

Today's Sports Parade

NEW YORK (AP) — Don't look now, although you might want to take a peek Friday night, but there's another Kid Gavilan in our midst.

He is strangely named Isaac Logart, a 22-year-old welterweight who battles Gil Turner as the rodeo moves out and boxing moves back to Madison Square Garden four days hence.

Logart is like Gavilan in many ways, and whether you think that's good or bad depends on how you looked at "The Hawk."

But the many similarities are there. Logart, like the "Keed," hails from Camaguey, Cuba. Just as with Gavilan, Isaac was torn early between his desires to play baseball and box.

And, it may be added, he fights in the Gavilan manner.

That, naturally, is a tipoff to the fact that Logart is no knockout artist. Possessing only a fair punch, he has climbed into the ninth ranking welterweight spot on his speed and flash.

DOESN'T SEEM MUCH

At first glance this doesn't seem like much of a bout with which to bring fistcuffing back to boxing's big house. Turner, a ranking middleweight, has more experience and will have a weight edge. The Philadelphian at 25 has had 58 bouts and lost only nine. Logart has engaged in 47 pro bouts but only 13 of them were in this country. Of those, he won 11.

But you can't knock the theory that currently the middleweight and welterweight divisions are the "live" ones and new talent must be developed constantly to keep them that way.

Rocky Marciano has the heavyweight crown virtually on ice as he fights on a twice-a-year schedule. The complainants aren't necessarily valid candidates, either. Old Archie Moore is hoarding the light heavyweight crown, with only Floyd Patterson as a probable opponent after Arch dusts off Randy Turpin in London come January.

OTHERS REALLY JUMPING

But the next two divisions are really jumping. Bobo Olson will give Ray Robinson his middleweight comeback shot and standing in line for the winner are a long line of hopefuls. Carmen Basilio, the welterweight champion, has a November 30 date at Boston with Tony Demarco and the winner is committed to Johnny Saxton. There are a number of others waiting around, too.

However, when you get a "hot" champ such as Olson has been, it doesn't take him long to march through the top candidates. So there always has to be somebody moving up from the kindergarten to keep the production line rolling. Otherwise, you'd soon have a situation such as exists among the hopeless heavyweights.

Which may explain why Logart, the new Gavilan, gets a shot out of nowhere.

The Weekend Brought A Flood Of Upsets

By MILTON RICHMAN

A flood of weekend upsets which washed away many "big name" teams, including four of the nation's top ten, changed the college football landscape considerably today and even promised to affect the national rankings.

Although the nation's first three-ranked teams — Michigan, Maryland and Oklahoma—all survived during the weekend, four other powers — Notre Dame, Georgia Tech, Texas Christian and Wisconsin—all went down to defeat.

Mighty Michigan, the No. 1 team in the country which goes gunning for its fifth straight victory of the season against Minnesota next Saturday, hurled stubborn Northwestern, 14-2, last Saturday, while second-ranked Maryland defeated North Carolina, 25-7, and third-ranked Oklahoma clobbered off its 23rd victory in a row by crushing Kansas, 44-6.

Southern California began the sudden storm of upsets by toppling eighth-ranked Wisconsin, 33-21, Friday night and all during Saturday form wasn't worth a nickel.

Michigan State Victorious — With a huge chunk of the country's football fans looking on, Michigan State licked fourth-ranked Notre Dame, 21-7, in the television game of the week. Auburn followed the pattern and moved to the top of the Southeastern Conference race by upsetting fifth-ranked Georgia Tech, 14-12, and Texas A&M, a 10-point underdog, beat sixth-ranked Texas Christian, 19-16.

Ol' Man Upset was no respecter of regions, either.

At Seattle, Wash., for example, Baylor defeated 12th-ranked Washington, 13-7, and at West Point, N. Y., Syracuse white washed 13th-ranked Army, 13-0. Southern Methodist beat 14th-ranked Rice, 20-0.

All other teams ranked among the first 15 in the nation came through unscathed although some had close calls.

UCLA, the seventh-ranked team, defeated Stanford, 21-13; ninth-ranked Navy, although scored upon for the first time, defeated Penn State, 34-14, and 10th-ranked Duke got by Ohio State, 20-14.

West Virginia, the 15th-ranked team, defeated William and Mary, 39-13.

Mud-Soaked Fields

In the East, where virtually every game was played on a mud-soaked field due to heavy rain, Yale rolled over Cornell, 34-6; Harvard won its first game in history at Baker Field by beating Columbia, 21-7; Pittsburgh topped Nebraska, 21-7; Lafayette licked Dartmouth, 21-13; George Washington clipped luckless Pennsylvania, 25-6, and Rutgers nipped Brown, 14-12.

Illinois downed Minnesota 21-13, and Iowa played a 20-20 tie with Purdue in a pair of Big Ten contests while elsewhere in the Midwest Indiana beat Villanova 14-7. Iowa State defeated Missouri 20-14 and Cincinnati shaded Marquette 13-12.

Other scores by sections: SOUTH: Virginia Tech 7 Richmond 7 Virginia 20 VMI 13, Florida 18 Louisiana State 14, Mississippi 27 Tulane 13.

SOUTHWEST: Arkansas 27 Texas 20, Houston 21 Oklahoma A&M 13, San Jose State 14 New Mexico 0.

WEST: Colorado 34 Kansas State 13, Wyoming 23 Tulsa 19, Utah State 32 Montana 6, Montana State 29 Colorado State 7, College of Pacific 13 Oregon 7.

It got its lightning from the Thunderbird!

The '56 Ford
borrowed the Thunderbird's beauty and its Y-8 "GO" to boot!

The beautiful new styling of the '56 Ford makes it a dead ringer for the fabulous Thunderbird. And in power, too, Ford is mighty like the Thunderbird.

Ford's new Thunderbird Y-8 engine, successor to the V-8, is 202-h.p.* strong. Basically, it is the same as the engine that won nationwide fame for alert performance in the Ford Thunderbird.

Its deep, Y-shaped block cuts vibration, to give you a smoother, quieter-running engine that has a longer life expectancy.

Another exciting advance in Ford for '56 is Lifeguard Design. It means added protection against the major causes of injuries in accidents. You're protected by a new deep-center steering wheel, new double-grip door latches, new optional seat belts and safety padding.

Let yourself go—for a thrilling test drive in the Thunderbird-inspired '56 Ford.
