AIRLINER CARRYING 64 CRASHES

THEY'RE HAVING A DAISY TIME — School children who will give a "Virginia Reel" had to exercise some unusual muscles in learning the ancient, but far from antiquated, dance step, which is decidedly different from the "real cool" dance patterns of today.

Danny Keith, 10, and Sandra Ison, 10, partners for the reel, receive not-too-appreciative glances from others who will do the Reel at a rehearsal yesterday. Later the whole group went out in the street, danced there.

Newspaper Costs To Rise Again

NEW YORK (AP) — Newspaper prices, which have held steady since the middle of 1952, will go up "in the foreseeable future," the head of one of the world's biggest newspaper manufacturers said yesterday.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The cost of newspaper has increased four times already since The Daily Record began publication in 1950. Due to scarcity and lack of prior allotment, for a period of several months already since The Daily Record was forced to pay as high as 10 1/2 cents a pound, FOB New York City, for newsprint.

Sir Eric Bowater, chairman of Bowater Paper Corp., Ltd., said "producers cannot continue to absorb the ever-mounting costs in the manufacture of newsprint."

BLACK MARKET ALREADY He cited a 15 per cent increase in wages since the last price hike. In addition, he noted a brisk gray market (Continued On Page Seven)

Six Divorce Cases Slated For Trial

Six divorce cases and 42 other actions are scheduled for trial at the two-weeks civil session of Harnett Superior Court which will open Monday at Lillington.

Resident Judge Clawson L. Williams of Sanford will preside over the term.

All of the divorce cases are set for the opening day.

THOSE WANTING FREEDOM Those seeking a divorce are:

Fred E. Avery from Essie Mae Harrison Avery; Robert G. Richardson from Peachee Wilson Richardson; Louise G. Roberts from Odie M. Roberts; Henry Thomas Matthews from Dorothy O. Barnett Matthews; Easter Gladis Guins from Irvin Guins; Betty Gilbert Stewart from Walter Carroll Stewart.

Other cases set for the opening day include: Johnson Cotton Co. vs Cleo Bumpass and others.

Several cases are on the motion docket for the opening day.

On the trial docket for the opening day are the following cases: Johnson Cotton Co. vs J. N. Saunders et al; Nealie E. Shepard et al vs Laura Elliott et al; Johnson Cor-

Yesterday about four o'clock any tourists who drove up Broad Street must have been amazed at what they saw. There, between Hodges Motel and the home of Mrs. Nathan Johnson, was a group of the cutest, quaintest children who ever made a traffic block.

The road happened to be the only place large enough for the children to practice "The Virginia Reel," which they will present as their contribution to the Centennial.

It just shows how far Dunn will go to make its Centennial a success. Only days away now, the Centennial is already so much a part of the lives of many persons here that you don't have to go far to find somebody who feels like he has been kicked by a horse.

Literally dozens of people—from Congressmen to entirely innocent second-graders—have felt the impact of the great celebration which Harnett is planning. Committee chairmen, performers of various kinds, all the hundreds of workers necessary to produce the different events have been running themselves blind, dumb, and ragged to ensure a success.

The Centennial itself will not be ragged. There is every indication that next week will be one of the fullest in the hundred years of Harnett's existence.

It has to be for if the Centennial is not a success, Harnett will have no excuse to try again until another hundred years have passed. Every town in the county will have its own "moment" during the Centennial—a day when the focus of attention will shift to their activities. And Dunn will have the final say. Winding up the Centennial on Saturday, Oct. 15, it has planned a full slate of events—enough to keep the town in the air until it's all over that night.

Saturday morning there will be a big street parade. One of the latest groups to announce their participation is the Shriners' Oriental band, and there will be many others. Fort Bragg is sending a band. So is Dunn High—and Harnett High.

There will be floats of all orders in the parade; the Centennial Queen will roll along; and Faye Arnold, the Miss North Carolina of 1955 who won television fame as a finalist in the Miss America contest, will be here.

Those who miss Faye everywhere else—she'll spend a lot of time in Harnett county during the Centennial—can see her on Saturday at Prince's department store where she will model fashions of other years.

Mrs. Nathan Johnson, chairman of woman's activities, has announced an extremely full schedule, including tours that will enable the public to see and visit old and historic homes of this area.

Extended tours also are planned to Greenwood Cemetery, General William C. Lee's grave, Aversboro battleground, Old Soldier's graves and Chloora cemetery. Included in the day's tours will be a visit to Dunn store window displays, which

Dog Bitten? Report To Earl Wells

Since a stray dog shot near Godwin was diagnosed as mad, County Dog Warden Earl Wells has been working that area.

He has investigated the vicinity where the infected dog reportedly bit and fought with many others before it was brought down by a bullet.

Wells said earlier this week that he had found 25 dogs that had not been vaccinated. Vaccinations have been arranged since then, and Wells has been taking pains to ease the situation and not let a "rabies scare" arise.

He has asked all Harnett county (Continued on Page Five)

Teenager Kills Man In Bold Slaying

NEW YORK (AP) — Police today charged a teen age youth with murder in the slaying of a young park department employe shot down within earshot of 200 horrified witnesses and arrested three others.

Hiram Rosa, 17, was charged with murder some 10 hours after Frank Gargiulo, 20, was shot fatally in the chest while he performed his duties as attendant at an East Side Park.

"MUST SOLVE" ORDER Rosa was booked shortly after police issued a "must solve" order

Erwin Homes May Get Mail Service Soon

Sooner or later Erwin's going to put up street markers and mail boxes on the homes there.

They're going to have to because the U. S. Post Office Department is adamant about no delivery until. It does look now, though, as if Erwin is rolling on this at last. At least the Erwin Lions and the union in Erwin Mills have tackled the thing face-on.

These two groups have decided to carry on a drive this week to sell mail boxes to homes in Erwin. Then cleverly enough proceeds from the mail box sale are to be used to finance street numbers. If successful Erwin residents will soon be getting home delivery of their letters—just like everybody else in the country.

It was in 1949 that the post office department put down the conditions which it would give regular mail service in Erwin, so it would appear to be about time for this drive.

Sen. Ervin To Speak To Church Men

1956 Dodge On Display

The new 1956 line of Dodge passenger cars will be introduced to the public Friday at Dickey Motors in Dunn and in dealer showrooms throughout the country.

Viewers of the new cars were promised the first glimpse of an entirely new era in automotive design—both in exterior and interior appearance and in mechanical advancements, by W. C. Newberg, Dodge president.

Maureen O'Hara Given Custody

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Maureen O'Hara today retained custody of her daughter through an admission by the film star's ex-husband that her alleged love affair with a Mexican attorney did not occur.

Attorneys for the Irish-born actress and TV writer-producer William H. Price, her former husband, yesterday presented an out-of-court agreement to Judge Elmer D. Doyle to end their battle for custody of the daughter, Bronwyn, 11.

Price, in a stipulation, said the actress was a fit and proper person to have custody of their daughter. He withdrew as "not supported by evidence and untrue" his charges that she and attorney Enrique Ferrer had romanced in front of the child.

"The only one that mattered in this case was Bronwyn," Miss O'Hara said. "I was willing to face public shame or anything else for her sake, and for her sake I'm glad it turned out as it did."

PERON MUST GO

BUEENOS AIRES Argentina (AP) — The Argentine government today notified Paraguay it must expel former Argentine President Juan D. Peron if friendly relations between the two countries are to continue.

Six Killed Near Zebulon

ZEBULON, N. C. (AP) — Five men were killed and another injured in a flaming head-on highway smashup near here early today.

The crash placed the death toll in two apparently similar automobile accidents in the state at 11 in the past two days. Six were killed Tuesday night in a crash of two cars at Staley.

Wreckage Spotted Near Laramie, Wyo.

BULLETIN

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) — A Wyoming Air National Guard pilot radioed here at 11:57 a. m. MST (1:57 EST) today that he had sighted the wreckage of a missing United Air Lines plane with 64 persons aboard on the east base of Medicine Bow Peak near Laramie, Wyoming.

DENVER (AP) — A United Air Lines four-engined DC4 airliner with 61 passengers and three crew members aboard was reported more than an hour overdue today on a flight from Denver to Salt Lake City.

The plane, which took off from here for Salt Lake City at 6:33 a. m. MST 8:33 a. m. EST was air-coach flight No. 409 which had originated Wednesday night at New York City. Its eventual destination was San Francisco.

United Air Lines said the plane had not reported in by radio at its customary check point over Rock Springs, Wyo., on its flight to Salt Lake City.

The 44th Air Force Rescue Squadron at Lowry Air Force Base dispatched two search planes to cover the route the missing plane would have taken.

The plane, after leaving LaGuardia Airport in New York City, stopped at Philadelphia, Chicago and Omaha before making its stop here.

It was scheduled to arrive in Salt Lake City at 9:06 a. m. MST. At Cheyenne, Wyoming, State Aeronautics Director George Nelson said nine planes had been sent into the search.

Porter Held For Superior Court

Ben Gilbert Porter has asked for jury trial on the gambling charges pending against him. In Recorder's Court late this afternoon, Judge H. Paul Strickland ruled there was sufficient evidence for a trial in Superior Court on the charge of possession of narcotics. Bond on the narcotics charge was set at $1,000.

Porter's plea was not guilty, and he also plans to plead not guilty in the cases that will be tried in Recorder's Court.

The case grew out of a raid on Porter's home by police and SBI men, who testified they found a poker game in progress and narcotics hid in a well in a book. Porter has been charged with operating a gambling house. He did not take the stand at the hearing on the narcotics count.

Mary Scott Arrives For Cooking Show

Mary Scott of Chicago, one of the nation's foremost home economists and renowned cooking school expert, arrived in Dunn this afternoon for the big free Philco cooking show and kitchen charm school to be held here Friday afternoon from 2 to 4 o'clock at Star Furniture Company.

Miss Scott and her aides this afternoon were busy turning the upstairs of Star Furniture Co. into a dazzling cooking wonderland where tomorrow Miss Scott will demonstrate new cooking and kitchen wonders to the ladies of this area.

MUCH ENTHUSIASM J. Edgar Black, Jr., owner of Star Furniture Co., said today that announcement of Miss Scott's visit to Dunn has attracted an unusual amount of interest and enthusiasm (Continued On Page Three)

WOMEN are among the most avid readers of newspapers. It is only proper that a large portion of the Big Window which looks out on life be devoted to news of particular interest to them. Thus the big "PRIVATE" mark on the Women's Pages in American newspapers. Without their community news, their ceaseless parade of entertaining reports on fashions, customs, gadgets life would be drab indeed.

Men's Swim Suits Will Bare More

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A swimsuit designer predicted today women will see more of men's legs at beaches next summer.

"The boxer short, popular for the last few years, is definitely yielding to new sleek - fitting briefs," Maurice Yevin, Jantzen swimsuit designer, said. He said men will be "hoisting their pantlines higher than ever" next summer.

Divorces Husband; Home Too Much

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Mrs. Jeanne Johnson Archer, 28, divorced her husband, an actor McDonald, by testifying he stayed home too much.

"He made my life very unhappy because he was home most of the time," Mrs. Archer said Wednesday. "He often had nothing to do but follow me about the house as I did my work."
