent self-service meat department containing approximately 32 feet of open-style refrigerated cases, with the walls painted an attractive cameo rose.

"One of the many advantages of this new type meat department is that it makes the housewife's shopping trip a pleasure."

Open House Today At 5 O'Clock

City and chamber of commerce officials, high officials of the A & P Tea Company and other civic leaders and dignitaries will take part in formal exercises marking the opening of Dunn's new $125,000 super market in the new Quinn Shopping Center this afternoon at 5 o'clock.

The Rev. Richard Rhea Gammon, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Mayor Ralph E. Hanna, President Emmett C. Aldredge of the Chamber of Commerce and other local civic leaders will take part in the rites.

A & P OFFICIALS HERE Among company officials who will participate are: R. C. Hughes of Raleigh, A & P superintendent for Eastern Carolina and J. L. Creed of Fayetteville, district supervisor.

Pete M. Bealer of Charlotte, head of the company's extensive operations in the two Carolinas, is also expected to attend and take part in the event.

Mother Bailey Is Dead At 90

Mrs. Kittle Blevins Bailey, 90, of Dunn and Cochran, Ga., died suddenly Wednesday morning at 7 o'clock at the Dunn Hospital. She suffered a heart attack and died about two hours later.

The body will be returned to Cochran Thursday and funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Trinity Episcopal Church. Burial will be in the Cedar Hill Cemetery.

Mrs. Bailey was a native of Alabama, daughter of the late Dr. John F. Blevins and Melanie Chaudron Blevins. She moved to Cochran in 1892. She was a charter member of the Trinity Episcopal Church and was active in church affairs. She was a member of the Eastern Star and was first president of the Woman's Club of Cochran, Ga., was active in the United Daughters of the Confederacy. She was a volunteer worker for the Red Cross during both World Wars. Mrs. Bailey was known in Cochran as "Mother Bailey."

Mrs. Bailey had made her home in Dunn with Mrs. Kenneth F. Howard, her daughter, for about a year. Her husband, Thomas Lee Bailey, died in 1949.

Vaccine Endorsed By County Doctors

At a meeting of the Harnett County Medical Society on Monday, March 15, the doctors of Harnett County went on record unanimously to advise all parents of first and second grade pupils to take advantage of the free polio vaccine being offered in the near future. The vaccine will be furnished by the National Foundation For Infantile Paralysis and will be administered under the supervision of the doctors of the Harnett County Medical Society free of charge.

It is important for parents to know that vaccine can be obtained only for those children of the first and second grades whose parents sign a request for the vaccine before March 25.

There will be no free vaccine available for those who do not request it before March 25.

The doctors advise all parents to sign requests at once and call attention to the fact that when this vaccine becomes available at doctor's offices it will be quite expensive.

Pat Names More Society Playboys As Her Clients

By JACK WOLISTON NEW YORK (AP)—Pat Ward, calm and confident, returned to the witness stand today and named more of the cafe society playboys to whom she sold her favors for money, allegedly at the behest of oleo heir Minot Mickey Jelke.

Three of the names she mentioned were "Harry Odzer," "Red Major" and "Joe Gomez." She identified the last as a South American millionaire.

She testified she had relations with the three men and that her intimacies with Major and Gomez took place in the East Side apartment which she shared with Jelke. The names also included a "Mr. Auerbach," "Jack Friedman," and "Bill Harrison." She testified that she had intimate relations with all three men and that they paid her money.

JUROR REPLACED The first hour of this morning's session was taken up while attorneys for both sides discussed with the judge the report of juror Max Cohen that he was approached last night by a newspaper reporter who questioned him about a Manhattan property he owns. As a result, Cohen was dismissed and replaced by Ernest G. Wheeler, one of the two alternates.

She said she met Friedman on two dates at the Savoy Plaza Hotel, had sexual relations with him and was paid "over $100 on the second date."

The slim brunette with the wind-blown bob broke down in tears late yesterday and forced Judge Francis L. Valente to adjourn Jelke's re-trial on compulsory prostitution charges until this morning.

Miss Ward, the state's star witness, as she was at Jelke's first trial two years ago, had just testified to an affair with a man in a Savoy-Plaza Hotel suite here when the tears began to roll.

After a five-minute recess, she regained her composure somewhat. But when Asst. Dist. Anthony J. Liebler abruptly asked the extent of her intimate relations with a William Cahn, her body again shook with sobs.

Sees No Reason Why Weapons Can't Be Used

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower told his news conference today that stock market conditions on the whole seem to be very satisfactory. He counseled great caution in undertaking any step which might damage public confidence in the economy.

The chief executive said that as far as he knows, nothing in the current Senate investigation of the stock market boom has done anything to undermine confidence.

He added, however, that as a general proposition in the promotion of an expanding economy, great care should be taken to avoid doing anything that would undermine public confidence.

He said spiritedly that naturally he is concerned about any drop in the stock market, but he is equally concerned about any fall in agricultural prices or deterioration in any segment of the economy.

Other economic developments in this weekly meeting with reporters:

He said he has no fears of what automation would do to the economic life of America. He believes strongly that as work is done with fewer man-hours, man develops other needs and thus creates a market for more work.

He declined to give his attitude toward the proposed guaranteed annual wages in the automobile industry.

WOULD USE WEAPONS

President Eisenhower said he no reason why tactical atomic weapons should not be used against strictly military targets should this country become involved again in any major fighting.

The President generally echoed the prediction by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles yesterday that small tactical atomic weapons would be used by this country if the United States became involved in a major military action.

The President added under news conference questioning that it would be foolish to ignore the fact that the dangers of war are greater than they were some years ago.

The Republicans could win in 1956 with any presidential candidate worthy of the position — provided the GOP puts across a program that will benefit all Americans.

He declined to discuss his own indispensability or lack of it. He simply told his news conference that the strength of the GOP in the next election will be primarily in the Republican program for the country.

He was asked whether he agreed with Vice President Richard M. Nixon that the GOP cannot win in 1956 without the Eisenhower name on the ballot.

He smiled and said he thought the one year moratorium on questions on his political plans, which (Continued on Page 7)

Two Murder Cases, Variety Of Others Slated Next Week

Seventy-four cases, including two charging murder and eight manslaughter cases, are scheduled for trial at a one-week criminal session of Harnett Superior Court which will convene Monday morning in Lillington.

Judge Grover A. Martin of Smithfield has been assigned to preside over the term and Solicitor Jack Hooks of Kenly will prosecute the docket.

Mrs. Elizabeth Matthews, clerk of court, said today that every effort was made to put the calendar long standing cases and not to list any case for any reason trial appeared doubtful.

"We are seeking to have a truly working calendar," said the clerk. In addition to the criminal cases, one divorce suit is set for trial. Joyce Register Lucas is seeking a divorce from Willie Harrell Lucas. This case is set for Monday.

There is no likelihood that more than a small fraction of the long list of cases can be disposed of during the week. Some of the trials will involve lengthy testimony.

In one of the murder cases, Julia Williams, 65-year-old Dunn Negro woman, is charged with killing her young lover, 30-year-old Raymond McNeill. She shot him to death at the house they were occupying in Dunn on the night of February 26. The woman claims the gun went off accidentally.

In the other murder case, George Baldwin is charged with the murder of another Negro. As usual, drunken driving cases take up most of the calendar. There are 20 cases of driving drunk set for trial.

Also scheduled for trial are two cases of burglary, six cases of breaking and entering, five forgery cases, nine cases of liquor law violation, and seven cases of assault with a deadly weapon.

GRAND JURY CASES Fifteen cases will go before the grand jury the opening day. They are:

Julia Williams, murder; Mitchell Mohr and Walter Tucker, manslaughter; George Baldwin, murder; Archie Holliday and Lino Hinson, burglary; Emma Louise Evans, forgery; George T. Leach, robbery from person, etc.; Eugene Zarzynski, breaking and entering and larceny from a Dunn jewelry (Continued On Page Four)

Suggs Company To Hold Its Grand Opening On Fri., Sat.

The Suggs Company, Dunn's newest furniture and appliance store, will hold its grand opening here Friday and Saturday with a big sales event, free gifts and free prizes.

Plans for the opening were announced today by Jimmy Suggs, popular Dunn youth who returned to his hometown to go into business for himself.

The Suggs Company is located at 110 West Broad Street, across from the Post Office, in a building which has been completely remodeled and renovated for the opening.

FEATURING HOTPOINT

Featuring the big complete new line of Hotpoint appliances, The Suggs Company also offers a big selection of furniture in every price, style, fashion and class range in many different nationally-advertised lines.

In announcing plans for the opening today, Mr. Suggs said: "In opening this store, I am fulfilling a long ambition of mine to have a furniture store in my hometown.

"We have spared no effort or expense," he said, "in assembling the very finest selection of every type furniture possible and we plan to continuously add to our stock from time to time."

Mr. Suggs said he was especially pleased to have been selected as a dealer for the famous Hotpoint line, which includes appliances of every type. The store also features General Electric television and a complete line of small Gen- (Continued on Page 8)
