NEW YORK (AP) — Fraley's Follies and the weekend football "winners" — as an old hack refurbishes some old saws.

GAME OF THE WEEK

Navy over Notre Dame: The Irish are one-touchdown favorites apparently on a tougher schedule and the line's ability to handle rival passers. But Navy has a fine line, too, plus depth, two All-Americans in George Welsh and Ron Beagle and the inspiration.

THE EAST

Army over Colgate — Beware he who hesitates.
Yale over Dartmouth — He'll be hard to find.
Holy Cross over Syracuse — An eye for an eye.
Cornell over Columbia — Produces many busted teeth.
Also: Princeton over Brown, Penn State over Penn. Miami, (Fla.) over Pitt, BC over Xavier, Harvard over Bucknell, Lehigh over Temple, Gettysburg over LaFayette, Delaware over Rutgers.

THE MIDWEST

Michigan over Iowa — A bird in the hand.
Michigan State over Wisconsin — Isn't worth two in the pan.
USC over Minnesota — A stitch in time.
Oklahoma over Kansas State — Can't save this 11.
Also: Ohio State over Northwestern, Purdue over Illinois, West Virginia over Marquette, Nebraska over Kansas, Indiana over Ohio, Cincinnati over Detroit, Colorado over Missouri and Iowa State over Drake.

THE WEST

UCLA over California — Square pegs in a deep round hole.
Washington over Oregon State — Rolling 'em stoney.
Stanford over San Jose State — If they gather no moss.
COP over Washington State — Even a blind pig will find an acorn once in a while.
Also: Oregon over Idaho, Wyoming over Brigham Young, Colorado Aggies over Montana, Denver over New Mexico and Utah State over Fresno.

THE SOUTH

Georgia Tech over Duke — A whistlin' woman.
Maryland over South Carolina — And a crowin' hen.
Auburn over Tulane — Have gotta come.
Tennessee over North Carolina — To no good end.
Also: Georgia over Alabama, Clemson over Wake Forest, Kentucky over Rice, Mississippi over LSU, Vanderbilt over Virginia, Mississippi State over North Texas State, North Carolina State over Furman, George Washington over VPI and William and Mary over VMI.

THE SOUTHWEST

Texas Aggies over Arkansas — Look before you leap.
TCU over Baylor — Fools walk blindly in.
SMU over Texas — And punctually are parted from their pesos.
Also: Houston over Wichita, Oklahoma Aggies over Tulsa, Texas Tech over West Texas State and Hardin-Simmons over Arizona State.

FRIENDS VIE IN CHAMPIONSHIP — Crown of the Chicora Country Club will be at stake on Saturday when Mrs. James Snipes (right) and Mrs. William (Jean) Armstrong meet in the finals of the ladies championships. Golfing partners for some time, they are frequent but friendly competitors. Their golf runs mostly in the 80's.

Ladies Seek Chicora Title

On Saturday they believe — the tournament committee left it up to the girls and you know how girls are — two strong-golfing Dunn women will battle it out for the Chicora Country Club ladies championship.

They've played before. They play, in fact, every week but neither will admit she has the edge. "It's kind of ding-dong," one of them said this week, as playoff time approached.

The two contestants for the crown are Mrs. John Snipes, who has played golf about five years, and Mrs. William Armstrong, a veteran of 15 years play.

Both have children and say they don't get to play very much, but Mrs. Armstrong was a medalist with an 89 in the qualifying round, and both she and Dot, her opponent, marched over the opposition in match play.

Whether to keep peace in the household or no, both the lady golfers claim that their husbands can outdo them from tee to flag. And the husbands, one said, are thinking of joining the championship playoffs on Saturday.

"What's the penalty for a husband interfering with his wife's play?"

"We haven't figured that out yet," they said.

Sports Car Race At Raleigh Sat.

RALEIGH — Sports car enthusiasts from every section of the State will compete in an all-sports car racing program on the high-banked mile track at the Raleigh Speedway Saturday night, Oct. 29.

The flashy American and foreign sports cars will be presented in 77 laps of racing plus several special events demonstrating driving skill. There will be three races for the three classes of sports cars divided according to power, a 25-mile feature for all classes, a relay race between teams of cars, and a gymkhana in which all competitors will run an intricate obstacle course that will put driving ability to the strictest possible test.

The gymkhana will start at 7:30 and the race program will follow. Many types of sleek sports cars will be in competition, with the starting field expected to total 40 or more cars. All of the drivers are amateurs—business and professional men, service men, students and even a few women. They are members of the North Carolina division of Sports Car Clubs of America, officials of which will direct the program.

Early entrants and the cars they will drive include:

Greensboro—Wan R. Anderson, Austin-Healey; Ed Alexander, MG; D. L. Teasley, MG; Howard Kerns, MG; the team of Bill Reavis and Everett Hoffman, MG; and Maurice F. Poole, Jr., Jaguar.

Chapel Hill — George Walter Whiteside III, Volkswagen, and Clyde Walker Bursleson, Crosley Hot-Shot. These are University students.

Burlington — Paul F. Crowson, MG, and Floyd Eggleston, MG.

Winston-Salem — Ted Davison, Greenville, S. C., air base, Jaguar; Lt. Eric F. Antila, Fort Bragg, Austin-Hearley; Richard Snyder, Martinsville, Va., Mercedes; Jim Headley, Kernersville, Jaguar; T. H. Pearce, Franklinton, Porsche; and W. G. "Buddy" Reid, Charlotte, Jaguar.

Ladner is one of the ACC's leading pass receivers.

DEACS NURSE HURTS

Coach Tom Rogers promptly shifted halfback Jack Behrmann to end to bolster the Deacon flanks. Behrmann caught a 25-yard touchdown pass in last week's meeting with North Carolina.

Ralph Pellicchia will continue to fill in for the injured Joe Dupree as starting center but he too missed yesterday's drill because of a slight injury.

Sophomore quarterback Tom Katich and center Alan Henery were on the sidelines yesterday as North Carolina State held a light workout in preparation for Furman.

Coach Earle Edwards emphasized defense yesterday as he warned the Pack not to underestimate the Purple Hurricane which upset State last year.

Center Wingo Avery, end Walt Laraway and halfback Joel Wells were on the sidelines yesterday as Clemson's Tigers, still bruised from last week's win over South Carolina, again avoided scrimmage.

The Tigers, expecting an aerial barrage from Wake Forest quarterback Nick Consoles and Charlie Carpenter, devoted most of the drill to work on pass defense.

Halfback Mike Caskey was out with a foot ailment at South Carolina but quarterback Mackie Prickett took part in scrimmage for the first time since breaking a finger before the season opened.

Crowds Bigger At The Games

NEW YORK (AP)—College football attendance has shown an increase of 4.4 per cent so far this season with the biggest gains being registered in the Rocky Mountains and the Southwest. The United Press annual mid-season survey revealed today.

Tabulations of home crowds from 109 colleges showed a total of 7,264,475 fans attended 297 games so far this year as compared with 6,957,435 fans who witnessed the identical number of home games a year ago.

Every section of the country showed an increase except the East and the Midlands.

In the East, where heavy rains that reached flood proportions threw something of a damper on college football, attendance was off by 18.0 per cent, while the Midlands showed a decrease of 5.2 per cent.

Atlantic Conference Plagued By Injuries

RALEIGH—Injuries provided Atlantic Coast Conference coaches with plenty of headaches today with the biggest problem in the Duke camp where quarterback Sonny Jurgensen will definitely miss Saturday's clash with Georgia Tech.

Jurgensen was admitted to Duke Hospital yesterday with injuries to both ankles. He started against Pitt last week despite a sprained ankle suffered in practice but sprained the other ankle during the 26-7 loss.

BOY GETS CALL

Coach Bill Murray said that Dale Boyd, who started the season at halfback will take over the signaling duties against Tech. Boyd has made only brief appearances at quarterback although he played much of the second half against Pitt after Jurgensen was injured. Murray sent the squad through a long, rough workout.

North Carolina also has quarterback troubles. Sophomore Quarterback Buddy Sasser was in light equipment yesterday because of an ankle injury but probably will be able to play Saturday against Tennessee.

If Sasser is not ready for action, only sophomore David Reed will be available for duty. The Tar Heels' third signal caller, Ron Marquette, is out for the season with injuries.

Most of yesterday's light signal drill was devoted to defense against Tennessee single wing plays.

Wake Forest, already short of ends, lost another one yesterday when starter Jack Ladner was admitted to Duke Hospital for treatment of a recurring leg injury.

Dunn High Readies For Final Games

Final games of the season for the Dunn Greenwave, who have won two this year and dropped six, will be played on the home field under the lights. Their opponents: Morehead City and James Gray school of Winston-Salem.

The Morehead City game comes up Friday night (starting 8 p.m.) while the Winston-Salem game—"Homecoming"—will be played the week following.

Another game of interest to Harnett football fans pits Erwin's Redskins against Garner (they will play on the Erwin field on Friday afternoon at 3:30 p. m. Unlike Dunn, Erwin faces three games to finish the season, will play the remainder off the home field.

Originally scheduled to play at Garner, the place was changed because the Garner field is "out of order."

The Greenwave's encounter with Morehead City should be interesting. Starting with a green team, Coach Jim Brown coaxed some occasionally excellent performances out of his squad and the backs, including Quarterback Bill Joyner, have shown well in several of the games.

Morehead City is reputed to have a fairly strong team, and Dunn High is better than its win-loss record, having, in some instances, compiled more yardage than the team which pushed over the most touchdowns.

Fuquay and Garner were the two teams beaten by Dunn this year. They lost to Fayetteville, Chapel Hill, Goldsboro, New Bern, Wilson and Roanoke Rapids.
