PRESIDENT OUTLINES PEACE GOALS

IT'S LEMONADE, SIR! — Three-year-old Dewey Smith of Greensboro knows just how to keep cool these hot days. He came to Dunn to visit his grandparents, took in the Whittenton family reunion on Sunday and refreshed himself with cup after cup of that cooling refreshing lemonade made by his grandfather, City Commissioner Dewey Whittenton. The cute little fellow was playing some sort of game with his proud grandpop when The Daily Record photographer caught him with this smiling expression. Like most grandchildren, he knows just how to make Grandpa do his bidding, too. Dewey's mother is Mrs. B. E. Smith, the former Miss Elizabeth Whittenton of Dunn, and he's Grandpa Dewey's namesake. GOP Making Headway With Negro Voters

WASHINGTON (AP) — The mighty Republican effort to break the Negro vote away from allegiance to the memory of FDR is beginning to make some significant political news.

Stakes are big and both sides know it. Gov. Averell Harriman of New York is among those Democrats who are determined the Republicans shall not succeed. Witness his appointment last week of a Negro to the state court.

Justice Harold A. Stevens became the first member of his race to reach that high bench. President Eisenhower topped that notable first this week by adding a Negro to his official White House family.

Everett Frederick Morrow of New Jersey was sworn Monday as an administrative officer in the President's executive office. That is the top drawer of White House service where no Negro has lodged before, not even in Roosevelt and Truman administrations, during both of which the equal rights issue was kept going at forced draft.

PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN ADVISER

Morrow came to the White House from the office of Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks. He was an adviser in Mr. Eisenhower's 1952 presidential campaign and, doubtless, will be a widely circulated speaker in the campaign of 1956. What Morrow will tell Negro voters next year will be about what he said Monday on taking the oath of office.

"This singular occasion offers eloquent testimony to the complete sincerity and faith of President Eisenhower's belief in the right of any loyal American in this land to rise as far as his ability, character and ambition will carry him."

That's good campaign stuff, just as it is. The Democratic counter-offensive to the Republican raid is hampered, of course, by those Southern partymen and women who resist the current trend toward racial equality. Mr. Eisenhower may be just as much of an equal rights man as, for example, Adlai E. Stevenson. But the President wouldn't lose much by it. (Continued on Page Five)

McKnight Rites This Morning

Funeral services were held Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock at St. James Lutheran Church in Fayetteville for Leonia E. McKnight, well-known Bule's Creek druggist. He died Sunday at his home in Bule's Creek at the age of 73.

Mr. Knight was born April 28, 1882 in Rowan County, son of the late Marcus Evander and Mary Jane Deaton McKnight.

He attended Lenoir Rhyne College in Hickory and was graduated from the Medical College of Virginia in 1907 with a Ph. B. in pharmacy. He moved to Fayetteville in 1910 where he owned and operated the Massey Hill Drug Company for many years. He served two terms as a member of the Cumberland County board of commissioners.

WIFE DIED IN 1953

He was married to Janie Geddie who died December 31, 1953. Mr. McKnight moved to Bule's Creek where he was associated in the drug business with his son, L. E. McKnight, Jr.

Hopes Meeting Will Bring World Closer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today he is going to next week's Big Four conference in the hope of bringing the world "closer to peace" and making it possible for people everywhere to live "more tranquilly."

He set forth his Geneva goals in an impromptu speech to a group of foreign exchange students shortly after he discussed the forthcoming meeting with 25 congressional leaders of both parties.

The President, in an unprecedented action, promised the congressional leaders that he will send them "frequent progress reports" from Geneva. The reports will be in the form of private cables to both Republican and Democratic leaders.

Addressing the students, the President said that at Geneva:

"We will try to explore the reasons why this world does not seem to get closer to peace and to try to find roads that, if the world follows, all of you may live a little bit more tranquilly than have the people of my generation."

NETWORK OF HATRED

"History of course has left us a rather tangled network of prejudices and hatreds and suspicions that are not easy to eradicate, and those are intensified by differences in ideologies, doctrinaire positions that seem to set men one against the other, and make it difficult for us to live like we should like to live."

Meantime, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee postponed until tomorrow action on an administration-sponsored resolution expressing hope that the Soviet satellite nations might some day be resolved by Sen. Joseph R. McCarry (R-Wis.) to break off diplomatic relations with the Communist governments of Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Poland and Rumania.

In his meeting with the legislative leaders, the President also promised to give them a private appraisal of what he thinks was accomplished at Geneva, after his return.

Quads Born To Farm Woman

BUNDABERG, Queensland, Australia (AP) — Quadruplets — two boys and two girls — were born to the wife of a local farmer in this sugar-producing area early today.

The two boys were born first to Mrs. Agnes Lucke, followed by the girls. The mother and children were reported doing very well.

The boys weighed 5 pounds 11 ounces and 6 pounds 5 1/2 ounces, and the girls 3 pounds 5 ounces and 4 pounds 11 ounces.

Swapped Mates, Separated, Loving Again

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — An agent Carlos Gastel and the wife he acquired in a "swap" of mates with bandleader Billy May were reported on a second honeymoon in Mexico City today following a reconciliation.

Attorney Bently Harris, saying the couple had reconciled, filed a withdrawal Monday of a divorce action brought by Gastel.

The agent and Mrs. Arietta May were married a year and a half ago after she divorced Max who then married the former Mrs. Gastel.

NO LITTLE LITTER—Miss Priss feels she needs an icebag atop her head as she contemplates her outsized litter of 14 pups. Four of the English boxer's youngsters are farmed out to "wet nurses" because Miss Priss ran out of faucets. The dogs are owned by Mr. and Mrs. Lane Gluba, of Rock Island, Ill.

ALLEGED BOOTLEGGER CAUGHT UNAWARES

He Wishes He Had Hired Grass Cut

Dorsey Avery, well-known bootlegger who resides in South Erwin, wishes that he had hired somebody else to cut his grass or that his wife had been home when the law came.

Harnett rural police officers have raided Avery on several occasions during recent months but he was always successful in getting the whiskey down the drain and destroying the evidence before.

But things were different yesterday afternoon.

When Rural Policeman Clarence Moore and Leon Smith rolled up with a search warrant, Avery was caught unawares. He was out in the yard cutting grass.

Not only that, but his wife was gone. The officers quickly grabbed him before he could dash into (Continued on Page Two)

ARMY OFFICERS UNHAPPY

Korean Girl Friends Barred From Clubs

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — Hundreds of U. S. Army officers were unhappy today over a three-star general's order to keep their Korean girl friends out of Army clubs.

Thousands of enlisted men feared they were next in line for a similar ban.

The verbal order was handed down in a staff meeting several days ago by Lt. Gen. John H. Collier, the Army's top commander in Korea.

Collier told his officers they had until the end of the month to stop bringing their Korean girls into (Continued On Page Four)

Snipes Among Top Company Agents

James W. Snipes, well-known Dunn insurance man, has just marked up several more sales-production records and also bagged an honor with the National Underwriters Association.

Although he has been in the insurance business only two and a half years, Snipes is already one of the top agents of the Pilot Life Insurance Company, which has its home offices in Greensboro.

Out of more than 700 agents, the Dunn man was among the top 30 during the past year and during the month of June ranked 11th in the entire company.

On a recent visit to the home offices in Greensboro, Mr. Snipes received the personal congratulations of Rufus White, executive vice president of the big company.

Body Of Girl Is Identified

ASHEBORO, N. C. (AP) — The body of a girl found in an abandoned farm house near here was tentatively identified today as that of 16-year-old Isabel Hussey of Robbins, N. C.

Tentative identification was made by the girl's mother who viewed the clothing. Mrs. Hussey said her daughter had been missing since June 22.

The badly decomposed body was found in a stifling second floor room of the old frame, tin-roofed farm house six miles west of here by a blackberry picker Sunday.

Authorities estimated the girl had been dead about three weeks. Robbins is a small town 25 miles southeast of Asheboro.

Dr. Sam Sheppard Loses Last Appeal

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The Court of Appeals ruled today that Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard received a fair trial and should serve the bludgeon-murder of his wife, Marilyn.

The ruling came in a 69-page decision, and was on the first half of the appeal filed by Sheppard's attorneys asking for a new trial.

The three-judge court, in today's action, turned down the appeal based on alleged judicial errors during the 10-week trial.

The second appeal, which still has not been acted upon, is based on "newly-discovered evidence" that the defense claims points to someone else's guilt.

The three-judge court is expected to rule on the second motion later this month. It rejects that motion, the 31-year-old osteopath would be taken to Ohio penitentiary to start serving his life sentence.

He would be eligible for parole after serving 10 years of the life sentence. Time toward that parole does not start until he has been admitted to the state penitentiary.

Youth Wants To Kill Gals In Revenge

CHICAGO (AP) — A 21-year-old youth who said he has "impulses to kill girls" because two of them stood him up was arrested today after threatening a young woman with a switchblade knife.

Police said the youth, Norbert Pacholaski of suburban Berwyn, accosted Delores Lothman, 17, in the suburb early today, placed a knife against her throat, and threatened to kill her.

The girl screamed and a passerby seized Pacholaski and knocked him unconscious.

Pacholaski was taken to the Berwyn police station, where he admitted the threat to Miss Lothman and also admitted accosting another 16-year-old Berwyn girl May 30. He was charged with assault with intent to kill and held under $25,000 bond.

Bible Quiz Expert Can Be Stumped

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. Catherine Kreitzer, the Bible quiz whiz who may go for $64,000 tonight, can be stumped.

I did it, without even trying. The innocent question that she couldn't answer proves that — although she has surmounted some memory ticklers — she can trip over a familiar quotation that is, one that starts out by being familiar.
