

BULLETINS

BUENOS AIRES (P) — Santiago Luis Cardinal Copel, primate of the Roman Catholic Church in Argentina, urged all Catholics today to heed President Juan D. Peron's plea for peace and harmony. Archbishop ordered that a pastoral be read at all Masses in all Roman Catholic churches Sunday signifying support of Peron's plea.

TAIPEI, Formosa (P) — Two Nationalist F86 Sabrejets rammed each other and crashed on a training flight early this week, informed sources said today. Both pilots were killed.

TEHRAN, Iran (P) — Russia objected officially today to a radio program which depicted life in an unspecified Communist country.

WASHINGTON (P) — The Senate opened debate today on a two-year extension of the Defense Production Act which provides for allocations and priorities of defense materials.

Little Things

proposed an appropriation of $4,000 in the new budget to set up a modern system at the city hall. Mr. and Mrs. Billy Godwin had planned to get up at four o'clock yesterday morning to leave on a vacation to Florida, but when the hour rolled around Billy was surveying the fire damage done to Godwin Building Supply Company. A tough break and the kids who had been looking forward to their Florida vacation were badly disappointed. Last Friday morning, Mrs. A. W. Blanchard went out on her front porch to get the morning mail and found a post card from some friends in Texas advising her that they would arrive soon for a visit. She walked back into the house reading the card and bumped right smack into the Texas unloading their baggage at the back door. That was a little sooner than she expected but Mrs. Blanchard, one of the town's most gracious hostesses, is never worried when company comes — not even by the dozen. She just puts on some extra plates. She was telling us the other night about her cruise to the Caribbean. "The nicest thing about it," she said, "was getting back home." On the next cruise that sailed, the boat on which they made the trip was hit by a whale and had to be towed into drydock for repairs.

BIRTHDAYS: Yesterday was the birthday of Nancy Galbreath and Mrs. Floyd Furr. Celebrating today are Miss Flora McQueen, Earl H. Mahone, III and Clara Cooper.

THINGAMAJIGS: Pretty Miss Caro Davis, who's getting ready for that trip down the aisle to the altar and her mother, Mrs. Jesse Davis are loyal to their hometown. They aren't going out of town to buy anything for the wedding. Red Lewis of Lewis Studio has already made the bridal pictures and they're beautiful, much better than those usually turned out by some of the big-city photographers who charge fancy fees: a local firm supplies the wedding invitations, Dunn-Rite Bakery will bake the cake and all the other purchases in connection with the wedding will be made right here in Dunn. "Dunn is my home," pointed out Jesse the other day. "I make my living in Dunn and in Dunn is where I spend my money." That's a wonderful spirit and the business people of Dunn should appreciate it. It's a pity more Dunn people don't have the same attitude. We're real proud of our next-door neighbors. Caro is a sweet, sweet gal and she'll be an elegant bride. Huckleberry Jackson, one of our old buddies, told us the other day that he has quit the watermelon business. "Brother," he said, "that's the hardest work I ever did. Hauling and selling watermelons is the hardest work anybody ever did," he added. State Representative Carson Gregory says he can't grow a beard until after tobacco is harvested because the tobacco gum clogs in the beard too badly. Incidentally, just two more inches of beard and Emile Hall is going to be sleeping outdoors with the dog and no fooling. Ruby has shed about as soon sleep with a already served final notice, says one as a man with a beard. Jerry Bryant is the newest member of the Jaycees. Henrietta Barnes and Mrs. J. B. Rouse are still busy unpacking new merchandise at the Gift Shop and report that business is unusually good. Uncle Joe Evans, well-known Dunn Negro, wants citizens to know that he's vacationing in New York this week so they won't go to the trouble of phoning him for plumbing work until he returns Monday. A Dunn firm, L. and S. Hardware Co., has moved to Fayetteville. Hugh Sills, owner, did as well with his new hardware store on Bragg Boulevard that he wanted another store in boom town. D. A. Blackmon and Fred Cain are running it for him.

MORE NOTES: Johnnie Purdie, who is letting the people of the Fayetteville section know that Purdie's, Inc. is doing furniture business in a big way out on the boulevard, pulled a unique stunt a week or so ago and it was a tremendous success. He staged "Operation 60," which was a 60-hour Maytag marathon. Johnnie and A. W. Hobgood kept the doors open and stayed on duty for 60 consecutive hours, selling Maytag washers day and night. Johnnie is doing well at Fayetteville. He's a live-wire merchant. Myres (King Cotton) Tighman says the cotton crop around here is the best he's ever seen. All the farmers are optimistic, which means the cash registers should ring merrily this fall. Fay Ridenour, the Fayetteville photographer-magician, suffered a stroke earlier this week and is in a serious condition. Fay is also a magician and has performed before a number of local civic organizations. Burke Uzzle of Dunn is a member of Fay's photographic staff. Fay was getting ready to fly to Japan with other Fayetteville representatives to welcome the boys returning to Bragg from the Pacific. The feature article in a current magazine is entitled, "What Made Pat Ward?" Wonder if somebody didn't make a mistake on that first word! A young Dunn wife, still in her early twenties, called on a local lawyer the other day to have him start divorce proceedings and took her husband along for the conference. The couple agreed on the divorce terms and walked out just as happy. But next day they returned to advise the attorney they'd made up! It took them just one night to think it over. Bob (Dodge-Plymouth) Dickey says citizens can expect a price increase of about $150 on all new automobiles this fall as the result of the hike in wages and the price of steel. So now is a good time to buy a new jalopy. Mack Barefoot, lucky rascal, caught another big fish the other afternoon. This one weighed eight pounds. Erwin Gordon says most people celebrated Independence Day on July 4th but Independence Day for him started four days earlier—that was the day Mrs. Gordon left for Kansas City. "If that Mutt wasn't so confounded hen-pecked," pointed out Erwin, "he would have talked Mrs. Butt into taking a vacation at the same time and then there would be plenty of action." We couldn't imagine what kind of action he meant so we asked him. Erwin said they would go bull-frogging at night. That's exactly what we thought they had in mind. Just wanted to hear him say it. Mutt and Erwin are old buddies, were neighbors in Miami. Mutt swears he lost his hair trying to keep up with Erwin. "If you really want to know how he lost his hair and acquired such a beautiful head of skin," interrupted Erwin, "come back down here in the kitchen and I'll tell you." That made Mutt a little sore and he threatened to wire Mrs. Gordon to come home. Erwin dashed back into the kitchen and got the meat cleaver and Mutt made rapid tracks back to Upchurch's. No dull moments around here.

USED KNIFE
He said he grabbed a kitchen knife he previously had picked up and stabbed her five times. Then the Maine - born former sailor said, he took her white lace stole and twisted it around her neck until he was sure she was dead. He said she tried to fight for her life, bit him, scratched him and screamed before she died.

Mrs. McCauley was divorced last March from Frank E. McCauley, a former Air Force major. They were the parents of three children. She was the daughter of J. Arthur Thompson, millionaire electrical contractor.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edwin Murray On Wedding Trip In Western Carolina

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edwin Murray are now on a wedding trip to Western North Carolina following their marriage Sunday, July 3 at 2 p. m. at the home of Mrs. S. J. Watkins, mother of the bride.

Mrs. Murray is the former Watkins Wood of Lillington, while the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Murray of Fuquay Springs, Route 1.

The Rev. L. O. Pinnix, Baptist minister and pastor of the bride, officiated at the double ring ceremony which had special music by Mrs. Pinnix, pianist.

The living room where the vows were exchanged was decorated in gladioli in mixed shades. For her wedding, the bride wore an afternoon dress of blue lace over tulle with white accessories. She had a white purple throat and child corsage. Her only attendant was her sister, Miss Sybil Watkins, who was attired in pink tulle and carried a Colonial nosegay of pink carnations.

Kenneth Watkins, brother of the bride, accompanied Mr. Murray as best man. Mrs. Watkins, mother of the bride, wore a rose crepe dress with a corsage of pink carnations. The mother of the bridegroom selected a navy outfit and had a corsage of red roses.

Immediately following the ceremony, an informal reception was given in the home of the bride couple for the wedding guests. Mixed fruit punch, mints, nuts, and individual bridal cakes were served.

For traveling the bride wore a tailored orlon dress of black and white floral print fashioned on Princess lines.

Mrs. Murray, who is a member of the Lillington Business and Professional Women's Club, holds a position with the Koury Manufacturing Company in Sanford. Mr. Murray is employed in Raleigh and for the present, the couple will reside at the bride's apartment in Lillington.

Wedding guests included members of the two immediate families and members of the Agnes Gentry Circle, the business women's group of the Baptist Woman's Missionary Union. The bride has been an active member of the circle for several years.

ON VISIT
Misses Sue and Betty Glasby left Wednesday with relatives for Williamston, S. C. where they will spend ten days visiting with their grandmother.

KILLED IN S. C.
Mrs. C. S. Loving recently received news of the death of Airman Second Class Maurice McConnell Bellinger, 21, who was killed in truck-car collision near Garden City, S. C. The young serviceman was the son of Mrs. George W. Bellinger of Florence, S. C., Winthrop College classmate of Mrs. Loving. He and his mother had frequently visited the Loving family in Lillington. At the time of the accident the serviceman was home on furlough from McConnell Air Force Base, Wichita, Kansas.

Harnett Has New Home Agent

Harnett County's new Home Demonstration Agent is Miss Thelma L. Hinson of Whiteville, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Seth Hinson. She is an East Carolina College graduate, receiving her Bachelor of Science Degree in home economics there. Miss Hinson taught home economics in Pink Hill for two years and before coming to Harnett was Home Demonstration Agent in Brunswick County with her office in Supply. She has had a wealth of practical experience in her line of work, as she is the oldest in a farm family of ten children. She is a born home-maker, and does not conceal her interest in all phases of her job as Home Agent. One of her favorite pastimes she reports, is making her own clothes. However she fears her new job will leave her little time for this pleasure.

Miss Hinson is living at present in the guest room of the new dormitory at Campbell College. Citizens of the county hope she will feel most welcome here in their midst.

Lillington Group Attends Funeral

Funeral services for Mrs. Susan Gentry Elliott, 84, one time resident of Harnett County, were held Wednesday afternoon from the Bethel Hill Baptist Church in Person County, near Roxboro. Mrs. Elliott died early Monday at the home of her niece, Mrs. C. E. Williams in Durham, following a critical illness of several weeks duration.

Mrs. Elliott, a former, matron of the Anderson Creek teacherage, was the sister of the late B. P. Gentry of Lillington. During the lifetime of her late husband, R. B. Elliott she made her home in Me. Kinney, Va. and on his death moved to Durham to reside with her niece. She was living in Durham during the summers when she operated the Anderson Creek teacherage.

Survivors include one brother, B. W. Gentry of Roxboro; one sister, Mrs. Williams, and three nieces, Mrs. Anna Lee Pitts of Dillon, S. C., Mrs. Mary Esther Williams Harwood of Durham, Mrs. Sara Gentry Hood of Fayetteville, and one nephew, C. E. Williams, Jr. of Durham.

Mrs. B. P. Gentry of Lillington, a sister-in-law, and the former's daughter, Mrs. Sara G. Hood of Fayetteville attended the funeral.

Karen Walker Given Award

Karen Walker valedictorian of the 1955 graduating class at Lillington High School, has been given the annual award of The Readers Digest Association, it was announced today by Roger Johnson, principal of the Lillington school.

Miss Walker will receive an honorary subscription to The Readers Digest for one year and an engraved certificate from the editors. "In recognition of past accomplishment and in anticipation of unusual achievement to come." The Readers Digest Association presents these awards yearly in senior high schools throughout the United States and Canada to the highest honor student of the graduating class. The awards recognize students who by their successful school marks give promise of attaining leadership in the community. They are designed to stimulate scholarship, citizenship and to give continued contact with good reading after graduation.

Miss Walker, who is the daughter of Mrs. J. A. Walker and the late Mr. Walker, plans to enter Wake Forest College this fall. The award was made possible through the co-operation of Mr. Johnson and his teaching staff.

Services Held For A. C. Walker

A. L. Walker, 87, of Angier, Route 2, died at the home of a daughter, Mrs. J. G. Vaughan at Nelson, Va., Monday at 7 p. m. Funeral services were held Wednesday at 4 p. m. at Oak Grove Baptist Church on Angier, Route 2, conducted by the Rev. Fulton Thomas of Stedman, Burial was in the church cemetery. Surviv-

Ray Ponders Ray Renders

County Tax Coeceptor D. P. Ray, Jr. making his final report of the fiscal year this week reported that he has 89.41 percent of the year's taxes in hand.

Collections through June 30 amounted to $633,018.58. This was $74,993.27, short of the $707,955.85 he was expected to collect to operate the county. However, it is generally recognized by governmental agencies that ten percent of all taxes are uncollectable.

Ray noted that collections were a little short of the 90 percent he would have liked to have shown, but at the same time he was 1.75 percent ahead of his record at the same month a year ago. Since February collections each month on a percentage basis have exceeded those of the same time a year ago.

June tax payments showed a new low of the year of $4,743.85. Of this amount $2,984.75 were current taxes, and $1,758.70 were delinquent. Notwithstanding, June is still the busiest month of the year for the collector's office staff. Preparations for the new fiscal year and a new set of tax books left no time to send that second or third notice to jog the memory of the forgetful tax payer.

Ray said he believed that was the reason current tax payments for June were so small.

Once the tax rate becomes official, the tax supervisor will compute the amount of taxes due and turn the books over to Ray. Notices of new taxes will be issued probably in August.

Heat Same In Hell, Paradise

OSLO (P) — Hell and Paradise had practically the same temperature today. The cities of Hell near Trondheim and Paradise near Bergen both recorded comfortable readings near 50 degrees.
