now stationed at Fort Bragg, is appearing in another big case... He has been named as trial counsel in the case of Warrant Officer Robert Uncheter, charged with desertion, etc. The mutiny case in which Lt. Baer appeared made one of the detective magazines this month... The Dunn officer did such a good job in that case that a civilian committee from one of the defendant's hometown in Connecticut issued a public statement praising his services... Myres (Mr. Cotton) Tighman of Dunn says he doesn't think Congress will do anything about the cotton allotment situation until too late to do any good this season... He figures it may be part of the strategy.

BIRTHDAYS: Celebrating birthdays today are J. Edgar Black, Jr., and David Snipes.

THINGAMAJIGS: The last issue of Man's magazine had a very interesting article on chiropractors and pointed out the great service rendered by the doctors of this profession... One out of every five Americans avail themselves of the services of chiropractors, and 550 insurance companies recognize chiropractic... Dunn High School seniors netted approximately $450 on the barbecue Saturday... The money will be used for their trip to Washington... Dunn and Erwin were well represented at the Horace Heidt show in Raleigh Friday night... The show was much better than the previous ones brought to Raleigh by Heidt... As expected, The Ink Spots proved the highlight... J. O. West, Billy Godwin and Derwood Godwin heard Senator Everette Dirksen in Winston-Salem Saturday night... "Without a doubt," said Billy, "he's the finest orator I ever heard in my life... He stood up there for an hour and 45 minutes without a single note and completely captivated the audience. I've never heard anything like him before." No doubt about it, that man from Illinois is a great orator... We think he's the finest, most eloquent, most fluent speaker in modern history... Judge Howard Godwin doesn't agree with the Republican Senator on his politics, of course, but agrees that he's the finest speaker in either party... We can't understand why a man with such speaking ability as Sen. Dirksen wastes his time in politics... He could name his own salary as a lecturer or after-dinner speaker... Bobbie Jean Whittenton and Joan Jerigan took a night off from courting Saturday night and went to the movies all by themselves... The two pretty little ladies dropped by The Record office afterwards... "What in the world are you doing without men?" we kidded... "Haven't been able to find any," laughed Joan, but we weren't convinced... Bobbie Jean turned down at least two dates for Saturday night... "Oh, well, didn't hurt them to miss one night out of 100... Local choirs are getting ready for their Easter programs.

MORE NOTES: The current issue of Editor and Publisher devoted a whole page to a story on how thoroughly the Jelke trial is being covered by the press... "Pat Ward sullen," Pat Ward defiant, Pat Ward weeping, Pat Ward grinning—there was no way of living in Manhattan without being bombarded by the girl the Daily News termed the $$$ Doll," says Editor and Publisher... Newspapers sent as many as four reporters each to cover the story and most of them sent one girl reporter... The testimony, lurid as it is, is being "laundered" by the press before it hits the street... Naturally some of the words spoken at the trial have to be deleted, changed or polished up... Some newspapers started out playing the story light, reports Editor and Publisher, but soon found out that the public was demanding more and coverage was intensified... The story is front page copy across the nation, and across the sea as well... Daniels, Morgaine of France-Soir said the story is front page in his Paris paper every day... Why, in a country that is supposed to be rather blasé about such things? he was asked... "Well," replied the Frenchman, "when a girl starts at 16, has a illegitimate baby, has affairs with so many men, and is paid hundreds of dollars, that's a story..." Yep, even in France... The Flora MacDonald Choral Club proved popular with the large congregation at the Presbyterian Church here yesterday morning... Some of the State dignitaries are expected tonight for the installation of Eastern Star officers here... Campbell College will be featured April 3 on the television series entitled "The College Hour" over the Chapel Hill station... The program, set for 6 p. m., will include a message from Harnett Playwright Paul Green... Incidentally, Rep. Carson Gregory is getting ready to introduce a bill to change the name of the college town from Buies Creek to Campbell, N. C... Dunn's city hall is getting a new $2,000 fireproof vault... Dallas Hudson wants to know howcum everything is so quiet in the way of city politics in Dunn... "It's tiny something got started," said Dallas.

president at the next national convention. He told the members that on the same day the U. S. Senate had voted 72 to 21 for a pay raise for postmasters. "That bill," he said, "incorporates the diligent efforts of your national executive committee." Eure was introduced by Harnett Senator Robert Morgan, brother of Mrs. Byrd, as "a man with a warm and sincere interest in his State." "People today want more attention and more service," Eure told the federal employees. "They expect it and unless service is the watchword of everyone in government, you will wake up one day and find yourselves gone and someone else therewith who render that service." Eure noted that professional associations of all kinds have grown by leaps and bounds because people have found that cooperative efforts in solving their problems brings results.

COMMENDS GROUP
"So I commend you for such an organization as this. Just as increasing demands are made on you, you are equally justified in making corresponding efforts to present your side of the picture to legislative forces. I congratulate you on having a candidate for president of your national organization and every one of you should back Tracy Moore."

upon government officials for more service have grown over the years," Eure said, "but the percentage of increase stands to gain in the future. There are no new Post Offices springing up," he said, "In fact, rumor is that many are being closed. Post Offices seem to be in the same category with colleges. When have you heard of a new college? They just have to do more with what they have. Your agency has grown larger by necessity and new duties and more demands for service are certain in the future," he predicted. The secretary of state pointed out that North Carolina now has a population of about three and a quarter million people. Every 40 years, he noted, the population of the State has doubled. If this rate continues, persons now in this room will be living when we have a State of eight million.

"And while there are no new post offices, there will be new substations and new duties. It is only fitting that you make demands for reimbursement in keeping with the calls made upon those in government service."

Characterizing government as the biggest business there is today, because it touches every life, Eure said, "We ought to nurture, support and look after our government. Our private affairs would be in sad shape if we spent as little thought on them as we do on our government."

CITES COMPLACENCE
He added that too frequently the average man never thinks of his government until he personally is affected, or when a foreign aggressor strikes.

"If we were in danger from a foreign power, our state would rise as one man to protect our way of life. But our trouble is that we do not have enough people living under the daily protection of our government who have the proper love and respect for our government."

Here the visiting speaker paused to point out that only a small percentage of the State's 90,000 boys and girls in school have any knowledge of the State flag, the meaning of the dates on the flag or the State song. "If we could inculcate respect and love for the State's song and flag, Communism would knock within and without and not get in. We are not doing enough of this type of teaching."

"At an individual in the service of your government," he concluded, "it is up to you to encourage in every dealing with the public the proper appreciation of the genuine service government plays in the lives of all of our citizens. In this way you will be doing your share to develop a keener appreciation and respect for our government."

Women of the Bunnlevel Presbyterian Church served a three-course fried chicken dinner and tables were decorated with daffodils and other spring flowers. Visitors were welcomed by the Rev. Gill Clary, pastor of the church, and the Rev. Russell Hilliard, pastor of Friendship Baptist Church, gave the invocation. Musical selections were rendered by Mrs. Russell Hilliard, vocalist, and the Twentieth Century Quartet, a girls group from Lillington.

SPECIAL GUESTS

In addition to Eure and Moore, others recognized were: Thomas B. Ashby of Mt. Airy, president of the State chapter; Jimmy Martin of Liberty, secretary of the State association; Gordon Allred of Climax, State vice president; Miss Stella Emerson of Bear Creek, new director of District Four; Miss Ada Badgett of Pilot Mountain, visitor from District Five, and Miss Theresa McDaniels of Garfield, as-matter. He said some felt that the citizens in the area set up in the town charter should be the ones to vote. He said it could also be determined by citizens residing in that township or precinct.

Another bill being planned by Gregory is one which would allow citizens of Harnett to catch horse fish in Cape Fear River in the same manner that citizens of Chatham County do.

"I don't know exactly what the difference is," said Gregory, but I want the people of Harnett to have assistant editor of The Tar Heel Postmaster, and Station Inscope, Raleigh postmaster.

Also speaking briefly were Kenneth Brown of Raleigh, new manager of Postal District No. 3, and Robert Overing of Raleigh, a postal inspector.

SECRETARY REPORTS

Secretary Martin reported that in the Seventh District, only 22 of the 92 postmasters have not paid their dues in the association. Every county except Brunswick had representatives at the meeting, one of the best attended in years. On a state level, Martin said, 817 out of 940 postmasters are members.

Ashby urged a good attendance at the State convention to be held in June at Carolina Beach. Site of the convention was moved from Fayetteville because of the illness of W. M. Shaw, the Fayetteville postmaster and convention chairman. The secretary was asked to send greetings to Mr. Shaw from the district expressing hope for a speedy recovery.

A telegram was read from Congressman Ertle Carlyle expressing regret at being unable to attend the Bunnlevel meeting. Dayton Smith of Kipling, county chairman and Mrs. Smith, Henry Avent, Buie's Creek postmaster, Miss Mamie Haighwood, assistant postmaster, Lillington; David Blacklock, rural carrier, and Mrs. Blacklock, and Mrs. Aurelia Byrd, clerk Bunnlevel, were the Harnett representatives attending.

the same privilege."
Rep. Gregory has introduced another bill which would enable Dunn's city council to appoint a Clerk of the Dunn Recorder's Court and also an assistant clerk of the court.

Under the present law, the city clerk is also authorized to serve as court clerk. The new bill provides for separation of the two offices. It provides that the change become effective July 1.

Gregory's bill would give the clerk and assistant court clerk the same power and authority as the Superior Court Clerk has over the higher court.

Another bill introduced by Gregory raises the pay of jurors from $5 to $8 a day.

Gregory said he had made arrangements for appointment of Bill Bryan, Jr., of Dunn, son of City Councilman and Mrs. W. M. Bryan as a page in the House. Young Bryan is scheduled to begin his new duties on April 4.
