DRAMA, STATE FAIR, BRUCE JOANNE AND OTHER NOTES

Dr. Leslie Campbell and other Harnett leaders are now considering a suggestion that Paul Green's drama, "The Highland Call" be presented each summer at Campbell College in the same manner other pageants in the State are held. Dr. Campbell says Harnett's centennial celebration was a big success in every respect... Despite the large number who have been attending, local citizens haven't been too high in their praise of the State Fair... As a matter of fact, there has been a lot of criticism and most people say this year's exposition is disappointing... Nearly everybody agrees that the fair needs to change carnivals... The same outfit has been playing the fair now for years, which leaves but little that's new to see... "The hottest things at the fair," reports Bruce Byrd, "were the Maid of Cotton and the fireworks"... That Sir, is quite an observation!!!... George Glover, who won a free vacation to Miami for his sales production record in selling Ford farm machinery, writes that he and Mrs. Glover have been having a wonderful time... That George is on the ball and he really knows how to sell farm equipment... "I'm lucky," he says modestly, "I've got a good product and it's not hard to sell"... George is manager of the farm machinery division of Auto Sales and Service, local Ford-Mercury dealer... They'll be home

The Marilyn Monroe Story

Marilyn Monroe, with all her beauty and curves, is a much smarter business woman than the average person might think.

During some negotiations for a movie role a Broadway actor was startled to find "Marilyn giving me the kind of advice I'd only expect to get from a Hollywood lawyer. She knew the ins and outs and the fine-print tricks better than an agent."

A former business associate calls her "self-protectively smart." "On the important things," he says, "she knows instinctively what's good for her even when she doesn't know why."

It was in this frame of reference that she turned to Greene for advice last year when her contract came up for renewal. Greene put her in touch with two knowing New York attorneys, Frank Delaney and Irving L. Stein.

The two of them, according to an acquaintance, found enough holes in the old agreement to be able to say: You have no contract but we'll welcome discussions of a new one, on our own terms.

"We" had become a Monroe corporation, headed by its namesake, with Greene as vice president and the two lawyers as members of the board along with an accountant named Joseph Carr.

Financially, turning Marilyn Monroe into a big business will eventually pay off. Under the tax laws, as a corporation, she will be able to keep a good deal more of the money she makes than she could as an individual.

Artistically, it has already paid off in the sense that the corporation has financed her during the long holdout while her new agents at MCA have so far battered Twen-

White House Door Long Closed To Mac

WASHINGTON (AP) — The MacArthur controversy is in a new spin, recalling that the general's luck with recent presidents has been bad. It has not much improved even though an old-line Army buddy is in the White House now.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur knew the White House parlors for long years before he was even aware there was a dog house on the premises. At age 26 and only three years out of West Point, MacArthur began in 1906 a brief tour of duty as aide to President Theodore Roosevelt. By 1913 he was a youthful member of the Army General Staff.

President Woodrow Wilson promoted MacArthur rapidly in World War I. He was the Army's youngest major general. The Harding administration's favor was indicated when MacArthur was named superintendent of the United States Military Academy in 1919. That's a blue ribbon job which often leads to the top.

DISCOVERED IKE

It led to the top for MacArthur who was named chief of staff by President Herbert Hoover. He was reappointed to the post by President Franklin D. Roosevelt. (Continued On Page Six)

GOP Chief Says Democratic Party Run By Labor Bosses

State Republican Chairman Ray Jennings of Taylorsville declared here Wednesday night that there's a good possibility that President Eisenhower will run again and will be re-elected, and warned that "If the Democratic Party returns to power it will be controlled and dominated by big labor bosses such as Walter Reuther."

Wilkinson Asserts Adlai Can't Win

John A. Wilkinson of Washington, N. C., prominent State Republican leader, told Eastern Carolina Young Republicans in Dunn Thursday night that Adlai Stevenson can't possibly win the Democratic nomination for the presidency again "because he is not acceptable to either of the extreme wings of the party."

Wilkinson, former candidate for the U. S. Senate, declared it is now evident that the extremists "have already ditched Stevenson."

"The tip-off came in our State just yesterday," he continued, "when Senator W. Kerr Scott said in an interview that he's not so hot for Stevenson as he was before."

"Mr. Stevenson," continued Wilkinson, "belongs to the same radical, extremist group as Senators Hubert Humphrey and Herbert Lehman and Governor Soapy Williams of Michigan. And he was expressing their views."

Wilkinson advised the Republicans to "forget about the Negro vote because we can't get it now or any other time."

SAYS THEY'RE SOCIALISTS He admonished that Negro voters will take their orders from the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and that organization is already married to the American Socialist Party, which masquerades under the name of the Democratic Party.

Lie Detector Tests Slated For Suspects

CHICAGO (AP) — Police disclosed today that eight persons have been arrested for questioning about the slaying of three young boys, but none was regarded as a "good suspect."

Lie detector tests were scheduled for at least two of the eight, Edward Rohlfes, 47, and Michael Chupick, 22.

Rohlfes, a former railroad worker, volunteered the information that he spent all of last Monday night and most of Tuesday morning in a forest preserve parking lot near the ditch where the nude and battered bodies were found.

If the bodies had been there then, he said, he would have seen them. They were discovered by a liquor salesman at 12:30 p. m. Tuesday.

Rohlfes said he saw three men in a battered old Ford drive into the parking lot at 10:30 a. m., just as he was leaving. Detectives said these men could have been the slayers, about to dispose of the bodies.

SLEEPING IN TRUCK Rohlfes said he had withheld his information because he did not want to get a forest ranger in trouble for letting him sleep in his parked truck. He said he formed the habit of sleeping there because of marital discord at home. He now is divorced.

Chupick was held for a lie test after police found copper wire and masking tape in his car. Tape of some sort was used to blind the victims' eyes and mouths, and Chupick said he frequented a bowling alley where the boys were seen. (Sunday night) (Continued On Page Six)

Hotel Facing Padlocking On Vice Count

OMAHA (AP)—The Newhall Hotel in downtown Omaha faced padlock proceedings today after disclosures that it had been the base for $100-an-hour call girl operations.

Morals Squad Sgt. Walter Wilson planned to confer with Police Chief Harry Green and city prosecutors on closure action after a 22-year-old girl admitted obtaining $700 from a 54-year-old North Platte, Neb., man for dates Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

The man told police he became angered when the girl hinted at police protection for the establishment and also when she welched on a $600 date. Wilson denied the place was being given "protection."

The man said a bell hop obtained the girl Tuesday night, and he paid $100 per hour for her "company." He paid $600 in advance for another date Wednesday night but the girl skipped out on the date, feigning illness.
