Tart's Modern Barber Shop "WE NEED YOUR HEAD IN OUR BUSINESS"

Prop. A. E. Tart Sherrill Williams

The bride, who was given in marriage by her great uncle, Dr. Charles E. Hodgins of Greensboro, chose a ballerina-length gown of antique taffeta, and Spanish lace embroidered with seed pearls. A pearl headress held her finger-tip veil of tulle, and, like her honor attendant, she carried Talisman roses.

Robert S. Arrowood Jr., brother of the bride, was the best man, and the ushers included Dr. Robert M. McMillan of Southern Pines, a cousin of the bride, Carlyle Williams, Wayne Collier, and George Elliott, all of Linden.

Mrs. Hopson is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Robert S. Arrowood of Linden. She is a graduate of the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina, and for the past two years, she has been employed by the Central Young Women's Christian Association in Baltimore, Maryland.

Mr. Hopson is the son of Mrs. Eric E. Hopson of Mill Valley, California, and the late Mr. Hopson. He is a graduate of Stanford University with a B. S. degree in geology, the University of Washington with a M. S. degree and is a candidate for a Ph. D. from John Hopkins University. He is a member of Sigma Gamma Epsilon, Sigma Xi, and Phi Beta Kappa. The couple will make their home in Baltimore where Mr. Hopson is assistant professor of geology at John Hopkins University.

A reception at the home of the bride followed the ceremony.

Rotary Club Fetes Teachers

Fifty-five Dunn schoolteachers, including ten who have not taught here before this year, were introduced to the Rotary Club on Friday evening.

Rotary held a special dinner meeting in honor of the teachers. The evening's principal speaker was Dr. Amos Abrams, editor of North Carolina Education, official magazine of the North Carolina Teachers which goes to about 25,000 of them.

President Lonnie Baldwin of Rotary made a brief welcoming speech to the teachers, who were individually introduced by A. B. Johnson, district principal of Dunn schools.

Dr. Abrams was introduced by J. Shep Bryan. Dr. Abrams lives in Raleigh.

COMES OF AGE—This informal portrait of Britain's Princess Margaret, with her pet dog, was taken by photographer Cecil Beaton in the garden of Clarence House, London, in honor of her 25th birthday. In royal circles, a princess "comes of age" when she is 25. Margaret's coming of age takes on added import because of much speculation as to her choice of a husband. At 25, she is free to marry without her father's consent, providing she gives Parliament notice of no objection is raised in Parliament.

Home-Decorating Time Is Crucial For Women

NEW YORK (P) — One of the crucial situations in a woman's life is the decorating of her home and "at no time . . . is a woman more apt to go to pieces," a psychiatrist said today.

Home-decorating also is a period of great marital turmoil, Dr. Milton R. Sapirstein, a staff psychiatrist of the Kingsbridge Veterans' Hospital here, wrote in the September issue of Harper's Magazine.

"The average husband, during the decorating period, regards his wife as a crazy woman, while she considers him an unfeeling lout," Dr. Sapirstein wrote. "There is usually more than a grain of truth in both assumptions."

Unbalancing Crises

The strain of choosing major purchases and weathering the confusion that surrounds decorating unbalances women "who have successfully weathered all the major crises," the psychiatrist said, because of underlying significance in the decorating task.

"Sooner or later every woman decorating a home has to make up her own mind and reveal what she has always tried to conceal, from her own eyes as well as others' — her inmost self," he said.

It is hardest on women with "obstinate personalities" who demand too much of themselves and are inclined to be unusually orderly and careful, the psychiatrist said. "Some such women bog down at the very beginning, putting off from week to week and month to month the necessary preliminary steps," he said. "Others start over and over. These are the woman who, in the ordinary course of affairs are constantly re-arranging the furniture sometimes even getting up in the middle of the night to try out a new grouping."

The people a woman turns to for help only make her problems worse Dr. Sapirstein said.

Paranoids with Grudges

"Among the assorted workmen she is obliged to deal with—the plasterers, painters, paperhangers, and plumbers—there is a disproportionately large number of paranoid personalities, men who seem to bear a permanent grudge against the human race," he wrote. "They do not attempt to disguise their hostility; it manifests itself in silliness, rude and intemperate language and frequently in sloppy performance. When reproved, they are likely as not to walk off the job."

Turning to a professional decorator is "jumping from the frying pan into the fire," the psychiatrist warned.

"The professional decorating field has become a happy stamping ground for misfits of all kinds, among them a large number of homosexual males and ferociously aggressive females. With few exceptions, these people are fundamentally hostile to the normal purposes of homemaking . . . their behavior is notoriously high-handed. It simplifies their operation when they can undermine any confidence the client may have in her own judgment, and they have developed skilled techniques for reducing refractory customers to a pulp of submission."
