Kicks Policeman In Head, Gets Twelve Months

Charged with kicking Policeman K. M. Fall in the back of the head as he was being taken to jail, Bobby F. Parker of 900 East Pope Street was found guilty of disorderly conduct and resisting arrest in Dunn Recorder's Court yesterday. He was sentenced to a year on the roads.

Parker, who pled not guilty, has filed notice of appeal. His bond has been set at $300.

The defendant, who is in his twenties, was originally picked up on E. Pope St. for profanity and boisterousness. Judge H. Paul Strickland, presiding, issued sentence.

Another Dunn resident, Ernest McDowell of North Sampson St., was in court to face charges of engaging in an affray in an affray and assault with a deadly deadly weapon. Pleading guilty, he was sentenced to pay a $50 fine and costs.

McDowell was accused of taking after Johnnie Maxwell with a knife, and cutting him in the right side and left arm. Judge Strickland gave McDowell 90 days suspended on condition that he leave Maxwell alone.

Three drunk drivers, all of whom pled guilty, drew fines and suspended road sentences from the court yesterday. They were William Thomas Blue, 206 Robinson St., Fayetteville; the sentence was $100 fine and costs, 90 days suspended; recommendation that his driver's license be removed. The same for Clarence Messer, Erwin.

Nelson Holliday, Lillington, Rt. 1, was charged with not having an operator's license as well as drunk driving. He was given a $125 fine and costs, and four months suspended. Judge Strickland recommended he not be issued any license for a year.

Other cases handed in Dunn Court yesterday:

Junior Pressley, 1004 East Broad St., assault on a female, pled not guilty but convicted, fined $10 and costs, 30-day road sentence suspended on condition he not molest Edna Williams and that he stay away from her.

James Hall, Jr., Fort Bragg, possession of non-taxpaid whisky, pled guilty, $25 fine and costs, 60 days suspended.

D. W. Daughtry, Goldsboro, was ordered to make good a check for nearly two hundred dollars—$198.99—to Godwin Building Supply. It bounced because of "no funds."

TRAFFIC VIOLATORS

James W. Leak, E. Duke St., no operator's license, pled guilty, $25 fine and costs, 30 days suspended. Nathaniel Royals, no operator's license, pled not guilty, $35 and costs, 60 days suspended.

Matthew F. Capps and Frank Massey, Jr., charged with no license, were released when the state took a nol pro.

Stop sign runner Raymond D. Howard, Dunn, Rt. 3, was ordered to pay costs.

Judge Strickland branded "malicious and frivolous" the assault charge brought against Carl Denning by Lexine Denning and ordered the plaintiff to pay costs.

The same finding was made against prosecuting witness John McEachen, who had charged Robert Elliott and Charles Monde with stealing eight dollars from him.

ED BLACK KEEPS THINGS HUMMING

Star Furniture Co. Uses Modern Selling Methods

With many stores competing for attention, the one which knows how to dramatize its stock may get the most attention.

Star Furniture Co. has the disadvantage of only having started a few months ago—its opening was April 4, 1955—but it has largely overcome the disadvantages of being a newcomer.

It has done this by apt selling campaigns, directed by Ed Black, Jr., the youthful owner-manager who spent eleven years at Quinn's learning the business before he struck out on his own.

Star Furniture has made a strike too. In the opening phase of its existence, it has quickly risen to prominence among Dunn's furniture stores.

Sales schemes—like the recent all-night stayup with salesmen clothing themselves in pajamas, and selling refrigerators in the wee hours—have attracted much attention locally.

There are four employes helping to make a go of the firm, two trucks for deliveries, and business

MANY FRANCHISE LINES

The firm is a member of the national retail furniture association and the southern furniture association. Major lines carried include medium-priced furniture, Philco and Maytag exclusive appliances, Zenith radios, Johnson Seaborne outdoor motors.

Ed Black, the owner, is a member and former secretary of the Lions Club and the Presbyterian Church. He is married to the former Susan Thames of Dunn. They have two children, Brenda and Jennifer.

Star Furniture operates a complete service department for items sold and guarantees all products. It offers installment terms and is always ready to open new accounts.

Dunn Ready

The last few days said Chairman Fitchett. He announced earlier that entries will be taken right up until 1 o'clock tomorrow an hour before the curtain goes up.

MUSICAL GROUPS

Among the groups already expected for the sing are the Melody Masters' experienced contest winners from Four Oaks; Mrs. Mamie Royal, soloist and leader of a group of singers who do spirituals, folk songs and ballads; the Young Sisters of Dunn; the Harmonettes Kernersville, and a quartet from the Big Four warehouse here.

A prize of $50 goes to the winners of the "sing" and there are other prizes of $25 and $15 but the audience will be the principal garner. Only 900 seats are available at Dunn's high auditorium.

Other activities planned for the Centennial include tours of old homes and historical points, a dinner for college presidents prior to the final performance of "The Highland Call," and displays to be seen throughout the Dunn business district, which follow the Centennial theme.

From 11 to 12 in the morning and again between 3 and 4 in the afternoon a Negro choral group will sing spirituals on the Post Office plaza.

ASSEMBLE ON KING

Tomorrow's parade will assemble on N. King Ave. With 50 units, including about 35 floats, many of them highly elaborate, scheduled to take part, Parade Chairman John Snipes says it will be "put together" over a ten-block area on N. King.

A color guard from Fort Bragg and a North Carolina National Guard unit will lead off. They will be followed by the Centennial's head man, Dr. Leslie H. Campbell of Campbell College at Buie's Creek.

Dr. Campbell, general chairman of all county events making the anniversary of Harnett's first one hundred years as a civic entity, has coordinated efforts throughout towns of this county during the past week and in the many planning weeks which preceded the actual running of Centennial events.

Miss Faye Arnold, the "Miss North Carolina" of 1955 and near winner in the latest Miss America contest, has been everywhere in Harnett during the past week. And she will be in Dunn, too. With her retinue, she will ride in the parade.

FOUR BANDS

The four bands scheduled to march tomorrow include a Shriner's Oriental Band, the Dunn High and Harnett High units, and a Fort Bragg military band.

Helping Snipes on arrangements for the parade have been Charles Whittington, Billy Pearsall, Keith Finch and J. A. Morgan.

The parade goes down Broad Street, turns left at Magnolia St., comes back west on Edgerton to the assembly area on N. King, and disperses. The train which will interrupt it, in flight, is No. 89. Another train is scheduled to go through here about 10:15, shortly before the parade, so those planning to bring children in for the Centennial celebration are cautioned to watch out for it.

COLLEGE CHIEFS COMING

College presidents are to be guests of honor at a dinner at Johnson's Restaurant prior to the final performance of "The Highland Call." Those expected to attend are President John D. Messick of East Carolina College, Chancellor Robert E. House of the University of North Carolina, Dr.

Holt Infant Died In Erwin

Kenneth Ray Holt, two-day-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond O. Holt of Erwin, died in Erwin Hospital Thursday morning.

Funeral services were held from the home of the maternal grandmother, Mrs. Will R. Brown of Lillington, Rt. 2, Friday at 11 a. m. The Rev. L. C. Pinnix officiated. Burial followed in Summer-ville Cemetery.

Surviving in addition to the parents and maternal grandmother, is the paternal grandmother, Mrs. Lydia.

1941 he and Mrs. Wellons spent a year doing deputation work for the Board of Missions of the Methodist Church, and in 1942 he accepted the presidency of Pembroke State College, where he has carried through an extensive building program.

Dr. Wellons was a charter member of the Lucknow (India) Rotary Club. He has been active in the American Red Cross, the Boy Scouts, the North Carolina Commission on Inter-racial Cooperation, United World Federations, and the Southern Regional Council.

He holds membership in the North Carolina Conference of the Methodist Church.

He served as Governor of the 279th District of Rotary International during the year 1954-55 and is Chairman of the N. C. Council on Human Relations for the year 1955-56.

Cemetery, General William C. Lee's grave, Averasboro Battlefield, Old Soldier's graves and the Chitara Cemetery.

Included in the day's tours will be a visit to Dunn store window displays, which depict various phases in Harnett's past 100 years. This tour begins at 10 a. m.

Ike's Birthday
