

Partly cloudy and rather warm today today and Thursday with a few afternoon thundershowers likely near the lower coast today. Highest today in the middle 80s in the mountains, 85 to 90 elsewhere.

HARNETT SCHOOL WORK IS DELAYED

DOLLY WATCHERS — Three little girls, just enrolled at Marks' kindergarten, said goodnight to their dollies at 9:25 this morning—making it quite an early bedtime. From left are Eleanor Graffin, Becky Joe Bass and LaRue Draughon. (Daily Record Photo by Ted Crail)

Civil Defense Program To Be Expanded

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Civil Defense Administration today launched an ambitious program of drafting and testing "survival" plans for use by the nation's key "target" areas in event of atomic attack.

The plans, financed by a 10 million dollar congressional appropriation, will be drawn up by local officials working with federal civil defense teams.

Although no timetable for starting the projects has been announced, Civil Defense Administrator Val Peterson has indicated New York will be one of the first cities scheduled. Milwaukee, St. Louis, Philadelphia and cities of medium size will come next. A Chicago project will be discussed within a few months, the Federal Civil Defense Administration said.

The FCDA is putting out a manual designed to help the key cities plan their survival programs. The manual, which will go to the Government Printing Office shortly, will tell how to establish a plan but not outline what the plan should be.

It will explain shelter and evacuation procedures and other matters relating to survival in an atomic attack, the agency said.

The agency said the program calls for completion of plans and testing within a year. The testing planning is begun unless an extension is granted by civil defense authorities.

The civil defense agency wants the actual plans tested within six months after they are drawn up.

The move to set up detailed evacuation and survival plans for each target area is by the most extensive ever attempted by the FCDA. Although many programs have been tested, FCDA said the project is so big it will be impossible to start all programs simultaneously in all target areas. This will be one as soon as personnel is available.

The Civil Defense Administration will schedule its "survival" planning according to concentrations of population and industry in key areas and local readiness to undertake the project.

The agency already has published a "key target" area list. Its announcement today said that in ad-

(Continued on Page Two)

LEAVE-A-PARTIS — William S. Wells, 37, of Hillsborough, N.C., leaves for a 10-day vacation to France, Rome, Italy, Geneva, London and other European cities. The man married his first wife in a sales office in New York City. Three years ago, Wells won a new Buick and a free trip to Chicago and last year won a free trip to Mexico.

Board Cancels Sale Of Big Bond Issues

The county board of commissioners has temporarily delayed action on the plan to sell a one million dollar bond issue, financing school projects in the county, on the New York bond market.

Pushing back a decision on the matter occurred late yesterday afternoon when the commissioners reconsidered a motion they had earlier passed.

County Superintendent of Schools G. T. Profit had urged that the bond sale be put in motion. The first vote on this was unanimously favorable but later in the afternoon the commissioners agreed that further study was necessary.

SHAKY MARKET

The shaky response on the New York bond market to bond issues by some other Southern communities came in for discussion. Rockingham, some towns in Florida and other places have been named as having trouble with their bond issues.

This is thought to arise from the current maneuvering surrounding the Supreme Court's decision on segregation, and the various ways in which Southern communities have indicated they will respond.

Financiers apparently reason that a widespread setting up of private schools in the South could put the bond issues in jeopardy. There has been no discussion locally of a private school investment here.

Final drawing and specifications on the school projects are now being prepared by Architect Leslie Boney in Wilmington. They are due the last of November.

Profit indicated that he believes it important to get a request for bids out early, as it will probably

(Continued on Page Six)

Jury Convicts Jackson Of Driving Drunk

Samuel Travis Jackson of Dunn today was convicted of driving drunk in Harnett Superior Court.

A jury convicted him after brief deliberation.

Jackson is also awaiting trial on two other charges of driving drunk. He had been convicted in all three cases in the lower court and appealed.

Judge Malcolm Seawell was expected to pass sentence on Jackson later today.

Farm Bureau Meet Set For Tonight

Alonzo Edwards, past president of the State Farm Bureau, will speak tonight at the annual membership drive meeting of the Harnett County Farm Bureau.

Others who will be present include James Tart, Lillington, president; D. W. Denning, Jr., Angler, vice-president; Mrs. Delmer Ennis, Coak's, Route one, president of Farm Bureau Women.

STILL UNCONSCIOUS

FLORENCE, S. C. (UP) — Donald Duckworth, 27, rookie stock car driver critically injured in a smash-up during the Southern 500-mile race at Darlington Monday, remained unconscious under an oxygen tent today with his wife and mother at his bedside.

Suspects Checked In Abortion Death Case

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — The district attorney's office today narrowed the list of possible suspects in the abortion death of heiress Doris Jean Silver Ostreicher with the revelation the girl died within two hours after administration of a crude chemical.

Dist. Atty. Samuel Dash said the pathologist who identified the abortive chemical set the time of death from one to two hours after it was injected.

Mrs. Ostreicher, the 22-year-old bride of Earl Ostreicher, a Miami Beach policeman, died Aug. 24 in the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Schwartz. The exact time of death has not been officially set but it was believed to be about

Marine May Go For $64,000 Question

NEW YORK (UP) — Capt. Richard Sherrill McCutchen, a Marine who commutes between the Halls of Montezuma and mazzuma, threw out a hint today that he might be the first contestant to go for broke on TV's "The $64,000 Question."

McCutchen, who twice flunked his Boy Scout cooking test, moved up to the $32,000 level on the CBS-TV giveaway show Tuesday night by answering a five-part quiz dealing with food and cooking. The lanky, crew-cut career officer will get a chance next week to double his stake or quit.

It was learned by this reporter that McCutchen stated on his application to the show that he "wanted the first $64,000 to be won by a Marine."

Decision Already Made

Questioned after the show, McCutchen smiled confidently and said:

"It wouldn't be fair to the producers of the show for me to tell you whether I'll go on. But let me put it this way — I know and I'm not saying."

McCutchen, assigned to naval ROTC at the University of Ohio in Columbus, will be permitted to bring an expert to the show as his aide if he decides to go for the full amount next Tuesday. One report had it that he might name his father, John McCutchen, a retired naval captain who also is an expert in the cooking field.

The question that thrust McCutchen to the $32,000 plateau dealt with desserts. He was asked

(Continued on Page Two)

Modest Fan Dancer Pickets Own Dance

LONDON — Fan dancer Frances Gayson picketed her own girls show today because her fans said her fans hid too much of Frances.

Frances, whose admirers call her Fanny, paraded in front of the "Bedtime Beauties" show at the Camberwell Palace of Varieties with a sign saying: "Strike—fan dancers have modesty, too."

SHE WALKS OUT

Frances modestly walked out on the show last night after the back-row customers complained they couldn't see enough, and the management agreed to enlighten them with a pink spotlight.

"It's bad enough dancing in the nude at all," the 23-year-old blonde picket complained, "without doing it under a whacking big searchlight."

The customer is always right. A large pink spotlight shone tonight on Frances' successor.

SOBERING ACTION

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UP)—California Gov. Goodwin J. Knight came up with a sobering thought today.

He signed an order closing all bars in the event of an atomic attack.

LITTLE LIZ

It's impossible for a man to marry the ideal woman. If there were one, she'd be looking for the ideal man.

Short Shake Jails 2; One A Policeman

NEW YORK — A Brooklyn cop and a jobless used car salesman, who allegedly tried to shake down an attractive, 22-year-old Queens divorcee for $1,000 on threats of having her 6-year-old daughter taken from her, were held on extortion charges in Queens Felony Court, Edgewood, yesterday for hearings Wednesday.

The cop, under suspension, is Patrolman Alexander Kalish, 33, of the Glenwood Road station. He was freed in $2,500 bond. His assisted partner in the shakedown, Max Desatnick, 32, of 419 New Jersey Ave., Brooklyn, was denied

(Continued on Page Two)

Buie's Creek Asks Own Fire District

Buie's Creek residents, who already own their own fire engine and some other fire-fighting equipment, requested yesterday that a special rural fire district be set up in the area so the prosperous rural community, which has no incorporated town, will have better protection from fire.

Their petition was presented to the county board of commissioners at the regular monthly meeting, which had convened one day late because of Labor Day. Berles Johnson, county tax supervisor, brought in the petition. He is a resident of that area.

The commissioners unanimously moved to consider setting up such a district, and Johnson was instructed to check the petition and see if 15 percent of the property owners are represented.

Commissioners also moved to send on to Fayetteville two petitions for roads in the Upper Little River Township. The first sand and gravel road would run from Mt. Pisgah road to the home of Mrs. John Harrington and then to Womack's crossroads—a distance of one and three tenths miles. It was given to Mrs. John Sloan, resident of the area, to present to the district highway office in Fayetteville, which can give final approval.

The other road petition—which would set up half a mile of sand and gravel road from Cool Spring to a point a half mile north of Mamers and running west to the home of E. S. Brown—was given to County Commissioner B. P. In-

(Continued on Page Eight)

This Wife Was Taking No Chances

WASHINGTON (UP) — Municipal Judge Armond W. Scott leaned over the bench and told the young housewife:

"Your husband is charged with assaulting you. You don't have to prosecute if you don't want to."

The woman thought is over and said she didn't.

"Okay, let him go," said the judge. Man and wife started up the aisle out of court. The judge mused aloud:

"Reminds me of the time I first started practicing. A wife came into court and then decided not to prosecute her husband. Next day he killed her."

The woman shot a startled look at the judge. Then she looked at her husband for a long moment.

Then she grabbed her husband's arm and hurried him out of the courtroom.

WOWED THE SPECTATORS

At any rate, June grew up to become known as Miss Texas in the Miss America Pageant, which gets under way here today. She wowed the assembled customers with a yipp-e-eye yah and a howdy to all and asunder.

You can hardly ignore the young lady from the Lone Star State. Don't be surprised if she is right up there.

Today the kids will compete in three categories — swim suit, eve-

Earl Wells New Warden Real Friend To Dogs

By TED CRAIL, Record Staff Writer

"You'd be surprised how many good dogs haven't got a place to call their own," Earl H. Wells, 37, told us, in discussing the duties he will be saddled with as he takes over as dog warden of all Harnett county.

"When I was up at Clinton I saw dogs running around that'd be worth thirty-five, forty bucks in hunting season—real blooded dogs—and they were just running around loose."

In Earl's opinion a dog needs a man almost as bad as a man needs a dog. Without a man he has nothing to bark about. He grows mean and testy—becomes a hermit.

(Continued on Page Six)

Silent Stars Were 'Just Kids', She Says

By GLORIA SWANSON, Written for UNITED PRESS

ROME (UP) — I shall never cease to wonder why most human beings make such a fuss over meeting other human beings who happen to be movie stars! It is because they have always thought of them as only shadows on the silver screens.

I personally wouldn't walk from here to there to look at a movie star, or to meet one.

Well, maybe one—Garbo. For with Garbo I should like to discuss our mutual doctor on the West Coast... and our diets. And I suppose in womanly fashion I'd discuss my wrinkles with her!

My first meeting with Garbo was when Hollywood was truly glamorous, when a party just wasn't a party unless Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford were there.

(Continued on Page Two)

Miss Texas Steals Show

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS, United Press Staff Correspondent

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (UP)—Miss Texas, June Prichard, stole the show in the annual Miss America parade Tuesday night on a borrowed horse.

The 23-year-old beauty from Seymour, Tex., brought down the house, which was considerable, adding up to 250,000, when she rode a paomino down the famed boardwalk. The white tail, she said later with a blush, was on lend-lease from a farm near Camden, N. J.

June is a specialist at straddling a pony. The 5-foot 6-inch cutie claims she was born aboard a bronc, and maybe she was. Anyhow, she grew up to be a right fine looking blonde with a bust of 37 inches, 37 hips—that's just about

(Continued on Page Six)

+ Record Roundup +

COUNCIL MEETING — Dunn's city council will hold a special meeting tonight to act on annexation of the Fleischman sub-division property into the city limits.

Dunn's planning board last night approved a street layout plan for the property. A. B. Smith, Jr., well-known Dunn insurance man, manages the property here.

REPORT DUE TOMORROW

The Harnett County grand jury will reconvene Thursday morning and is expected to make a report on its investigation into alleged mishandling of cases in the coun-

(Continued on Page Eight)