RUSSIA CALLS END TO COLD WAR

NEW FORD IN TOWN - It was in Dunn, blue and beautiful, today. The new Ford, whose 262 horsepower Thunderbird engine was drawing onlookers and prospective buyers from off the streets for their first look, appeared slick and streamlined but still had its own highly individualized styling. It is on display at Auto Sales and Service in Dunn. That's a companion model, the Ford station wagon. (Daily Record Photo by Ted Crall.)

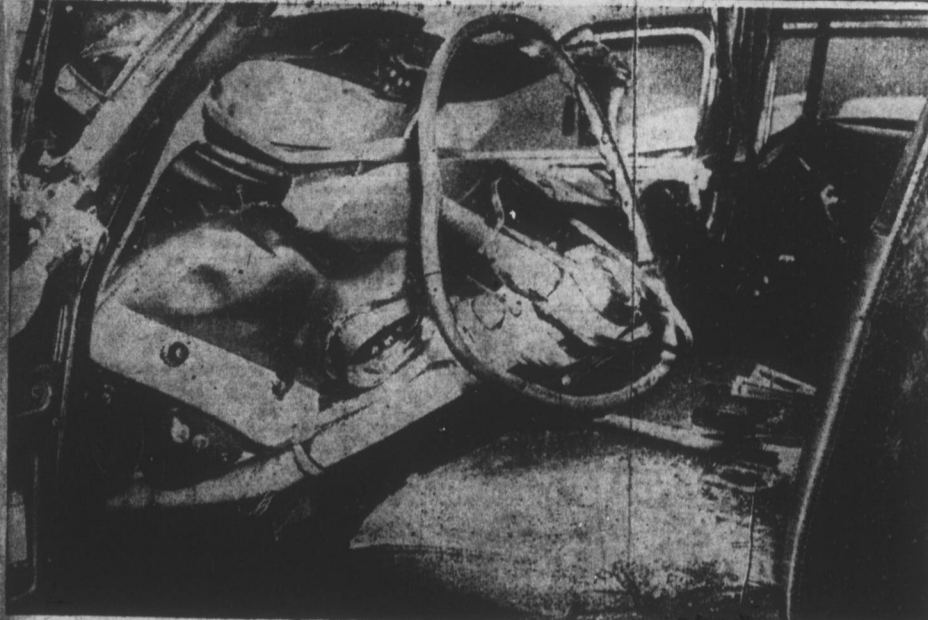

Union Service Will Welcome New Minister

Rev. Leslie C. Tucker will be busy getting acquainted with Dunn ministers and members of their church congregations Sunday evening at the union service welcoming him as the new Presbyterian minister.

The service will be held at the Presbyterian Church at 7:30 p.m. The Rev. J. W. Lineberger, president of the Dunn Ministerial Association will preside. The program is sponsored by the Dunn Ministerial Association, and all the Dunn churches are expected to participate in the union service.

Rev. Tucker, who preached here last Sunday for his first time, will be the speaker for the service.

A large crowd is expected to attend the union service welcoming Rev. Tucker to the town of Dunn.

DEATH SEAT AND VICTIM - Shown here is the automobile in which Mack Elwood Bass, 18, of Dunn, Route 2, was killed last night in a wreck three miles south of Coats. Bass, the driver, was the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Rob Bass and a brother of Bob Bass, well-known Dunn business man. Funeral rites for Bass, shown below, will be held Saturday. Surrender Of All Foreign Bases Asked

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) - Russia called today for all powers to give up foreign bases and demanded agreement on reduction of armed forces without waiting for a disarmament treaty.

Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov told the United Nations General Assembly the Kremlin is "engaged in studying" President Eisenhower's arms inspection plan. But he gave no hint as to whether the Russians would accept it.

He made no reference to Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin's letter to the Big Three heads of state, which presumably concern disarmament.

Boasts of 'Deeds' Molotov went down the line for support of the overall disarmament proposals presented by Moscow last May 10 and rejected by the West because they lack adequate provisions for inspection and control.

He boasted the Soviet Union had abandoned its bases at Port Arthur in China, and at Porkkala, in Finland.

"The Soviet government," he said, "has proceeded from words to deeds. This gives us reason to call upon the governments of other powers, and particularly of those which maintain numerous bases on foreign territories, to give up their bases."

Such a course would undoubtedly meet the need to call off the armaments race, build up confidence among nations and end the cold war.

Earlier in his speech, Molotov referred to Moscow's announced reduction of its armed forces by 640,000 men.

"The Soviet delegation," he said, "expresses the hope that the other (Continued on Page Two)

Swedes Not Too Sexy; Just Frank

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) - Aroused Swedes today defended their sex life and morals, which were criticized in a British survey.

One official argued that the only difference between morals in Sweden and morals elsewhere "is that we dare talk openly about sexual matters."

The Daily Sketch, a London newspaper, said today that Sweden is without morals. "Adultery is almost respectable," it said.

Early Instruction The story by "Dr. Jon Colten" a pen name for a British psychologist and marriage counselor, quoted C. W. Herlitz, head of the as saying Swedish instructors teach their students sex at an early age.

"Before long I want to introduce lessons in the techniques of love making for older children," Colten quoted Herlitz as saying. Herlitz denied making the statement.

Colten said he had been told by (Continued on Page Six)

One Killed, 2 Hurt In Highway Wreck

Harnett Coroner Grover C. Henderson of Dunn today planned an inquest into the death of Mack Elwood Bass, 18, well-known young resident of Dunn, Route 2 who was killed in a crash in which two others were badly injured Thursday night.

Bass, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Rob Bass, died a few minutes after entering the Dunn Hospital.

Two companions, Charles Farmer, 16, of Erwin, his nephew, and Raymond Messer, 16, also of Erwin, are still in the hospital seriously injured. Farmer received severe head injuries, and Messer's arm and leg were broken and he also received head lacerations. Both his fractures were compound.

Fred Smith, of Varina, Negro driver of the truck involved in the crash, was held by Highway Patrolman Paul Albergine, investigating officer, pending the inquest at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Albergine said Smith had stopped the heavily-loaded truck in the middle of the highway when Bass came along and crashed into the rear of it.

He said Bass, driving a 1954 Chevrolet, was going at a very high rate of speed, possibly 80 miles an hour or more. The impact of the blow was such that when a wrecker attempted to pull the two vehicles apart a section of the car stuck beneath the tractor-trailer.

FUNERAL SATURDAY

Funeral services for Mr. Bass will be held Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Spring Branch Baptist Church. Elder Lester Lee and the Rev. Leslie Tucker, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Dunn, will officiate. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery in Dunn. The body will lie in state at the church for one hour prior to the services.

Mr. Bass attended Plain View High School in Sampson County and was engaged in farming. He (Continued on Page Six)

Till Murder Case In Hands Of Jury

SUMNER, Miss. (AP) - The defense rested today as the murder case against two white half brothers, accused of killing a Chicago boy for whistling at one of their wives, neared a decision by a jury of ten farmers, a laborer and an insurance salesman.

The defense for J. W. Milam and Roy Bryant closed out its case in a packed second floor courtroom without allowing the jury to hear any testimony about the so-called "wolf whistle" that led to the pistol slaying of Emmett Till, a 14-year-old Chicago Negro who was visiting his tenant farmer uncle.

After final arguments, the case was expected to reach the white jury by mid-afternoon. Conviction on the murder charges without recommendation of mercy would make execution in the state's gas chamber mandatory. WITNESS ON STAND The prosecution, which prepared its case in less than three weeks after Till's body was fished out of the Tallahatchie River, put a witness on the stand yesterday who testified he saw a Negro resembling Till being taken to a barn in a neighboring county.

The witness said he heard yells coming from the barn and saw one of the defendants on trial - Milam - (Continued on Page Four)

SYLVIA, HENRY, PINKY, THE PROBE AND GRANNY

Harnett County's Centennial Celebration ironically, is attracting a lot more attention and interest outside the county than among the county's citizenry... As yet local people don't seem to realize just how big the celebration is going to be... Dr. Leslie Campbell and his committees are doing an outstanding job and the program of events is nothing short of terrific... We've just looked over a copy of the daily events and were amazed... If there's any truth in that old superstition about catching the bridal bouquet, Sylvia Slaughter may be altar-bound... She caught Bobbie Jean Whittenton's bouquet Sunday night... Bobbie as expected was a beautiful bride... A lot of local people are planning to attend the Carolina-Oklahoma game Saturday... Judge H. Paul Strickland is an alumnus of both Duke and Carolina, so he has to stay neutral at the Duke-Carolina games... Former County Attorney Henry C. Strickland who suffered a severe heart attack two weeks ago is reported improved at Rex Hospital in Raleigh... Television fans are still laughing over the unfortunate but still funny collapse of Pinky Lee the other day... It was the timing that brought the giggles... Pinky was in the midst of telling the children how Tootsie Rolls give him so much pep and vigor and energy when he keeled over...

Dunn Negro Taken In 1953 Slaying

Zebedee James, 27-year-old Dunn Negro sought since September 5, 1953 for the slaying of his wife, has been captured by the FBI in Columbus, Ohio, it was disclosed today by Harnett Sheriff Claude R. Moore.

Rural Policeman B. E. Sturgill of Dunn left this morning for Columbia to return James to Harnett to stand trial for first degree murder.

He is also wanted for shooting his brother-in-law, Frank Stocks, who intervened and tried to keep him from killing his wife.

The shooting took place at the home of his mother-in-law, Matile Stocks, on Dunn, Route 2, where his wife, Gladys, 23, was staying.

The couple had been having domestic troubles and she had left him. He went to the house and shot her in the back with a .35 calibre pistol as she tried to run out (Continued on Page Six)

Dunn GOC To Be Honored; Cretini New Commander

General Edward Griffin, state director of Civil Defense, and other high-ranking officers will be in Dunn Thursday, September 29, for a public meeting and award ceremony of the local Ground Observers Corps.

In calling this meeting, Supervisor Ed Carroll - whose plans to leave Dunn were announced earlier when he stated that he was retiring from his post as manager of the Chamber of Commerce - told members he will be leaving in a month.

The new commander, he wrote, will be Corky Cretini, and he urged that Cretini be given full support. "We now have one of the top operations in the state," Carroll wrote.

He suggested each member bring

OTHERS COMING

Besides General Griffin, the Ground Observers Corps will hear from Colonel John Gresh, G. O. C. coordinator for North Carolina; Major Vance R. Corbin, commander of the Durham Air Defense Filter Center; and Lt. Robert C. Carlin, mobile training division.

The chief purpose of the meeting is to make awards and present wings and certificates to observers, but there will also be a showing of a new Air Force film, "Menace from the East."

All those new on ground observer rosters who have not received their wings are to receive them September 29, said Carroll. Friends and family will be welcome.

SHE HAS THE ANSWER TO YOUR HEART PROBLEMS

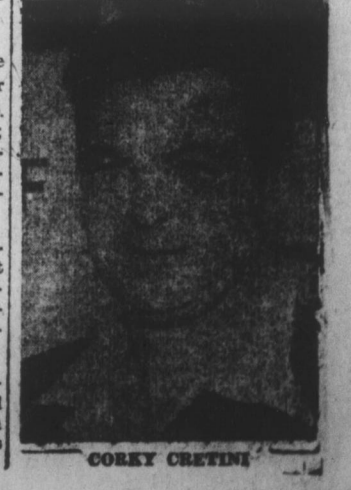

Molly Coming Monday

And now it can be told... Molly Mayfield Monday will be M-Day... Molly Mayfield Day. The mystery lady about whom we've been teasing you will arrive in town Monday to take her place as author of a great new column in The Daily Record - the first of which you'll find Monday on The Record's editorial feature page. And what a column! Ah - you'll say it yourself - what a column!

Molly doesn't do strictly "lovelorn" stuff. Columns like that are outmoded. She advises the so-called lovelorn... sure... but she also will find answers to a staggering variety of other problems and perform scores of services for her readers. Just for example: SHE HAS THE ANSWERS She'll tell people how they can explore their family trees, become fashion models, get a job (Continued on Page Two)
